Town weathers water crisis

The first water crisis in Winchester's history is over for now, leaving anger and confusion in its wake as local citizens try to sort out the rumors and the facts and determine exactly what happened.

Last Thursday, around 4 p.m., the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (EQE) ordered residents on the east side of town to boil their water for 20 minutes as a result of tests showing high levels of coliform bacteria in the system.

The order, however, according to Director of Public Works Walter Tonaszuck, came after extra chlorine added to the system had already killed off the bacteria.

The Winchester Board of Health, along with Director of Public Health Michael Saraco, recommended to the selectmen Monday night that a full scale investigation of the contamination and the incidents surrounding it be undertaken.

The selectmen agreed an investigation should be carried out, with Town Manager Groux, DPW Director Tonaszuck, and Health Director Saraco all to be involved. They asked for a report in two weeks.

The chronology of events was as follows, according to numerous sources, including Director Tonaszuck, Saraco, Winchester Hospital Vice President Conrad Armstrong, and Fred Barker, senior sanitary engineer with the Tewksbury office of the EQE:

Thursday, Sept. 22— The MDC lab in Medford ran a routine test on a water sample taken from Winchester Hospital the same day. The MDC carries out seven such tests a week for the town from seven locations. The tests are required by the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1977, which went into effect June 24 (The town previously tested water four times a month).

The testing samples take about 20 hours to incubate, at which time lab workers take a literal count of the number of bacteria; the standard count is the number of bacteria per 100 milliliters.

Friday, Sept. 23— The results from the hospital sample revealed a bacteria count of 66. The acceptable level is an average of one or less for the month; if the level rises to four or more, samples have to be repeated until two consecutive zero counts are received.

Because of the high count, another test was taken. The state requires that this be done.

"Normally the first thing you do is take repeats from the same sampling point to rule out lab error," explains EQE's Barker. If the count is validated, that means not only coliform bacteria, but other organic contaminants — other bacteria and viruses — could exist as well in the system.

Saturday, Sept. 24— The test results from Friday's sample revealed a count of 40; another test was taken.

At first the DPW suspected the problem was localized at Winchester Hospital, but further sampling in other sites indicated that the problem was more widespread. At this point, no one was sure just how widespread the contamination was, nor did anyone know the source.

More chlorine was introduced into the water system, raising the chlorine level from .25 to 6.0 parts per million.

Sunday, Sept. 25— The Saturday test count was 30. Another sample was taken.

Monday, Sept. 26— The Sunday count was down to zero; however, since two consecutive zero readings are required, another sample was taken. The state was contacted about the weekend's samples — apparently the DPW had some difficulty contacting the state EQE over the weekend. At this point the state began to monitor the testing.

A sample taken at the Mystic School revealed a high bacteria count. However, a dirty trap in one of the water lines was found and cleaned out, and the contamination level went back down to zero.

Tuesday, Sept. 27— The Monday sample was back up to a count of 25. The state took charge of the testing, with the local DPW subject to their orders. Another test was taken. By this time the DPW had started flushing out hydrants in the area to attempt to clean out the system.

At 3:45 p.m., the EQE contacted Armstrong, who is vice president for general services at the Winchester Hospital, and instructed him to stop using tap water and ice at the facility.

Armstrong immediately sent men out to obtain bagged ice from a non-contaminated area and to arrange for delivery of water and water dispensing units from the Belmont Springs Water Company.

"Within 45 minutes of receiving notice from the state, we had temporary water fountains in use and ice distributed, so we were in a position to continue normal operations," Armstrong reported. Notices were hung at the hospital's coolers and in bathrooms to keep anyone from drinking the contaminated water.

"There is no evidence of any kind of illness that came as a result of this," Armstong said. He noted, however, that the hospital was not informed of any high coliform counts until Tuesday afternoon. "I can't say why we didn't get any notice sooner," Armstrong said.

Reactions to crisis mixed: caution, criticism, praise

Last week's water crisis, and the handling of the situation by local and state officials, drew a mixed volley of responses from throughout the town.

The selectmen hurriedly put the topic on their agenda for Monday night's meeting. They heard comments from health officials and the public ranging from anger at the situation to praise for the way it was handled.

Most of the criticism arose out of the notification procedure which went into effect late Thursday after the state issued an order for residents on the east side of town to boil their water for drinking and washing dishes. (The order was rescinded Sunday morning.)

While announcements were being carried over several radio and television stations, notices were printed in several newspapers and town DPW workers worked overtime between 5-10 p.m. Thursday to hand deliver flyers telling residents to boil their water.

Most of the 1500 residences in the affected area were reached; however, some persons never received the flyers nor heard the announcements through the media; and some persons only heard of the boil order when contacted by their neighbors.

The DPW received hundreds of calls in the days following the order from confused residents seeking an explanation for the order and wondering if they were in the affected area. The police department logged 679 such calls between 5-11:30 p.m. Sept. 29, the day of the order.

At the selectmen's meeting Monday, DPW Director Walter Tonaszuck explained that some of the residents, even though they lived in the area designated in the announcements, were not affected because their homes are linked to a different water system (the town has three systems in all). He said the boil order gave a general description to make sure all affected residents were informed.

He also said about five per cent of the affected residents did not receive notice,

Board ok's 20 articles; liquor issue to go to meeting

The board of selectmen approved a 20-article warrant for the fall town meeting Monday night which includes the first step on the road to allowing the serving of liquor in a local restaurant.

Other major articles include action on the report of the Center Study Committee; appropriation of money for collective bargaining agreements; and several requests for zoning by-law changes.

The selectmen are to meet tomorrow morning at 8 a.m. to close the warrant.

Tke article on liquor licenses will ask the town meeting to approve a request to the legislature to pass a law and place on the ballot this spring a measure empowering the selectmen to issue no more than three licenses under certain conditions.

The licenses would be allowed for restaurants with a dining room seating no less than 75 persons and a function room seating no less than 25 persons. Included on the ballot question would be a statement by the selectmen as to the specific conditions under which they would issue such a license.

"This would give the selectmen total discretion over the issuance of licenses" and the determination of conditions, Town Counsel Douglas Randall told the board Monday night.

Selectman Richard Wilsack said he had found someone interested in opening a restaurant meeting the general requirements outlined earlier by the board. Wilsack did not name the persons involved but noted he preferred a general article rather than one aimed at a specific proposal by any one individual.

If approved by town meeting, the measure would appear on the ballot at the March town election. If the town then okayed the law, the selectmen would be empowered to begin issuing licenses— up to three in all. The board could, if it so chose, issue one or even none at all in the event no one prospective restauranteur could meet their conditions.

By law, the question of whether or not to allow the sale of liquor in the town is reconsidered by the voters every two years in the state biennial referendum. The motion to come before town meeting is worded so that the first reconsideration would come up at the 1980 election rather than in 1978 (which would be only six months after initial approval).

The question is removed from the biennial referendum for the town if the voters either approve or reject the move for three consecutive elections. Then the question would have to be brought onto the ballot by petition.

The approval of the town meeting article and subsequent approval by the state would side-step the need for a petition of 10 per cent of the town's voters to place the issue on the ballot; and it would move the question up from the fall 1978 state election to the spring 1978 town election.

Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins noted that "at least three of us on the board" have heard favorable opinions from townspeople on the question.

the other articles on the fall warrant include:

Article : To hear the reports of the town boards.

Article : To act on the Center Study Committee report, and more specifically a proposal to spend $62,000 to have a consulting firm take a look at the center with a mind to making improvements in the business climate.

Article : To see if the town will agree to waive all fees for inspection and certification of buildings and structures as places of public assembly.

Article : To appropriate or transfer money from the sale of real estate account for payment of judgments or for the settlement of land damage claims pending against the town.

Article : To appropriate $8500 to the fire prevention and control account, personal services, with the sum ultimately to be charged to funds received under the Public Works Employment Act of 1976, Anti-Recession Assistance.

Article : To appropriate money for the workmen's compensation, other expenses account.

Article : To appropriate money to be added to the balance of the appropriation for the prior fiscal year 1977 in the following

Extend terms

School board recommends increase to six members

The school committee is recommending that their membership be increased to six and that their terms of office extend to the end of town meeting.

These and two other recommendations for changes in the town charter were agreed upon at a recent meeting of the school committee. They will be sent in a letter to the by-law revision study committee, which is considering possible alterations in the two-year-old charter.

The school committee agreed by general consensus that two other changes be recommended:

—That the school budget presented to town meeting be the school committee's version rather than the finance committee's version;

—And that the time period between the required public hearing and the final vote of the school committee on the budget be reduced from 30 to 14 days.

Board Chairman Robert Frank, along with members Catherine Alexander and Heinrich Holland favored expanding the size of the committee to six members. Constance Papas, who voted to keep the number at five, said she had no "no real objections" to a six member board; however, she felt it was too early to judge the effectiveness of the smaller committee.

"From last year to this year I can see some positive benefits from having to focus in on the most important things we have to do and dropping some other things school committee members formerly did," said Mrs. Papas of the five member board, "and I don't think that's entirely a bad thing. I feel comfortable with five."

Board member Jack Noble agreed that the committee was spending more time on policy rather than administration. He even suggested the committee could be cut back to three members, "so they really stick to policy."

Pointing out that some members of the committee inevitably have full-time jobs, Chairman Frank described his duties at town meeting time last year as an "inordinate" burden. He also argued that a vote of a six

DPW grievance

Foremen reject pay raise; job title is the 'main thing'

Four foremen in the department of public works have rejected a grievance settlement offered up by the selectmen Monday night.

The four men, John Dixon, Joseph Bavuso, Richard Horn, and John Horn, appeared before the board Monday, along with Town Employee Association (TEA) Business Agent Michael Roberts, to hear the recommendations of a subcommittee of the board, made up of Selectmen Arthur Dunbar and Richard Wilsack.

As a result of the DPW reorganization, the four men were demoted from a W14 to a W13 rank in the department (from foremen to "working" foremen). The change involved a drop in pay scale, though not an actual drop in pay, and the four men filed a grievance to be reinstated to the W14 rank and pay scale.

Consideration of the grievance by the selectmen represents the fourth stage of the grievance procedure, the last before arbitration.

The subcommittee recommended that the men remain at the W13 position but be moved up to the W14 pay scale. Any changes resulting from future negotiations for the W14 scale would apply to their pay.

The pay adjustment amounts to a 25 cent per hour increase. The recommendation reads:

"We recommend that the board of selectmen uphold the position that the four employees were not unjustly demoted from W14 to W13 positions. The elimination of certain positions under the new DPW table of organization left an excess of W14's from the old departmental organization. In order to protect all of our employees' job security and in particular these four employees, it was necessary to place these men in a W13 job classification."

The report continues: "We also recommend and feel that it was the intent of the drafters of the Winchester Charter and the voters who approved same, that no employee should suffer financially."

The men would continue at a W14 pay scale as long as they work for the town and as long as they remain at the W13 rank. Upon their retirement, the positions would revert back to the normal W13 pay scale.

"Our reasons for this decision," reads the report, "are based on our interpretation of the Charter and based on these individuals' long, dedicated service to the Town of Winchester."

"It seems to be a very fair solution to the problem, " said Chairman Barbara Hankins. The board voted unanimously to accept the recommendations.

"The only thing you took awaty from them (the foremen) was the thing they worked for so long — the title," said Roberts. He explained that he interpreted the solution offered as a violation of the collective bargaining agreement between the town and the TEA.

"You leave us no other choice," he said, but to go to arbitration. He said the pay increase in effect alters a portion of the collective bargaining agreement (which included setting pay scales for the various positions). "I can envision lots of problems," he added.

After the meeting, Town Manager Thomas Groux, with whom the employees met in the third step of their grievance, commented that the board had given the men one of the two things they had asked — the higher pay scale — and questioned why the employees would react to the granting of part of their request as a violation of the contract.

problem Tuesday, when an aquaintance called to tell him about the situation at the hospital. Saraco then began contacting members of the board of health, Tonaszuck, and Town Manager Thomas Groux.

Wednesday, Sept. 28— With tests showing continued problems with bacteria, a blanket testing procedure was implemented to try to determine the source and extent of the problem. The bacteria count in the South Resevoir standpipe was found to be as high as 1200-2000, and the pipe was sealed off.

Instead, water was started directly from the resevoir, where the count was much lower, through the South Resevoir's chlorinator and directed into the mains. The town began to flush the standpipe; this procedure was followed by the refilling of the pipe with water run through the treatment system, which was then heavily chlorinated directly in the pipe. The water sat for 24 hours, was tested, flushed again, and retested.

Thursday, Sept. 29— Wednesday's tests revealed the bacteria count was still high, so at around 4 p.m., the order to boil water was issued by David Stanley, water commissioner for the EQE.

The area to which the boiling order applied was generally east of Main street from the Medford line to Washington street; and east of Washington street to the Woburn line. Some streets within this area were not affected, since they are hooked up to another system.

Saraco told The Star he spoke with Thomas F. McLaughlin, regional environmental engineer for the Metro-Boston Northeast Region, on Thursday morning after he heard (for the first time) that the problem involved more than the hospital. McLaughlin, according to Saraco, said the state would in all likelihood issue the order, but he would not say for sure until final word came from the commissioners.

In anticipation of the order, the DPW began printing up notices to be distributed to the public. At 4 p.m. the order came, and DPW workers went out between 5-10 p.m. to hand out the flyers. Meanwhile, the state was notifying the radio and television stations.

When test results came in for Thursday, the bacteria count was back down to zero. The count remained satisfactory through Friday and Saturday. The south standpipe remained sealed off from the rest of the system.

Sunday, Oct. 2— At 9 a.m. the state lifted the boiling order.

The question of how the contamination came about has yet to be answered. The most often repeated suggestion is vandalism, i.e. that someone managed to put something in the water, possibly through the south standpipe. Tonaszuck said the hatch cover on top of the pipe was unlocked; a lock has since been placed on the hatch. If it was indeed vandals, other questions which arise are who and why?

The other possible cause cited by the state is the chlorinator itself. EQE's Barker suggests that perhaps at night, when the low level of water use might be effecting a shutoff of the chlorinator, raw water could be entering the system. The EQE is monitoring the treatment facilities to see if this is the problem.

It seems unlikely the the actual cause will ever be discovered, according to Barker.

Meanwhile, the chlorine level in the water remains high; the town will gradually turn back the level as the state allows until a more normal level is reached. Though the chemical gives off a disagreeable odor and taste, both state and local officials insist the high level of chlorine poses no danger to health.

either because the men delivering the notices were chased off by dogs, or because they were "overlooked" in the rush.

Tonaszuck noted that while public notification is required by law, the distribution of the handbills is not specifically required.

Resident Allen Hill complained to the selectmen that "some aspects of the way in which it was handled were less than ideal." He noted that notification via the handbills in many cases arrived after tke evening dinner hour and suggested that the town establish a policy of using sound trucks in the event a similar situation should arise in the future.

"This situation was a test of the system," said Hill, who urged the board to have more complete and accurate information distributed in the future. He noted much of the confusion among the public arose because the handbills did not explain the problem.

"We didn't have time to prepare a detailed statement," responded Tonaszuck. Hill agreed that, given the circumstances, the DPW did a good job.

Town Manager Thomas Groux said, "There was no feeling (at the time) that there was any immediate danger." Tonaszuck also reflected this view: "It wasn't a panic situation — the order to boil was strictly a precautionary measure." State officials also said the town "has been very cooperative."

"I felt Tonaszuck did a really good job, quite honestly," commented Dr. Lawrence F. Quigley, a member of the board of health who attended the meeting Monday.

However, Dr. Quigley and Public Health Director Michael Saraco complained to the selectmen that they were not informed of the water problem contamination earlier. Saraco said he too had received "many, many calls" from residents.

"It is absolutely essential," Quigley said later, "that the board of health be notified immediately" of any such contamination. "It is important to realize," he told the selectmen, "that with the very old and the very young, there could be a mortality problem — this is not just a prank."

While the exact cause of the contamination has not been determined, Quigley said he found it hard to believe that counts as high as were registered at the south standpipe were caused by anything but vandalism.

His recommendations to the selectmen included tightening the security at the standpipes and immediate notification of the board of health in the event of a similar occurence, so that the board may be on hand to assist when the system is being checked out.

Another of Quigley's suggestions was that the town arrange to switch over immediately to the MDC water system as soon as an emergency arises. He questioned whether the problem of contamination would recur when the chlorine levels in the system are reduced to normal levels again in the next few weeks. He proposed that the board consider hooking into the MDC water until the cause of last week's crisis is determined and preventive measures are taken.

Saraco told the board, "I recommend that a complete investigation be made" and later told The Star, "If the board of selectmen won't investigate, I will as the public health director." He added, "This is a serious matter, and I've got a job to do."

Saraco told the selectmen he found out the hospital was using bottled water on Tuesday; and that he only learned of the extent of the problem Thursday morning, a week after the first tests had been made.

There have been reports from some residents of illness, which may or may not be directly associated with the contamination.

Some at the meeting questioned why residents weren't notified until Thursday. While the DPW was initially blamed for this, it was pointed out that once the state took over the monitoring of the testing on Tuesday, the DPW became subject to the authority of the state.

"It seems there was a tardiness in the state reporting," noted Dr. Quigley, who conceded, however, that it takes two days for the state to get positive results from their tests.

Dr. Quigley commented that local agencies do not have the authority to go beyond the decisions made by the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering, the agency responsible for issuing the boil order.

A final recommendation from Quigley was that water be tested both going into and coming out of the pipes in the system.

The latest report on the town water works, submitted to the selectmen this summer by Groux, notes the need for better security around the three resevoir ponds and recommends that a program be initiated to fence in the entire area.

Star offices open Monday

Although Monday, Oct. 10 is a holiday, The Star offices will be open all day. Even though we plan to be open on Columbus Day, and the dealines remain as usual, we would appreciate your getting copy in by Friday, if possible.

Regular dealines are 5 p.m. Monday for news copy; 3:30 p.m. Tuesday for classified ads; and 5 p.m. Tuesday for display advertising.

CETA office hours

Hours at the Medford CETA office, 22 Forest st., are now Monday through Friday, 9 to 5.

Publicity meeting set for Oct. 13th

The Star editorial department will hold its second meeting for publicity chairmen at 10 a.m. on Thursday, Oct. 13.

The meeting will be to discuss publicity releases, picture taking, and related policies, and to answer any questions you may have. Copies of our updated "Publicity Guide" will be available; or you may pick up a copy at the The Star office anytime. Individual copies are free; there will be a slight charge for large orders.

We urge publicity persons from all types of organizations — be it a church, club, school, or scouting group — to attend.

Common Cause plans meeting; Markey to talk

Common Cause, district seven, will hold its third annual Common Cause Day on October 14, 7:30 p.m. at the Malden Government Center in the Council Chamber. The purpose of the meeting is to commemorate the founding of Common Cause in September of 1970. The meeting will be open to the public.

The featured speaker will be Thomas Markey, district seven's freshman Congressman. Markey will discuss his interpretation of his first year in Congress. A question and answer period will follow.

member committee would require a 4-2 majority, "which would make it harder for the school committee to reverse its decisions after an election."

"A 4-2 majority is a more solid way to run this part of the world," Frank said. As for the possibility of deadlocks in committee votes, Frank commented, "I never thought it was a detriment when I was on the committee with six members." He noted the board more often than not found ways to compromise and effectively make policy decisions.

Though she voted to stick to five, Mrs. Papas pointed out that the smaller board might find itself left with only one senior member after an election.

Asked about his preferences, Superintendent William MacDonald conceded that he found it easier to work with the five member board. "However," he said, "I don't think it's a function of numbers; it's a function of individuals. It's easier to work with only five nervous systems."

The committee agreed that terms of office should run to the end of town meeting to avoid having newly elected school board members faced with defending at town meeting a budget they did not play a role in creating. Frank noted this situation has put pressure on the remaining members to take on the unreasonable task of mastering all the details of the entire school budget, even though they may not have played a direct role in preparing some sections of it.

Finance committee Chairman Alice Mirak, who attended Monday's meeting to discuss budget procedures with the school board, explained that the FinCom is preparing a proposal that all elected boards have their terms of office expire after town meeting.

Frank also noted that this proposal would also have the change of office occurring around the end of the school year.

On budget presentation, Chairman Frank and Mrs. Papas said they questioned why town meeting should act on a FinCom version of the school budget, when the school committee is the group charged with preparation of that budget.

"We shouldn't have to be on the defensive," said Mrs. Papas, who added she didn't like being in the position of proposing amendments to the FinCom budget to bring it back to the level of the school committee's original proposal. She said the FinCom should be the one to make the amendments.

"I don't think that will fly," was Mrs. Mirak's response to the suggested change. She explained that she saw the school department as one department within the executive budget of the town manager. "You're talking about seceding from the union," she said.

Frank pointed out that in point of law, the sckool department is autonomous. If the town meeting refuses to appropriate the money requested by the school committee, the meeting can be sued.

Committeeman Jack Noble commented that two assessments are listed on the tax bill, one for the town, one for the schools.

Although dubious about the proposal, Mrs. Mirak told the school board that "the issue is worth raising" and that "you'll never have a better forum for it than the by-law revision committee."

Though the charter calls for 30 days between publication of the budget and a final vote, the committee agreed that two weeks would be sufficient time to absorb the input from the public hearing.

This recommendation was in part suggested to take some of the pressure off the budget timetable and allow for more preparation time.

The selectmen have decided they would like to get some hardware from the TOPICS program, but they don't want the extras.

The board voted 4-1 Monday night to send the Traffic Operations Program to Increase Capacity and Safety plans back to the state with modifications and see if the state will still give the town money for the program.

The program is designed to improve conditions at five intersections: Washington and Forest streets, Cambridge and Pond streets, Cambridge and Wildwood streets, Church and Bacon streets, and Skillings road-Washington street-Mt. Vernon street.

The selectmen, opposed to any major changes in the appearance of the five intersections, agreed that the town should see if the state will provide funds for replacement of the existing lights with "smart" lights and for new standing lights at Cambridge and Pond streets.

The original plans called for installing mast arms and guy-wires, from which lights would be suspended, and for widening the roadway in some cases, which would involve land-takings.

The board opposed any land-takings, and Town Manager Thomas Groux, Town Engineer Jake Ciarcia, and Safety Officer John McKinley came up with a revised plan involving no such procedures. Groux presented the plan to the board Monday night.

Groux said he recommended the town eliminate the land-takings, road widenings, extra turning lanes, guy wires and mast arms and take whatever hardware the state would be willing to pay for. One exception he noted was at Cambridge and Wildwood, where he said some widening of the road seemed necessary. He added that "we may be able to do that within the existing right-of-way."

The lone dissenter in the final vote, Selectman Edward O'Connell, said, "We're probably barking up a leafless tree to think we are going to get some equipment out of a plan we have rejected."

However, there was strong oppostition from Selectmen Arthur Dunbar and Richard Wilsack to any substantial changes in the existing lighting at the intersections (except at Cambridge and Pond streets, where at present no lights at all exist). In particular they objected to the installation of mast arms, which would hang lights over the middle of the intersection.

"I have no problem asking for a replacement of hardware and new hardware where it is required," Dunbar added. He said he was also in favor of replacing old lights with new "smart" lights, which react to cars pulling up to the intersection.

Chairman Barbara Hankins asked Officer McKinley, "Are mast arms the way they build traffic signals these days? If we asked for old-fashioned lights, would the state agree?"

"The feeling is if you want someone to see something, you have to put it in front of him," replied McKinley, who was skeptical of the town's chances to get any hardware out of the program without going along with the installation of the arms and the guy wires.

Former Selectman Lawrence Smith brought up the salient point of the discussion: the cost in impact to taxpayers.

He pointed out that sooner or later the lights will have to be replaced, and if no money can be gotten out of the state, then the taxpayers will have to pay for it directly.

"You should figure out how much of the program you can salvage and get it and get something that meets the aesthetic desires of the community," Smith said. He suggested local representatives be contacted to see if they can help get the revised program approved by the state.

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Lessons learned

The crisis has passed, but there are some gaps in the tape, as they say.

In general, the emergency precipitated by bacterial contamination of part of Winchester's water supply — the first such incident in the town's history — was handled effectively by local officials. Fortunately, aside from the possibility that a few local citizens contracted temporary illness from the contamination, no one was seriously affected.

The first signs of the contamination appeared Sept. 23, when the results from a water test taken at Winchester Hospital the day before revealed a high bacteria count. It took another day and another test sample to confirm the presence of bacteria in the water system on the east side, and another two days before the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering was notified.

Ironically, by the time the state agency issued an order for residents of the east side of town to boil their water last Thursday, the bacterial count had gone back down to zero, and the threat was over. But as a precautionary measure, the order can hardly be criticized. After three successive days of tests revealed no bacteria in the system, the order was rescinded Sunday morning.

Much of the credit for avoiding any serious health problem should go to the Safe Water Drinking Act, a federal law, administered by the state, which went into effect June 24 of this year. The law increased the number of samples and locations of samples that must be taken to monitor municipal water supplies. The law also requires public notification in the event the test results reveal contamination of the system.

As Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins pointed out at her board's meeting Monday night, had the contamination of the system occurred last year, the story might be a different, and a more tragic one altogether.

Nonetheless, there are some gaps.

The order to boil water came a week after signs of contamination were first discovered. While the order, according to the state and several local officials involved in the incident, was a "precautionary measure," there is the possibility that this kind of bacterial contamination could have a severe effect on some individuals within a very short period of time — the very old, the very young, and those with chronic ailments are especially susceptible to the effects of contaminated water.

Of course, if issuing an order to boil is merely a precaution, there is little point in creating undue alarm. On the other hand, accurate and complete information is less likely to produce a panic than rumors. And the sight of bottled water in use at the hospital and hydrants being flushed did make a few persons wonder what was going on.

What is disconcerting is that the state was not or could not be informed of the situation until Monday, even though the first contaminated sample was taken the previous Thursday. What is even more disturbing is that local public health officials were not made aware of the problem until a week after the first sample was taken — and even then, they found out through hearsay. Of all the parties involved, they should certainly be among the first to know.

Even Winchester Hospital was not informed until Tuesday, Sept. 27 — four days after the first test results were in. Even if the first days' test results were not confirmed, the hospital — from which the test sample was taken — should have known about the potential for contamination.

And finally, even though the state did not act until a week after the contamination was discovered, could not some effort have been undertaken by local DPW officials to inform the public as to what was going on?

The claim has been made that local officials cannot override the authority of the state in these matters. But it is hard to imagine the state — or the law — opposing any reasonable effort by local officials to make the public aware of potential hazard to the public health.

It is hard to deny that the local officials involved with the problem did not act in good faith. To a certain extent they even went beyond the guidelines of the law in dealing with the situation — the distribution of handbills to the affected area Thursday night, for example, was not required by law. And it must be taken into consideration that this is the first time such an incident has occurred.

But in the interests of public health, a tighter system of communication, at least between the DPW and local public health officials, should be established.

The crisis has passed without much harm being done. We are all more aware of the potential hazards involved. And the lessons gained by the experience should not be ignored. —DKF

Letters from readers

Water, water...

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Today it is common to read about problems with America's drinking water which is a sign of the times. Now that it has hit home, this is a good time to take a realistic look at our drinking water and its problems.

The tap water we drink is exposed to many forms of pollution, like organic contaminants - chemicals - heavy metals - pipe corrosion - viruses - chlorine and chlorine by-products like chloroform, a known carcinogen (cancer-causing agent) and yet these impurities are being ignored under our present system. We are mainly geared to bacterial control by just adding chlorine to the water for disinfection.

Meeting the state's standards does not insure safe drinking water for the standards are also geared to bacteria contamination.

Tap water is the end product of 7 sources of pollution:

(1) Rain and snow is contaminated as it falls through the polluted air.

(2) Land run-off washes all kinds of chemicals and pesticides into our water supplies.

(3) Lakes and Reservoirs are polluted from Mother Nature from decomposition of plant and animal life.

(4) Chlorination does more than disinfect water. It produces new and dangerous chemicals.

(5) Pipe contamination must be controlled by a chlorine residual but it is not always the case. Many people are getting a false sense of security.

(6) Pipe corrosion releases heavy metals into the drinking water. Water dissolves most everything it makes contact with and metal pipes are no exception.

(7) Faucet strainers are very dangerous. They trap and collect bugs - worms and fresh water shrimp and breed harmful bacteria and viruses.

Our Water Works is outdated and obsolete. We must face up to the fact that the water we drink is not as good as it should be and something more must be done.

The EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) has recently discovered that the chlorine does more than disinfect the water. It has harmful reactions even in non-polluted waters. We have been using the wrong disinfectant for the last 60 years. Chlorine is only the lesser of two evils. We must find a new method of disinfecting our drinking water.

Natural occurring compunds in water by themselves are harmless but once they are chlorinated, they become carcinogens. One of the chemicals produced is chloroform which is composed of carbon, hydrogen and chlorine.

A Government study made throughout the country was released last Spring which showed that there is a 44 per cent higher rate of cancer in the gastrointestinatl and urinary tract in cities with chlorinated water than non-chlorinated water.

There is no question that chlorinated water plays a major role in the cause of cancer. Dr. Samuel Epstein, a surgeon, a professor and a specialist in cancer research said on Dan Rather's CBS show, "I think a very serious question has been raised against a great number of people in authority in this country for their having allowed the continued exposure of human population to chemical carcinogens in water."

State testing for the amounts of chloroform in drinking water has been available for the last two years but has never been made on the Winchester water supply. "Don't alarm the Public" seems to be the rule here. The theory on what the public doesn't know won't hurt them is not a good safe practice. It is important we know how much chloroform is in our drinking water so we know best how to cope with it.

Faucet strainers are also dangerous because they collect bugs, worms and shrimp from our unfiltered reservoirs. Our faucet strainers act as a breeding bed for harmful bacteria and viruses. The MDC knows of the problem but feel it is not their job to notify the public. It is up to the cities and towns to take on this responsibility.

The New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham has removed all the faucet strainers throughout the Hospital because they found this unsanitary condition.

Viruses can go unharmed under our present water treatment system. How many viruses reach us through our tap is anyone's guess.

An EPA booklet released this year says that, "Modern science is now equipped to identify specific chemicals in terms of parts per billion in water testing. These figures are difficult for the layman to grasp. But in case you think that such small amounts can't be very significant, keep in mind that one can get sick from a single microscopic virus particle."

It is becoming more and more evident that tap water is among one of the most dangerous products we consume.

The water we drink plays a major role on health and it should not be taken for granted any longer. We must improve every aspect of our drinking water system including a modern filtration plant that will remove most of the harmful impurities in our drinking water.

Last week's water situation bears out how lax and inefficient our present system is. If Winchester wants good, clean, safe drinking water, now is an ideal time to act. Remember that our Government will not act unless its people demand immediate action.

If any group or organization is interested in more information on tests and literature on how best to get something done, please contact me.

Water protest

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am very upset over the way the water dpeartment and the board of health handled the bacteria problem in Town. Why did they notify the Winchester Hospital but allow its citizens to drink high dosages of harmful bacteria for a week before notifying its citizens?

A member of my family is ill and must be very careful with his diet. At the time we were drinking this contaminated water, he had a relapse. I have a good mind to sue the town for I am sure the relapse was caused from this situation.

Whenever coliform bacteria is present, it also indicates the presence of harmful viruses. The viruses ingested could also trigger off future illnesses.

I have removed the faucet strainers from my faucets for they collect bugs and worms. We have a jewelers magnifying glass to see them and it looks like a horror show.

I am tired of being at the inconsiderate mercy of our local water works. I can be careful about the food I serve but feel helpless for what comes out of my tap.

This town badly needs a water treatment plant, but until one is built, I have installed a home water pruifier. It gives me protection against harmful bacteria - viruses - pipe corrosion - and - removes the chlorine and other chemicals!

I do not feel that I should have to pay for this unit let alone its sales tax. The town or the state should pick up this tab. After all, I am paying for good quality water and this is what I expect. I feel that a tax break should be given on home water purifiers. There should also be a bill passed to exempt sales tax for these devices. The bill should be retroactive for those who have found a way to protect themselves.

Arbitration review

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Legislature this year voted to override the Governor's veto of a two year extension of the law which provides for compulsory and binding arbitration as a final step in collective bargaining between municipalities and police and fire unions. This was a set back for Home-Rule; a weakening of local control over tax rates.

Municipal officials all across the state have refused to accept defeat in this matter. They have decided to mobilize tax payers through an initiative petition drive. A petition has been drafted which would submit an arbitration award to the voters for approval if requested by either the union or the municipality within 20 days of publishing the award. Awards which were not supported by the voters would be returned to the bargaining table for further negotiations. This effectively gives a final review to those who must pay the taxes which finance an arbitration award.

The initiative petition drive is supported by all of the following associations of municipal officials: Selectmens Association, Association of Finance Committees, League of Cities and Towns, Association of Town Managers and Mayors.

The Winchester Board of Selectmen by a vote of 4 to 1 is officially supporting the initiative petition drive.

The citizens of Winchester have been asked to do their part; obtain 1,000 signatures by November 18. At the request of the selectmen a committee has been formed to coordinate the petition drive. Robert C. Ericson, 155 High st., will serve as coordinator for Winchester. A working group to recruit petition circulators and direct activities has been formed: Mary A. Meader, 10 Belleveue ave., 729-3017; Sally Cincotta, 9 Trinity rd., 729-1303; Virginia A. Hofling, 156 Forest st., 729-3306; Ruth A. Null, 2 Thornberry rd., 729-2375; Sally W. Kincaid, 12 Prospect st., 729-6444.

The petition efforts will include door to door canvassing of voters, the presentation of petitions at meetings and on Saturday morning at the transfer station. More facts will be presented in future issues of The Star on how the initiative petition will restore local control over our taxes.

All who share our concerns can help by signing the petition and volunteering to circulate it. Call or contact any member of the working group.

Robert C. Ericson

Resource file

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In view of the studies of the implementation of Chapter 622 being conducted currently by the League of Women Voters and the school department, it might be of interest to parents and teachers that the League is making its resource material available to the public.

Both Chapter 622 (state law) and Title IX (federal law, which the League is also examining) deal with providing equal opportunities in eduation for boys and girls.

The resource material will be shelved in the reference room of the Winchester Public Library, to be read there. Included are pamphlets and articles explaining Chapter 622 and Title IX, useful handbooks showing how to avoid sex stereotyping in education, textbook studies with recommendations and guidelines for eliminating sex stereotyping, studies of Chapter 622 implementation in neighboring towns, and relevant articles on subjects such as women in school administration, women and athletics, and mathematics and sex.

The League committee would like to thank the Winchster Public Library and, in particular, Mrs. Martha Ladd, reference librarian, for helping make this material available.

A new landmark?

By The Observer

The board of appeal is holding a hearing Tuesday for several petitions, the most interesting of which is a request by Winchester Hospital to build an 80-foot tall, diesel exhaust stack adjacent to the electrical distribution room facility on Valley road.

Residents around the hospital have complained in the past about exhaust coming from the hospital's auxiliary generators, which the facility cranks up regularly to make sure all is in working order. Apparently the clouds of unpalatable gases come out close to street level.

So the hospital has proposed to do something about it: build the 80-foot tower. The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the board of health clinic room in Town Hall.

Selectmen posted two committee vacancies recently: one for the snow and ice removal study committee (Sept. 27) and one for the conservation commission (Sept. 29). The latter position was left open by the resignation of John T. Moore.

There is already an opening on the conservation commission, and the selectmen have three nominees: George Ciampa, Thomas Ward, and John Looney.

Also received by the selectmen Monday night was the resignation of John M. Bradley from the finance committee.

In the mood ...

Pele's gift

By Karen Whittlesey-First

I am a soccer fan. Three of my kids play in the youth soccer program here (the last is a year too young) and they all toss around the black and white ball in the front yard. I have been known to kick a mean goal between the tree and the front steps myself.

The sport has caught on in Winchester and all around the country. It used to be that prep schools in Connecticut had sole jurisdiction over a game that kids all over the world have played for decades.

The piazza in the little Italian fishing village becomes a soccer field after school. The "place" in the French countryside suddenly sprouts imaginary goal posts. Tke stadium in Chile is thronged with fanatics — justifiably the basis of the word "fan" — screaming blood curdling threats against an invading team. It's an emotional game.

Now America has awakened. There are books out, in time for holiday gift-giving, about the dribbling procedure for getting down field, the passing techniques, the proper stance for throwing in from the side. Soccer has arrived in full force on to playing fields of America.

Soccer has arrived because singlehandedly a man from Brazil has brought us the drama, excitement, beauty and grace of a sport which requires only goalposts and a ball.

More than 75,000 people sat through pouring rain in a stadium in New Jersey last Saturday to watch Pele, wearing number 10 for the New York Cosmos, play his last game after 20 years in the sport. More than 75,000 chanted Pe-le, Pe-le, Pe-le as he kicked in a goal from 45 yards out. It's not enough to say he kicked in a goal. As he was up in the air, legs churning like a bicycle exerciser, back curved like a smooth marble statue, arms caught for an instant in a pose of grace and strength, Pele did the impossible. Again.

Pe-le. Pe-le. The man who says, "The children, let it say on my grave that I loved the children," has retired from the game but not from the sport. He will still teach the children. He has taught soccer to retarded children for the Special Olympics. He hugs the kids and ruffles their hair. He gives them that special feeling of self-worth and fun.

Pe-le. Pe-le. At the end of the Cosmos-Santos game last Saturday, he tried to run around the stadium to the cheers and tears of 75,000 drenched people. He didn't get very far before his teammates swept him up onto their shoulders and, with a Brazilian flag in one hand and an American flag in the other, Pele, like a beloved king, grinned through his tears at the people he loved.

I dislike dugout interviews or rinkside interviews. It would have been nice if the picture could just kave faded away and the memory of Pele's last game would quietly take its place in my mind next to the New York Giants playing their 1954 season at the Polo Grounds. But people now seem to be frightened of silences, especially on radio and television, and so there was the intervew with Pele after the game.

This humble, emotional, gentle human being was himself. He said thank you through the tears and wrapped his towel around his shoulders as he embraced his wife. Right there on television Pele reminded us in a few seconds that sports are meant to be played by human beings and not by agent-ridden multi-million dollar bonus babies.

Winchester has felt the gift which Pele brought this country. Hundreds of our children sign up for the fall and the spring youth soccer program. A few years ago we couldn't conceive of a full-fledged program involving this many public school children.

Your son or daughter may not yet have the grace and style of a professional athlete. You may not really understand the point of "no hands" and "off side". But the thing is, because of a man named Pele, you can find out and your goalie in the striped jersey and knee socks will have the chance to become graceful and skilled in a sport which all the rest of the world has known about for decades.

Community spirit

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Many questions keep arising as to what is being done about the discipline of our young people both in the schools and within the community. These questions and concerns certainly are valid and they have not fallen on deaf ears. There are many interested groups working on the problems of youth at this moment, and possibly without any real knowledge at this time, by the community at large.

There have been many small efforts made to alert the community to the problems that exist. CONCERN has been re-established and was instrumental in starting a Job For Youths Program. Further, CONCERN is in the process of developing an educational program on the costs and causes of vandalism and hopes to develop other ideas, big and small, which are beginning to come forth. We hope that several of the ideas before us can come to fruitition in the near future.

A second group, of which I am knowledgeable, has chosen to respond to many parent requests for knowledge of how to cope with raising their children in this vastly complex and changing society. The WIC organization — Winchester Interagency Council — has been meeting once a month to address, as professional people, the problems of youth as they relate to the family structure. Four evening programs were presented last year and were well attended. This year the WIC group is sponsoring another program in conjunction with the adult education program.

A third group, working at the high school, is comprised of parents, students and staff working together to evaluate the rules of the school and their proper enforcement. This group is also looking into alternative methods of discipline which might aid in fostering the positive development of a student.

On an extremely positive note, upper classmen have planned and implemented a successful orientation program for the Sophomores during the first day of school. They also have plans to follow-up this orientation program during the first week of October to further assist the sophomores in acclimating themselves to the school.

In addition, through the development of better lines of communication between the athletic department and the school staff, we are stressing the need for proper classroom attendance, behavior and grades as being a primary requisite for athletic participation. Finally, through the athletic program itself we are striving to develop the individual pride that healthy competition can bring about. Development of an individual's pride can bring about a pride in the school and community as well. This is our goal.

The effort mentioned above do not imply that other groups or individuals are not working on the problem as well. I know many that are, but I am not familiar enough with their programs at this time to comment on them.

The most gratifying aspect of all this to me, personally, is the general feeling that seems to permeate all the groups that I have come into contact with — the problem belongs to all of us — not just the parents, not just the schools, and not just the kids. The feeling of "we" is a prevalent and dominant theme. It's continuting will assure us the success we desire.

Pro-life

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Senator Rotondi recently voted to have our tax monies pay for elective abortions through medicaid. He is one of those who is "morally opposed to abortion BUT if you want to get rid of your child it's O.K."

The senator campaigned on his desire to honor the will of the people. He mentioned early and often his Catholic family background with its implied moral teaching by the example of his parents.

I have great difficulty trying to believe that this man is Pro-life. He has voted against every Pro-life bill that is supported by Chapters of Mass. Citizens for Life.

Abortion is an issue just as organized crime is an issue. If you are against organized crime, then you fight it at any and all levels. One cannot hope to wipe it out with one piece of legislative action. We must fight piece by piece, bill by bill. If a bill stops crime in any way, vote for it. These bills could be...more police training, more money for equipment, or use the IRS against criminals.

This same action applies in the fight to stop Permissive abortion. We cannot wipe out the insanity of abortion in one vote but we can stop it one step at a time as legislation arises.

Unfortunately, Senator Rotondi's misguided reasoning has forced us into a policy that destroys the life of the Pre-born. Those "thirty pieces of silver" are your State and Federal taxes...and the poor baby, the rich baby and the middle-class baby are all equal on the abortion table, according to Senator Rotondi (and also Gov. Dukakis)...after all, he has "strong moral opposition to abortion." He would never destroy HIS child...but...if you want to get rid of YOURS, its O.K.

What's the problem?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The saying that; "For every difficult problem, there are thousands of simple solutions, all of them wrong" is amply proven by two letters concerning the use of consultants to develop plans for the upgrading of Winchester Center.

In his letter, J. Ken Macneill, suggests that there is sufficient talent available, in Winchester, so that hiring a consulting firm is a waste of money. As proof, he uses the example of the company from which he was retired. This company had sufficient "in-house" talent so that it never needed consultants. For the sake of discussion, we will accept that statement, while noting that such a situation is atypical. Mr. Macneill conveniently ignores the crucial element in his equation; that superlative "in-house" talent was paid staff. It is hardly fair to expect some small, workable group of citizens to donate a minimum of 2500 hours to such a project.

Should we hire consultants, we can only hope that we will get what we pay for. On the other hand, if we pay nothing, we can be assured of getting what we pay for. We have gotten that from previous, unpaid groups.

Mr. Carroll's theory is wonderfully simple; Shopping centers do not have parking meters — shopping centers have customers: Winchester Center has parking meters — Winchester Center does not have customers. Ergo: Remove the parking meters and Winchester Center will have customers. The attraction of shopping centers is the breadth and texture of the goods and services offered, not free parking.

If one were to determine the fully allocated costs of parking meters, acquisition, installation, maintenance, collection enforcement, and administration, it would be evident that no revenue accrues to the town. Indeed, the existence of parking meters is solely for the purpose of increasing the availability of parking spaces; a subsidy to the merchants.

The problem, it seems, is that we are not willing to recognize the problem.

Winchester Center is marvelous if one wishes to buy a home, insurance, pharmaceuticals, ice cream or shoes; go to a bank; see a lawyer, doctor or dentist; or have one's hair done. The unfortunate fact is that no one of these businesses is typically the keystone of a shopping center.

In my view, paid, professional planners are the only ones able to objectively assess the problem and to present workable solutions which the citizens of Winchester can support and implement.

I take that position with one reservation. Under no circumstance should the town manager be involved in any portion of the selection process. His incompetence has been amply illustrated already.

National survival

EDITOR OF TME STAR:

An outright transfer of our country's sovereign rights in the Canal Zone of Panama to an ally of Fidel Castro's communist Cuba is in the works.

This treaty to give away our Panama Canal is a threat to America's national security — indeed, to our nation's very survival in the future. The issue is national survival.

The Canal Zone is the exclusive property of the U.S., according to a treaty signed freely by the State of Panama in 1903. We paid more for that territory than for all other U.S. property put together.

Furthermore, we paid for it four times: once to Panama, once to the French, once to the neighboring state of Colombia, and finally to individual property owners.

But we did more than just purchase property. We purchased sovereign rights to that property. That means that no government on earth can interfere with our use of American territory.

The dictator of Panama, Gen. Omar Tonijos, is a Marxist. His government is comprised of Marxists. He is allied to Fidel Castro. He is in sympathy with the Soviet Union's goal of forced communization of our entire hemisphere.

Tonijos is an unstable, unpredictable tyrant who has outlawed all political parties in Panama, except the communist party. He will not tolerate opposition.

The Canal is not outdated and outmoded, as surrender advocates claim. In the past 30 months, some 750 U.S. Navy ships used the canal on affairs directly related to our national security. Only a handful of our very largest U.S. ships cannot use the canal. This shortcut passage between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans literally doubles the strength and effectiveness of our navy. And it saves billions of dollars.

Furthermore, if the canal were in the hands of Tonijos, a Marxist would have almost life and death control over Nicaragua, Ecuador, Peru and Chile (their trade depends on the canal).

The most telling argument against this treaty are the words of four former chiefs of naval operations, the highest post attainable in the U.S. Navy, who wrote President Carter:

"Loss of the Panama Canal...would contribute to the encirclement of the U.S. by hostile naval forces, and threaten our ability to survive."

This is the informed opinion of America's top military commanders, men who know best the value of the Zone. They can speak freely, because they have all retired, so they aren't going to face presidential pressure.

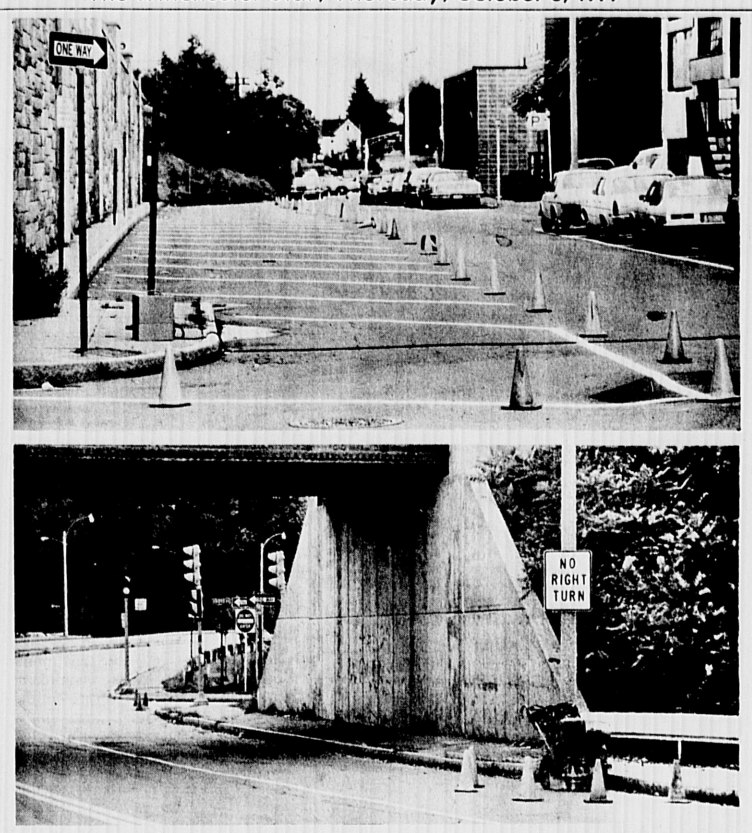

The government of Panama is paying hundreds of thousands of dollars to "Public Affairs Analysts," a U.S. consultant firm, to run a fancy, Madison avenue style P.R. campaign for the treaty.

If President Carter succeeds in this give-away attempt the demands of Omar Tonijos, Fidel Castro, and the Soviet Union will be met. Our most strtegic possession will be lost.

The people must stop this treaty to surrender the Panama Canal Zone. Your representatives should hear from you before it is too late.

STOP!

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Are the drivers of Winchester ignorant of the law or simply inconsiderate? The motor vehicle laws of Massachusetts require that drivers "STOP" for persons carrying a white cane, or being guided by a guide dog.

My son James is a 9th grade student at McCall Junior High and is legally blind. On numerous occasions he has related to me his difficulty in crossing the streets of Winchester because drivers simply ignore his cane which he uses to travel to the downtown area.

On the morning of September 28 at the corner of Thompson Street near the post office he was nearly struck by a car which ignored the stop sign as well as his cane and passed so close that the cane struck the car.

A further problem exists at the corner of Mystic Valley Parkway and Main Street since the walk light button has been inoperable since the start of school.

Please drivers of Winchester, there are two blind boys attending junior high schools in Winchester. Show some consideration and observe their white canes before it is too late.

Rep. Saltmarsh reports...

Aircraft noise should wane by the time the turkey's gone

Winchester residents, who have been plagued by noise pollution from low-flying planes en route to Logan Airport, received assurance from Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. this week that the aggravation will cease by the latter part of November.

Rep. Saltmarsh, in response to numerous complaints about the increased frequency of low-flying planes that sound not unlike dive bombers, visited Massport with Mrs. Margaret M. Melilli of 26 Nassau dr. early last June.

They voiced their complaints to Noise Abatement Officer Donna Berman and were told that Logan Airport had embarked on a major construction program April 15, which involved paving and painting runway and the approach end of 22L, and the overlaying of taxiway D, C, and E intersections at 9-27 and stub runway 15L-33R.

"We were given the impression that this work would be completed by July 1," Saltmarsh said, "and we understood that a far greater than usual number of flights would be diverted to runway 15R which puts them on a flight path that causes them to pass over residential areas such as Winchester."

During the summer, however, more and more planes caused a great number of Winchester residents to demand corrective action and Saltmarsh made additional trips to Massport.

"I discovered that the construction program actually involved four phases," Saltmarsh explaiuned "and that Mrs. Melilli and I had only learned of Phase I during our intial visit.

"Phase II began on July 5 when runway 4R, 22L was closed for the installation of a CAT II approach system and completion of center lines and touchdown lights. During this phase, there was a 57-hour closure over a weekend of runway section 9-27 and 4R. That was a noisy weekend for Winchester," Saltmarsh continued.

"This phase was completed Sept. 1 but Phase III involved the overlay of runway 22L and the completion of the center line light system. Starting Sept. 6 and running through yesterday, this phase also necessitated a 57-hour closing of intersection 4R and 15R."

Saltmarsh said phase IV, the final step of the program, began Sept. 6 and will continue through Nov. 25 when the grooving and repainting of runway 9-27 and 4R, 22L will be completed.

"I have been in constant touch with the noise abatement officer during the course of this construction program," Rep. Saltmarsh said, "and I am convinced that Logan Airport is making a sincere effort to improve the safety conditions and to decrease the noise pollution that has caused distress to airlines and Greater Boston residents.

"Unfavorable wind conditions and the prolonged spell of unusually hot weather we experienced during the summer had a lot to do with the exceptionally high noise volume we experienced. When you consider the fact that during 1976 only 4.5 percent of all aircraft landing at Logan used runway 15R as compared to 27 percent during July and 19 percent during August of this year, it is understandable why residents began to think we were living on the outskirts of Logan itself. Once planes can approach the airport along flight paths that lead them over the water, things will return to normal."

Saltmarsh said that it was imperative Logan undertake the construction project in order to remove the designation of the Back Star awarded it by International Federation of Air Line Pilots Associations because they felt noise abatement regulations led to the violation of the association's safety standards.

Massport has filed criminal complaints against United, Braniff, Eastern and Transworld Airlines for violating rules on noisy takeoffs and testing engines at night. They have discouraged the use of 70's and DC8's and they have assessed fines on those airlines whose pilots take off with a blast, Saltmarsh claimed.

"There is no question that there has been cause for concern during this construction period," he continued. "People who live in the Highlands and on the hills of the town have especially suffered from ear-shattering noise. Television reception has been disrupted."

"They have made their oposition known to me and I have made it known to the powers-that-be," Saltmarsh said. "It is because of alert citizens such as we have in Winchester that intolerable conditions will not be allowed to continue. I have been assured by Massport that they have never failed to meet a construction deadline.

'I feel certain that two days after Thanksgiving we can look forward to a reasonable quiet town again," he concluded.

The Star heard Wednesday morning from a local resident that there are plans to establish a permanent flight pattern out over the Medford-Winchester area.

The Medford City Council discussed the issue at their Tuesday night meeting. It was pointed out that there is a beacon set up in Medford. According to the local source, the notice of the intent to establish tke pattern came from Massport officials.

However, the Federal Aeronautics Administration, which is responsible for establishing flight patterns, denies that any such plans exist.

"There are no plans for new or additional flight patterns over the Medford-Winchester area," says S.G. Payne, deputy public affairs officer for the FAA in Burlington. Payne pointed out that the beacon in Medford has been there for some time and is used as a navigational aide.

School committee notes

Pupil-teacher ratios

Pupil-teacher ratios in Winchester's elemtary schools are, on the average, below the guidelines set by the school administration. The lower ratio is caused by the unexpectedly large drop in enrollment this year, and by an uneven distribution of students from grade to grade and school to school.

The average ratio in the elementary schools, including kindergarten and special education classes, is 20.9 students per teacher. This ratio, however, does not take into account teacher aides in the special education classes, in grade 4 at the Mystic School, and for three classes in grades 2-3 at the Vinson-Owen School.

There are 13 kindergarten classes with a total population of 231 students. The classes range in size from 11 to 24. The pupil-teacher ratio averages out to 17.8-to 1.

Superintendent William C. MacDonald explained that some of the classes were small because of the enrollment drop, which in some cases left the school department with more teachers than are needed, according to the ratio formulas. However, teacher contracts had already been signed, leaving the school department with extra staff.

The 1857 students in grades 1-6 are divided into 84 classes, with an average ratio of 22.1-to-1. Because of the uneven distribution of students, there are 21 split classes in the eight elementary schools.

Eleven of the split classes combine grades 5 and 6; one is for grades 4 and 5; one for grades 3 and 4; three for grades 2 and 3; and four for grades 1 and 2.

There are six split classes at Ambrose; five each at Noonan and Washington; four at Parkhurst; one at Vinson-Owen; and none at Lincoln, Muraco, and Mystic.

Pupil-teacher ratios for the eight schools break down as follows: Ambrose, 22.9-to-1; Lincoln, 20.9-to-1; Muraco, 22.3-to-1; Mystic, 21.4-to-1; Noonan, 18.6 to 1; Parkhurst, 18.0-to-1; Vinson-Owen, 23.0-to-1; Washington, 18.9-to 1.

For grade 1, 22-to-1 at all schools except Noonan, where it is 21-to-1.

For grades 2-6, 25-to-1 at Ambrose, Lincoln, Muraco, Parkhurst, and Vinson-Owen; 24.2-to-1 at Mystic; 21-to-1 at Noonan; and 22.6-to-1 at Washington.

For kindergarten, up to 25 students makes up one session with a half teacher; 26-30 vs one session with a half teacher and half aide; 31-50 is two sessions with one teacher; 51-62 is two sessions with one teacher and one aide; and 63-75 is three sessions with one-and-half teacher positions.

Several factors not reflected in the enrollment figures have some bearing on the establishment of the ratios, including classroom sizes, school facilities, and whether or not the school operates with an "open" or "closed" classroom concept.

Closings

Although the school board has left the issue of further school closings off its list of goals and objectives for this year, the unexpectedly large drop in enrollment should put the question back on the agenda by next year — possibly by this spring.

The debate over the closing of the Wyman School took up a good deal of the board's time over the past two years. They have expressed a reluctance to jump back into the frying pan so soon.

But there are others who are keeping an eye on the enrollment situation, notably finance committee Chairman Alice Mirak. At a recent school committee meeting, she pointed out that there are more empty seats in the schools this year than there were last year when there was a whole other school in the system.

Projections

Arthur Sarno, data processor for the school department, appeared before the school committee recently to ask for some assistance in making enrollment projections.

"I'm becoming extremely nervous about letting projections be a one-man show," said Sarno, who noted that if the projections continued to be made on the basis of purely statistical data from the past, it won't be long before "we'll have two students left, and we can send them to Woburn."

Because of the rapid decline in the student population in recent years (1000 Students since 1972), Sarno says it is difficult to project simply on the basis of numbers from the last few years. The curve has to bottom out somewhere, but no one can tell for sure when that will be.

Sarno suggested that the committee look for "softer" forms of input." He said, "We have got to define the casual variables, those things that have an effect on enrollment."

He also suggested that the committee ought to incorporate a "fudge factor" into the school budget to allow for the margin of error in predicting enrollments from year to year.

Projections for the last couple of years have been above actual enrollments: this year's forecast was 150 above actual enrollment in September, which were down by 247 altogetner from last year.

Registration for Catholic school exam

Registration for the December entrance exam for Arlington Catholic High School will be held Wednesday and Thursday, October 12 and 13, 1977, from 2:30 to 4:00 PM. Registration fee of $5.00 covers the cost of the exam.

There will also be an open house and registration Tuesday evening, October 11, from 7 to 8:30 PM.

All students wishing to enter Catholic high schools in the area must take this entrance exam. They do not have to take the test at the school they wish to attend, but they must take the test at the school where they registered. Results of the test will be sent to the high schools of the students' choice.

Consideration for admission will be given to results of exam, seventh and eighth grade marks and recommendation of teachers.

Only those students who have registered will be eligible for the exam. The exam will be given on Saturday, December 3 at 8:30 AM.

Merchant's Corner

Business is clicking at Norfolk Wallpaper

Bob Crawford, owner of Norfolk Wallpaper Inc. of 671 Mass. Ave. in Arlington was featured in the July Issue of Decorating Retailer, a national publication. The two page spread, in full color, and giving complete descriptions of The Carol Ann Shade Co., tells the story of Bob Crawford and Warren Rockwell, who are the two people making this window treatment center click.

Located at 1280 Centre St. in Newton Center, this company features interior window treatments that are most unusual. Their showroom has full window displays and is the largest one of its kind in New England. Bob Crawford, who is a decorator in his own right, has brought the largest selection of decorating wallpaper to this area from his Norfolk Walpaper store in Arlington. Bob, who says, "We design windows, not cover them up" recently expanded to the window treatment field.

The Decorator Retailer Magazine says, in part:

The partners retail window treatments at three locations in three different manners. In addition to the showroom offering made-to-measure and custom products, a Carol Ann Shade Co. factory outlet across the street provides inexpensive shades and blinds which the customer may have cut to her specifications and take home for do-it-yourself installation. Identifying the store carrying ready-made merchandise as a "factory outlet" is one way the partners separate these inexpensive shades and blinds from the better quality made-to-measure and custom products.

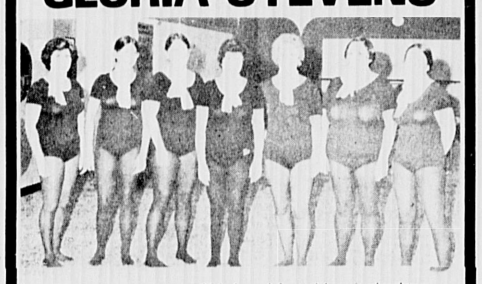

Also identified as a Carol Ann Shade Co. "factory outlet" is Crawford's Norfolk store in nearby Arlington. Here Crawford shows a sampling of both the ready-made and the made-to-measure shades and blinds. Since he and Rockwell both design and install made-to-measure window treatments, a sale may be initiated while Crawford is in the Arlington store before moving to the showroom with the full-scale displays.

Boston area customers are excited about the vertical blinds, Crawford says. Currently, the blinds are the number one seller. Many new customers resulted from their exhibit at a recent home show, he adds, where vertical blinds were displayed.

The trend seems to be away from draperies, he points out, noting that maintenance and initial cost is much greater than with shades or blinds. He explains that the cost is greater because the drapery fabrics are expensive and cleaning requires special care. However, with shades or blinds periodic vacuuming is all they need.

Children rehearsing for Nov. performance of Fables

For the last three weeks some 50-odd children have been participating in a unique approach to drama inspired by Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff. The concept of the Children's Theatre is to let the children express themselves on stage, interpret the given situation and explore all related areas of production. They "write the script", paint the posters, sell tickets, become stagehands between scenes. In short, the children become the production itself.

This November 18, 19, and 20 The Winchester Community Theatre, Inc. will present three Fables and an interpretive dance. Mrs. Elaine Kasparian is the director this year. Mrs. Kasparian comes from Belmont with an extensive background in the theatre. After receiving her degree in drama from Tufts Uniersity, Mrs. Kasparian worked in production at the Charles Playhouse and Minnealla Playhouse in New York. She has directed plays for the Belmont Dramatic Club and for the Arlington Friends of the Drama.

The choreographer for this year's performance is Celia Shneider. This is Celia's second year working with Children's Theatre. Celia has studied ballet at the Cambridge School of Ballet, Jazz and Modern at the Dance Circle of Boston, the Institute of Contemporary Dance and the Joy of Movement Center.

Suffolk University

Five Winchester students at Suffolk University made the dean's list for the spring. They were:

Karl Mayer, 80 High st., a junior; Karen M. Kelleher, 190 Forest st., a senior; and David G. Saliba, 3 Lagrange st., a senior, all three of whom are in the college of business administration;

And Edmund A. Williams, 2 Myrtle st., a junior, and Eileen M. Flynn of 7 Swanton st., a sophomore, both studying in the college of liberal arts.

Tax bills out; payments start on November 1

The treasurer-collector's office has mailed all real estate tax bills for fiscal year ending June 30, 1978 and the first payment is due November 1, 1977.

According to Carol A. Thomas, treasurer-collector, "If you are a new home owner having purchased property after January 1, 1977 and have not received a bill, contact the tax collector's office for a duplicate."

There is a change in the law this year. Real estate payments not made before November 1 are subject to interest at ten percent from the first of the preceding month.

To help make payment of taxes more convenient, the collector's office will be extending office hours Saturday, October 29, from 9 to 1.

Rec department to sponsor first WHS disco dance

The Winchester Recreation Department will sponsor a disco dance on Oct. 15, at the Lincoln School, for grades 10, 11, and 12, from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The outfit which will be putting on the disco dance is a group from Watertown properly named Distronics. They are the newest fad that is hitting all the high schools in the surrounding areas, promising the hottest music, a great light show, and some incredible special effects.

The dance is a first of its type . A small admission will be charged and proceeds will go to the student union of Winchester High School.

Miss Maravigna's ceramic mushrooms at library exhibit

A showcase full of mushroom sculptures by Winchester's Maria Maravigna will be on display at the Winchester Public Library during the month of October. Represented are both edible and poisonous mushrooms, from the emerging bud to the mature flower, in natural colors and shapes.

In addition to the ceramic mushroom exhibit, Miss Maravigna's watercolors, books, and an oil painting are also displayed.

Among the sculptures is a loca luminary, a first in New England and, as far as is known, possibly in the country. This is the "Amanita muscaria" (Fly mushroom), a brilliant red cap with white warts. Maria Marvigna is credited as being the first to find this poisonous species here, and her discovery has stirred a great deal of interest.

Miss Maravigna is a born naturalist and a trained artist. Originally she became interested in the picking and identification of mushrooms for culinary purposes. In 1950, their forms and colors drew her from kitchen to studio. She has captured in permanent art form the natural beauty of mushrooms; working directly from clay, she has sculpted close to 3,000 species. Each is scientifically accurate, botanically labeled, and signed.

Maria Marvigna is a member of the Boston Mycological Club, where she was elected to honorary membership in recognition of her great contribution to mycological interest. Her sculptures have been exhibited throughout the country, including the New York Botanical Garden, St. Louis Botanical Gardens, the Academy of Arts and Sciences in San Francisco and the Boston Pulibc Library.

K of C campaign Oct.7-9 to raise funds for charity

Again this year the Massachusetts State Council of the Knights of Columbus is planning an extensive campaign to acquire funds for its annual Charity Program. The purpose of this program is to furnish aid to the exceptional, handicapped and retarded children in the four dioces in the State of Massachusetts.

A special feature of this year's program is the Tootsie Roll Drive. During the weekend of October 7, 8 and 9, members of the various councils throughout the state will be stationed at stores and supermarkets to collect voluntary donations and will give a Tootsie Roll to every donor.

Fundraiser Oct. 22

Friends plan autumn ball

Plans have been finalized and invitations extended for the 26th annual ball by the committee for the Friends of Winchester Hospital to be held at 9 p.m. October 22 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Winchester.

Designated the Autumn Ball, the entire proceeds of this gala fund raising event will be used for the purchase of much needed equipment for the hospital.

Last year proceeds from the ball enabled the Friends to purchase an electo-cautery machine for the operating room. In addition, active members contributed 22,500 volunteer hours to the hospital.

The public is invited and reservations should be made now since the function is limited to 150 couples. Cutoff date for reservations is Oct. 15 and they can be made by contacting Mrs. Robert Costello at 729-2288, or Mrs. George Hunter at 729-1377.

Members of the committee are: chairman, Mrs. Joseph Georgis; patrons, Mrs. Levon Boodakian; treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Sidebotham; floor chairman, Mrs. Stewart Carswell; invitations, Mrs. Michael Macdonald and Mrs. Robert Grieves; decorations, Mrs. James Ryan; special services, Mrs. Albert Mooradian; publicity, Mrs. A.C. Longo; donations, Mrs. John Hosmer; clean-up, Mrs. Stanley Harms; reservations, Mrs. Robert Costello and Mrs. George Hunter.

The New Black Eagle Jazz Band is returning to the Winchester High School on Oct. 15 at 8:30 p.m. for the benefit of the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Scholarship Fund.

The Eagles first took up jazz individually during their student days in the 1950's and now, after six years of playing together, are sensitive enough to one another's playing style to create rousing improvisations of rags, blues, and two-steps from their repertoire of 350 old tunes. They are best known locally for their performances on the Jazz Boat, and at the Sticky Wicket Pub in Hopkinton.

Tickets are available at Bowman's Real Estate and Winslow Potpourri, and by calling 729-4891 or 729-5926. Admission also at the door. Refreshments will be served.

Five local musicians selected to play with youth symphony orch.

Five young Winchester musicians have been selected as members of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestras after successful auditions this past May.

Taking part in the weekly rehearsals and special events are Sherrill Daugherty, Lyndon Lien, Deborah Shea, Ellen Stoddard, and James Wells.

Office for Children seeks families

Families for Foster Children, a unit of the Massachusetts Office for Children, has started a new recruitment program to enlist foster parents for teenagers and institutionalized children. Winchester families are needed for emergency, short term and long term placement of foster children.

Ms. Carol Trust, director of Families for Foster Children, reports that there is a critical shortage of foster homes for teenagers and institutionalized children. The teenagers may be parentless, their families may be in a temporary crisis, or they may be ready to leave an institution but can't return home. Some have had trouble with the authorities. Other institutionalized children may have varying degrees of physical or mental handicaps.

Foster parents receive a subsidy for the food and clothing of children in their care. Single persons or couples interested in become foster parents should call Families for Foster Children at 727-7277.

YWCA plans crafts, life-career workshop

Making something different and unusual is fun. Several opportunities for learning new crafts are being offered in the near future by the Central Middlesex YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill Rd., Burlington.

The Fiber Crafts Course is an introduction to four crafts: batik, weaving, macrame and tie-dye. Classes meet Wednesday evenings.

Crafts for Kids is open for fourth graders and up. Weaving, candle-making, batik, printing and tie-dying will be among the crafts taught in the after-school class.

The YWCA also offers a career-life workshop to help men and women decide what they want to do with their lives and develop the self-confidence to do it. The emphasis is "Employing Your Total Self" will be on developing individual talents and interests in relation to life and careers. The workshop is sponsored by the Central Middlesex YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill rd, Burlington. For information, call 272-3181.

Quota Club helps tape Channel 5 show

Mrs. Leila-Jane Roberts, president of the Winchester Quota Club, and Mrs. Helen O. Dame, governor of the 29th district of Quota International, Inc, participated in the taping September 10 of "The Baxter Family" program on channel 5.

Quotarians are known for their interest in and support of hearing and speech handicapped persons. The international headquarters of Quota has been working for several years on a "Shatter Silence" program designed to provide information, public awareness, and all types of aid to alleviate communication difficulties of the deaf.

Hallow'een disco part of weekend for Aintab group

Winchester residents Shirley Bechakian and Dana and Andrew Guleserian are taking part in the planning for a Hallow'een disco, sponsored by the Union of Armenians of Aintab in America, Inc., to be held Oct. 21 at 9 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Newton (exit 53 off Route 128).

The event will include a buffet starting at 6:30 p.m., for which reservations must be made.

On the following night, Oct. 22, there will be a gourmet dinner followed by four hours of Armenian-American dancing. The dinner starts at 7:30, the dancing at 9:15 p.m.

Both events are part of the organization's 54th annual convention being held over the weekend at the Holiday Inn.

Higher Tar Cigarettes Lose Taste Exclusive.

Taste dominance of higher tar cigarettes challenged by MERIT breakthrough.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

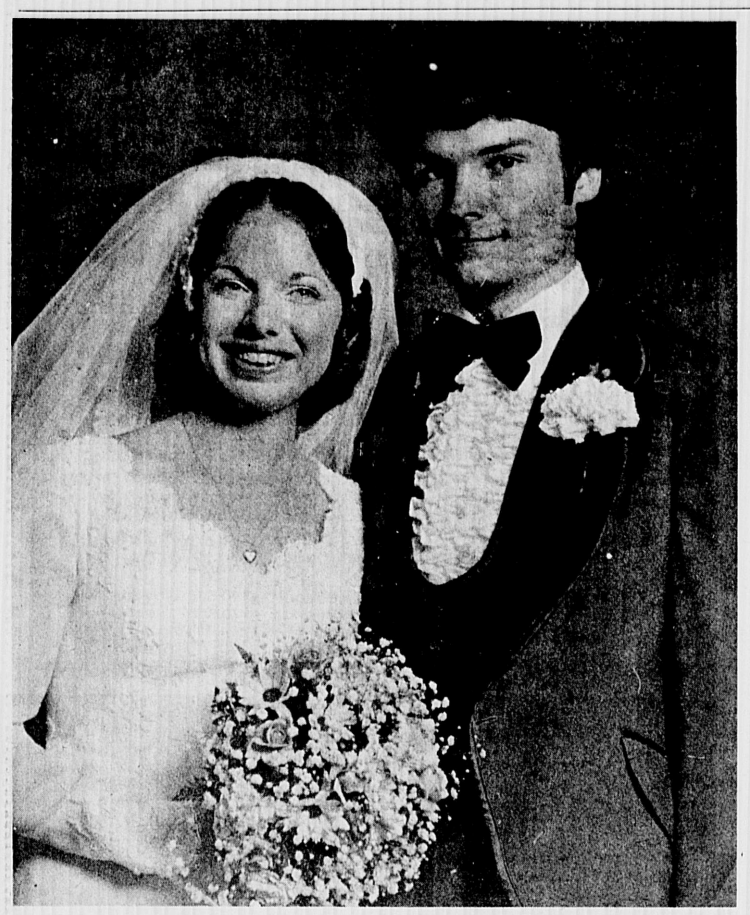

Kings: 8 mg. "tar," 0.5 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Dec. '76
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Low tar cigarettes just couldn't measure up.
Until MERIT.
Until a breakthrough in tobacco science resulted in a way to boost tobacco flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.
The result was 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco.
MERIT and MERIT 100's were packed with this special tobacco. And taste-tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes.
Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.
Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar!
Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And you can taste it.

Mr. & Mrs. Philip Tavares

Jacqueline deMars married Sept. 10 to Philip Tavares

The Chapel of the Most Holy Trinity, Newton was the setting for the Sept. 10 wedding of Jacqueline Marie deMars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. de Mars of Winchester, to Philip J. Tavares, son of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Tavares, also of Winchester.

The 11 a.m. nuptial mass was performed by Rev. Bernard Hoy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk with a sweetheart neckline, empire bodice and traditional long sleeves. The dress was embossed with peau d'ange lace and mother-of-pearl, swept into a circular chapel-length train. The bride's headpiece and finger-tip veil were trimmed with matching lace. She carried a casecade of yellow roses, white daisies and blue carnations.

Similarly attired, the bridesmaids were Laureen and Sue Megan, cousins of the bride, of Exeter, NH, and Frances Mulone of Winchester.

David Elwood of Wareham was best man. Assisting as ushers were the groom's brother, John F. Tavares of Londonderry, NH; Robert Kennedy of Arlington, VA; and Andrew Lawrence of Washington, D.C.

The bride's mother wore a mint green gown with matching jacket while the groom's mother chose a long gold tunic dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Tavares are both 1971 graduates of Winchester High School. The bride also graduated from Newton College of the Sacred Heart in 1975. Her husband, a Dartmouth College graduate, is a third year medical student at Georgetown University.

Following a reception at the Wayland House in Wayland, the couple left for a wedding trip to St. Thomas. They will be making their home in Arlington, VA.

Miss Frasca becomes bride of Anthony Macadino

Ritamarie Patricia Frasca, a teacher in the Lynnfield school system, and Anthony Macadino fo Winchester, an engineer at RCA, were married August 21.

St. Ignatius Church in Newton was decorated with white and yellow mums for the afernoon wedding at which Rev. James Wood of Boston College officiated. The bride is an alumna of that college. The groom is a graduate of Northeastern University.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Frasca of Melrose, was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a pandora empire waist gown of sata-peau with a Queen Anne collar, English net bodice, cathedral train and sleeves trimmed with alencon lace and seed pearls. Her cathedral-length veil, three-tiered and hand-rolled, was attached to a cap of matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Patricia Christensen of Melrose, the bride's cousin. Bridesmaids were Phyllis Volpe, the bride's cousin, Emily Reynolds, Diane Pesce, Joanne McCoy and Nancy Vekens, all of Melrose, and Roseann Tully of Medford. The matron of honor wore an apricot chiffon gown with scoop neckline and three-tier skirt. The bridesmaids wore sea-foam colored gowns of the same style.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vito Macadino, was attended by Domenic Macadino of Holliston, his brother, as best man. Ushers were Robert Frasca, brother of the bride, and Ron F Volpe, her cousin, both of Melrose, Anthony Marotto and John Sarapina, both of Winchster, Paul Galambos of Woburn, and Steven Hayes of North Reading.

The mother of the bride wore a full-length shrimp colored chiffon gown and the mother of the groom chose a gown of aqua silk polyester.

Following a reception at the Chestnut Hill Country Club in Newton, the couple went on a wedding trip to Nova Scotia. They are residing in Reading.

Miss Steemson, Mr. Chase plan to be married

Patricia Ann Steemson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Steemson of Wareham, and James M. Chase II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chase of Winchester, are planning to be married.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Wareham High School and her finance graduated from Winchester High School. Both are students at Westfield State College.

Fire Prevention Week

Smoke detectors can save lives

Fire Prevention Week is observed — not celebrated — by the United States and Canada each October, during the Sunday-through-Saturday period that includes October 9.

This date is the anniversary of "The Great Chicago Fire" of 1871 which marked the real start of community effort to prevent fires, instead of concentrating only on putting them out.

Toll of the Chicago fire was monumental in terms of the young frontier city and of the economy of those days: 250 lives lost; 17,430 buildings destroyed; estimated cost $168 million in property lost.

"Observed" will continue to be the right word for Fire Prevention Week as long as fire's annual toll remains at astronomical levels, even in proportion to today's population growth and economic inflation: in the US alone, 11,800 fire deaths in a single year; 3.1 million fires; dollar losses well over $4 billion.

When everyone pays attention to "Where there's smoke...there should be a smoke alarm"...when the cost of fire decreases greatly in terms of human suffering and death...when fires no longer destroy vast numbers of homes, schools, churches, commercial and industrial properties...only then will Fire Prevention Week move from being an observance to being a time of real celebration.

How much dependence should we have on fire detection warning systems?

According to Boston Fire Department Director of Communications John J. Collins, 75 per cent of all fire-related deaths could have been prevented by a fire detection unit.

Of the 12,000 fire-related deaths a year, more than 50 per cent occur in one and two-family homes. There have been 64,000 fatalities in the past 10 years in fires. One person out of 50 suffers a major loss due to fire.

Even though fire-rated materials should be used in walls, doorways and exits, the need remains for early warning smoke detection devices. Provisions should be made in all building codes for detection equipment: although detection equipment represents an additional cost factor, can we measure the cost in lives?

—As many as 300,000 persons are injured and $11 billion worth of property is damaged each year in home fires;

—By one estimate, 62.9 million homes, apartments, and mobile homes are without fire detection equipment;

—Most fatal fires occur while the occupants are asleep;

—Massachusetts, along with eight other states, requires fire detection units in all new home construction, but the legislation does not apply to older homes;

—There is a greater proportion of firerelated deaths in the United States than anywhere else in the world: we have twice the number per capita in Canada, four times the rate in Great Britain, and six times the rate in Japan;

—Some insurance companies offer breaks on the cost of the detection units and insurance premiums when the units are installed (though some companies have done nothing in this regard);

—Many of the detection units on the market can tell the difference between smoke from a cigareette and smoke from a burning wastebasket.

Why do persons die in residential fires? The reasons vary — it may be because the victims are in different locations at the time the fire starts; or because of smoking in bed or misuse of gasoline of clothing catching fire; or because they are asleep.

No detector made equals the human and his ability to see and smell smoke and fire. If he is awake, he extinguishes 70-80 per cent of the small fires discovered without calling the fire department. However the human detector cannot be awake at all times in all places.

With some thought, logic, and training, along with a detection system, the homeowner will have an opportunity to escape from all but a few fires. The thought as to what the homeowner needs, the logic as to proper placement in the home, and the training in escape methods are all important if lives are to be saved.

It is unlawful to place or cause to be placed any leaves upon a public way within the Town of Winchester, per general by-laws.

First of four Oct. Bloodmobiles at Sons of Italy

The Sons of Italy Venerable, Gus Baldacci, and the lodge's Blood Bank chairman Tony Saraco, have called on both the men's and womens lodges to staff the operations of the Red Cross Bloodmobile's visit to the Lodge Hall on Swanton Street from 12-5 p.m. Saturday.

Venerable Baldacci emphasizes the fact that the lodge welcomes all local men and women and young people 18 and over (17 with parental permission) to contribute much-needed blood. In the past many residents have taken advantage of the convenient location of the lodge hall, the ample parking space, the Saturday hours, and the congenial atmosphere of the lodge to make their blood contributions.

Car accident near hospital leaves 3 hurt

The two drivers and a passenger were injured in a two-car accident on Highland Avenue Saturday.

At 2:47 a.m. one car came out of Fairmount street and swung left onto Highland avenue, where it collided with a vehicle going south on Highland Avenue. Robert D. White, 21, of Dennisport, was treated at Winchester Hospital for head injuries and nose lacerations and discharged Sunday. Joseph Cusato, 19, of Reading, and Randall House, also of Reading, Cusato's passenger, were treated for head and facial injuries at Winchester Hospital and released.

The Registry of Motor Vehicle's Fatality Team was called in to assist Winchester Police in an investigation of the accident. The team is usually called in the event of fatal or near-fatal accidents. Both cars involved were toally destroyed.

Charges will be preferred against one of the drivers, according to local police, for speeding, failure to keep right, and driving under the influence of alcohol.

In other police news, two men were arrested and charged with breaking and entering into a car on Washington street near Main street Sunday at 1 a.m.

Charged also with attempted larceny are Michael Barrett, 17, and Raymond Moraras, 21, both of Somerville. Upon arrival at the scene Officers C. Vozzella and D. Jackson found one man inside the car and another standing outside. The vehicle's ignition had been tampered with.

Between $300 and $400 were taken from the cash register of the USA Skating Rink's snack bar on the night of September 26. Police found no signs of forced entry.

On September 27 the court fined a 20-year-old Winchester resident $25 each for running a red light, failure to use care while starting and stopping, and for driving without a license. The man went into the case program for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

On September 28 the court found sufficient evidence of larceny of more than $100 against a local youth. The case was continued without a finding until December 22.

Another case was filed without a finding on September 28. On April 4, Paul McMahon was charged with larceny under false pretenses for an amount exceeding $100.

FIRE SAFETY DAY '77

Provided as a Public Service by the Winchester

Knights Of Columbus

Winchester Council No. 210

Sunday, Oct. 16 9-5 ★ Life Saving Demonstration ★ Door Prizes ★ Free Coffee & Donuts ★ Educational Films.

HELP US REACH OUR GOAL.... A SMOKE ALARM IN EVERY Winchester Home.

Knights of Columbus

On display a full line of Home Fire Safety Products

The National Fire Protection Association has set its' goal in 1977 the installation of a fire/smoke detector in every dwelling in the United States. The National Fire Protection Association shows cases where time and again lives have been saved because of smoke detectors. Still, despite promotion by fire-safety organizations and massive advertising campaigns by industry, there are more than 90 percent of the homes in America without any type of smoke detectors.

Along those lines and in conjunction with the National Fire Protection Association's goal of reducing injuries and loss of life due to residential fires, I am pleased to announce a citywide "SAFETY DAY '77" to be sponsored by the Winchester Knights of Columbus Council, No. 260. This "SAFETY DAY '77" will take place on Sunday, October 16th between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 58 Mt. Vernon Street, Winchester.

During this "SAFETY DAY '77", representatives of Laskey & Co., Inc., a leader in the home fire safety field, will be on hand to answer any questions town members may have in reference to the latest fire protection devices available. A wide range of items will be presented. Through the special efforts of the Winchester Knights of Columbus, town residents will be able to purchase the "No. 1" rated residential detector at a substantial savings. This particular unit, rated tops in its field in extensive laboratory tests conducted by Consumers Union and published in Consumers Report, and normally listed at $39.95, will be available at $28.00, tax included.

Some of the day's events will include continuous educational films, free coffee and donuts, doorprizes and informative discussions with company representatives regarding your personal home safety needs. Please help us reach our goal—a smoke detector in every home in Winchester.

Smoke Detectors Warn of Fire

If smoke detectors were as common as toaster-ovens, blenders, electric carving knifes and other small household appliances, hundreds—even thousands—of people could save themselves from fire each year.

Residential fires claim an estimated 6,500 lives annually, according to studies by the National Fire Protection Association. Some of these people die from burns, but three times as many die from smoke inhalation—breathing the deadly toxic gases released into the air when common household furnishings smolder and flame.

Smoke detectors give early warning of a fire. This can mean the difference between a safe escape and no escape at all.

"Under most circumstances, an approved model of a smoke detector, properly placed, installed and maintained, will do a satisfactory job in giving early warning of fire," say experts at NFPA.

Approved models of smoke detectors are of the photoelectric (or optical) type and the ionization type. Both types can be powered either by house current or by batteries.

For about the cost of an electrical kitchen gadget, perhaps only seldom used, a smoke detector can protect a household 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Combine a smoke detector with a well-thought-out and rehearsed emergency escape plan to vastly increase the chances of survival in case of fire.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCT. 9-15

Single-Family Dwelling Ionization-Type Smoke Detector Alerts Family

Three children ranging in age from nine months to four years and their parents were awakened by the sound of a single-station, ionization-type smoke detector and alerted to a fire in their home. The family had practiced an emergency evacuation plan suggeszed by the manufacturer of the detector. Following this plan, they quickly escaped through a bedroom window, because their primary means of egress through the dwelling was blocked by flames.

The unusual floor plan of the dwelling required the parents to exit from their bedroom through the children's bedroom. For that reason, the battery-powered smoke detector was mounted on the ceiling in the children's bedroom.

A small electric space heater was believed to have caused the fire. Since the fire was close to the doorway leading from these bedrooms, they decided to exit through a window in the rear bedroom. They made an attempt to re-enter the dwelling through the front of the house to call the fire department, but were unable to do so. As a result, the father drove to their nearest neighbor's home, about two miles away, to call the fire department. The fire department received the alarm at approximately 8:52 a.m. and responded within eight minutes. The home was fully involved by the time that fire fighters arrived. They had trouble obtaining an adequate water supply because the nearest fire hydrant was approximately three-quarters of a mile away. As a result, the home sustained severe fire damage.

Help make this year's Fire Prevention Week a community wide safety event. The more you can learn about fire prevention and the more you practice the rules of safety, the more protection you; your family and your home will have against fire.

Sincerely

Robert W. McElhinney

22-7, 3-0 record

Reading falls to WHS behind three Davis TDs

By Bill Murphy and Jon Kalman

Winchester's offesnive and defensive lines controlled Reading throughout the game and proved to be the deciding factor in the Sachem's 22-7 win over the Rockets.

The Sachems quickly established their offense after Sam Bellino returned the opening kickoff 15-yards to Winchester's 31-yard line, when Anthony Davis burst through the middle for a 17-yard gain.

Davis, who played a spectacular game leading all rushers with 103 yards in 17 carries, brought the Sachems inside the Rockets' 10 yard line and with two minutes 45 seconds elapsed scored on a sweep to the left.

Red Raider Paul Smith returned the kickoff 23 yards to the Reading 42-yard line where he was tackled by Sachem Dave Downing. Quarterback Chris Warnick moved the Rockets in scoring position on a 30-yard pass to receiver Paul Smith. Smith was tackled on Winchester's six yard line by Dave Guarnaccia. The Reading offensive unit got inside the one yard line as the quarter ended with the Sachems leading 6-0.

Reading's David Falkenstiem drove over the middle for a touchdown to open the second quarter, and the extra point attempt was good. The Rockets led 7-6.

Winchester dominated the rest of the quarter as Anthony Davis scored two more touchdowns and the Sachem's offensive unit trampled Reading's defensive squad.

Davis scored his second touchdown on a four yard drive over the middle with the two-point conversion completing the play. Unfortunately, the Sachem's star quarterback Don Allard injured his right shoulder a play earlier and was removed from the game. Junior quarterback Dave O'Neil replaced him.

Reading's offense stalled after Smith returned O'Connors' kickoff to the Rocket 31-yard line when QB Chris Warnick fumbled the ball. Tom Murray recovered for Winchester, but the Sachem's gave it right back when the ball was dropped on an errant handoff and Reading jumped on the turnover.

It just was not Reading's day as quarterback Warnick was intercepted on the next play by an alert Anthony Davis.

O'Neil settled things down with his first completion of the season to Bill Murphy on a 38-yard pass to the Reading 16 yard line, and two plays later Davis scored his third touchdown. O'Neil completed the two point conversion for a commanding 22-7 Sachem lead.

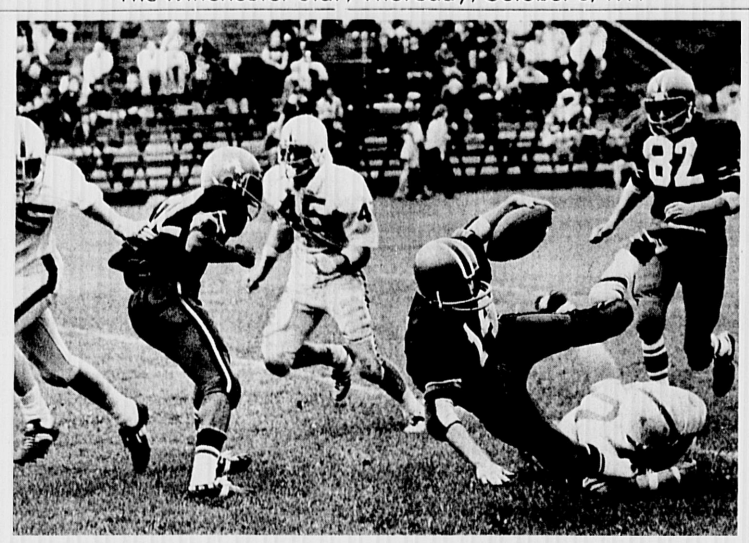

Reading received the ball on their 19 yard line and was forced to punt as Winchester's defense shut off the Rocket runners. On the punt return Bill Murphy fumbled, but an alert Bill Monson recovered the ball for the Sachems.

O'Neil led the offense downfield to the Reading 11 yard line, only to be set back by a five yard illegal procedure penalty. Brian O'Connor attempted a 30-yard field goal with nine seconds left after Winchester failed on their first down attempt, but the ball dropped just short to end the half.

The second half was a seesaw battle as neither offense could move the ball. The teams exchanged punts several times until Winchester's second string offense brought the ball deep inside Reading territory only to lose possession on an untimely fumble.

In the final minutes the Sachems threatened again but their bid for another six points failed on the two yard line as time ran out.

QB Sneaks: The key to the victory was Winchester's offensive line, which cleared the way for Davis's three touchdown, and their consisteltny strong defense, which controlled the Red Raiders throughout the contest. Next weeks opponent is Stoneham, led by talented Paul Uva. The game will be played at Stoneham High School at 1:30.

Sachem back Bill Murphy gets tripped up by Reading defender in game Saturday. Runningback Anthony Davis (22) and end John McPhee (82) are providing some of the blocks. Davis scored three times and gained 107 yards in the Sachems' 22-7 rout of the Reading Rockets. (Staff photo)

Youth hockey clinic has a few openings

There are still a few openings in the Winchester Youth Hockey clinic, which enters its second week this Sunday morning.

Interested boys should sign up at the USA Rink Sunday at 8 a.m. and be ready to start.

In addition, the youth hockey recycling sale for old sports equipment starts Saturday, 9 a.m.-3 p.m. and continues Sunday, 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Items for the sale should be brought to the USA Rink Friday between 7-8 p.m.

Those whose items sell receive 75 per cent of the price, while youth hockey gets 25 per cent, which helps offset the cost of operating the program. Donated equipment would also be appreciated.

Field hockey drops two more to Woburn 3-1, Reading 2-0

Winchester High Girl's Field Hockey team came out empty-handed this week against archrival Woburn and Reading by scores of 3-1 and 2-0.

In the early moments of the game, Woburn led by league leading scorer Barbara Freeman, applied pressure to Winchester goalie Barrow. They couldn't seem to put it in though, as Barrow made some fine saves.

Winchester finally broke on top near the end of the first half. Beth Noble scored from the middle on a pass by Liz Fuller to go ahead 1-0, but that's all they could score.

Winchester kept pressuring Woburn goalie Nancy Freeman with some good play by Libby White and Mary-Calire McCarthy.

Soon after Winchester's goal, Woburn not only tied but went ahead before the end of the first half. Barbara Freeman scored in front on a high shot and Reenie Finn scored on a nice pass by Freeman to go ahead 2-1, and that ended the first half.

In the second half, both teams battled. Kathleen Driscoll had some good rushes, while Barbara Freeman also had some chances, but was turned away by some good defensive play by Kelly Evans, Maria Leydon, and Nella Barrow.

Woburn put the game out of Winchester's hands as Beruchamp scored with a crowd in front of the net to make it 3-1 and that was it.

Winchester's luck wasn't too good against Reading either as they just couldn't seem to put it together in a disappointing 2-0 loss.

Reading started off quickly, catching Winchester asleep, as Sheryl Hall put one into an empty net. The play went back and forth throughout the first half before Winchester finally came alive to put some pressure on the Reading goalie in the last few minutes.

The edge went to Winchester in the second half, but they just couldn't score. Christine Driscoll, Kelly Evans and Mary-Calire McCarthy played well but it just wasn't going their way.

Reading scored again when Palampa put it in on a rebound after Barrow made a good play, to make it 2-0.

The rest belonged to Winchester. They did everything, but score and that's the way it ended, 2-0.

Mites defeat rival Woburn in first game

In a very close game with both teams getting excellent goal tending, Kevin Boyle made key saves that gave Winchester the win.

David Butt scored his first goal in two seasons from 30 feet out with 4:55 left in the first period. Butt's goal stood up until the third period when Winchester's Petey Regan scored the game winner after Billy Coppins dug out the puck from the corner and fed Regan in front of the net.

Derek Sullivan, Greg Winn, and Regan were stopped on breakaways by Cole, Woburn's goaltender. Boyle was beaten in the third period with 5:11 left to play in the game.

Solid defense, played by David Butt, Marc Todisco, Scott Paine, Greg Winn, and Billy Coppins, helped keep Woburn attackers away from the goal. Sukjong Chung, Marc Falzano, Timmy Day, and Matt Quill are forwards who kept the play at center ice.

The next game will be played at Burlington Ice Palace Saturday at 9:20 against Malden.

Sachems try to make it four against Stoneham

The Winchester High School Sachem football team will try to better their 3-0 record Saturday as they go against Stoneham, with the game set to start at 1:30 p.m.

The student turnout at last Saturday's game was excellent, but the Sachems deserve even better, and a little more support from the older folks couldn't hurt.

The Winchester High Boy's Soccer team had a good week as they raised their record to 3-1-2 by defeating Reading 2-0 and tying Burlington 3-3.

In an exciting, come-from-behind game, Winchester tied Burlington in what started out to be a Sachem rout.

Winchester continued to put pressure on Burlington goalie Mario Russo and then finally put one in again. Charlie Mahoney scored from a pass by Oliver into the lower right hand corner to go ahead 2-0 in the first quarter.

The lead didn't last long, however, as Burlington dominated in the second quarter. Hans Jannergren scored on a long shot when Sachem goalie John Waite misjudged the bounce and it was 2-1.

Burlington started off quickly in the third quarter and went ahead 3-2 after a mix-up in front of the net and Winchester found themselves behind for the first time.

The Sachems finally became alive and had some chances. Mario Russo robbed Jim Oliver of a goal with a diving save and Charlie Mahoney just put one over the net.

It all came down to the last few minutes of the game as Winchester kept the ball in Burlington's end in a total team effort. After many shots that were saved or just wide, Jack Driscoll finally put it by Russo on a good pass by Robert Horne.

Soccer notes: The Sachems got back on the winning track in a 2-0 defeat of Reading. Both goals were scored by Jim Oliver and assisted by Jackie Driscoll.

Adult exercise class to begin Tuesday

The Winchester Recreation Department is offering an exercise class and volleyball for adults on Tuesday evenings at the Lincoln School. The Fitness Class will begin at 7:30 pm and will consist of exercise to music, dancing, jump ropes, exercise balls, wands and FUN!

The volleyball class at 8:40 pm is for men and women and everyone gets a chance to serve the ball. Come join the fun starting this Tuesday.

Couples a-go-go start 13th bowling season Saturday

Last Saturday evening, teams were set up for the 1977-1978 bowling season. It was decided to continue the competitive competition that worked out so well last year.

Ed and Jean Hurley; Floy and Dirck Stryker will not be bowling this year due to recent moves out of state.

The group welcomed two new couples; Whitey and Stefanie Allen and Guy and Carol Mafera.

Results: Men's high game: Bob Harris, 203; women's high game; Jean Bradley, 171; high series; Guy Pollino, 483.

After bowling hosts were Walter and Jane Armstrong.

Fourth annual Y Swim for Youth

The North Suburban YMCA will hold its fourth annual Swim for Youth Saturday and Sunday, October 15, 16, 1977. This event is organized by the concerned youth and adults of the North Suburban YMCA service area, and a positive way for individuals of all ages to maintain the present cost structure of membership and programs here at the Y.

The YMCA has always been a big booster of physical fitness programs and this "Swim for Youth" event will offer many people a chance to get together for good fun, fellowship, and physical fitness, knowing they are working together for most worthwhile causes.

For further information contact the North Suburban YMCA at 137 Lexington st., Woburn or call 935-3270.

Smoking clinic starts Nov. 6th at Epiphany

Beginning Nov. 6 the Minuteman Unit of the American Career Society will sponsor a four-week series of "Helping Smokers Quit" Clinics that will be held Sundays and Wednesdays from 7:30-9:30 p.m. at the Church of the Epiphany, 70 Church st.

According to David Mortenson, stop-smoking program co-ordinator of the Minuteman Unit, the clinics are being held to help bring down the alarming rate of lung cancer and heart disease associated with cigarette smoking.

"Programs just like this one have been going on all over Massachusetts and have been very successful in getting people of all ages to drop the cigarette habit," Mortenson said.

"One of the main reasons clincis appear to be the best approach for a confirmed smoker is that he or she is surrounded by other people in the same situation. Most have tried to quit cigarettes on their own and couldn't make it," he added.

The clinics concist of two parts. During the first four sessions smokers learn about themselves, what kind of smokers they are and what motiviates them to smoke.

"During the initial meeting, we find that a lot of smokers have already cut down on their smoking a great deal," Mortenson said. "This is because they realize much of their smoking was unconscious."

When they return for the second set of sessions, they hold a practical, working session where they can apply the solutions they found for quitting.

"Upon completion of the formal eight sessions, participants can form an IQ (I Quit) Club and continue to meet as long as they feel the need," Mortenson said.

"We seem to have an excellent record of quitters judging by previous programs. At the one year mark, nearly half of the participants are still off cigarettes," he stated.

He adds that this figure is much higher, as much as 90 percent still abstaining, after about two months, but many still slip into their old habits as time goes on.

Mortenson urged anyone interested in attending these sessions to contact the local American Cancer Society at 247 Commonwealth ave., Boston, 02116, 267-2650, ext. 111, for more information, or to pick up registration forms in the lobby of the Winchester Hospital on Highland ave.

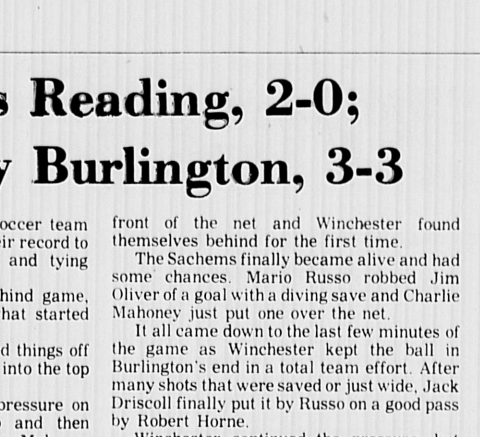

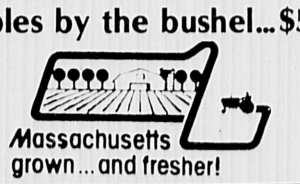

Registration is now in progress.

Bay state roll call

Sept. 19-23

The roll call this week records Senate votes on five of the 16 votes held. The session total is 246; Sen. Samuel Rotondi's attendance record for the session thus far is 100 per cent or 246 roll calls.

By 23-16 the Senate passed but failed to gain the necessary two-thirds vote to override Gov. Dukakis' veto of a special section in the 1977 budget making the school breakfast program optional rather than mandatory, as it has been since 1972.

The debate saw opponents arguing the schools are taking over too many family functions already; supporters of the veto defended the rights of hungry children to receive a nutritious breakfast and noted the federal government picks up most of the cost. Sen. Rotondi voted against the voluntary program.

By a unanimous 39-0 vote, the Senate passed a bill limiting the authority of the legislature to pass laws which impose additional costs on cities and towns. The measure would in some instances require local acceptance, a two-thirds vote of the legislature, or provisions for the state to assume the costs to pass such legislation.

A measure which would have allowed the use of steel leghold traps by farmers within 100 yards of their crops was turned down by 29-10, with Sen. Rotondi voting against the bill. Opponents claimed a survey of farmers indicated that there was no great evidence of crop damage from animals because of the trap ban.

The Senate gave final approval 24-13 to a bill adding a total of 461 additional days of racing in the state — 40 days for thoroughbreds, 96 days for harness, and 325 for dogs. The bill also gives one-half of one per cent of the additional takeout to the track and the same amount to the host cities and towns. Sen. Rotondi voted in favor of the bill, which supporters said would bring an additional $15 million in taxes to the state.

In the House, 26 roll calls were held, bringing the session total to 466. Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr.'s attendance record is 99 per cent or 464 roll calls.

The House adjourned without taking final action on the $17.8 million supplemental budget which includes $17 million in state employee pay raises.

Abortion opponents were successful in tacking on an amendment to the budget banning use of state funds to finance elective abortions for state workers covered by state health insurance and for Medicaid recipients, except in cases where the mother's life is in danger.

By 135-87, the House defeated an amendment to the amendment which would have also allowed such use of state funds in cases of rape, incest, ectopic pregnancy, kidney disease, multiple sclerosis, or when the fetus would suffer deformity or debilitation due to disease. And by 118-108, another amendment to the amendment, this one to include allowing abortions in cases of rape and incest, was defeated. Rep. Saltmarsh voted in favor of both amendments to the original abortion amendment.

The House then gave initial approval by a 141-86 vote to the original amendment. Rep. Saltmarsh voted for the funding ban.

The move to reduce the state meals tax from eight to five per cent was defeated, 135-90. Supporters of the reduction argued that the estimated $9 million loss in revenue would be made up by more people dining out (since the tax went to eight per cent, there has been a 2.7 per cent drop in sales of meals).

Opponents argued that the move is not fiscally possible with pending state commitments to take over county courts, fund pensions, and hike salaries for state employees. Rep. Saltmarsh voted to reduce the tax.

The House defeated two measures which would have incresed state aid to cities and towns.

The first attempt was to increase aid from $30 to $76 million. Supporters argued that there is a $100 million budget surplus and that this is the best way to use that money. Opponents, on the other hand, questioned whether or not there is such a surplus and claimed outstanding bills would leave little surplus when they are all paid.

A second attempt to increase state aid to $59 million was at first approved 113-111, then defeated 114-106. Rep. Saltmarsh voted to increase the state aid in all three of the votes.

Sept. 26-30

The Senate held only two roll calls this week, in both cases approving bills prohibiting discrimination against the handicapped in employment.

On a vote of 21-14, the Senate approved an amendment to S. 1908 barring job discrimination against the handicapped. Sen. Sam Rotondi voted against the new version. Some opponents claimed that the amendment weakens the bill and provides no real remedy for a handicapped person who is discriminated against.

Another amendment passed 19-17, Rotondi voting with the slim majority to allow a handicapped person to file discrimination suit in a state court within 90 days if the federal government does not take action.

In the House, a close vote of 118-107 defeated an amendment to the $19.7 million supplemental budget. The amendment would have boosted local aid funds from $30 million to $40 million. Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh voted for the hike.

The House gave final approval to the supplemental budget, 169-58, and sent it to the Senate. Provided in this budget is the controversial ban on public funds to finance abortions for Medicaid recipients. Rep. Saltmarsh voted against the budget package.

The House gave initial approval to a bill requiring nurses to continue education in order to be licensed or relicensed. The vote was 177-48, with Rep. Saltmarsh voting against the requirement.

The House passed a bill requiring that an affirmative action plan be developed in those counties which vote for one by a two-thirds vote of the county advisory board. The bill requires that an affirmative action officer be appointed or designated in those counties. There were some changed votes and so a second vote was taken on the same bill. Rep. Saltmarsh voted for the affirmative action officer both times.

There was a unanimous vote to approve a bill increasing property tax exemptions for certain persons over the age of 70 and requiring the state to appropriate $3 million annually to reimburse communities for the cost.

In another vote, the House unanimously approved an order requiring the House Ethics Committee to evaluate certain allegations and charges about the conduct of a number of legislators, presented on television station WBZ recently.

NOBS dances every Friday

The North of Boston Singles Club (NOBS) is a nonprofit group formed nine years ago. NOBS membership has multiplied rapidly and is now approaching the 400 mark. The club's activities are quite varied and members' ages range frokm 20 on up to 60.

To join you must be single or fomrerly married and want to have fun, mix and meet new friends. Dances are held every Friday night at the Elks Lodge in Saugus (Fellsway Exit from Route 1 to first set of lights, then turn right, then bear right). Starting time is 8:30 and runs till 12:30.

If you are unable to attend the next dance or would like further inforamtion on NOBS, write to Box 94, Swampscott, 01907.

Paskerian named

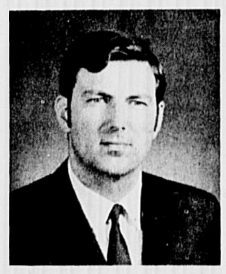

Wayne H. Paskerian, vice president and general manager of M.W. Carr & Co., Inc., West Somerville photo frame manufacturer, has recently been appointed to the board of directors of that company.

Mr. Paskerian, who has been employed at CARR's since his graduation from Tufts University, resides with his wife and two children at 5 Warren st.

Mrs. Sundberg to attend anniversary

Mrs. Clifford Sundberg, Pond street, will be attending the 50th anniversary celebration of the Boston branch of the National League of American Pen Women, to be held at the Wellesley Inn, October 15 and 16. Mrs. Sundberg is recording secretary of the branch and is chairman of the 50th anniversary commemorative book.

Rodgers named to Bar Assoc. Council

Allan G. Rodgers

At the annual meeting of the Boston Bar Association in May, Allan G. Rodgers of Winchester was elected a member of the Council, the Association's governing body.

Rodgers is executive director of the Massachusetts Law Reform Institute, a statewide legal resource center funded by the Legal Services Corporation to give legal assistance to low income people and to Legal Services lawyers throughout the State. He was previously an assistant attorney general for the commonwealth and was an associate in the Boston law firm of Hill and Barlow. He is currently chairman of the Committee on Judicial Responsibility, recently established by Supreme Judicial Court rule to investigate and make recommendations on complaints against judges. He is also a Massachusetts commissioner on uniform state laws. Mr. Rodgers is a member of the Boston Bar Association Committee on Legal Services to the Indigent, the Massachusetts Bar Association, Committee on Legal Services to the Poor, and the MBA Committee on Paralegals. In addition, he is a member of the American Bar Association and of its Section on Individual Rights and Responsibilities.

Collecting, purchasing future heirlooms subject of forum

The search for future heirlooms and masterpieces intrigues and frightens all but those most willing to gamble. American Arts Forum hopes to clear a little of this mistique by presenting Caron LeBrun Danikian on October 13 to speak on "The Collector's Eye." Mrs. Danikian, vice-president of the Arvest Galleries on Newbury Street, will discuss prints and paintings appropriate for collecting and purchasing in the current art market and will bring examples from her gallery. She has judged such prestigious art events as the Arthur Fiedler 75th Birthday Medal Competition and the Massachusetts Heart Assoction Poster Contest and co-ordinated the exhibition and auction of paintings by members of the Kennedy family to benefit the John F. Kennedy Library.

Caron LeBrun Danikian

Sharing the podium will be Jonathan Fairbanks, curator of the American Decorative Arts Department of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, which includes the M. and M. Karolik collection of furniture and paintings as well as period items from the 17th to the 20th century in silver, pottery, pewter, glass and clocks. His illustrated talk opens the day at 10:30 in the Parish of the Epiphany Hall, Winchester. At noon Wellesley Club members chaired by Ann McGovern and Grace Chase will serve a hearty salad bar luncheon which includes wine, dessert and coffee. Nancy Hudson, coordinator of American Arts Forum has arranged a slight discount for senior citizens and has kept last year's popular ticket price.

Many unsual American Decorative Arts reproductions have been selected from the Museum Gift Shop for convenient pre-holiday shopping. Mary Jane Grasty notes that there will be a few silver and pewter items, jewelry, prints and several paper seelctions for children's gifts. A door prize has also been chosen from the Museum Shop.

Club president Alice Mirak invites all interested townspeople to get in touch with a Wellesley alumna as tickets will be sold in advance only. The benefit is Winchester Wellesley Club's annual way of supporting the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, the Wellesley Student's Aid Society and Wellesley College.

John R. Russell of Pilgrim road has been appointed interim chairman of the department of management policy at Boston University's School of Management. Russell earned a bachelor's degree in 1954 from Cornell University and a masters and doctorate from Harvard in 1959 and 1969. He joined the BU faculty in 1975.

Tot Finder decals may be picked up at the Central and West Side fire stations. Their purpose is to help firefighters locate children in homes which are afire. For more information, contact the Winchester Fire Department.

Troop 503 takes hike on Blue Hill

Assistant scoutmaster Rich Conway led the hike, along witk Dick Goodlatte and Tom Raphael, 503's institutional representative.

The troop includes canoeing, mountain climbing and winter camping in their program. Their next camp-out will be shared with Winchester's special needs troop.

Working with Scoutmaster Ross Farrar this year will be assistant scoutmasters Conway, Rick Porter, and Mike Kelleher. Wally Gagel is committee chairman. John Feeney has been named junior assistant scoutmaster; Brian Feeney, senior patrol leader; and David Krikorian, scribe. Mark Wilder, Mark Pharo and Philip Kirkpatrick will be assistant senior patrol leaders. Patrol leaders are Paul Bacci, Robert Addie, Tom Marincic and Mike County; assistant patrol leaders are James Kirkpatrick, Charles Kenyon, Kevin Feeney and Chrys Miliaras.

Volunteers are welcomed; assistance is needed since an unusually large number of boys signed up and more are expected. Troop 503 is open to all boys 11 years old and up. Meetings are 7:30 p.m., Tuesdays at the First Congregational Church. For information call Ross Farrar at 729-3924.

Open Meetings

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law says that notice of meetings of all boards, including committees, commissions and subcommittees, however elected, appointed or constituted, shall be filed with the Town Clerk and posted at least 48 hours before the meeting.

An educational tool

From Bull Run to Wall Street: WHS computer helps explain it

By David Funkhouser

Picture yourself a Confederate General with $80,000 and the Battle of Gettysburg to fight over again.

You pick out $40,000 for food and $20,000 for salaries and $20,000 for ammunition. Morale is high. As the battle begins you are on the defensive, with a cavalry charge coming in through your center position.

You have five possible courses of action, ranging from artillery attack to retreat. You go with the artillery.....

Within five seconds, the computer sends you back the message: "You have lost the Battle of Gettysburg," then sends you on to the next engagement.

This is a simulation game, programmed into the computer at Winchester High School. It is one of a large variety of games programmed into the computer; and it is one of the ways the computer is being used as an educational tool.

Contrary to what many of us believe, computers do more than add numbers and compile statistics. Up at the high school they have about 100 programs in social studies (like the Civil War game), English, biology and other sciences, business and math. There are units ranging from stock market simulations to water pollution programs.

The system now in operation on the third floor of the school was set up in June. The main element is a Digital Equipment Corporation PDP 11-34 computer console with two disc drives, an expandable memory unit consisting of 32K words, and a disc — storage capacity of 7.5 million characters.

The unit is designed so that additional drawers, even another whole console, can be plugged into it to expand the capabilities of the system.

At present the console is wired to receive eight terminal hookups; three have been bought so far. There is one deck writer — a keyboard input, where you sit and type instructions into the computer and your dialogue with the machine is printed out on a continuous sheet of paper.

The other two terminals are cathode-ray tubes (CRTs) — keyboards mounted with a printout screen. A fourth terminal, an ASR Teletype keyboard, was left over from the Wang system formerly in use at the school, and for the time being students are using this terminal as well.

The school department's data processor, Arthur Sarno, says the Digital system "has infinite growth capacity" in terms of what kind of work is done at the high school. There's no question the nature of the machine itself has changed radically. "Twenty years ago it would have taken up the whole room," Sarno explains, pointing to the bottom memory drawer of the console, which is about the size of a radar range.

The whole system is costing $60,000, spread over five years. Additional terminals will be added at the rate of one a year until there are six in all. The cost includes maintenance and a warranty and a whole library of educational materials (software — i.e. programs).

Sarno points out that the contract with Digital would allow the school department to bow out at any time; the company would then come in and unplug the console and payments for the system would stop. So the computer could be replaced and a new one hooked up to the same terminals; or the present system could be expanded by adding more disc capacity.

According to Sarno, time sharing works out to be much more expensive in the long run. To lease a terminal alone could cost as much as $1400 a month.

Another plus is that the Digital system comes along with the Huntington Package — a library of programs and workbooks, funded by the National Science Foundation, in all kinds of subjects. In addition, Winchester High trades materials back and forth with other schools like Lexington; Sarno notes that this kind of free exchange of ideas and programs is not so common in the world of business computers.

However, Digital is, according to Sarno, fairly common both in schools and in businesses. "One reason we picked it is because it's compatible with the real world," Sarno explains.

And as far as the students are concerned, the computer is not there to teach them a career. Says Sarno, "We're more interested in developing computer literacy" as opposed to training data processors. Computers are a fact of life, and students are learning about the numerous applications of these electronic brains.

This year there are four courses focused on the computer: two in data processing, where computer skills are used as an audio-visual tool to help motivate students in other subjects, such as math; and two courses in computer science. The latter two are general introductions to programming; students integrate this knowledge of programming with other courses by executing special projects in some field they are studying with the use of the computer.

One period a day the computer is used by business classes to teach skills — data preparation, key punching, auditing, proofreading, and organizing data. Students also come in to work in the computer room as part of the MaxEd program. The room is also a resource — "Kids are in here from day to night," says Sarno.

Sarno hopes to set up an in-service course for the high school faculty to acquaint them with the methods and potential of the PDP 11-34. "Our intent," says Sarno, "is to have faculty and students look at this room as a resource room."

The computer at the high school is used solely for educational purposes. However Sarno himself is involved in a number of administrative functions.

Using the town's computer, Sarno has been busy keeping attendance records for the whole system; reporting grades and computing grade averages for the secondary schools; compiling census data; tracking enrollment data and making forecasts; figuring out school districting; and organizing information for system-wide planning.

Scheduling at the secondary level, also handled by Sarno, is done on the computer located at the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield.

"We don't go to the computer unless we think we can get some advantages out of it, usually clerical ones," Sarno notes. The emphasis is on repetitive tasks and compiling information.

In the making are a media catalog for the school system; student id cards for the high school; revisions of the grade reporting and averaging systems; scoring and coordinating test data; and expansion of inventory control.

In addition, Sarno indicates, "We're in the process of looking at a personnel data base system." The goal is to have personnel information on file in the computer. This attempt to have the PDP 11-34 handle this sort of work is at least partly the result of what Sarno calls his "pet theory" about enrollment decline. "The more you cut back in staff, the more the clerical tasks start filtering up to the administration," he postulates.

He feels the logical extension of a personnel data system is to go into a "human resource management system." Needs are identified within the school system and the computer is utilized to search out the skills needed to meet the demand. This type of operation is, of course, open to criticism as being rather cold and impersonal. Nonetheless, it would certainly save time over a one-by-one search of personnel files to find "the right teacher" for a particular need.

And Sarno does not seem to lack the humanistic ethic at all. While he hails the value of computers in education, he is wary about instruction-by-computer.

In the classroom, computers are used in two basic ways: reinforcement type instruction and computer-assisted instruction.

In Winchester the system is used for reinforcing what the teacher teaches. The computer is used much as an audio-visual aide might be used — to illustrate a point or give a student a slightly different perspective and hopefully a better understanding of a problem.

In computer-assisted instruction, the computer does all the work. For example, say a student is to work on a math problem. The computer sets up the problem (by typing it out on the printout sheet) and asks the student for the solution. If the reply is wrong, the computer says so and asks again. This can go on ad infinitum; meanwhile, the computer is recording data based on the student's answers and the time involved, data which is not always relevant. The computer cannot observe as a teacher can, nor can it offer the kind of encouragement a teacher can with a few words or a pat on the back.

Sarno favors the first type of instruction, mainly because he sees the computer as a tool, not an end in itself. He points out that most persons involved in the computer field didn't start out there — they STUDIED business or science or some other profession and then later learned to use the computer as a tool.

In order to make the high school's computer more accesible, Sarno has rigged up a patchboard in the console room so that the terminals can be wheeled out into the math department area. As more terminals come in in the next few years, there will be more opportunities for student exposure.

"You need at least 15 minutes exposure a week per student to make it meaningful," estimates Sarno. "That's the absolute minimum."

One way he provides for more exposure is by assigning students who have some mastery of the terminals to help other students learn about the computer. Sarno says this keeps the users from growing into one small group of kids who know the system well. It also keeps those interested working at the machines and allows more students to be exposed to the terminals. And, last but not least, the students who are helping their classmates get some satisfaction out of being able to teach others.

There are 120 students enrolled in the computer classes this year for this year. In all about 400-500 students should be exposed to the terminals throughout the year. The computer's an expensive tool, but the high school gets plenty of use out of it, and students there are being introduced to one of the languages of the future.

CETA needs sponsors

Medford CETA is accepting proposals from government and community agencies interested in sponsoring training and work programs for local youth,

Medford CETA has $749,000 available for Youth Employment and Training Projects (YETP). These projects should provide a variety of services to low-income in-school and out-of-school youth (14 - 21), including work experience, career exploration, on-the-job training, classroom training, counseling and other supportive services.

Medford CETA is also soliciting proposals under the Youth Community Conservation and Improvement Projects (YCCIP). These projects should provide constructive work experience for unemployed (out-of-school) youth (16 - 19) in labor-intensive projects having lasting, tangible and beneficial community impact. Proposals selected by Medford CETA will compete with proposals from 17 other Subgrantees for $1.6 million in YCCIP funds in the Balance of State CETA Prime Sponsor area. The U.S. Department of Labor retains final approval of YCCIP projects.

The deadline for both programs is Oct. 11. Proposals will be reviewed by Medford CETA staff and ranked by the new Youth Council of the Medford CETA Advisory Manpower Planning Board (AMPB). Final review rests with the Balance of State Prime Sponsor Planning Council. Projects are expected to begin in the winter. Funding for both of these programs is available under two of the programs created by the Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Act of 1977. Massachusetts received a total of $13.3 million in YETP funds and $2.9 million in YCCIP funds. These programs will supplement existing CETA youth programs.

The projects funded under YETP will emphasize basic education and job training, with strong supervision of participating youth. Special consideration will be given to effective program designs (especially those with measurable outputs), efforts to restructure jobs to encourage upward mobility and the breakdown of sex stereotyping, and project sponsorship by community-based organizations and local educational agencies.

The Projects funded under YCCIP will emphasize youths with severe difficulties in obtaining employment (high school dropouts, minorities, offenders, etc.) and meaningful and well-supervised work experience which will enhance the youths' long-term career prospects. Likely projects include improvements to public facilities, neighborhood conservation, weatherization and basic repairs to low-income housing, energy conservation, and natural resource conservation on non-federal publicly-held properties.

Agencies eligible to apply to sponsor projects include units of local government, community organizations (public and private non-profit), and local educational agencies. Sponsoring agencies must have at least two years experience and demonstrated administrative capability in project operation. Community-based, minority, and private non-profit agencies are encouraged to apply.

Applications and project criteria are available from Medford CETA, at 395-7600, extension 26, and must be received by Medford CETA, 22 Forest Street by 4 p.m. on Oct. 11.

Nine locals named to council board

At a recently held election by the Mystic Valley Council for Children, nine persons representing Winchester were elected to the board of directors. They were among a total of 35 newly elected members who will be serving for a one to three year term. An arm of the State Office for Children, the Mystic Valley Council for Children is a community-based group of consumers and providers.

Those elected from Winchester were Tom Casey, Emmons Ellis, Jerry Ferro, Cynthia Fertman, Margaret Ingram, Keith Lewis, Ann Nowell, Bob Sousa and Faith Waltman. In addition to serving on the Board, Katrin Cooper was elected vice-chairperson and Jerry Ferro recording secretary.

Some of the activities in which the council will be involved this fall are the development of adolescent services, the formation of a Mystic Valley Day Care Association, the compiling of a resource directory of children's services and lobbying for children's legislation.

The Mystic Valley Council for Children's office is located in Winchester at the Fist Congregational Church on Church Street. If you have any questions concerning the council's functions or upcoming activities, you may contact Mike Howard at 272-7200 or Carla Masse, Community Representative, at 729-4350.

'Why UNICEF?' topic of Church Women United

Everyone is invited to a lively and informative program titled "Why UNICEF?" sponsored by Church Women United at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Tuesday, October 18, beginning with coffee at 9:30 with a program following at 10 led by Sandy Thompson, Education Chairman of the UNICEF (United Nations' Children's Fund) Committee of Greater Boston.

A most interesting film "All Our Futures," narrated by Peter Ustinov will be shown, highlighting UNICEF's dynamic aid in health, education, and nutrition. This should provide excellent background for church and school discussions, for families whose children will be carrying UNICEF boxes at Halloween, and for all who want to know more about the way UNICEF operates.

In addition there will be a display of the many new gift items available through UNICEF and a display of this year's greeting cards. Once again Church Women United of Winchester will sponsor the sale of UNICEF cards and gift items, beginning at the post office on November 14. The October 18 preview is an excellent opportunity to see the colorful assortment of classic and contemporary designs available, and to hear what tremendous accomplishments result from the sale of these items and from the efforts of UNICEF volunteers to improve the health and well being of children around the world.

Employment

SOFTWARE PROFESSIONALS! WANG IS THE LEADER!

We've been leading the pack for a long time because of our dedication to providing state-of-the-art to the computer industry and we'll continue to do so because, at WANG, yesterday's successes are providing us with the momentum to breach tomorrow's frontiers.

FOR OUR GREATER LOWELL OPERATIONS

Sr. Diagnostic Analyst

Increased project responsibility in the area of diagnostic support has required the development of a new software group and a ground floor opportunity is available as a Senior Diagnostic Analyst. We need an individual to assume project responsibility for developing and implementing diagnostic software/systems for a new product line. A BS degree, preferably in Engineering with 7-10 years experience on medium-sized systems architecture (32 bit, V/S, IOP peripheral control) and 3-5 years diagnostic development is required. MS degree in Computer Science a plus.

Quality Assurance Manager Software

An excellent career opportunity currently exists for an experienced administrator in our Software Quality Assurance Group. The individual we seek will possess a unique combination of sophisticated management skills combined with a broad technical background in the development of quality assurance criteria for computer software. You will be responsible for the formulation of a total software testing philosophy. Added responsibilities will include the coordinating and development of an on-going quality assurance function. In order to qualify, you will need a BS degree in Engineering or Computer Science with a minimum 4 years related experience.

Salary commensurate with experience. Superior benefit package. We are an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Please send resume outlining salary history and requirements, marked personal and confidential to Stephen E. Pitt, Special Assistant to President for Professional Employment, Personnel Department.

REALTOR

Let House Cut Tax Bill

Your home should be, besides your nest of dreams, an income tax saver. From the moment you take title to the day you turn over the key to the next inhabitants, you are endowed with opportunities to minimize your tax bill.

While you own the home, your two major annual deductions are property taxes and the interest on the mortgage. These can be considerable deductions.

Keep in mind that it doesn't matter whether you pay property taxes directly or through an escrow account held by the bank. In either case, you deduct the sum actually paid to the local taxing authority.

Also, using part of your home for business purposes constitutes a deduction for that portion of the home expenses used for the business. It is based on the square footage of space used for business. However, it must be used exclusively for business.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ANN BLACKHAM & CO., 11 Thompson St., Winchester. Phone 729-1663. We're here to help!

LeRoux, Dade

Local men new Sox owners

If it all goes the way it's supposed to, the ghosts and goblins of seasons past will take notice on Halloween when Buddy LeRoux of Winchester and a group of 13 investors sign the final purchase agreement for the Boston Red Sox.

Edward (Buddy) LeRoux

LeRoux, 45, was the trainer for the Red Sox from 1966 to 1974. A resident of 123 Wildwood st., he is one of three partners of the New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Woburn.

He and the investment group known as Boston Red Sox Associates paid an estimated $15 million. The group includes another Winchester resident, Ernest Dade, who rose from being a worker at the J. M. Winn Company to sitting as chairman of the board. A Woburn lawyer, Albert Curran, is also one of the investors.

The deal involves LeRoux and former Red Sox vice president for player personnel Haywood Sullivan, who will be the managing general partners. Each will have specific duties in the running of the club, with LeRoux responsible for finance, medicine, publicity and park operations. Both men put in a reported $100,000 toward the purchase price and each will draw a salary of $75,000 a year.

Sullivan and LeRoux will have complete control over the club. One of the other investors is Mrs. Jean Yawkey, whose late husband ran the club since 1933. Mrs. Yawkey, a limited partner, is reported to have contributed three million dollars toward the purchase.

Dade, also a limited partner, is a former owner of The Winchester Star. He lives on Hillcrest parkway and has been to Red Sox spring training sessions every year for the past 30 years.

Ten of the 13 American League team owners have to give approval to the sale. It is expected that with Mrs. Yawkey having joined the investment group there will be no trouble October 31 when the agreement will be signed.

Ernest B. Dade

Mrs. Richard Thuma III of Georgetown, partner at Nentsi Samoyeds with Mrs. Judith Muggia of Winchester, was the breeder of Samoyed, CH. Nentsi's Kachina of Alpine Glo. Co-owned by Mrs. Muggia and Mrs. Carol Cook of Boxford (handler pictured), "Kachina," at only sixteen months of age, defeated over 200 Samoyeds from the U.S., Canada and Mexico to be awarded 5 points and the coveted Best Of Winners award at the Samoyed Club of America National Specialty, August 18 in Pontiac, MI. "Kachina" may be the youngest female to attain this honor and is the first Samoyed from a New England breeding to do so in many years.

Falcons top in PeeWee soccer

Most of the Pee Wee division teams have now completed three games despite the recent rainy weather. The division looks well balanced, since every team has won at least one game. The Falcons are on top, at the moment, due primarily to outstanding goaltending. The caliber of play by all teams has improved, as the teammates on each squad become acquainted with one another and get more practice.

An unfortunate effect on the soccer program has emerged in the form of vandalism. The department of public works has installed goalposts and lined the field in good fashion. However, on the last two Friday evenings, the goalposts at Westside Field have been damaged by vandalism. This means play either is suspended or continued with the possible risk of injury to the players. These acts of vandalism are disturbing the activity of about 170 young boys who are participating in the program at Westside Field.

Dragons 2 — Gulls 1

Dragons 1— Eagles 1

Both teams had scoring opportunities in the first half but excellent goaltending prevailed at both ends of the field. The Dragons goaltender, Scott Wadman, made a good stop of a penalty shot from an Eagle forward. The Eagles scored with three minutes to play, but the Dragons did not falter and tied the game with a deflected shot off an Eagle defenseman with one minute to play.

Falcons 2—Astros 12

This makeup game played September 29th at Westside Field, was emotion-packed as spectators cheered the play which ranged up and down the field. The Falcons had two breakway scoring thrusts stopped before they finally scored in the first half. The Astros rallied in the second half to tie at 1 to 1. Good, hard play continued by both teams with Joe Gulino scoring on a Falcon forward line rush which featured excellent passing. The Astros roared back but the Falcon defense, lead by Tony Maida, an goalie Tom Bachman, proved equal to the task.

Falcons 3—Gulls 2

The Falcons jumped off to a 3 to 0 lead which they held until midway in the second half. However, the Gulls regrouped with a 7-man forward line to put strong pressure on the Falcons defense. A point-blank shot was picked off by Falcon goalie Bob Mistretta to momentarily slow down the Gulls, but eventually the offense produced two second half goals. The Falcons defense held on long enough to eke out a 3 to 2 victory.

Confound experts

by James R. Stewart Jr.

In the final episode of the rain-plagued Winchester Town Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Winchester Tennis Association, unseeded Sandy Pomeroy and Doug Carlson emerged victorious, last Sunday.

Pitted against another unseeded team — that of Brooke and Glenda Green, the ultimate winners overcame a first set loss to confound the experts and win the coveted cup by the scores of 4-6, 6-2 and 6-3.

Both teams came from nowhere to record a string of upsets on their respective ways to the finals. The Greens, from the lower half of the upper bracket first beat Joan and Dave Miller, then Nancy Mills and Dick Santos, followed by Dede and Bill Cunningham (who had eliminated the third seeded Joan and Phil Richardson) and then, in the quarter finals, took over Bobby Horne and daughter Prudy Horne, Jr., who had knocked off the second seed of Sue Cowen — Chris Scanlon, in three sets.

The Pomeroy — Carlson duo beat the first seeded Brenda Johnson and Carmen Elio in their first match, then took three sets to win over the sixth seeded Al and Pinky Samoiloff. In the semi-finals, the eventual winners defeated the fourth seeded team of Jim Phillips and Bea Gonella.

In what was anticipated as being a tough ball game, Burlington (a well-drilled, well-coached team) defeated Winchester 16 - 6.

Burlington opened the scoring early in the first quarter, driving downfield and finally scoring on a sweep. The Conversion attempt was good and the score was 8 - 0.

The Winchester defense, which has been tough in their first three games, refused to let down and the half time score remained Bulrington 8 Winchster 0.

The lone Winchester score came on a pass from Joe Donlon to Ted Gutherie, who scampered 30 yards down the sidelines for the touchdown.

Winchester's offense started moving the ball in the late stages of the third quarter with some excellent passes by Adam Hirshman to Mark Merritt and Chris Wagstrom but failed to capitalize, and Burlington took over on downs.

One of the key factors in the ball game, but not to be taken for an excuse, was the ability of Burlington coach Al MacNeal to substitute fresh players into the game (having a squad of 35 verses 20 for Winchester). Burlington's squad may have been almost twice the size of Winchester's but their spirit and desire could not compare with the Winchester boys.

Some of the outstanding players of the day were, on offense: Joe Doncon, TedGuthrie, Adam Hirshman, Chris Wagstrom, Chris Kekkey, Mark Merritt; on defense: Bill "Cookie" MacMillian, Dave Fariole, Gregg Kirk, Jeff Tinkel, and Steve Costello.

Next week's opponent will be Wilmington, at Wilmington High School.

The boys of the Winchester "A" Team had nothing to be ashamed of, losing to a team such as Burlington.

Workshops on the elderly

A series of four workshops for family members of the elderly is currently being planned by the Mystic Valley Area Councils on Aging in Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Wilmington and Winchester, the Woburn Council for Social Concern, the Minute Man Home Care Corporation, and the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center.

The workshops will provide an understanding of the process of aging and how it can affect family life. Information will be shared to help family members deal more effectively with aging parents and relatives. The workshops will be held on Oct. 20, Oct. 27, Nov. 3, and Nov. 10 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Church of Our Redeemer, 6 Meriam Street, Lexington. For further information contact Muriel Ellman, Mystic Valley Mental Health Center Woburn Office at 933-8150, or any of the sponsoring agencies.

Billerica tops "C" team, 6-zip

The Winchester "C" team lost a heart-breaker to Billerica on Sunday 6 - 0.

Both teams were very evenly matched, but Billerica was able to put togethr one long run around the left end which put them inside the Winchester 10 yard line.

Chris Collins made the touchdown saving tackle on the eight yard line late in the first period. The defense held on with the help of two Billerica penalties, but the Winchester offense failed to get the ball away from the end zone and Billerica recovered a fumble on the one yard line.

They scored two plays later but failed on the conversion attempt. The score at halftime was 6-0.

Play seesawed up and down the field during most of the second half. Then with 20 seconds left to play, Winchester's quarterback Bill Harris threw a long bomb to end Jeff Ewing who just missed the ball off the end of his fingertips. The game ended with the score 6-0.

Standouts in Sundays game were Chris Collins who recovered a fumble, David Del Grotti who intercepted a pass, Harris and Ewing. Others who played an outstanding game included: Michael Burke, Alan Adler, Brendon Gurry, Greg Halpin, Keithe Parry, Mark Herlihy, Andy Goodlatte, Joe Calariso and Jeff O'Neil.

Following the game, head coach Paul Stevens, and assistant coaches Jack Korengold and Joe Memowski told the boys that they should be proud of the hard fought game. The 'C" team will be idle this Sunday.

Early Birds

The Starlings in the Winchester Early Birds bowling league are now in first place. Team members are Elaine Binding and Joan Kelly. The Starlinegs also bowled the high team total of 1185.

Bowler of the day was Mary Jane Brooks, captain of the Doves, who bowled the high individual single game of 180 and also the high individual three game total. Mary Jane also made the very difficulty 7 - 10 spare.

Do you love to sail? One of the best places in the world for sailing, believe it or not, is Switzerland. Every year thousands of Swiss leave the mountains and come down to semi-tropical Lake Lugano, near the Italian-Swiss border, for sailing. There are more than a dozen regattas in this region, and a half-dozen sailing schools for the less confident tourists. Several regattas are international, and each year there is an all Swiss champion for a particular boat class. Lake sailing is always demanding, but these lakes manage to produce some of the best sailors in the world.

Wherever you are bound for, come to MCGRATH TRAVEL SER''ICE, 14 Eaton Avenue, Woburn. Switzerland, a country whose mere mention brings alive the charm and magic of old Europe, quaint and beautiful-is waiting for you. When the Swiss want to go where the roads don't, they take one of the many cable cars. Why not join them? Call 935-0600. Open Monday-Friday 9-5 Saturdays and evenings by appointment.

TRAVEL TIP:

A good gift for a traveler? A charm bracelet to which the charms from all the countries visited can be added.

CSA offering youth concert series again

This fall the Enrichment Committee of Winchester's Community Schools Association will again be offering Winchester students the opportunity to attend youth concerts at Symphony Hall.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra is this year presenting two quite different programs to its youthful subscribers. In addition to its traditional youth concert series, the orchestra will be presenting a Thursday morning concert series, designed to appeal to the more musically involved student of high school age.

The returning "Youth Concerts at Symphony Hall" is a series of three Saturday morning concerts, peformed by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and directed by Harry Ellis Dickson. The concerts are presented as an introduction to the symphony orchestra and its music for students in grades five through nine. Helping to develop an understanding and enjoyment of music for young people, Dickson offers short excerpts from the symphonic repertory that are educational as well as entertaining.

This season's programs will include works such as Tchaikovsky's "Serenade for Strings", first movement, the "Pizzicato Polka" by Strauss, and "Fanfare for the Common Man" by Copland, as well as Beethoven's "Overture to Egmont" and "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Moussorgsky-Ravel.

The concerts are offered as a series only and will be held on Dec. 10, Feb. 4, and Apr. 8. Bus transportation will be available, leaving the Winchester High School parking lot, on these Saturdays, at 10 a.m. and returning at 1 p.m. Applications for tickets and transportation will be distributed through the elementary and junior high schools before Sept. 30.

The new Thursday morning series for high school students will, like the youth concerts, be one hour in length. Unlike the youth concerts, however, this series will be presenting complete symphonies and other orchestral pieces. The concerts will be preceded by an informal coffee and lecture, presented by Michael Steinberg of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The performances are to be conducted by Seji Ozawa, with Sergiu Commissiona of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra making his Boston debut as conductor for the second concert in the series.

Anyone seeking additional information regarding either of these programs may contact Mrs. John Lynch, 31 George rd., Winchester Town Chairman for Youth Concerts at Symphony Hall, or the Youth Activities Office at Symphony Hall, Boston.

Mystic School holds new parents coffee

The Mystic School Parents' Association held a coffee for parents new to the Mystic School community at the school's library.

A welcome was extended by Dr. Martha Grenzeback, principal, who outlined for parents the scholastic and remedial programs available at the school. Mrs. Nancy Rodriquez, association president, introduced the social activities with emphasis on Board-sponsored programs.

More than 100 kids in summer reading

The summer reading program which ended September 10 at the Winchester Junior Library attracted many youngsters who could read by themselves.

Certificates were awarded to 103 children. Some read the required ten books during the summer period but those who were able to finish 20 books received a special gold seal and ribbon.

Washington holds fall term meeting

The opening meeting of the George Washington School Mothers' Association was held the evening of Sept. 27 in the school auditorium.

George Flynn, principal, opened the meeting with the introduction of Mrs. David Thorne, president, and Mrs. John O'Callaghan, vice-president.

A special introduction was given for "Mr. Munch," one of the inflatable, huggable letter land people being used in the kindergarten's alpha time reading readiness program.

Guest speaker was Norman J. Goldberg, reading coordinator in Winchester and reading specialist at the Washington School. He explained the reading curriculum in Winchester for grades K-6 and then presented a film strip on the various approaches being used to develop reading skills at these levels.

Refreshments were served by social chairmen Mrs. Alfred Falcione and Mrs. Joseph Perritano.

Parkhurst School welcomes its staff

The annual Parkhurst School open house took place on two nights again this year. Following brief discussions of a general nature by the teachers, parents visited the classrooms and discussed the educational programs in which their children are involved.

Community School Association works to benefit all students

Community School Association was formed in 1941. The object of this association is to build and maintain an active interest in the Winchester public school, to act as a liaison with the parents association, the school department, and the school committee to further communication among school chapters, and to work together for the benefit of all students.

All parents of children attending Winchester public schools may be members of this association. The executive board consists of the officers of CSA, the chairmen of the standing committees and the president and vice-president of each school chapter. Monthly meetings, held on the second Thursday of each month, are to inform, discuss and to evaluate the educational issues. This could not be done without the help and co-operation of the school department and the school committee working in close harmony to provide input for a better understanding of these educational issues.

CSA is responsible for the annual concert held in May for all the elementary and secondary students. The funds raised from this concert provides a scholarship to a music and an art student who is graduating that year. CSA acts as hostess at the Winchester Teachers' Convocation.

Currently, CSA is actively involved with several projects. A health education committee was formed in the spring to examine and evaluate a total health education program in our system. CSA is also working on a curriculum committee to sample at random parents' opinions of the curriculum that is now offered.

Sadie Elizabeth Barstow, who served in the assessors office for more than 20 years, died Monday at the age of 86. Mrs. Barstow died after a long illness at Middlesex County Hospital.

Born in Bath, Maine on September 21, 1891, she was the daughter of Michael J. and Sarah (Foley) Quinn, both from Ireland. She attended the Bath schools, graduating from Morse High School there.

Mrs. Barstow resided in Maine for 21 years and in Winchester (20 Pond st.) for 65 years. She was a member of St. Mary's Sodality.

Mrs. Barstow was the widow of Walter R. Barstow. She leaves three sons, Paul T. of Scituate, Robert J. of Stoneham, and Walter H. Jr. of Roslindale; a brother, Michael Quinn of Haverhill; a sister, Ann Snow of Brunswick, Maine; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services are scheduled for 10 this morning at St. Mary's with interment to follow at Wildwood Cemetery. Donations in her memory may be made to Para Tours, 698 Beacon st., Boston. Robert J. Costello Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Henry P. Colucci

Henry P. Colucci, who lived in Winchester for the first 50 years of his life, died at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital September 30 after an illness of a few months. Mr. Colucci, who moved to Wakefield six years ago, was 56.

Educated in Winchester schools, he was a merchant marine for 20 years. For the last eight years, Mr. Colucci was employed by the State of Massachusetts. He was a member of the Winchester Lodge Sons of Italy 1580, and of the NMU Merchant Marine Union. Mr. Colucci was a veteran of World War II, seeing duty for six years with the United States Navy.

The son of the late Ralph and Marie (Maffey) Colucci, Mr. Colucci is survived by his brothers and sisters, Michael A., Anthony R., Lucy and Henrietta Colucci, all of Woburn, Mrs. Woodrow (Teresa) Foss of Wakefield, Mrs. Louis (Marie) DeMarco and Mrs. Chester (Mildred) Damon, both of Woburn. He also leaves three nieces and one nephew.

A funeral mass was held in St. Mary's Church on Monday with Rev. Mark Sheehan officiating at the 10 a.m. service. Burial was in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn. Donations in Mr. Colucci's memory may be made to the charity of the donor's choice. Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Olivia Cummings

Funeral services were held last week for Olivia (Mortensen) Cummings who died September 26 at the age of 80. Mrs. Cummings had resided at 18 Albamont rd. for 19 years.

Born in Chicago, she was the daughter of Theodore and Maren (Petersen) Mortensen, both of Denmark. She was educated in Somerville schools and for 65 years was a member of the West Somerville Baptist Church. Between 1902 and 1959 Mrs. Cummings lived at 15 Cutter ave. in West Somerville.

Mrs. Cummings was the widow of Whitley A. Cummings. She is survived by sons Whitley A. Cummings Jr. of Winchester and Leonard Cummings of Newtown Square, Pa.; granddaughters Cynthia L. Cummings of Winchester, Constance Black and Alison Isett of New York, Judith Hoffman of Pennsylvania; grandson Whitley A. Cummings II of New Jersey; four great-granddaughters; and a sister, Mrs. William (Marion) Dodge of New London, N.H.

Memorial gifts in Mrs. Cummings's name may be made to the Joslin Diabetes Foundation, 15 Joslin rd., Boston. Norris Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Edgar E. Sommers

Edgar E. Sommers, a longtime resident of Winchester and Mirror Lake, Tuftonboro, N.H., died on September 26 at age 62 after a long illness.

Mr. Sommers, a World War II veteran, attended Northeastern University and was a refrigerating engineer associated with Boston Ice Company, Avco, and Harding and Gross Company for many years.

He was the husband of the late Phyllis (Bunton) Sommers and is survived by three children, Mrs. Linda Casey and Mrs. Janet Della Lucca, both of Shirley, Mass., and Peter Sommers of Indiana; a sister, Elizabeth of Bedford; and a brother, George of Menlo Park, Cal.

Mr. Sommers was a member of the Demolay and Masonic Lodges of Lexington. Rev. Robert Luoma officiated at the funeral services at the Douglass Funeral Parlor in Lexington. Burial was at the Westview Cemetery, Lexington.

John F. White

John F. White of 10 Bigelow ave. died at Winchester Hospital September 30 at the age of 62. Mr. White had been a Winchester resident for 25 years. Born in Streator, Illinois, Mr. White graduated from the University of Illinois in 1936. Retired for the past three years, he had been employed as a salesman with Merrill and Usher Steel Company in Worcester for 12 years. Before that he was a salesman with Dow Chemical Company in Midland, Michigan, for 15 years.

Mr. White leaves his wife, Grace H. (Hepler) White of Winchester, and children David H., Marsha C., Cynthia L. White of Winchester, and Susan E. White of Gloucester and Winchester. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. O.M. Johnson of Lombard, Illinois.

Memorial services were held Sunday at the Unitarian Church at 4:30. Burial was private. Donations in Mr. White's memory may be made to the Concord Concert Band, Winchester Hospital, or to the Unitarian Church in Winchester. Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Geith A. Plimmer, CS, of London, England, will lecture Sunday afternoon at three on "The Healing of Moral Weakness" at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 114 Church st.

Plimmer is a native of Perth, Australia and has traveled extensively since joining the church's board of lectureship in 1961. He was formerly district manager of committees on publication for Great Britain and Ireland for seven years.

He will be introduced by Marlene F. Johnson, who is currently serving as second reader of the church. Frederick D. Herberich is chairman of the committee handling arrangements for the event. Also on the committee are Matilda F. Bradford, Joan E. Friborg, Elizabeth A. Sampson, and Dorothy K. Stevens.

The lecture is open to the public without charge. Care for younger children will be provided.

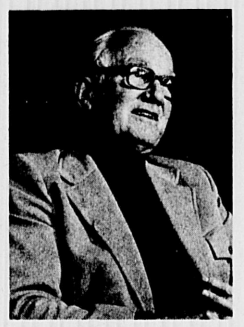

Meditation talk at St. Eulalia's tonight

The International Meditation Society will offer a free public lecture on the Transcendental Meditation (TM) program of Maharishi Mehesh Yogi tonight at 8 at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st. More than 200 area residents have been instructed in this simple, effective program for developing the full potential of human consciousness.

Area residents can find out more about the TM program by attending the upcoming lecture at St. Eulalia's McCarthy Hall in Winchester. Call the local IMS center, 876-4581, for any additional information.

Rev. Robert Storer back for anniversary

This coming Sunday morning the Winchester Unitarian Church will join with its minister emeritus, Dr. Robert A. Storer, in celebrating the 40th anniversary of his ordination as a minister in the Unitarian denomination.

It was in October 1937, that Bob Storer, as he is affectionately known by so many Winchester people, was ordained as a Unitarian minister at the First Parish Church in Dorchester, said to be the second oldest church in New England. Thirteen years later he accepted a call to head the Winchester Unitarian Society, much to the anguish of the Dorchester church.

During his Winchester ministry of 19 years, the parish grew to include over 500 families. Dr. Storer worked to focus attention on the church school, which grew so in effectiveness and numbers as to require a new religious education wing to the church building. And his interest in dramatics led to a revival of the Unitarian Players.

When the Winchester Unitarian Church celebrated its centennial in 1965, the commemorative booklet said in part, "From the pulpit he quickens the spirit, challenges the mind, and provides affirmative patterns for living .... He demonstrates a faculty for drawing the best from people and infecting them with his own faith and optimishm."

Bob Storer's influence has been felt in Winchester far beyond his own church. He has been active, for instance, in the Ecumenical Association, the Metal Health Association, the Monday Club, the Eastern Association for Alcoholic Studies, and many other civic organizations.

He resigned his pastorate in 1969 and was succeeded by Rev. Jack D. Zoerheide. Since his retirement Bob Storere, in spite of spending summers in Maine and winters in Texas or California, has kept his Winchester home as his main base and the church and his former parishioners as his chief interest. Just now he is coaching the fall prodution of the Unitarian Players.

Many of Bob Storer's friends will join with his former parishoners at 10:30 this Sunday morning to honor the man and to listen to his message after 40 years in the ministry.

Center study hearing Tuesday

The Winchester Center Study Committee is holding a public hearing Tuesday night at Winchester High School at 7:30.

The committee, which has mailed copies of its final report to every town meeting member, is soliciting responses to the four main motions considered in the report in preparation for its presentation to the November 7 town meeting.

All interested residents as well as town meeting members are urged to attend.

Disco dance Sat. night at Lincoln School

The Winchester High School Student Union and the recreation department are co-sponsoring a disco dance at the Lincoln School Saturday night from 8-11:30.

The dance is part of a new effort by the students and the rec department to offer special programs for the town's high school-age youth.

The dance Saturday is for senior high school only and will be subject to certain rules set up by the students and the rec department. The programs will be continuing, says department director Donald Spinney, as long as the rules are adhered to.

A. Davis picked Globe's offensive star of the week

Sachem backfield star Anthony Davis was named the offensive star of the week in Division One by the Boston Globe this week.

Davis has carried the team for two consecutive games now (at least), with star QB Don Allard on the sidelines with a bruised shoulder. Davis scored three TDs against Reading Oct. 8 and four more against Stoneham in Saturday's 26-22 victory, the fourth in a row for WHS. He also made two interceptions in those two games.

Starting in winter

Adults to be admitted to WHS classes

Starting next semester at the high school, there will be some unfamiliar faces sitting in the classrooms.

The school committee Tuesday night approved criteria under which adults would be allowed to attend classes at the high school. Registration will begin in December and the program will start in tke second semester.

Adult attendance would depend on whether or not a particular class is underenrolled. The guidelines set up by Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum Walter Gleason state that, "By the addition of an adult, no academic class shall exceed 25 students; no art class shall exceed 20 students; no shop or home economics laboratory class shall exceed 16 students."

The idea of allowing adults to attend underenrolled classes has been kicking around for some time now, and the committee asked for a final report from Dr. Gleason at their meeting two weeks ago.

The only problem the board had with the proposal was the question of extra costs. The board voted 3-2 not to add any charge.

Board Chairman Robert Frank had wondered whether the adults attending the high school should be charged for the "out-of-pocket costs" incurred by the school department, that is, for materials used in the courses. He added that there may be other costs involved as well. "I think the people are already paying for this," responded board member Jack Noble. He added, "I don't think it's going to put such a great demand on the system." Noble, along with Catherine Alexander and Heinrich Holland, voted against charging the adults. As far as personnel is concerned, Frank explained, "As presently conceived, there will be no additional staff costs because the adults will be going into classrooms where there is space that would be there anyway."

The criteria for the program were okayed unanimously.

Besides the class size limits, the conditions of the program include:

—Adults are expected to complete the course once they are enrolled. The committee agreed, however, that a clause should be added that, in the event of a problem between the teacher and an adult in the class, the two would sit down and discuss whether or not the arrangement should continue.

—No auditing is permitted. Adults taking high school classes will take exams, write papers, receive marks for their work and otherwise fully participate in the activities of the class. No credit will be given, except for an undergraduate.

—No parents of students will be allowed in the same class.

—Assignments to class are on a teacher's voluntary basis. Teachers are now being surveyed to determine which would like to allow adults in their classes.

The move to allow adults at the high school in part results from favorable response from the community (and from high school students) to a questionnaire which asked if the respondents were in favor of permitting the program.

The town responded 70 per cent in favor, 25 per cent opposed to the proposal. At the high school, 53 per cent favored and 38 per cent opposed the idea. Gleason noted an "enthusiastic" response from many of those polled on the question.

Gleason's report to the committee Tuesday included a list of possible pro's and con's of the program.

On the positive side were the benefits of the interaction between age groups as a learning experience; that adults may become backers of the school in terms of instruction and administration, and that adults could gain some sympathy for the problems that the school faces; that adults can bring a different point of view into the classroom; and that in the long run, adult admittance could be a reason for retaining some staff for a purpose that would otherwise require a cut.

A task force looking into the this particular community use of the schools came out opposed to the move, despite the overwhelming favorable response from townspeople. They listed the following reasons for being opposed to the program:

—The high school curriculum is geared for the needs and abilities of high school age students.

—The focus of teaching might be shifted from the primary, i.e., the students, to the townspeople in attendance.

—There is no clear indication (at that time) as to how the staff would respond to such a proposal.

Frank asked Gleason to come up with a means of evaluating the success or failure of the program.

Report on cable TV

Wildwood residents send ideas on traffic to board

In addition to considering the articles for the upcoming town meeting November 7, the board of selectmen has been conducting other business in the past couple of weeks.

In the wake of a well-attended public hearing on the Wildwood street area traffic, the board received notice that a Wildwood Area Committee has been formed "for the purpose of assisting you and our town government in order to preserve and improve our outstanding community."

Signed by 13 residents, a letter to the board October 5 indicated that installation of four-way stop signs be recommended to the state Department of Public Works. The group is specifically concerned about the intersections at Palmer, Fletcher, and Wildwood; Woodside and Wildwood; Oxford and Wildwood; and Wedgemere and Wildwood.

They would also like to see the speed limit on Wildwood street be lowered from 35 to 30 miles an hour and that the corner of Wildwood and Woodside be redesigned.

There will be a public hearing on the Wildwood matter on October 24 at the selectmen's meeting.

At last week's meeting, selectmen heard a report from the members of the cable television committee. The board had asked the committee to give them an update on the possibilities of cable television in Winchester since their previous report November 30, 1973.

The committee members present were Chairman William McCarter, Robert Grainger, Richard Schroeder, and Constance Papas. John Rudolph, from the school department, also attended. He has been serving as a consultant to the committee.

McCarter said that the Boston Cable Television Company, which serves several surrounding towns, has expressed an interest in coming to Winchester. The company indicated to the committee that it would like to apply for a license if selectmen were interested and receptive to the idea of cable television for the town.

The charge in surrounding communities, based on work by the committee, is $7.50 a month for regular service and another $1.50 a month for optional expanded service. Optional home box office service is an additional $7.50. McCarter pointed out several aspects of cable television for the board to keep in mind. Among his concerns was that subscription price be reasonable and that there be a commitment that as much of the community as possible would be wired within a certain time. He also noted the financial responsibility of the company, the possible esthetic concern of some residents, participation of police and fire stations and schools. McCarter noted particularly consideration of broadcasts from the new high school facilties.

McCarter suggested that the board of selectmen write a letter to the Boston Cable Television Company and indicate the town's interest so that feasibility studies could get underway.

FinCom has one opening

There is currently one vacancy on the finance committee. Chairman Alice Mirak notes a recent resignation leaves no member from District 8.

Interested candidates are urged to submit qualification in writing to Mrs. Alice K. Mirak, chairman, Winchester Finance Committee, Town Hall, Winchester.

21 articles in warrant for fall town meeting

As town meeting approaches November 7, selectmen have been concerned with the warrant articles which the members will be asked to consider. There are 21 articles for this fall annual meeting, which the board signed Friday morning last week, and which they discussed at their regular meeting this week.

The board will be sending a newsletter to the town meeting members advising them of the selectmen's stands on the various items.

Following is a brief summary of the articles and the stand taken so far by the selectmen. There will be, in addition, a public hearing Wednesday, October 26 at 8 in McCall Junior High School for further discussion of warrant articles not the subject of previous public hearings.

+1. Standard article to hear and act on the reports of town officers and agencies. No appropriation is being sought under this article.

+2. An article to hear and act on the center study committee report. While the committee is strongly in favor of appropriating $62,000 for engaging professional consultants, there are three other options contained in the report. Copies of the report will be available for town meeting members and a public hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday night at the high school to give residents a chance to give their views as well.

+3. This article would seek to waive all inspection and certification fees for buildings and structures which are places of public assembly. The effect of waiving the fees town-wide would be the loss of $1300 in revenue, according to Town Manager Thomas J. Groux. The town counsel and the building commissioner are of the opinion that either all fees for such buildings or for no buildings is involved in this article.

The Winchester Housing Authority requested the article to seek relief from the annual inspection fee required under the state building code. The WHA is currently charged $25 for the Palmer street inspections and another $25 for the Westley street housing. Every five years, they pay $248 for Palmer street and $356 for Westley street.

+4. This article seeks a transfer from the "Sale of Real Estate" account or an appropriation for the payment of judgments or for the settlement of land damage cases. There are two costs involved under this article. One is the Johnson v. Town of Winchester land damage case, estimated at $28,000. According to the town manager, about $19,000 is currently available in the existing Amberwood Estates account and the balance of about $9000 could be transferred by town meeting from the "Sale of Real Estate" account.

The other land damage case involves the Rosetti property. Figures are not yet available on the amount sought.

+5.This article deals with collective bargaining agreements. The firefighters' contract is in its final form and the school food service workers' contract and costs will also be made known shortly.

+6. Article 6 seeks to appropriate a sum of money to be added to other accounts previously appropriated for fiscal year 1978. Under the Public Works Employment Act Anti-Recessionary Assistance Program, about $44,000 was appropriated in the spring. The town has since received $8500 more which must be appropriated within six months.

+7. There is approximately $1795 worth of unpaid bills incurred in previous fiscal years in accounts with insufficient funds. This article seeks to supplement four accounts from last year's budget: civil defense (other expenses), public works complex, town hall (other expenses), and board of selectmen (equipment).

There was lengthy discussion of this article at Monday night's meeting, as selectmen questioned the town manager about insufficient appropriations. Groux assured the board that he would do "everything possible" to make sure there are no problems in the future. "We are switching to a new method of purchasing and there are still some kinks to be ironed out, but I can assure you," he said, "that this should not happen again."

+8. This article will seek $11,000 to pay interest or service charges which Boston Edison feels are due them.

+9. Tkis is the article which seeks to discontinue the building line at the GMC on Cross street. It does not' require an appropiration, but a vote of town meeting is required to discontinue the building line. Both GMC and abutters on Cross street and surrounding streets are hoping to erect a six-foot fence at the parking lot to try to keep the lot from being a gathering place after dark.

+10. Article 10, sponsored by the selectmen, will appropriate about $5000 to expand the honor plaque at the war memorial so that the names of Korean and Vietnam veterans can be added.

+11 Under this article the library trustees are looking for about $11,000 to repair the library roof and exterior parts of the library.

+12. The library trustees under this article are looking for an appropriation to enable them to hire a consultant and to proceed with some reconstruction or renovation to the Smith Room to house art and music collections and to enlarge the technical services area of the library.

+13. About $2500 to $3000 is requested by the town manager under this article for the printing and distribution of his proposed budget materials for town meeting members. Two years ago, there were two copies of the budget sent out, one the proposed budget and the other the finance committee budget as presented to town meeting. Last year only the final copy was sent out to town meeting members. Enough members requested both copies that the town manager is asking for the funds to have both budgets printed and distributed.

+14. The board of selectmen is seeking an appropriation of somewhere between $15,000 and $20,000 for engaging certified public accountants to perform an audit on town financial records.

+15. This is the liquor license article petitioning the general court for authority to place on the town ballot in March of 1978 a referendum question: "Shall not more than

Warrant topic of hearing on October 26th

A public hearing has been scheduled, as required by law, on October 26 at 8 p.m. in McCall Junior High School for discussion of the warrant articles for the fall annual town meeting.

Information will be available on warrant articles that have not been discussed at other scheduled public hearings.

As of Oct. 1

Enrollments down 352 to 4578

The "official" figures are out on the enrollment in Winchester's schools, with the total, as of Oct 1, 4578 students.

The Oct. 1 count, used as the official figure by the school department, is 133 under last year's projected enrollment of 4711. That is a decline of 352 from the Oct. 1, 1976 enrollment of 4930.

The total numbers, listed by school and grade and for the elementary and secondary levels are listed in the chart below, which was presented to the school committee by Superintendent William C. MacDonald Monday night.

School committee notes

Why private schools?

Some persons have questioned whether or not school committee policies are playing a role in the decision of some parents in town to send their children to parochial or private schools.

To find out the reasons for sending children outside the public system, Superintendent William C. MacDonald told the school board he will prepare a questionnaire for parents of private school children.

Budget session

The committee has decided to hold the first of a series of working sessions on next year's budget Monday night at Sanborn House. This first session will focus on major policy issues with an impact on the budget.

Busing request

Dr. Fabuss made the request Monday night, asking for the temporary permit because, he said, his wife is ill and cannot drive, and because his residence on Sawmill Brook parkway is 1.9 miles from the high school, just under the two-mile boundary within which the school department does not provide transportation.

Dr. Fabuss asked that his request be granted for any bus traveling nearby with an empty seat on it.

The committee refused the request on the recommendation of Superintendent Macdonald, who said he opposed it "to keep us from refereeing all the requests that would come in and to keep close to the line of policy." He noted he has already had similar requests for about 15 students.

After the vote, Dr. Fabuss had a few words for the board: "Is this what you call humanitarian policy?" he asked them, then walked out of the meeting.

Resignation

By a close vote the board accepted the resignation of junior high English teacher Nancy Bardaro, who was filling a two-fifths position at McCall.

Ms. Bardaro, who was under contract with the school department, left for a full-time position elsewhere, with her resignation effective Sept. 27.

Constance Papas voiced strong objections to the resignation, pointing out that the school committee has to live by its part of the contract. "I don't like it, I don't think it's good for the school system," she exclaimed.

Chairman Robert Frank noted that even when enrollment declines have dictated a reduction in staff, the board has stood by the contract and not attempted to release anyone.

However, there is not much the board can do about it, unless they choose to sue the party involved for breach of contract and try to collect damages.

The administration seems to feel that the best course of action, from the point of view of maintaining the quality of education and staff morale, is to do nothing but grin and bear it.

"It's food for argument," commented Noble, who said the administration should look into eliminating the fractional positions in the staff and try to combine the part-time openings so that they are filled by full-time teachers.

The vote to accept the resignation was 3-2, with Mrs. Papas and Frank opposed.

Curtain & Cue rehearsing for fall production

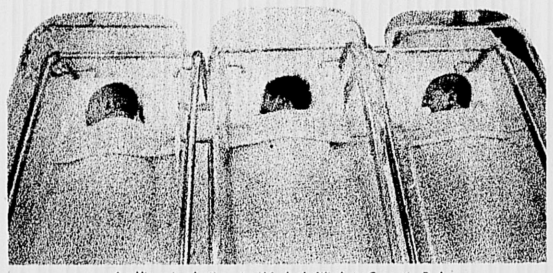

The fall production of the Winchester High School's Curtain and Cue Society, "The Madwoman of Chaillot," is set to go on Oct. 28-29.

The play is now in rehearsal, and tickets will be available at the door and from students involved in the production.

Open house set at Muraco School

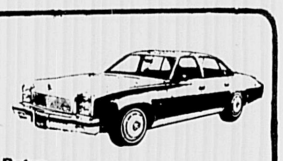

There will be an open house at the Muraco School today from 7-8 p.m. The principal, Richard Young, will welcome all parents in the school auditorium and then the parents will visit their child's class room. The teachers will describe the program for the coming year.

WHS National Honor Society plans services to community

The first meeting of the Winchester High School National Honor Society was held Oct. 3 and about eighty students gathered to plan the year's activities and elect officers.

The main goal of National Honor Society this year is to become as active as possible in providing service to the community and school. Some of the ideas for community activities brought forth at the meeting included: a walk-a-thon for charity, a magic show for children, a litter clean-up day, and a Valentine's Day party for the senior citizens of Winchester.

In addition, NHS plans to provide a program of in-school tutoring and guest speakers at school. In order for NHS to be financially able to provide these activities various fund-raising events are also planned, including a flea-market and bake sales.

Selection to National Honor Society is based upon scholastic achievement and extra curricular and service involvement. The following members of the senior class have been selected to National Honor Society for the 1977-1978 school year:

Elected officers are: co-cairpersons—Martha McCully and Lidija Marincio; vice-chairperson—Susznne Patrick; secretary—Susan Doron; and treasurer—Gina Alfano.

+16. This article represents the final wording recommended by the planning board for the amendments to the zoning bylaw section on RB-20 apartment districts.

+17. Under this article, brought by petition, the zoning bylaw would be amended to change property on Vine steet from conservancy-institutional to general residence.

+18. Another zoning bylaw change under this article would change property on Cambridge street immediately south of the Woburn city line and just north of the Bonnell Ford property from its present zoning of residential to a general business district.

+19. At Harrison Chadwick's suggestion, this article is placed on the warrant to see if the town will establish a capital planning committee.

+20. Chadwick also suggested this article, which would make the term of office for planning board members consistent with state statute. The present term of office is three years and the change would be to five years.

Students get their chance

The Winchester High School Student Union and the town recreation department are planning a trial of sorts this weekend.

The two groups are sponsoring the first of what they hope will be a long series of weekend events: a disco dance at the Lincoln School, complete with strobe lights, fog machine — the works.

There are great possibilities here. For some time now there have been repeated complaints from the town's youth that there is no place for them to go on a Saturday night — the teen center by the rotary never quite made it, the theater closed down. Now the student union and the town are getting together to try to set up another alternative.

The plans go beyond this Saturday night's dance: there may be more dances, on a regular basis, and other activities are planned as well, including a winter film series and roller skating at Lincoln and Lynch Junior High. With a good showing of student interest, the program could be expanded to include a greater variety of activities, be they social, cultural, or educational. And, with some ingenuity, these programs could pay for themselves.

There's one catch. The union and the rec department have set up a series of rules and regulations for the events. The weekend programs will be continuing IF these rules and regulations are adhered to by the students.

So we have opportunity. And we have motive. The question now is where will it all go? Will the youth of the town take advantage of what's being handed to them, take control and make it work? Or will a few who don't really care kill the program before it can get off the ground?

The dance this weekend is just for senior high school students, and it runs from 8-11:30 p.m. We hope you who plan to go have a good boogie; and we hope you past the test.

... So do the adults

There's another golden opportunity just opened up: as of this winter, adults will be able to attend underenrolled classes at the high school.

The program, passed by the school committee Monday night, has received overwhelmingly favorable response from the community at large and at least a majority of support from students at the high school.

While there are no doubt some disadvantages to having adults taking courses at the high school, the potential benefits, for the students, the adults, and maybe the teachers, as well as the community as a whole, are enormous.

Judging by the variety and caliber of the courses offered at the high school, there can be no question that anyone of any age could learn something from them. And the exposure to the school system can't help but sharpen the critical eye of the public.

As for the students — they may feel like they're being more closely watched at first, and perhaps they'll be less likely to attempt some of the things they're always attempting when no one's looking. But again, in the long run, having adults in the classes should improve the students' view of education.

After all, high school is more than something you pass through before college or a job; by the same token, education is not something that stops when they hand you the sheepskin at the end of four years.

This kind of interaction between adults and high school students cannot help but improve the atmosphere in the community and bring the generations a little closer together.

We hope the school board has enough foresight to continue to view education as an ongoing process, a life process which does not necessarily need to be kept within the strict limits of the traditional school system.

Cannot, not

To those who may have noticed, something went awry in last week's editorial on the water emergency. A double negative sat where a single negative belonged, and the message came out reversed.

We meant to say, it is hard to deny that the town officials acted in good faith.

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law says that notice of meetings of all boards, including committees, commissions and subcommittees, however elected, appointed or constituted, shall be filed with the Town Clerk and posted at least 48 hours before the meeting.

Maria Maravigna's extraordinarily detailed and accurate ceramic mushrooms are on exhibit now at the Winchester Library. Through the rest of the month these representations of poisonous and edible mushrooms, in all stages from emerging bud to mature flower, will be displayed in the showcase. Miss Maravigna is an internationally known expert in mycology and has, in fact, been credited as being the first person to find and identify the poisonous Amanita muscaria in Winchester and possibly in this country.

Be reminded: fall inspection for motor vehicles ends Saturday, so get out and do it if you haven't already done it. The little yellow sticker means your car is in passable operating condition, and that's in your interest as much as anyone else's. Also, it may keep you from getting a citation from a watchful state trooper.

What, pray tell, is a rooster doing standing in the rain among a gaggle of geese and ducks on the island in the Mill Pond?

Most unusual. If you are missing your early morning flapping alarm clock, check out the pond. He was spotted there Wednesday morning.

Here's one. The bicycle study committee wants to expand the extent of available bike paths in town and ultimately hook up with the one in Woburn. One of the sites which the committee has picked follows the path of the Middlesex Canal and for historical reasons is a good place to put a bikeway.

The problem comes because part of the path would cut through a corner of Wildwood Cemetery. The town manager, the director of the public works department, the safety officer, all question, for various reasons, the wisdom of following a bike path down Palmer street and across a corner of the cemetery and from there on to join the Woburn path.

The bicycle study committee, on the other hand, has very good reasons for choosing this route. It is the opinion of town counsel that under an act dealing with "antique cemeteries" there may not be a legal problem in using that portion of the cemetery for a bike path.

Douglas Randall is going to do a little more research into this question, but it seems that if a cemetery or a portion of a cemetery is not 100 years old and no one is buried in it, a bike path would be legally acceptable. A cemetery greater than a century old would require an act of the general court to permit this use.

The zoning bylaws passed at the May town meeting have been approved by the attorney general's office and have been posted. These were articles 21, 22, 23, 24, 26, and 27. Bylaws amended and approved were articles 17 and 18.

The approval and posting mean that the changes are now in effect.

The League of Women Voters of Winchester is launching its annual campaign for financial help from townspeople and are again asking civic-minded friends for assistance.

The League, a non-partisan organization, has a long history of service to the town. Among its activities are: candidates' night, the questionnaire to candidates published in The Star, absentee ballots supplied to shutins, the "Guide to Town Meeting Members, and the free list of town meeting members which can be picked up at the library.

League members also spend time studying local problems, such as the future configuration of the schools, especially the middle schools, and the implementation of Mass. Chap. 622, the law against sex discrimination in the schools.

Only two-thirds of the yearly budget is raised by dues and member contributions, and the rest comes from townspeople and business people who are interested in the League's efforts to promote activities and informed participation in government.

The committee consists of Claudia Mulford, Agnes Aiken, Barbara Adams, Diane Gies, Ellen Kimble and Chairman Grace Archibald. The fund drive will last through the month of October.

About two dozen residents from around the Winchester Hospital area showed up at the board of appeals meeting Monday night to find out about the hospital's plans to put up an 80-foot stack.

Without arguing the merits or esthetics of such a proposal, The Observer would simply remark that thinly-veiled hostility between the hospital and the residents comes up time and again as the hospital makes proposals, receives permission from the board of appeals, and neighbors feel left out.

This town is fortunate to have a local hospital of the caliber of Winchester Hospital. With a possible future merger of Winchester Hospital, Symmes, and Choate, long-range plans are difficult to delineate, yet neighbors are asking to be let in on tke plans that have been formulated so far.

It's something which has been considered. Judging from some of the comments Monday night, it's not working.

Plans are underway for the annual Winton Club Cabaret, scheduled for this January.

Mrs. John A. Sutherland assumed the chairmanship of the show shortly after the curtain closed on the 1977 performances. Her general committee is made up of Mesdames Edward C. Parkhurst, Roman W. DeSanctis, Richard Bannister, Stanley Harms Jr., Lane McGovern, Richard Santos, W.B. Brockelman, Jerome Flanagan, Frank M. Gunby Jr. and J.P. Barger.

Casting is to be done the first week of January, but the program that accompanies the annual show is conceived and created months ahead of show time. Winton Club members are out soliciting support from local merchants.

Co-chairmen of the solicitation effort are Mrs. Gunby and Mrs. Barger, and their troops have been out since early June. The closing date for advertisements is this month.

The profits from the show go to help the club supply linen for the Winchester Hospital, a task they have been performing for nearly 60 years.

Reward

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On the night of September 30, a call was received by the manager of the Winchester Bowladrome that a bomb had been planted.

The police and fire departments evacuated the building, but after a lengthy search nothing was found. The public was allowed to bowl.

Later the police received a call from the criminal who said it was just a scare.

I will not rest until this person or persons are caught. I therefore will give a personal reward of five thousand dollars for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons responsible for this criminal act.

A bowling alley is a place of assembly. I do not want the lives of the public jeopardized.

Arbitration petition

(Editor's note: The following letter includes the text of a letter sent to Mr. Ericson by the Local Government Advisory Committee Oct. 5. The group opposes the present arbitration agreement between the state and the police and fire unions. As of press time, we were unable to obtain a copy of the agreement mentioned herein; we will try to have it by next week.

The Local Government Advisory Committee is made up of Haden G. Greenhalgh, president of the Mass. Selectmen's Association; William R. Murphy, president of the Mass. League of Cities and Towns; William C. Sullivan, president of the Mass. Mayors' Association; Thomas E. Lee, president of the Mass. Municipal Management Association; and James Morrisey, president of the Mass. Association of Town Finance Committees.)

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The local Government Advisory Committee has recommended that we stop work on the initiative petition drive. The reasons are outlined in the attached letter:

Dear Local Coordinator:

We are pleased to announce that our local control initiative petition drive has already succeeded.

Only since the beginning of the drive have the fire and police unions been willing to discuss alternative solutions with us. These negotiations, mediated by former US Secretary of Labor, John Dunlop, have resulted in an agreement which is summarized on the attached sheet.

From our perspective, this agreement is considerably more far-reaching in scope than the "triggering mechanism" which we agreed to when the Governor proposed it as a compromise last spring. Unfortunately, his proposal was voted down and his veto was overridden by the legislature.

In the long run, the only way to resolve labor-management impasses is through good faith bargaining, and this solution sets up a process which encouragse real negotiations between the parties.

Without such a solution, municipal groups and labor unions would continue to spend their energies and resources in a pitched battle before the legislature. In all likelihood, neither party would win completely, and some form of negotiated settlement undoubtedly would be required by the Governor and legislature. This agreement will not only help resolve individual labor-management disputes, but should also lead to the development of a long-range statewide solution fair to both sides.

We have jointly filed a bill to put this agreement into law. When that bill is passed by the legislature and signed by the Governor, we have agreed to discontinue the initiative petition drive. Based upon the positive response we have had from the Governor and the legislative leadership, we expect that to occur in very short order. We will keep you informed of our progress.

In the meantime, we thank you for your efforts on the petition drive. We believe this solution has demonstrated the unity of the municipal associations, our willingness to work out fair solutions to our problems in a reasonable fashion, and the clout of local officials and taxpayers that will continue to develop as a force in Massachusetts.

It appears that this is a case where the Legislature was unable to protect us; but, your elected local officials have restored fairness and balance.

Trails tours

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Town of Winchester opens the reservoir area each fall so that the public may enjoy the foliage at its best. For those who would prefer a walking tour of the same area, Winchester Trails members will guide groups on Sunday at 2 p.m. and again at 3 p.m.

We will start from the South Dam entrance where the cars come out onto South Border road after their tour. There is ample parking across the street at the Whitmore Brook entrance to the Fells; it is located about 3 miles south of Leslie Road, and we will have a sign posted where it will be visible from South Border road.

This is a wonderful opportunity to enjoy autumn color and become familiar with the treasures in Winchester's own backyard, so join us on Sunday, October 16, a 2 and 3 p.m.

Bay state roll call

Week of October 3-7

In key roll call votes in the Senate this week, an anti-abortion amendment was approved, a pay raise amendment was rejected, and a bill aimed at ending discrimination against the handicapped was passed.

The Senate approved 20-19 an anti-abortion amendment to the $33 million supplemental budget. Sen. Sam Rotondi voted against the amendment which bars the use of public funds for Medicaid abortions.

Another amendment to the supplemental budget was to sever the state employees' pay raise from that budget and consider it separately. Rotondi voted for the sever but the amendment was defeated on a 20-20 tie vote.

The Senate unanimously approved a bill prohibitng discrimination against the handicapped in employment, but rejected 20-15 an amendment allowing suit in a state court after 90 days of a handicapped person's having filed a complaint. Rotondi voted to allow the amendment.

By a vote of 30-5 the Senate approved $250,000 to finance consumers' councils through the attorney general's office. Sen. Rotondi voted in favor of the bill.

The House gave initial approval 144-77 to a bill setting up a new bargaining unit for employees of the Massachusetts State Lottery Commission. Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., voted with the minority against the bill.

There were several votes on H 6629, a bill dealing with a tax cut for life insurance companies. The House gave initial approval 160-55 to repealing the one percent gross investment tax and replacing it with a 45 percent net income tax. Saltmarsh voted for the initial approval.

The House barely defeated 117-99 an amendment to that bill which would increase from $3 million to $5 million the amount the Capital Resource Company would invest in small businesses. Saltmarsh voted for the $3 million investment.

In another vote on H 6629, the House turned down by 144-69 an amendment which would cancel the act if total tax revenues of the insurance companies totalled less than $49 million between 1977 and 1983. Saltmarsh voted against the amendment.

The House approved 109-106, but failed to gain the two-thirds vote necessary to discharge from the Bills in Third Reading Committee, a bill which would roll back auto insurance rates to their January 1975 level and freeze them until further notice. Saltmarsh voted against discharging the bill onto the House floor for a vote.

In a close vote, 106-101, the House defeated an amendment to a bill which would eliminate the tax-exempt status of the Massachusetts Port Authority and impose a five percent excise tax on Massport's annual revenue. Rep. Saltmarsh voted against the amendment which would have replaced the excise tax with a property tax.

Local doctor opposed

The Lahey Clinic: do we need it?

By James F. McDonough, M.D.

Dr. McDonough is chairman of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Winchester Hospital and is past president of the Massachusetts Medical Society. In addition, he lives and carries on private practice in Winchester.

The following article is reprinted, with permission, from the Boston Herald-American. Dr. McDonough is one of the parties in the suit opposing the construction of the Lahey Clinic facility in Burlington.

Since the article was written, Judge Bonin has delivered an opinion in favor of the Lahey Clinic. The opposition intends to appeal the case to the Mass. Supreme Court.

(Note: DPH stands for the state Department of Public Health; HUD is the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development; HFAB is another state agency, the Health Facilities Appeals Board; the North Shore HSA is one of a network of federal Health Systems Agencies set up to monitor and plan the delivery of health services.)

More than a decade ago, Lahey Clinic began a quest for a location in which to place a facility that would consolidate its scattered, ineffecient Boston practice. The inefficiency was manifest by a clinic in Kenmore Square and patietns scattered among several hospitals (New England Baptist, Brooks, Deaconess and Hahnemann).

After attempts to relocate on Parker Hill, Roxbury, a site in Westwood, Woodland Country Club in Newton, Oakley Country Club in Watertown and McLean Hospital in Belmont and at least one other site adjacent to Route 128, The Lahey Clinic looked next to Burlington and a site near the Burlington Mall and Executive Park.

At that time the townspeople of Burlington were reluctant to sacrifice 40 acres of taxable land to a tax-exempt hospital. Concessions were made by both sides and resulted in Lahey paying Burlington $200,000 a year in lieu of taxes, granting staff privileges to physicians with a full-time Burlington practice, allocating 60 beds for use by people of Burlington, and providing an emergency room for local medical emergencies.

Area hosptals and their medical staffs did not mount oposition at that time because representatives of Lahey maintained they planned a 200-bed referral-type hospital and had no wish to become involved in community medicine except to accede to the wishes of the Burlington community. They also stated they planned to maintain a Boston posture with 125 beds at the Deaconess Hospital for esoteric surgery to include neurosurgery and cardiothoracic surgery.

In May 1972, Lahey was granted a DON (Determination of Need) for a 200-bed hospital to encompass 430,000 square feet at a cost of $40 million. The 40 acres of land had been purchased for $3 million, but financing for the hospital complex (an office building of 150 doctors also was projected) proved to be a problem. According to the DON statute, a substantial portion of the planned construction must be completed within three years. At the completion of this interlude, some site construction was completed but this was far from a substatntial amount, as no foundation had been laid. Private financing had not been obtained despite repreated attempts, including negotiations with oil interests from Kuwait.

Lahey, however, remained undaunted. At a meeting of the DPH in December 1976, Lahey was granted an extension of its DON, but for a facility that had now grown from 400,000 to 670,000 square feet at a cost of $67 to 80 million. This action of D.P.H. was highly irregular, but Dr. Jonathan Fielding, Commissioner of Public Health, was quoted as stating that "Although the Lahey Clinic Burlington Project had changed in size and scope, it would be unfair to penalize Lahey because some $10 million had been invested in this venture." Private financing which previously had been unobtainable was now possible only because of an HUD guarantee.

The decision of DPH granting this - "extension" to or a "new" DON was appealed by a group of suburban hospitals and Cotter 10 Taxpayer Group. After signing a memorandum of understanding with Lahey, both groups withdrew. This memo stated that Lahey would take no legal action against these groups if they withdrew their opposition. There is no doubt that some members felt threatened by promised legal action against them for restraint of trade and conspiracy should they fail to withdraw their appeals.

The HFAB then voted 5-0 that they felt the Lahey Project deserved review and perhaps a new DON. Chairman Paul Gitlin then invited new appellants to come forward so his committee could review the project. This request and the surrounding publicity, which contended that the Choate, Winchester and Symmes Hospitals would eventually close should the Lahey Project succeed, galvanized a meeting at Winchester Hospital attended by close to 100 M.D.s. A decision to file an appeal before the HFAB was made that night.

Within 48 hours North Shore HSA voted to file an appeal, and the review seemed imminent. Lahey Clinic, however, obtained a temporary injuncton against the HFAB from hearing any appeals and the dispute was now in Superior Court. The doctors, now operating under the title of The Concerned Committee for Hospital Cost Control were allowed to intervene on the side of the HFAB, and their lawyers have argued the case in conjunction with the office of The Attorney General of Massachusetts.

In January 1976, the Rate Setting Commission concluded the daily charge for a hospitalized patient would be $500. Lahey Clinic's accountants offered other figures to indicate this charge would be but $380. In any event, $96 of each patient's daily charge would have to be allocated for interest on the HUD guaranteed loan. This would not include payments on principal and other charges. Under the Lahey formula $70 would be the fee for admission to ambulatory Out Patient Department before other charges for ancillary services. In April of 1976, the architectural plans for the Burlington Project were subpoenaed by CCHCC and examined by expert space planners. It appears to us that the core for this hospital is far larger than that necessary for a 200-bed hospital and indeed could support 450-600 beds. Let us compare the Winchester Hospital (a typical 200-bed hospital) with the proposed Lahey Hospital.

	Lahey Clinic	Winchester Hospital
Operating rooms	4	12
Cystoscopy rooms	1	2
X-Ray Suites	4	29

It also is the opinion of experts that the Lahey Project is dependent on 350,000 ambulatory outpatient visits per year. This is much greater than any 5 surrounding hospitals now total collectively. If Lahey fails financially (as is now happening at Faulkner Hospital) the taxpayer will have the burden of meeting these costs, as the loan is guaranteed by HUD.

All this while the DPH has stated there are 5500 excess beds in the state, of which 1000 are in this area. All this while North Shore HSA is attempting to close 600 beds and Merrimack Valley HSA 260 beds Both these areas are contiguous to the proposed Lahey Project.

If ever a need existed for Lahey in the Burlington area, none does now. In 1970, the average length of stay in the New England area was two days longer than in the rest of the country as determined by data from the Commission of Hospital Professional Activities (CHPA) located in Ann Arbor, Michigan. Through Medical Audit and Utilization Review Committees, a length of stay has been assigned for each diagnosis and has resulted in a decrease in hospital occupancy. The result has been many empty beds in all sections of the state. One-day surgery has further decreased the length of stay. This program allows patients to be admitted, operated and discharged the same day for procedures which required two-four days' stay in the recent past. The decrease in the birth rate and the shortened stay for obstetrical patients have increased the availability of beds. Three hospitals in this region (Choate, Symmes and Lawrence Memorial Hospital) have recently closed thur obstetrical departments. This accounts for approximately 75 beds closed in the last 18 months. Except for the Winchester Hospital, the other surrounding hospitals have not had an optimal rate of occupancy.

The above facts support our contention that there is no need for Lahey Clinic in Burlington and also supports Mr. Gitlin's desire to review the project in HFAB. We ask only that Lahey Clinic conform to the stringent regulations applied to all other hospitals under the DON statute, and that this exception of the law is costly, untimely, unfair, and not in the public interest.

Larocco reports

Three-quarters of WHS grads are seeking higher education

More than three-quarters of the members of the 1977 graduating class from Winchester High School have gone on to some kind of further education.

"This has always been the case with the graduates from Winchester," according to Vincent E. Larocco, principal, in his report to the administration. "Analysis of the data from the 1977 class shows that four-year colleges are still the destination of the majority of the students," Larocco said.

A closer inspection of the data, however, reveals that the graduates are not going to any four-year college. An unusually large number are attending those colleges identified in the "Comparative Guide to American Colleges" (Harper and Row, Seventh Edition) as "most selective" and "highly selective." This list includes those colleges with high academic reputations, such as Yale, Columbia, Amherst, and Harvard. These 94 colleges listed represent only 11 percent of the total number of college students in America. However, 23 percent of the 1977 Winchester graduates going on to four-year colleges are now attending those colleges, more than twice as many as would be expected from a random distribution.

"We have many indiciations that the total program at Winchester High School is excellent," said Larocco. In 1972 we received a 10-year accredition of the school from the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. "The strength and combination of our sound academic and guidance programs, along with our athletic and co-curricula programs, has made this 10-year accreditation well deserved."

In attempting to explain why such a large percentage of Winchester graduates should be qualified to go the top-ranked colleges, Larocco proposed, "This community has always been interested in good education, and they have made it possible for the schools to provide it to the students. The members of our staff are of exceptional quality and have a true dedication to educating students. The entire school system operates with cirruciula designed to stimulate and advance students starting in kindergarten and running all the way through the senior high school."

Principal Larocco noted that while a great deal of emphasis is placed on academic education, the high school has moved to provide an alternate education for those students with interests in other than the acadmics. The newly established Career Life Information Program (CLIP) is a pioneer program in education for students intending to go directly into the job market after graduation. Seventy-five students are presently moving through this offering. In addition, the excellent programs at the Northeast Regional Vocational School, as an adjunct to the Winchester system, meets the needs of those students interested in an education in a wide variety of technical skills.

Larocco's report shows the 404 graduates in 1977 have gone on to the following activities: Four-year colleges, 56 percent; two-year colleges, 15 percent; Business, Technical and specialized schools, 5 percent; Military, 3 percent; Employment, 16 percent; Unknown, 5 percent.

Mini-college

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 p.m. in the Cafeteria of the High School, the Guidance Office will be conducting a Mini-College Program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

On Wednesday, October 19, the following institutions will be represented: Beaver College (Pennsylvania), Duke University (North Carolina), Fitchburg State College, Grinnell College (Iowa), Hamilton & Kirkland Colleges (New York), Hampshire College, Hawaii Loa College (Hawaii), Maine, University of at Presque Isle, Malden Hospital School of Nursing, Nathaniel Hawthorne College (New Hampshire), New York University, Pace University (New York), Rochester, University of (New York), and Trinity College (Washington, D.C.).

On Wednesday, October 26, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend: Boston College, Bryn Mawr College (Pennsylvania), Burdett College, Daniel Webster College (New Hampshire), Lawrence Memorial Hospital (Medford, Mass.), Middlesex Community College, North Adams State College, Salem State College, Suffolk University, and Wilson College (Pennsylvania).

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law establishes that most meetings of public bodies are to be open to the public. This means anyone can attend, and whatever anyone who attends such a meeting says is a matter of public record, whether there are 100 persons in the audience or no other persons at all at the meeting.

STAIN . . . or PAINT?

Cabot's STAINS

TROUBLE-FREE, WILL NOT CRACK, PEEL, BLISTER

For those planning to build or remodel soon, the hour of decision is approaching. Will it be stain or paint for your home? Think it over carefully, for a building once painted can never be stained . . . and the unique beauty, economy and protection that stains provide may be lost forever. Today the trend is toward stains.

- Economical, easy to apply and maintain.
- Surfaces need no scraping, sanding, priming.
- Penetrate deeply, protecting wood fibers.
- Enhance the beauty of the grain.
- 87 shades; unique color effects.

Burgess AIRLESS PAINT SPRAYER

At annual meeting

TriComm elects locals, plans goals

Three Winchester residents were elected officers of the executive committee of the board of directors of Tri Community Health Services, Inc., at the agency's annual meeting. They are: Mr. E. Graton Williams, treasurer; first vice president, Mrs. David Dettinger and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Derek Goodman.

Other officers include Thomas Webster Lexington, president; Mrs. Mary Jo Cutler, Arlington, second vice president; Mrs. Henry Weaver, Lexington, secretary and Joseph Trainor, Arington, assistant treasurer.

It will be a goal this year to make all Winchster, Lexington and Arlington residents aware that Tri Community has shifted from a once predominately nursing organization to a rehabilitative home care organizational team which includes physical occupational and speech therapists as well as social work consultation and home health aides. Nursing service is now slightly over 50 percent of all visits. As other services are added, this shift in emphasis will continue to occur.

Sixty men and women from the three communities (including 37 Winchester volunteers) were honored at the annual meeting with certificates of recognition for volunteer service to Tri Community. The ever increasing importance of volunteers to the agency was underscored by outgoing president Mrs. Ara Demurjian will be coordinator of volunteer services for 1977-78 for Tri Community.

Jayne Tapia, RN, professional director, states that overall agency visits this past year increased 34 percent: nursiung by 10 percent, occupational therapy by 27 percent—and a phenomenial growth of physical therapy by 86 percent and home health aides by 75 percent.

The agency provided 502½ hours of service to the Winchester Board of Health and 3,415¾ hours of service to the Winchester School system.

Future goals, as cited by Mrs. Tapia, are an occupational health program, provision of more ambulatory service and a coordinated program for patients with chronic lung disease.

In her remarks to the annual meeting, Mrs. Ann Jackson, outgoing first vice president, stated that after two years "we are now ready to stand up and demonstrate the maturation and dynamism of our organization." Mrs. Jackson, who is a public health nurse, recommended that the mebership "should join hands of youth and maturity mold the organization of hope and achieve our mutual goals of human service to our communities and our world."

A talk by management consultant Hrand Saxsenian concluded the annual meeting. Members of Tri Community, the executive board and staff members in the audience were told of his recommendation for staff reorganization. Mr. Saxsenian also reported on a process he has introduced to improve the flow of internal communications and a system which he has introduced to measure productivity.

Other arrests

Police arrest 12 in Westside disturbance

Police had a quiet week except for Saturday night, when a disturbance at Westside Field, caused by a large gathering of local youths, led to the arrest of 12 juveniles.

Several officers reported to the scene around 8:30 p.m. after complaints came into the department. The officers chased the youths off the field, only to have them return again; 12 were rounded up and brought to the station.

In the course of the chase, one girl was bitten by the K9 patrol dog. She was taken to Winchester Hospital and treated for the bite.

According to police, the youths were "yelling and throwing objects at the officers in the field." All 12 youths arrested were turned over to the custody of their parents.

A number of other arrests were made, including that of a local juvenile girl for operating under the influence of alcohol Saturday night.

She was picked up in the center around 10:40 p.m. in connection with a hit and run accident involving a parked car on Calumet road.

On Oct. 5 a 19-year-old Arlington man was arrested on Main street near the center and charged with use of a motor vehicle without authority, operating so as to endanger, failure to keep right, running a red light, and having no license.

A 23-year-old Burlington resident was arrested Oct. 6 at 2:30 in the morning for operating under the influence of alcohol; his 33-year-old passenger, a Peabody resident, was taken into protective custody. The driver was charged in connection with a minor accident on Cambridge street.

At 3 a.m. Saturday morning, an Arlington youth was arrested for operating without a license and running a stop sign.

Around 2:20 the same morning, a Burlington resident reported to police that while he was making a call from the phone booth on Waterfield road, his car was stolen. The car, a Toyota, was found at the taxi stand by Aberjona drive the next morning.

Another car, stolen Oct. 6 from the Wedgewood Apartments parking lot, was recovered in Somerville later the same day.

Three breakins were reported to police. A breakin at the high school was discovered Sunday around noon. Officers saw three youths inside the building; the three fled the building out the back door and ran up one of the streets behind the school, according to police, who were unable to identify the youths.

The officers found a public address system speaker on the hall floor, ripped out of the ceiling. They believe the noise of the device falling on the floor as it was pulled out of its mounting may have set off the school's alarm system.

Also on Sunday, a home on High street was entered through a first floor bathroom window. Nothing was reported stolen, however.

The third breakin occurred Friday afternoon or evening on Washington street. Entry was gained by forcing a den window and a 19-inch color television was taken.

An exposure was reported by a 14-year-old girl Oct. 6. She said she was walking by Washington and Swanton streets when a man stopped at the lights exposed himself. She walked on down the sidewalk, the man drove up in his car, stood up behind the wheel and exposed himself again.

Fire prevention week

Home is where the hazards are

More than 70 per cent of all fires occur in dwellings, according to estimates of the National Fire Protection Association. Even more tragic, some 6800 deaths are caused by them.

Fire Prevention Week, proclaimed by President Carter, is being observed this year Oct. 9-15. If a family has not already done so, now is the ideal time to draw up plans for what it must do in a home fire.

Be sure above all that everyone knows how to get out of the home quickly, and also knows alternate routes. Have a pre-arranged meeting place outside the house, where all members of the family can assemble.

Many a father or mother has perished in flames because of rushing back into a fire to save a child that in the meantime was safely outdoors on another side of the house.

Once out of the house, call the fire department, either through an alarm box or a neighbor's phone. Don't go back into the house to rescue anything, whatever its sentimental or real value.

Careless use of smoking materials heads the list of home fire causes. The rules to prevent such fires are simple.

First, don't smoke in bed. Have large ash trays handy in every room. Don't discard burning butts and matches, and see that matches are kept from your children.

Defective electric wiring and equipment account for many home fires. Installing or extending home wiring is not a do-it-yourself job—call in a qualified electrician. Extension cords placed under rugs are fire hazards. So are multiple attachment plugs.

Grease should always be cleaned from the range, and curtains should not hang near the burners.

A portable gas or oil heater can be a very pleasant feature of a cold bedroom, but don't neglct to turn it off at bedtime. Also leave a door or window slightly open, so that the oxygen it uses will be replaced.

Have an experienced serviceman go over your central heating system—don't wait for cold weather. He should also inspect and clean flue pipes and chimneys and make necessary repairs.

The basement, closets and attic have their uses, but not as accumulation spots for old newspapers and rags. These can easily catch fire and leave a family homeless.

FIRE SAFETY DAY '77
Provided as a Public Service by the Winchester
Knights Of Columbus
Winchester Council No. 210
Sunday, Oct. 16 9-5 ★ Life Saving Demonstration ★ Door Prizes ★ Free Coffee & Donuts ★ Educational Films.
HELP US REACH OUR GOAL.... A SMOKE ALARM IN EVERY Winchester Home.
Knights of Columbus
58 Mt. Vernon St.
On display a full line of Home Fire Safety Products

The National Fire Protection Association has set its' goal in 1977 the installation of a fire/smoke detector in every dwelling in the United States. The National Fire Protection Association shows cases where time and again lives have been saved because of smoke detectors. Still, despite promotion by fire-safety organizations and massive advertising campaigns by industry, there are more than 90 percent of the homes in America without any type of smoke detectors.

Along those lines and in conjunction with the National Fire Protection Association's goal of reducing injuries and loss of life due to residential fires, I am pleased to announce a citywide "SAFETY DAY 77" to be sponsored by the Winchester Knights of Columbus Council, No. 260. This "SAFETY DAY 77" will take place on Sunday, October 16th between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 58 Mt. Vernon Street, Winchester.

During this "SAFETY DAY 77", representatives of Laskey & Co., Inc., a leader in the home fire safety field, will be on hand to answer any questions town members may have in reference to the latest fire protection devices available. A wide range of items will be presented. Through the special efforts of the Winchester Knights of Columbus, town residents will be able to purchase the "No. 1" rated residential detector at a substantial savings. This particular unit, rated tops in its field in extensive laboratory tests conducted by Consumers Union and published in Consumers Report, and normally listed at $39.95, will be available at $28.00, tax included.

Some of the day's events will include continuous educational films, free coffee and donuts, doorprizes and informative discussions with company representatives regarding your personal home safety needs. Please help us reach our goal—a smoke detector in every home in Winchester.

All proceeds from Safety Day will be donated to estabiish a Knights of Columbus scholarship fund for worthy students.

Have A Plan Of Escape

In A Fire Seconds Count!

Engine 2 W.F.D.

YOUR PLAN REQUIRES:

Escape routes-you must have two.

1. Front or back door.
2. Bedroom window. (Make sure it works; you may need a special fire escape ladder if the window is high up.)

Floor Plan:

1. Use a grid to draw a floor plan of each person's bedroom or to show the whole house. Sample floor plans are on the back page.
2. Show two exits. Write down your outside meeting place.

1. Sleep with the bedroom door closed. It will hold back deadly smoke while you escape.
2. Plan on your detector or some other signal to wake the family.
3. Test the door. If hot, use your alternate escape. If cool, brace your shoulder against the door and open it cautiously. Be ready to slam it if smoke or heat rush in.
4. Crawl in smoke. Hold your breath too.
5. Escape fast; don't stop to pack!
6. Choose a specific outdoor meeting spot so you can see that everyone is safe.
7. Assign someone to make sure nobody returns to the burning house-many die going back.
8. Call the fire department from a neighbor's phone.

Family Rehearsal

1. Everyone in bedrooms; doors closed.
2. One person sounds the alarm.
3. Each person tests his door.
4. Pretend it's hot; use alternate escape.

Everyone meet outdoors at an assigned spot.

Your plan requires:

1. A smoke detector.
2. Escape routes marked on a floor plan.
3. Family discussion.
4. Rehearsal. (Do it!)

Remember that fatal fires may occur at anytime of the day. The most impressive killer figure, however, is the time you are asleep. You can protect yourself and your family in this vital period. What you can do is make sure you have routes to get out of the house and practice them.

These routes should be other than the normal routes of exits that you use daily in entering your bedroom. Your children have fire drills continually in their schools, even though they do not sleep there. Yet, how many families in Winchester today practice fire drills in their homes?

National Commission on Fire Prevention and Control

Each year in the United States nearly 2.7 million fires cause the loss of approximately 12,000 lives, agonizing and often permanent injury to more than 300,000 persons, and destruction of property valued at some $3 billion. Total annual cost of fire including lost business records, wages, sales, production time, etc., is estimated at close to $11 billion. My Source - NFPA number FSD-8

Mrs. Bonny Burr Gleason

Bonnie Burr becomes bride of Christopher Gleason

The bride's home at 21 Winslow rd. was the setting September 18 for the marriage of Bonny Fletcher Burr and Christopher Allen Gleason. The ceremony took place outside at 2 p.m. with Rev. Walter Bond Davis officiating. A reception was also held at the bride's home.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Burr. Her husband is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter P. Gleason of 4 Lincolnshire way.

The bride wore an antique white soft voile gown with lace and satin ribbon insets on the bodice and sleeves. Her headdress was a crown of white, cranberry, and rust chrysanthemums and baby's breath. Her bouquet of matching flowers had white satin ribbons knotted with matching flowers.

Gay Burr of Concord, N.H., was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. She wore an antique white jersey gown with petiflora and grosgrain ribbon insets on the bodice. Her crown and bouquet were of cranberry and rust chrysanthemums and baby's breath, matching the bride's flowers and headdress.

Fred Bramante of Salem, N.H. was the best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Paul Burr of Concord, N.H. and Dr. Edward Downing of Syracuse, N.Y. Attending the guest book was Laurie Gleason, the groom's sister.

The bride is a graduate of Lasell Junior College. She attended Northeastern and Lesley College. Her husband, a 1971 graduate of University of Maine, is the vice president and owner of Daddy's Junky Music Stores, Inc. He served in the United States Army as a first lieutenant and personnel psychologist and was vice president of ATO fraternity.

Following a wedding trip to Prince Edward Island, the couple will be making their home in Londonderry, N.H.

Summer wedding

Miss Lawton, Mr. Kubisen exchange vows at Harvard

Christine Marie Lawton and Steven J. Kubisen, Jr., were married August 6 at Harvard Memorial Church. Rev. Thomas Powers officiated at the 6 p.m. service, which was followed by a reception in the George Washington Ballroom of the Hotel Commander.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Lawton of 111 Pond st., was accompanied to the altar by her father. She wore a gown of silk organza with lace appliques. and full train with chapel veil. Her flowers were white roses, gardenias, and baby's breath.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven J. Kubisen of Niles, Illinois, is a graduate student at Harvard University.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Robert Elmstrom of Malden, who was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a blue qiana gown with a chiffon jacket and carried a bouquet of daisies and roses. The best man was Charles Lonzetta of Waltham. Ushers were Harry Brewster of New York City and Joseph Weissman of Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and the University of Massachusetts. Her husband graduated from Cornell University before beginning further studies at Harvard. The couple is at home in Allston.

October BP clinic set for Saturday

The October Red Cross blood pressure clinic is this Saturday at the Chapter House, 39 Church st., from 10 to 12. No appointment is needed for these monthly free clinics, now going into their second year.

Mary Fowle, executive director of the Winchester Chapter, reminds residents attending the clinic to wear loose clothing. "If the nurse finds your blood pressure reading to be high, you are advised to report to your own doctor," the director says.

Eleanor Russo to advise 'Superwalk'

Eleanor Russo of Winchester has been named advisor to "Superwalk '77." A member of the Sons of Italy, Russo will recruit volunteers for the 15-½-mile fund-raising march through Boston on Oct. 16.

Last spring Russo ws the Sons of Italy captain of a suburban walkathon which attracted 2,140 walkers and raised $67,000 for the March of Dimes.

The Sons of Ialy are co-sponsoring "Superwalk '77" with the March of Dimes. Hundreds of Sons of Italy members will register and recruit walkers, solicit sponsors and food donations, man checkpoints and distribute refreshments for "Superwalk '77."

More than 1,000 walkers have registered for "Superwalk '77." The event is expected to raise $150,000 for the March of Dimes.

Participants may register for "Superwalk '77" by calling the March of Dimes at 329-1360. Registration forms are available at Fayva stores or McDonald's restaurants in Greater Boston.

KEEP THAT GREAT GM FEELING WITH Mr. Goodwrench

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Mullan Jr.

Barbara Jayne Donahue and John P. Mullan, Jr., were married September 10 at St. Mary's Church in a morning service. The bride's cousin, Rev. Richard Lennon of St. Mary of the Nativity Church Scituate, performed the ceremony at the altar decorated with white snapdragons.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Donahue of 261 Washington st., was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of lace over silk organza with mandarin collar and long sleeves. She wore an elbow-length veil and carried a bouquet of carnations and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Rose Ann Greensmith of Billerica. She wore a turquoise gown of chiffon over taffeta with small pink flowers, trimmed with old fashioned lace, and a matching elbow-length cape. Her flowers were like those of the bride and she wore baby's breath in her hair.

Lois Petrillo and Donna Julian, both of Winchester, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were pale pink, styled similarly to the maid of honor's, with small turquiose flowers. Their bouquets were like the bride's and they wore baby's breath in their hair.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Mullan, Sr., of Billerica. His brother, Michael Mullan, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Cetrone of Billerica and Shawn Donahue of Winchester, the bride's brother.

Following a reception at the Woburn Country Club, the couple went on a wedding trip to Disney World. They will be making their home at Columbus, Mississippi, where the groom is stationed with the United States Air Force. The bride, who went to Winchester High School, also attended the Solari School of Hair Design. Her husband attended Billerica High School.

Elsie Morrell, chief quilter for the Parish of the Epiphany, has put many hours of love and labor into this quilt. The quilt, along with art work and other items, will be for sale at the Allhallowtide Fair at Epiphany October 28 and 29. Included as part of the festivities in this medieval celebration will be a roast beef dinner Friday night, a play in the church, and many goodies, like a medieval tasting table.

The Friends of Winchester Hospital will be holding an orientation for prospective volunteers Tuesday evening, October 18 at 7:30 P.M. in the hospital board room.

Special emphasis will be given to the evening patient care service whose volunteers assist the evening hospital staff in the care and comfort of the patients. Some of their duties include distributing water and nourishments, giving backrubs and straighting the beds and rooms. Opportunities are available to both men and women who can give a minimum of servce twice a month to the hospital.

For further information about volunteer service and the friends organizations, call the volunteer office at the hospital or Marie Johnson, vice-chairman of the friends, 3 Thornberry rd.

Kiwanians plan ball

The Winchester Kiwanis Club, starting its 26th year, is planning a ball Saturday at the Montvale Plaza to celebrate the presidency of Ken Binding.

Plans for the evening include cocktails, dinner, dancing, and comedian Joe Haller. The Ball is open to friends of the Kiwanians and tickets are available through Jack Coakley at Parker Lane, Winn Company.

Sachems go four straight, down Stoneham 26-22

By Jon Kalman

The Winchester Sachems upped their record to 4-0 as they downed the Stoneham Spartans 26-22 in a battle of two previously undefeated teams.

The Sachem's offensive unit streaked to a 18-0 halftime lead and extended it to 26-0 four minutes into the second half as Anthony Davis ran for four consecutive touchdowns.

The Winchester offense wasted no time in establishing themselves as Sam Bellino raced 53-yards on the opening play from scrimmage to Stoneham's 31-yard line, where he was finally run out of bounds by Spartan Richard Jamieson.

Tom Murray and Anthony Davis then ran for 11 and 12 yards respectively bringing the Sachems to rest on the Stoneham 11 yard line, where Winchester's bid for six points failed in three unsuccessful touchdown attempts.

The Spartans took over the ball on their two yard line but failed to move the ball downfield, forcing Paul Uva to punt from inside his own endzone in that series, Sachem Gerald DiBlasi accounted for three successive tackles. The punt was fielded by Sam Bellino on the Stoneham 40 yard line, where he was stopped by Spartan Jack Belcher after a three-yard return.

David O'Neil, replacing injured quarterback Don Allard, ran for seven yards, but the offense sputtered to a halt as Murray was stopped by Belcher after gaining one yard and Mark O'Neil was dropped for a loss of three. Brian O'Connor was called to punt and booted a 43-yarder, which as downed on Stoneham's 10 yard line.

Stoneham was called for holding after an unsuccesful running attempt by Carmine Frongillo, moving the ball to the five yard line, and two plays later Uva was intercepted by Anthony Davis who returned the ball 19 yards for a touchdown. The extra point failed as the snap from center was mishandled.

O'Connor's kickoff was received by Jamieson who returned the ball 17 yards before being brought down by Winchester's Dave Downing. Downing had a good day for the Sachem special teams, accounting for three tackles.

Uva attempted another pass on the first play but was intercepted again by Anthony Davis, who returned the ball 25 yards to the Stoneham 19 yard line. John Della Grote had an excellent block on the return to help spring Davis for additional yardage.

The first quarter ended with the Sachems on Stoneham's eight yard line after Tom Murray, Sam Bellino, and David O'Neil netted four yards on six carries.

Mark O'Neil carried the ball inside the two yard line on a six-yard gain to open the quarter, and two plays later Davis powered over the goal line for a touchdown. The conversion attempt for two points was stopped by Spartan Thomas O'Grady, and the Sachems held a 12-0 lead.

O'Connors kickoff rolled into the endzone and the Stoneham squad took over control on their 20 yard line.

Uva appeared to regain control of the Spartain offenses as Jamieson, Vincent Brienze, and Carmine Frongillo combined for 23 yards and two first downs until John Della Grote and Gerald DiBlasi stopped the Stoneham runners, forcing Uva to punt from his 37 yard line.

The punt travelled 35 yards and went out of bounds on Winchester's 29 yard line, but the Sachems failed to capitalize and O'Connor was called to punt. The ball was downed by Stoneham on their own 15 yard line.

The Spartan offense failed to make it past their 20 yard line as Tom Murray recovered a fumbled snap by Uva. Two plays later Davis drove off tackle for his third touchdown and an 18-0 lead.

The two point conversion was thwarted again, this time by a good defensive play by Stoneham's Thomas MacDonald. The half ended with Winchester in possession of a commanding 18-0 lead.

Three plays later Uva coughed up the ball as the Sachem defense applied strong pressure. Bill Monson recovered the ball for Winchester on Stoneham's 24 yard line.

Anthony Davis and Mark O'Neil moved the Sachems inside the Stoneham five yard line, and on the next play, Davis swept in behind a wall of defenders for his fourth touchdown. The two point conversion was good, and the Sachems appeared headed for a rout with a secure 26-0 lead.

The security lasted until the next play when O'Connor's kickoff was returned 83 yards by Spartan Richard Jamieson on an exciting run. Mark O'Neil saved the touchdown, tackling Jamieson on Winchester's 18 yard line.

The run jolted Stoneham back into the game when Uva scored from the two yard line after a 15 yard pass to co-captain Victor Pizzotti.

Uva fired a seven yard pass to Pizzotti for the two point conversion to make it 26-8.

Spartan Bill Perry's kickoff was returned by Dave Guanaccia to the 28 yard line, but a clipping penalty on Winchester set the ball back on the 13 yard line.

The Sachems still appeared in control when Anthony Davis ran for 30 yards on the next play, but David O'Neil was intercepted by Jack Belcher on a broken screen play. Belcher raced 20 yards before being stopped by Tom Murray on Winchester's 14 yard line.

Jamieson ran twice for 11 yards, and two plays later Uva connected on a 12-yard pass to Pizzotti for a touchdown. The conversion attempt was completed on a pass to Belcher, but the play was nullified after Stoneham was called for holding. The ball was moved out to the 17 yard line where Uva again spotted the open man despite a strong pass rush by the Sachem defense, hitting Pizzotti for two points. The Sachems lead was now 26-16.

Spartan Bill Perry's kick off was received by Scott Farrar who returned the ball 14 yards to the Winchester 36 yard line to end the third quarter.

Winchester moved out to midfield to start the final quarter on runs by Davis and David O'Neil, but their drive was halted by a fumbled handoff. The ball was recovered by Stoneham's Tom MacDonald.

Winchester gained control of the ball when Tom Murray tackled Jamieson on fourth-and-three for a loss of downs. Mark O'Neil and Murray then rushed for 18 yards, moving the ball to Stoneham's 30 yard line, but O'Neil fumbled on the next play after being hit by Spartan Tom Angelosanto. Frongillo recovered for Stoneham on their 37 yard line.

Stoneham quickly moved into Stoneham territory on a 21 yard run by Jamieson to Winchester's 46 yard line. Frongillo rushed for six yards and a first down with the aid of an offsides penalty against Winchester.

With a little under three minutes remaining, Uva hit Pizzotti for an eight yard pass, and on the next play the Sachem defensive backfield was called for pass interference, moving the Spartans to the Winchester ten yard line.

Uva found Pizzotti in the endzone two plays later for six points, but the pass attempt for the two point conversion was broken up by Kevin Foley and Tom Murray. The score: Winchester 26, Stoneham 22.

The kickoff by Stoneham's Bill Perry bounced 20 yards, but Sachem Nick Fitzgerald jumped on the ball, downing it for Winchester. Winchester was forced to punt four plays later as Stoneham's defense shut off the Sachem runners, and O'Connor responded in proper fashion, letting go a high, 38-yarder despite a strong rush by the Spartans.

Stoneham's last bid for victory fell short, ending on Winchester's 38 yard line, as Uva hit Pizzotti and Belcher for 37 yards. Time ran out for Stoneham and the game ended with Winchester on top.

The next game is set for this Saturday at 1:30 at Manchester Field against Lexington. Even with a 4-0 record, the Sachems face a tight battle for the Middlesex League crown — a good crowd in the home stands should help.

The Little League Auxiliary got together last week and old and new officers shared a luncheon. Gathered around the punch bowl are Pat Winn (treasurer), Eleanor Ferullo (past president), Pattie Coppins (stand chairperson), Marie Paine (Cap League), Janice Falzano (publicity), Bunny Walsh, Sally Regan (stand chairperson), and Elaine Binding (incoming president).

Twins group plans events

The next meeting of the North Suburban Mother of Twins Club is October 25. Meetings are held every fourth Tuesday of the month at the American Civic Center, Main street, Wakefield, at 7:45 p.m.

Programs for this year include a plant party, an auction and a physician guest speaker. There is also a clothing exchange. Mothers and grandmothers of twins and guests are invited. Further information is available from the president, Phyllis Bilowz 664-4592 or membership secretary Brenda Fayle 245-1499.

Racial awareness topic at YWCA

Racism is not limited to the city. "Racial Awareness - Human Understanding" is a discussion on racism and how it applies to the Central Middlesex area. The sessions, sponsored by the Central Middlesex YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill rd., Burlington, are for persons interested in heightening awareness of individual differences and similarities, and learning how to live with each other in better understanding. Barbara Dawson, a Cambridge YWCA member, will lead the workshop. Three 2-hour sessions (Oct. 19, 26 and Nov. 2) are open to everyone. Membership is not required. For information, call 272-3181.

Bantam AA team outscores Medford

The Winchester Youth Hockey Bantam AA team beat a strong Medford team at the Burlington Ice Palace Sunday. The boys wanted to win this match in particular for their coach, Dave Boyle, who is in Winchester Hospital recuperating from surgery.

After spotting Medford two quick goals, the Winchester team, led by Fran Murray's hat trick, turned the game around and never looked back.

Murray tied the game at two-all when he scored on a back-hander with assists going to Doug Ross and John Ferullo. The next goal was scored by Ned Fortin on a pass from Murray.

Murray was again at the center of the action when he started off the second period with two goals to complete his hat trick. Assists went to Ross and Ferullo.

Ross came back to score the final goal of the evening, assisted by Fortin to make it 6-2 Winchester.

An uphill battle

Tough offense stalled as field hockey drops two

By Kelly Gately

The agony of defeat! It was a long and frustrating week for Winchester High Girl's Field Hockey team, as they lost two heartbreakers to Burlington and Belmont by scores of 3-1 and 1-0.

Burlington

In the Burlington game, Winchester started out very slowly, which proved costly. The Red Devil foward line, led by Sheryl Scott, who socred all of her team's goals, controlled the tempo in the early moments.

Burlington jumped out to a quick 1-0 lead. As has happened many times this year, a mix-up in front gave the Devils the break they needed, and Scott scored in a half-empty net.

With time running out in the first half, Winchester finally came alive with some good scoring threats. Soon after, Christine Driscoll gave Winchester some life. After a fine rush and centering pass by Nancy Dean, Driscoll scored on a rebound of her original shot to make it 2-1 and put the Sachems back into the game.

Winchester continued the pressure in the last few minutes with some strong play by Beth Noble, Kelly Evans and Kathleen Driscoli, but time ran out in the first half.

The second half was all Winchester — they did everything but score. The pressure was on Burlington's goalie, Linda DeMone, who turned Winchester away with fine saves. In the first few minutes of the second half, Beth Noble hit the top crossbar of the goal, just missing that tying goal.

Sachem halfbacks Mary Russo, Kelly Evans and Linda Pierce kept the ball in Burlington's end for most of the second half. Of the few chances Burlington had, they were turned away by fullbacks Margot Von Rosenvinge and Maria Leydon.

Winchester continued the pressure with some close shots that just went wide or were kicked out by DeMone. Burlington then put the game out of Winchester's reach by scoring again late in the second half just as it seemed as if the Sachems had the momentum. Sheryl Scott scored again on a fast break, catching the halfbacks up field. The score remained 3-1 as the final whistle blew.

Winchester seemed to win on the field, but Burlington won on paper, and unfortunately, that's what counts.

The junior varsity team fared better with a strong performance by Kathy Heffernan, who scored three in a 5-0 rout.

Winchester wasn't through yet though, as Stephanie Johnson made it 3-0, when she put one by the goaltender on a low hard drive. The half ended at 3-0.

Burlington was held scoreless with the help of some strong defensive play by Barabara Jacobs. Kathy Heffernan tallied yet another goal to finish off her hat-trick and increase the Sachem lead to four goals.

Debbie Bosco finished off the scoring by breaking in alone and scoring unassisted to make it 5-0 and that was it.

Belmont

It doesn't matter if you win or lose, it's how you play the game? Winchester seemed to have played the game well, but on paper it's just another loss in their frustrating season. The Sachems dominated, but again had the problem of not being able to score, which hurt them in a 1-0 loss to Belmont.

The play went back and forth in the first half, but Winchester seemed to hold an edge. Fate struck again, however, when Belmont scored the lone goal with about two minutes left in the first half. Sachem goalie Nella Barrow made a good save, but Joanne Douglas scored on the rebound with a crowd in front.

In the second half Winchester totally dominated. The Belmont offense couldn't generate any scoring threats, as Barabara Jacobs and Kelly Evans played strongly throughout the game. Christine Driscoll, Beth Noble and Kathleen Driscoll led the strong Sachem attack. But they could not seem to get that decisive tying goal and were held off by some fine defense.

The score remained at 1-0 and it was another long day. Not all was lost though, as they JV team continued to play well in their 2-0 win.

After a scoreless first half, Winchester went ahead as Debbie Bosco scored on a nice pass by Kathy Heffernan to go ahead 1-0. Anne Louise Casey finished off the scoring, when she scored with less than three minutes left making the final score 2-0.

The Sachems are trying desperately to get back on the winning track after losing six in a row. This losing streak seems to have hurt the mental attitude of the team, but they don't give up and they're ready for anyone.

FIELD HOCKEY NOTES: Kathleen Driscoll is the team's leading scorer and is third in the Middlesex League, behind Woburn's Barbara Freeman, who leads the league, and Wakefield's Diane Pankratz. After the Belmont game, Driscoll has five goals. I'd like to thank Becky Price for her fine note keeping at the Belmont game.

The Winchester High School Marching Band, under the direction of John Beyrent and drum major Tom Lowell, performs at all WHS football games. This year, for the first time, the band will also participate in an invitational marching band competition. The band will play some time between 1 and 3 on October 23 at Lowell State University, Lowell. In addition to marching, the band will present concerts in January, April and May, and then perform in the Enka and Memorial Day parades.

The annual Harvest Bazaar sponsored by the Community Friends of the Metropolitan State Hospital on Trapelo road, Waltham, will be held next Wednesday and Thursday. Hours are 9:30 to 3 on both days. Proceeds from the yearly affair are used to purchase items for the patients.

Winchester residents can contact Josephine Alba at 729-2460 for further information.

Open Meetings

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law says that notice of meetings of all boards, including committees, commissions and subcommittees, however elected, appointed or constituted, shall be filed with the Town Clerk and posted at least 48 hours before the meeting.

Residents helping at Maryknoll

Winchester residents are helping with plans for the Friends of Maryknoll's third annual champagne brunch-international marketplace to be held Sunday from noon until 4 at the Park Plaza Hotel.

Mrs. Kathleen Herlihy is assisting with reservations and decorations and Mr. and Mrs. William Sweeny are working on the committee putting the event together.

Early Birds

The Starlings in the Winchester Early Birds bowling league are still in first place, with a substantial lead over the other teams. Team members are Elaine Binding and Joan Kelly.

High individual single game for this week, Heather Bass, 187. High individual three games for this week, MaryJane Broojs, 455. High team three games for this week, Pheasants. 451. High team total for this week, Starlings, 1254.

Poetry readings Sat. in Medford

Mrs. Mary Manningham of 4 Russet lane, president of the Massachusetts State Poetry Society, has been making plans for Saturday's observance of State Poetry Day.

A day of poetry discussions has been scheduled for Grace Episcopal Church, Medford. The afternoon will be devoted to poetry readings to which the public is invited. Poems not longer than 24 lines may be read aloud.

Contract awarded

The office of Douglas B. Footit & Associates, Landscape Architects, 39 Shore rd, in joint venture with R. E. Cameron & Associates, Inc., Civil Engineers, Norwood, have been awarded a contract for the up-dating of the Master Plan and Utilities Maps at Fort Devens.

4-2-2 record

Booters fall to Wakefield, tie Lexington, crush Wourn

By Kelly Gately

Coming off a hard loss to Wakefield, 3-0, Winchester High Boy's Soccer team came back strongly to tie Lexington 1-1 in an impressive uphill battle Friday and crush Woburn in a 4-0 rout Monday.

Wakefield

Winchester had a tough time with a stronger Wakefield team, as they were overpowered in a 3-0 shutout. Nothing seemed to go right, as the forward line was turned away by a strong Wakefield defense.

The Sachems had some chances early on the game, when Jack Driscoll's attempt on a penalty kick just went wide. The play went back and forth most of the first quarter with Charlie Mahoney strong on offense and Mark Mulvaney and John Waite holding of the Wakefield attack on defense.

Winchester started off strongly in the second quarte with strong pressure on Wakefield goalie Bruce by Driscoll, Oliver and Horne. Waite stopped the Wakefield attack with some good saves, but couldn't hold on as Jim Scott placed a low hard drive into the left hand corner from a pass by Mark Kumpel to put Wakefield on top. That proved to be the winning goal as Winchester just couldn't find the handle.

Wakefield dominated throughout the rest of the game, as both the defense and the offense controlled the play. In the third quarter Wakefield increased the lead to 2-0 on a pretty goal. John Downey placed a corner kick high in front and co-captain Jim Havey headed it into the upper right hand corner.

Strazullo and Mulvaney tried to hold back the Wakefield rush with some good defensive pay, but Wakefield finished up the socring in the last quarter, when John Downey scored on a turn around shot past Frink into the right corner to make the final score 3-0.

Lexington

Playing with only 10 men for most of the game, after an ejection, Winchester came from behind in a total team effort to tie and almost beat the league leading Lexington Minutemen 1-1.

Lexington started out strong to dominate in the early moments and finally broke the ice when Robert Zorn centered it in front and Paul Cowen put it in to go ahead 1-0, but that was all they could manage.

The Minutemen continued the pressure, but were turned away by strong defensive play by fullbacks David Guthrie, Tom Mitchell and Mark Mulvaney. Nearing the end of the first quarter, a Minuteman kicked a Sachem player in the head as he was down. Co-captain Mulvaney, complaining about the unnecessary roughness, was ejected by the referee.

Winchester started the second quarter playing with three forwards, three halfbacks and three fullbacks along with goalie John Waite. They played just as strong if not stronger with only 10 men. Waite made a diving save to stop a would-be go ahead goal. The play was mostly a midfield, but Lexington had a slight edge.

The Sachem defense played excellently all game with some outstanding play by George Casey, Tom Mitchell, Jim Coor and David Guthrie. Halfbacks Bubba Sandford and Robert Horne kept Lexington away from the goal.

Winchester came out firing in the third quarter with Jack Driscoll, Paul Nadeau and Jim Oliver putting pressure on Minutemen goalie Aaron Manning. Sachem fullback Jim Coor kept Lexington away with some good play. The third quarter ended quickly, but then came the climatic fourth quarter.

The Sachems didn't wait long, as Winchester had a direct kick after a pushing call about 30 yards from the goal. Co-captain George Casey took the shot. All eyes were on Casey as he kicked a line drive just under the crossbar but over the goalie's reach to tie up the game 1-1.

The game wasn't over yet as each team had their chances. Lexington's Bruce Ahn headed one just over and one just wide just missing that go ahead goal. With about two minutes left in the game, Jack Driscoll was called offsides on a very controversial call by the referee just as it seemed he was in the clear for a clean breakaway. But it was not to be, as time ran out and it was a tie.

Woburn

Winchester completed the cycle by stomping Woburn 4-0 in a mudbowl. Winchester dominated throughout the whole game. The most Woburn competition was the contest for which team got the dirtiest, and even that was close.

Winchester broke on top early as Paul Nadeau scored on a pass from Bubba Sanford to start the rampage. Soon after, Nadeau just missed number two as his shot hit the top crossbar. Woburn had their problems and they couldn't get the ball over midfield.

George Casey received a gift from Woburn fullback as his centering pass was tipped in by the fullback to put Winchester ahead 2-0. The Sachems continued the pressure with Jim Oliver hitting the post and Nadeau putting one over the net.

It seemed as if whoever could stand up the longest would win, with players sliding all over the place in a circus game. The Sachems continued their strong play as again Nadeau just missed after Charlie Mahoney made a nice cross. Jack Driscoll got the third Sachem goal after Mahoney made a nice play. George Casey passed down the wing to Mahoney, but the goalie seemed to have it. Mahoney jarred it loose and Driscoll kicked it into an open net to finish off the first half scoring.

Woburn finally had some chances as Sachem goalie Paul Frink slipped in front and the goal was empty. Jim Coor saved a goal though as he stopped the shot in front and then cleared it out.

Bob Brosnan finished off the scoring when he dribbled down the right side and put a low drive into the corner to make it 4-0. Paul Mahoney kept Woburn away and Paul Frink made some good saves to preserve the win.

JV now 3-2

Harriers stand at 3-2 at midseason; girls undefeated

By George Parker

The Winchester cross-country team, coached by Joe Cantillon, is in fine shape at the halfway point of their season. Though four of the top five of last year's runners did not return, the team has pulled together nicely, thanks to the efforts of last year's juniors and sophomores. There has also been a great deal of help from the fine turnout of new runners.

The varsity harriers have a 3-2 record, as Andy Wilsack, Jan Oehm, George Parker, Jim Wilbur, and Kevin Gosselin have turned in first-rate performances.

Andy Wilsack, a junior, has had a very good year, breaking the Stoneham course record, and constantly approaching the Winchester course record of 16:09. Jan Oehm has also had an excellent season, shattering the Burlington girls' course record by two minutes, and consistently improving her time.

The JV also has a 3-2 record, largely due to the efforts of Greg Cummings, Mark Costello, John Baker, Reilly Atkinson, Joe Flynn, Sara Fotsch, Lance Cowan, and Jim Connolly.

The girls' team is now undefeated, having beaten the Burlington and Reading girls' teams. The credit for these wins should go to Jan Oehm, Sara Fotsch, Michelle DeMars, Kathy Cullen, Donna Senna, Lois West, Donna Farrell, and Carolyn Barger.

Fire department gives course in CPR for residents

The Winchester Fire Department has just completed giving a course in cardiopulmonary resuscitation for residents of the community.

The course was sponsored by the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross, and held at the Winchester Fire Department under the direction of Captain David Dalton and Assisted by Firefighters Kevin Yore, John Freitas, and John Regan.

The course consisted of 10 hours of class work covering all the techniques used in cardiopulmonary resuscitation. The students are required to obtain a passing grade on the written examination, and to pass a practical examination in the use of CPR. Seventeen residents have taken this course and have successfully passed, entitling them to a Certified Red Cross card in CPR.

Win 2, Lose 1

Swimmers off to good start

Getting off to a good start is what swimming is all about, and the Winchester High Girls Swim team has done just that with two wins over divisional opponents Medford (Sept. 29) and Haverhill (Oct. 4). The team lost one, however, to league favorite Belmont Oct. 6.

Medford proved no match for the girls. They took first and second in the 200-yard medley relay, with the winning time of 2:13.0 made by Kathy Conley, Bitser Dexter, Margie Roll and Beth Brickley. Cynthia Bianco, Maryellen Kennedy, Jeanne Cresse and Stephanie Nichols placed a close second.

The 200-yard freestyle saw Laurie Grant, Veronica Carp and Kathy Kerrigan taking first, second and fifth, with the winning time of 2:19.0. Jackie Hart, Dexter and Cresse placed first, second and fourth in the 200-yard individual medley, with the winning time being 2:35.0.

Conley won the 50-yard freestyle with a 28.5 time while teammates Lisa MacDonald, Brickley and Sue Harris finished second, sixth and seventh.

Gaye Pollino and Stephanie Ruta combined to sweep the diving competition, taking first and second places.

The gruelling 500-yard freestyle saw Afaf Gorgis, Kathy Kerrigan, and Dottie Dobbins taking second, fourth and fifth. Bianco, Sarah Parkhurst, Lisa Melilli and Ann Cowgill finished third, fifth, sixth and seventh in the 100-yard backstroke, while Kennedy swam to an easy first in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:23.0. Therese Fiorello, Susan Kerrigan and Laura Shuteman finished third, fourth and seventh.

In the 400-yard freestyle relay, second place went to Lynn Foden, Marybeth Burns, Harris and Brickley; fourth went to Lisa Carson, Kathy Murray, MacDonald, and Marissa Gulino.

The meet was in doubt up to the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, where Jackie Hart nudged out an excellent Haverhill relay by six-tenths of a second.

Other fine performances were turned in by Gaye Pollino, who took first in the diving with 140.75 points.

Conley placed first in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 28.77. Hart took two firsts in the 200-yard individual medley (2:36.32) and the 100-yard butterfly (1:08.18). Grant took two firsts also, in the 200 and 100-yard freestyle events with winning times of 2:16.05 and 59.46.

An excellent medley relay team of Conley, Kennedy, Slattery and MacDonald won first with a time of 2:14.75.

With such an encouraging team this year, the girls and coach Vin Palumbo must wonder how far they could go with a little more pool time. Home meets for the Sachemette swimmers are at the Northeast Voke's pool in Wakefield.

The next two meets are scheduled for this afternoon at 4:30 against Lexington; and Tuesday at 4:30 against Marblehead.

V-O celebrates Columbus Day with pizza party

As part of the Holiday Kit program, on Friday the children at Vinson-Owen School celebrated Columbus Day with an Italian Luncheon Fiesta complete with pizza, antipasto, Italian cookies and candy.

Children of all grades supplied decorations for the walls and tables. An accordionist supplied music throughout the meal to the accompaniment of singing and hand clapping by the children.

Employment

YOU'RE WORTH IT

Analogic is one of the fastest growing manufacturers of electronic instrumentation in the A/D/A and computer interface fields. If you've got the ability we've got the room.

PRODUCT SPECIALIST

Continued rapid growth in our Sales Department has been made available for two highly viable and challenging positions. A Product Specialist for our digital panel instrument line and another for the A/D/A systems product line are needed to complement our field sales force. Individuals in the field will call on these people to solve technical and other associated problems. The successful applicant must possess an excellent technical background and be able to effectively communicate with customers, sales, and engineering personnel. These positions also require individuals with solid hands-on experience and working knowledge of data acquisition/data distribution systems and digital panel instrumentation. A BSEE and in-house or field sales experience is preferred.

SENIOR TEST TECHNICIANS

If you have 3-5 years experience in analog digital circuitry and can read and understand schematics, handle test equipment and follow through on interesting assignments you should get in touch with us.

QA ELECTRONIC INSPECTOR

You will be performing inspection in our quality assurance department who has the knowledge of components and test equipment to complete assignments with little supervision.

LIGHT ELECTRONIC ASSEMBLY

We are currently seeking several ambitious electronic assemblers to perform light soldering operations in PC board assembly. Previous experience is desirable.

ENGINEERING SECRETARY

This position requires a well organized individual with excellent technical typing and shorthand skills to perform a variety of duties in our Engineering Department. This individual should have a minimum of 5 to 7 years secretarial experience, with engineering experience desirable. Secretarial school graduate desired.

CLERK TYPIST

This position requires an individual with excellent typing skills to handle a variety of assignments. Additional responsibilities will also include filing, light telephone communications, and invoicing. Adding machine and invoicing experience desired.

We provide excellent working conditions, fringe benefits and are conveniently located off Route 128, Exit 32 adjacent to the Lynnfield-Wakefield line. Salary commensurate with experience.

Please call Pat Murphy at 246-0300.

SOFTWARE PROFESSIONALS! WANG IS THE LEADER!

We've been leading the pack for a long time because of our dedication to providing state-of-the-art to the computer industry and we'll continue to do so because, at WANG, yesterday's successes are providing us with the momentum to breach tomorrow's frontiers.

FOR OUR GREATER LOWELL OPERATIONS

Sr. Diagnostic Analyst

Increased project responsibility in the area of diagnostic support has required the development of a new software group and a ground floor opportunity is available as a Senior Diagnostic Analyst. We need an individual to assume project responsibility for developing and implementing diagnostic software/systems for a new product line. A BS degree, preferably in Engineering with 7-10 years experience on medium-sized systems architecture (32 bit, V/S, IOP peripheral control) and 3-5 years diagnostic development is required. MS degree in Computer Science a plus.

Quality Assurance Manager Software

An excellent career opportunity currently exists for an experienced administrator in our Software Quality Assurance Group. The individual we seek will possess a unique combination of sophisticated management skills combined with a broad technical background in the development of quality assurance criteria for computer software. You will be responsible for the formulation of a total software testing philosophy. Added responsibilities will include the coordinating and development of an on-going quality assurance function. In order to qualify, you will need a BS degree in Engineering or Computer Science with a minimum 4 years related experience.

Diagnostic Engineer

We have an exciting ground-floor opportunity to work on a new project in our Research and Development area. Qualified candidates will either be programmers who have designed central processor hardware or engineers who have designed diagnostic programming and will possess a BS degree and a minimum of 4 years related experience. If you enjoy creating tomorrow's computer products in an atmosphere that will demand your very best, you should consider this position.

Salary commensurate with experience. Superior benefit package. We are an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Please send resume outlining salary history and requirements, marked personal and confidential to Stephen E. Pitt, Special Assistant to President for Professional Employment, Personnel Department.

CURIOSITY SEEKERS

If you intend to implant a "For Sale by Owner" sign in your front yard, be prepared for the inevitable "curiosity seekers". You'll probably spend more time tramping through the house with curiosity seekers than showing it to firm prospects.

Your "For Sale by Owner" sign leaves you open to all types of people and problems. For example, a visitor may present an offer to buy on which he doesn't intend to follow through. You may make plans based on accepting it, only to learn that the "prospect" had no intention of completing the agreement.

A Realtor has the experience to unmask the insincere offer and turn it away before it does any harm. In fact, the presence of a Realtor usually will discharge any attempts of that sort. He will qualify prospects in advance and allow only those who are definitely prospective buyers - not curiosity seekers - to inspect your home.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ANN BLACKHAM & CO., 11 Thompson St., Winchester. Phone 729-1663. We're here to help!

CHOICE WINCHESTER Homesites. The final section of Lantern Park on Winchester's West Side is scheduled for completion this fall. Girard Associates will be offering nine of the finest homesites still remaining in the Town of Winchester. These lots average over one-half acre, are wooded, well-drained and offer a varity of interesting terrains. Most have at least one stone wall, and some abut Town Parkland. All have town sewer, water, and underground and electricity to preserve the natural beauty of the area. In Lantern Park, you will be surrounded by many handsome homes built in the last five years. You will be an easy walk from Vincent Owens School as well as a private swim-tennis club. You are a five minute drive from the country club, down-town shopping, or Boston Commuter trains. Call 861-6725 for a free brochure on Lantern Park and make 1977 the year you make your move up to Winchester. 10.6-10.20

NATIONAL HOME RELOCATION SERVICE

Pennell & Thompson, Realtors are now affiliated with National Home Relocation Service. The nation-wide network of independent brokers' sole concern is to offer relocation services to their clients moving out of the member broker's area.

Pennell & Thompson's clients pay nothing for this added service. It is simply Pennell & Thompson's way of maintaining "back home" business responsibility to their clients who move away.

National Home Relocation Service has members that service over 1,000 communities, in all fifty states, and some countries. The local broker contacts a member office in his transferring client's new city. The realtor broker in that city will screen homes, pick up clients at airports, arrange temporary quarters, etc. Constant contact is made between both brokers, as well as with the home office of National Home Relocation Service. In this way, independent brokers can remain independent and yet be connected with a nation-wide referral network.

Town tennis tournament has lengthy tradition

By James R. Stewart Jr.

Before the present William S. Packer Tennis Courts were built, there was an organization known as the Benedict Club. Operators of a couple of tennis courts, this club organized the first Winchster Tennis Tournament in 1930. There were only two events then, men's singles and men's doubles, but the competition was keen, it is said, and the first winners were G.Y. Wadsworth in singles and the team of L.B. Freeburn and G.Y. Wadsworth won the Benedict Club Tennis Trophy. It is still known by this name in the men's doubles competition.

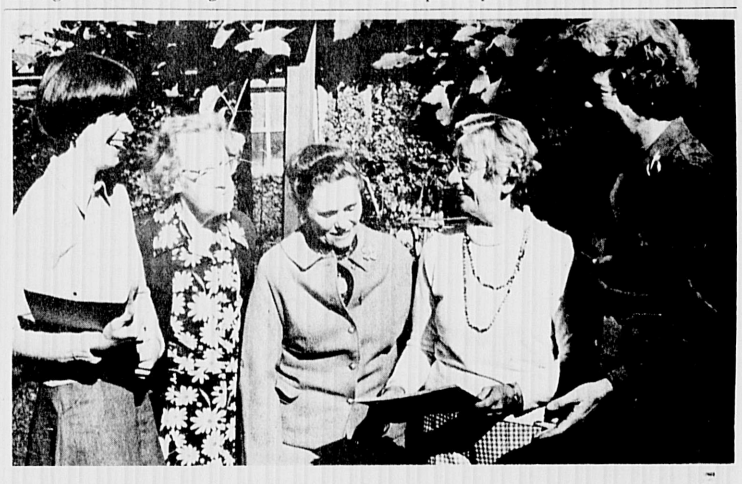

Through the years, there have been many well-known Winchesterites' names engraved on these cups. Herbert F. Ross won the title 12 times from 1936 to 1952, topping the record of the 1975 winner, Bill Macneill, who has shared the top spot in doubles on nine occasions from 1962 through 1976. His last win was with Bob Horne last year.

The men's singles trophy was first won by L. B. Freeburn in 1930, but the top winner has been Charlie Watson, victor in nine straight title fights from 1957 through 1964. He was the first winner of the senior men's singles title, this year. Bill Macneill comes closest to Watson in championships, scoring in seven of 11 Tournaments from 1965 through 1975.

Women's singles was added to the Town Tournament in 1944 and designated as the William Packer Trophy. Captured first, Polly Kimball's name heads the list of winners. Dorothy Hills has been the most prolific name on the cup, appearing there on eight out of 13 occasions from 1952 through 1967. The 1977 winner, Sue Cowen became the titlist in 1972, 1973, 1976 as well.

The mixed doubles competition began in earnest in 1947. Lois Ladd and Richard Hills are the first names on the engraved cup. Brenda Johnson and Carmen Elio have the most victories as a team, emerging victorious in 1974, 1975 and 1976, but were dethroned this year by Sandy Pomeroy and Doug Carlson.

Women's doubles entered the scene, officially, in 1965 with the establishment of the James A. Riley cup, named after a veteran tennis campaigner in Winchester. Winner of several singles and doubles titles, Riley was a prominent figure in the early days of Packer Courts tennis. Lucy White and Sherry Preston teamed to win the 1965 finals. Since that time Mrs. White and Stella Gallant have won the championship three times.

John Hansen to address College Club

All members and prospective members of the Winchester College Club are invited to a morning tea at 9:30 Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William Kennedy, 3 Lakeview terr. Membership is open to women who have completed at least two years at a degree-granting college.

John V. B. Hansen, director-of the Clothing, Equipment and Materials Engineering Laboratory at the Army's Natick Research and Development Command will present a program. An author of 20 publications, he holds three patents, has been a guest speaker at a number of technical and professional meetings, including the American Management Association.

A former associate of Simmons College, Hansen is a guest lecturer at Tufts and a Ford Foundation Science Series speaker. He and his wife Beth and their children formerly lived in Winchester.

Dr. Ellsworth J. (Russ) Stay, formerly chief resident at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, has joined the Winchester Hospital staff as associate pathologist.

Dr. Stay's specialty is surgical pathology, and his work involves him with the hospital blood bank and laboratory.

"Many people ask me if I do the same kind of work as Dr. Quincy — the TV pathologist," commented Dr. Stay, "but my work concerns the study of disease and its surgical treatment." Dr. Quincy is a medical examiner in the field of forensic pathology. He is called in when there is a death of suspicious cause.

Dr. Stay's interest in surgical pathology led him to conduct research on the association between two diseases, "Wilms tumor" and neurofibromatosis. The results were the first of their kind published on the subject.

Dr. Stay is a native of Grosse Pointe, Mich., which he describes as being "a lot like Winchester." In fact, the idea of living in Winchester influenced his decision to join the hospital staff.

"My wife and I wanted to find a good place to raise our kids," he explained, "and I was looking for a community hospital with a quality reputation."

Dr. Stay and his family have moved into a home on Pilgrim drive. His wife, Martha, is a native of Boston and has worked as a consultant in education of the deaf. They are the parents of two children — Worth, 3, and Rachel, 1.

Dr. Stay was at Peter Bent Brigham for both his internship and residency. He received his MD from Michigan State University in 1973 and is currently a clinical fellow in pathology at Harvard Medical School.

Dr. Stay will be working with Dr. George Evans, chairman of the department of Pathology.

Local singers join Sing Thing in Concord Sat.

Winchester residents Bill Jeffery, Tom Worthen, and Dr. Don Delollis will be appearing with the 2 x 4's Saturday night in Sing Thing, a musical event happening in Concord's Center for the Performing Arts at 8:30.,

Kyle Winbush, 17 months, is not too pleased about receiving his measles-mumps-rubella shot from nurse Gwen Wilkie of Carney Hospital. Kyle was given his inoculation at a conference sponsored by The Massachusetts Medical Society last week kicking off a state-wide immunization effort against childhood diseases. The Massachusetts goals are to eliminate measles and mumps by the end of 1978, and to eliminate rubella (German Measles) by late 1979. Any child who has not been properly immunized against polio, measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus by Oct. 14 will be excluded from school until the requirements have been met. Mrs. Janice Winbush of Roxbury, Kyle's mother, is shown in the center.

Friends to hear of lifesaving methods

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital will hold their annual fall meeting on Thursday, October 20 at the home of Barbara Ashley at 11 Plato terr. Coffee will be served at 9 a.m. and the business meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. At this meeting the new executive board will be elected for this year.

Following the short business meeting, a panel of experts headed by Carl Olson, RN will talk about emergency medical training. Olson has been in charge of In-Service Education at the Winchester Hospital since 1968 and co-ordinator of emergency medical training since 1972. He is a certified instructor trainer for the American Heart Association in cardio-pulminary resuscitation.

'Next Step' at Y to help women

Hundreds of women have reached a point in their lives where they are looking for a change, whether it be employment, further education or meaningful volunteer work. "The Next Step" is a Women's Opportunity Workshop which is designed to include practical information on how to look at strengths and interests, how to explore various opportunities, and how to begin the first steps. Knowledgeable resource people from various fields will contribute to this popular workshop lead by Deborah Stoessel, Central Middlesex YWCA Director. Call the Central Middlesex YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill rd., Burlington for information - 272-3181.

Garrett Nagle (above), 35 Everett ave., of Garrett Nagle & Co., Inc., Boston, has introduced a new format for investment presentations to the local financial community — the Luncheon Club, Inc. The group meets once a week in Boston, providing the management of major publicly held companies an opportunity to address the area's financial brokerage establishment.

Estates Garden Club holds barbeque

The Winchester Estates Garden Club opened its 15th season with a southern barbecue at the home of Mrs. Gayle Richardson, 28 Thornberry rd., on Monday evening September 12.

Some 40 members, including several new residents, gathered to make and renew friendships over hors d'ouevres, a variety of barbecue entrees and dessert. Mrs. Debby Padgett assisted as co-hostess.

During a brief business meeting led by President Marie Johnson, members were updated on the annual program and this year's fundraising activity — "Neighbor Labor" — which enables members to employ one another's talents to benefit the Club.

Although retaining beautification of dividers along Wincrest drive and Capri terrace as its main purpose since its inception in 1963, the Club's interests have expanded to include a wide range of community projects and monthly programs. Membership is open to residents of the Winchester Estates area. Further information is available from Mrs. Gayle Richardson, 729-3837.

Water works at work since 1874

The recent water crisis in Winchester, precipitated by an as yet unexplained bacterial contamination of part of the town's water supply, has raised a few questions about where the water comes from and how the system operates.

To add some perspective to the issue, The Star herewith offers a brief history and description of Winchester's 103-year-old water works.

The gatehouse at the South Reservoir in the Middlesex Fells. Water has been flowing from the reservoir, known as Turkey Swamp before it was dammed and flooded, for more than 100 years. CETA crews cleared out around the ponds this summer and dug ditches to improve the runoff into all three reservoirs. (Staff photo)

Twenty years after the incorporation of the Town of Winchester, the effort to create a local, municipal water system began. The growth of the town led to a demand for such a supply, and the Novemer, 1870 town meeting established a nine-member committee to study the situation.

After a year of study, the committee, described by Henry S. Chapman in his "Hisory of Winchester" as "an inharmonious body," could not come up with a report. A second, five-man committee was set up, and they reported to town meeting in March, 1872.

This second group hired consultants and came up with several possibilities. One suggestion was to bring in water from the Woburn or Arlington water systems, but no agreement was reached with either of the two neighboring towns, and there was some doubt as to whether those towns could always supply Winchester with her needs.

The consultants also looked at Wedge and Winter Ponds as potential sources. Winter Pond was found to be inadequate, and Wedge Pond was rejected as too easily contaminated.

The committee concluded instead that the town should attempt to construct its own independent system by damming and flooding a series of meadows and swamps in the Middlesex Fells.

The area in question was a natural trough of land running roughly north-south, nestled among the hills in the Fells. At the northern end were Dyke's Meadow and Long Meadow; to the south lay Turkey Swamp.

The committee succeeded in 1873 in having the legislature pass a law authorizing the town to take the lands for the system (Chapter 277, 1873).

Not all were pleased with the idea. As Chapman reports in his "History": "The report threw the town into a fever of controversy. Only recently divided into factions by the quarrel over the railway station, the people took sides with a renewed joy of combat."

There were quite a few skeptics, according to Chapman, who doubted the water would ever rise higher than the tops of one's boots; others could not abide by the idea of drinking water coming out of what was at that time a swamp.

Nonetheless, the committee prevailed, and in 1873 the town began clearing land, preparing the bottom, and building a dam for the North Reservoir. Cold weather halted construction, but the dam gates were closed anyway and within six weeks the skeptics had been proved wrong: 35 acres were flooded and the water level at the gate house was 12 feet.

The following summer, pipes were laid throughout most of the town. The dam was completed in September, and on Sept. 20, 1874, the water started flowing.

The first board of water commissioners (later expanded to become the water and sewer board) including three of the five men on the study committee which recommended the building of the reservoirs in the first place: David N. Skillings, Moses A. Herrick, and James F. Dwinell. William T. Dotten, the first water superintendent, served for 50 years until his death in 1925.

By 1880 the growth of the town led to increasing demands on the water supply. At the November town meeting of that year, the water commissioners proposed that the town buy land for a South Reservoir (at Turkey Swamp). The project was accepted, and more land was cleared and ditched and a dam started. But the money ran out before the dam was half finished, and the project sat uncompleted until 10 years later, when the commissioners went back to town meeting for more money.

The meeting appointed a 15-member board to study the situation — this board, too, was an inharmonious one. However, they did muster a majority in favor of a proposal to abandon the project and look to the Metropolitan Water District for future supplies.

A long debate at the spring town meeting followed. The water commissioners' position was argued most effectively by one Henry A. Emerson, whose closing speech "swept the meeting off its feet," according to Chapman. The April 26, 1890 edition of The Star said it was "one of the grandest and most eloquent appeals the citizens ever listened to; the applause and stamping continued for some minutes in spite of Moderator (John T.) Wilson's attempts to quiet it." the meeting voted 193-14 to complete the project.

The dam was completed and a smaller dam built to separate the Middle Reservoir from the South Reservoir. The Middle Reservoir was and is still used as a holding pond, feeding both the North and South Reservoirs as needed.

In 1885, a high service tank was built near the North Reservoir to supply the homes along Highland avenue. The windmill originally used to pump the water into the tank was later replaced by an electric pump. According to the report on the town water works issued this summer, the present standpipe at the North Reservoir, located on Hillcrest parkway, was constructed in 1898.

Another tank was built on Andrews Hill in 1903 and replaced with a larger tank in 1912. This tank is no longer part of the system.

The South Reservoir standpipe (the source of the recent contamination) was first put up in 1929 near the south end of Highland avenue. It was moved in 1934 to the South Reservoir for aesthetic reasons.

These three reservoirs supplied the town, through the Highland Water Works, as the system was originally known, from 1874 until 1937, during which time the population of Winchester quadrupled to 14,000.

Chapman relates that during the Depression, many residents went up to the reservoirs to pick berries to add to their "Depression diet." At one time, the reservoirs were stocked with black bass and limited fishing was allowed. However, it was soon discovered that the water was being contaminated and the fishing privileges abused. The reservoir was closed to the public, and in 1935 chlorination machines were installed.

By 1930 it was apparent the town would soon be needing an expanded water supply. This need had been presaged as early as 1919, when a board appointed by the legislature estaimated the supply would be sufficient for about 10 years.

When the reservoirs failed to refill in 1926, the water and sewer board began looking into the alternatives sources. Water meters were installed in 1928 to monitor use, and record-keeping began the next year.

A 1930 study commission recommended drilling a well field to supplement the existing system. Though the town was hooked up with the Metropolitan Water District system for emergencies, the commission felt the cost of regular service was too high.

Wells were finally dug in 1938, after the water and sewer commissioners brought the proposal to town meeting. The well field, located in the Horn Pond Brook Valley between the brook and Pond street north of Brantwood road, was used to supplement the main water supply until 1952, when, because of the hard quality of the water, it was decided to use the wells only as a reserve source. During a drought five years later, the field was activated and pumped dry. The field has not been used since; last year the pump house was burned by vandals.

The town entered the Metropolitan system in 1945. Since then, the town has paid the MDC for one-third of the water it uses (according to contract, the town pays whether or not it needs to pump water in from the MDC system).

A third major debate over the water system arose in the early 1950s over flouridation, which was then still in the experimental stages.

Proposals to flouridate the water were defeated at the 1953 and 1954 town meetings. Bruce W. Stone, author of the second volume of the "History of Winchester," gives some picture of the nature of the debate. Opposition to flouridation reached its greatest extreme with the Massachusetts Women's Political Society, who Stone quotes as declaring: "Flouridation is a Red plot to take over the water and power systems of the country."

The move was okayed in 1955, and the issue won again in a referendum, 799-504.

A survey of the entire system in 1955 led to a number of improvements, described in the water report issued this summer by the town manager's office:

"Supplemental water mains were installed where required, a new south treatment station was constructed, an additional pump of greater capacity was installed at the north pumping station, new metering devices have replaced the existing meters, trunk mains have been cleaned, an addition with new chemical feeders has been constructed at the Arlington line on Ridge street, and the most important improvement of all was the construction of a pumping station and force main to pump water as required from MDC's Spot Pond to the Middle Reservoir."

A water main cleaning and cement mortar lining program was authorized by town meeting in 1963. The program continued for 10 years. In his report, Town Manager Thomas Groux has recommended that another survey, similar to the one done 20 years ago, be underatken during fiscal 1979 by a consulting engineering firm. The proposed cost would be about $20,000.

Still to come: The existing system described; costs and budgeting for the system; and the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974

Open house at reservoir this weekend

The annual walk- or drive-through the reservoir area of the Fells takes place this weekend between 10 and 4 both Saturday and Sunday. The water department sponsors this event.

Members of the Winchester Trails will also be on hand to give guided walks, pointing out spots of interest and foliage.

Groux to meet with LWV to discuss current town issues

The Winchester League of Women Voters has invited Thomas J. Groux, town manager, to meet with them to discuss current issues in Winchester.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, October 20 at 7:45 P.M. at the home of Margaretta Thuma, 2 Allen rd. Wine and cheese will be served. The public is invited. For further information call Elizabeth Weintraub, 15 Madison ave.

Obituaries

Laura E. Boyden

Laura E. Boyden died unexpectedly at her home at 65 Mystic Valley pkwy. Monday at the age of 82. A funeral mass is scheduled this morning at 10 at St. Mary's Church with Rev. Arthur Reardon officiating.

Miss Boyden, who attended schools in Somerville and attended Suffolk Law School taking real estate courses, received a 50-year gold pin on her retirement in 1959 from the Boston and Maine Railroad. She had been supervisor of contracts for the B&M and was the first woman officer with the railroad.

She was past president of the National Railroad Business Women's Club and was a member also of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Her other memberships included the Winchester Guild of the Infant Saviour, and Ladies Sodality of St. Mary's Church.

Miss Boyden was the daughter of the late John B. and Mary E. (Curtin) Boyden. She is survived by her sister, Florence M. Boyden with whom she resided. She was the sister also of the late William E. Boyden. Miss Boyden was the aunt of Patricia (Boyden) Morris of Wellesley and Robert J. Boyden of Gillette, N.J. She is also survived by five grand-nephews and four grand-nieces.

Burial in Evergreen Cemetery in Brighton will follow this morning's funeral mass. Contribution's in Miss Boyden's memory may be made to the Guild of the Infant Saviour in Winchester. Lane Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Mary A. Brown

Mrs. Brown, the widow of John Brown, was born in Lancashire, England, to James H. and Jane Worthington Pilkington.

She leaves a daughter, Phylis Bateman of Woburn, a son, Gavin Brown of Braintree, and grandson Thomas Bateman and granddaugkher Virginia B. Shewell.

Funeral services are scheduled for this morning at 11 at the Norris Chapel with Rev. John Bishop of the Church of the Epiphany officiating. Memorial gifts may be made to the Heart Fund. Burial will be at Forest Hills.

Arthur L. Greene

Arthur L. Greene of 29 Henry st. died October 6 at the New England Medical Center at the age of 66.

Mr. Greene retired two years ago after 46 years of service with the Shawmut Bank of Boston. He had been manager of the consumer loan administration after beginning his career with Shawmut as a credit clerk.

Born and raised in Somerville, he graduated from Somerville High School. He had been involved for most of his adult life with the Boy Scouts of America and in 1975 he received a plaque for 50 years' service to the Scouts. Mr. Greene was also active in the Woburn Sportsmen's Association and the Arlington Lions Club.

The son of Clayton R. and Bertha Loud Greene, Mr. Greene served from 1942 to 1946 as a special agent in the military intelligence division on the United States Army. With the 441st counter intelligence corps, Mr. Greene was attached to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

He is survived by his wife, Anne J. Greene of Winchester and a son, Daniel A. Greene of Arlington. Funeral services were held Monday at the Norris Funeral Home with Rev. Walter Davis and Rev. Oliver Black of the First Congregational Church officiating. Burial was at Puritan Lawn in Lynnfield.

Karol Smiglielski

Karol Smigielski died Monday at Middlesex County Hospital at the age of 84. Born in Poland, he had been a resident of Winchester for seven years.

Before his retirement 18 years ago, Mr. Smigielski was a longshoreman with the Eastern Steamship Company for 35 years.

The husband of the late Anna (Shumilla) Smigielski, Mr. Smigielski is survived by two sons, Michael A. Shea of Plymouth, and Joseph F. Skelsy of Annadale, Virginia, and two daughters, Mrs. Hedwig J. Fiumara and Mrs. Gertrude Restighini, both of Winchester. He also leaves 16 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

A funeral mass was held yesterday in St. Mary's Church, with Rev. Mark Sheehan officiating. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford. Lane Funeral Home was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Memorial service for Helen Brown

Memorial services will be held at 2 on October 21 at the Church of the Epiphany for Helen Sweet Brown.

Mrs. Brown, a long-time resident of Winchester before she moved to Vermont ten years ago, was an active member of the church. She is survived by her son, William C. Brown, of Burlington, and two grandchildren, William C. Brown III and Christine B. Brown Chase.

Church Women in UNICEF event

Church Women United are sponsoring a UNICEF open house at the Methodist Church on Tuesday beginning with refreshments at 9:30 a.m.

A program led by Sandy Thompson, education chairman of the Greater Boston UNICEF Committee, begins at 10 a.m. and will include a film narrated by Peter Ustinov. Another film "Patel Ganga" provides a unique opportunity to step into another culture and see how UNICEF works.

In addition there will be a preview of UNICEF books, records, gift items, greeting cards, note paper, and teacher's kits and educatonal mini-units for all age levels. This year 54 children have given their imaginative and colorful interpretations of the "Tree of Life" for the UNICEF Engagement Calendar. Greeting cards and gift items will be on sale by women of Winchester's churches beginning on November 14.

Carol Brink at Congregational

Carol Brink of 33 Samoset rd. has recently been added to the staff of the First Congregational Church. She will serve as leader of the ninth grade (Nonagon) young people, the confirmation class, and be advisor of the junior high youth. She comes to the church as a student-in-training as a beginning student at Andover Newton Theological School, following her decision to train for the ministry. Under the supervision of Mrs. Barbara Jopling, Director of Christian Education, she will receive field work credits in a contractual relationship with Andover Newton.

After an absence of 14 years, during which time she lived in Maryland, Philadelphia, Georgia, and Boston, she returned to Winchester in September, 1976, and associated herself with the First Congregational Church. Her residence in Georgia was at the interracial center called Koivonia near Americus.

All church event at Cong. Sunday

On Sunday at 5:30 p.m. the First Congregational Church will hold its second All-Church Event. The program will consist of music, dance, and a colorful Williamsburg film, "The Colonial Naturalist." Attendants are asked to bring a loaf or two of homemade bread, sharing their special recipe with others. Gourmet cheeses will be provided along with caljack and peanut butter and jelly for the children, as well as coffee, tea, and punch.

Couples cooperating with Miss Ruth Fish, Minister of Family Life, are Leslie and Vandy French, Mary Lou and Jenness Eugley, Lynne and Paul Rahmeier. Members and friends of the church at all age levels are welcome.

Singles ministry in Medford Wed.

A new ministry for singles will be held every Wednesday during October at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, 29 Oakland st., Medford. The program will include building a fellowship among singles in the Greater Boston area who are 25 years of age and over.

Schreibers welcomed at Baptist Church

A formal welcome was extended at the First Baptist Church for Kent and Karen Schreiber, who will be serving with the church this year.

Kent Schreiber will act as Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary Assistant to the Pastor and will be involved with youth activities. A Connecticut native, he attended college at Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology in Indiana, where he received a BS degree in biological engineering.

After four years as an officer in the US Army Signal Corps, he entered Gordon-Conwell, where he is a second year student.

His wife, also a Connecticut native, attended the University of New Hampshire, where she received her degree in music. She has taught flute and directed a music program in New Hampshire.

The Schreibers were married this June. Kent will bring his first message to the pulpit Oct. 23 at the 11 a.m. worship service.

Culhane head

Local police form union

The members of the Winchester Police Department have formed the Winchester Police Association. This marks the first time that the members of the 44 man department have formally organized for collective bargaining purposes.

The unit includes all permanent full-time patrolmen, sargeants and lieutenants, but excludes the chief, temporary police, auxiliary and special police and all other department employees. The State Labor Relations Commission is in the process of formally recognizing the association.

Officer Charles Culhane has been elected president. Also elected are John Alford, vice-president; Kenneth Albertelli, secretary; and John Guarente, treasurer.

President Culhane stated "We have always had a mutually cooperative relationship with the town. It is our hope that by formalizing our status this relationship will be even more productive for the members of the police department and the citizens of the town."

Sen. Rotondi plans forum at library Oct. 27

Senator Samuel Rotondi will continue his fall series of Citizens Forums in Winchester Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. at the Winchester Public Library.

These monthly forums are informal public meetings designed to that the senator may apprise interested citizens of current and upcoming legislation and how that legislation will affect them. In addition, the forums serve as a mode of cummunication to ascertain the particular problems, needs, and concerns effecting each community in his district.

Commenting, Sen. Rotondi indicates, "In the past, the interest and enthusiasm of those present have made the forums a valuable means of exchanging ideas and opinions which is such a vital part of a representative form of government".

All Winchester residents are invited to attend and participate.

Budget issues

School committee facing staffing policy pressures

The pressures created by administrative cutbacks and the demands of state-mandated special education programs surfaced Monday night when the school committee held the first of its "working sessions" on next year's school budget.

The board spent four and a half hours hashing over a list of 39 policy questions submitted by various administrators, principals and teachers. Behind these specific issues sat the broader issue of how to react to a steadily declining enrollment.

"Do we want to decrease the staff, or do we want to reallocate staff to take advantage of the declining enrollment?" was the central question posed by acting Chairman Constance Papas.

Superintendent William MacDonald's response was, "I would say that the time has come for us to capitalize on declining enrollment."

The board sifted through about 20 of the 39 policy questions, many of which deal with staffing in administrative areas and for special education programs.

In the administrative area, the issues included:

— Whether the work year of the second assistant principal at the high school (Evander French) should be increased from its present 39 weeks. The position was cut back by several weeks a few years ago, and according to Supt. MacDonald, "The kinds of work that have to be done simply have not changed."

In addition to his duties as assistant principal, French is in charge of the adult education program.

— Whether the two clerk-aides cut from the high school budget for this year should be fully or partially restored.

High School Principal Vincent Larocco noted that the clerical staff at the high school has been cut from seven to four positions and explained that the work the aides perform "is not the kind of thing where you can cut something out and say 'No, you don't do it.'" — Should the coordinator of data processing (Arthur Sarno) be relieved of his two-fifths teaching assignment. MacDonald pointed out that Sarno has taken on several data processing projects for the school system and that he has taken about four days of vacation all year.

"This man does an outstanding job in the area of data processing. he also does a fine job teaching," argued MacDonald, "and we are treating him rather shabbily."

In special education, several recommendations received support from the administration. Among these:

—Should the high school guidance department be relieved of special education responsibilities. When combined with the reduction in the assistant principals's position, a total of six weeks has been taken away from administrative work at the high school, according to MacDonald.

"It's totally unrealistic. . . to expect the work to get done," the superintendent claimed. Principal Larocco asked the school board for two additional weeks for each area.

—Should a reading specialist be added to the high school; should the position of reading coordinator (now filled by Jerry Goldberg) be changed from half-time to full-time; and should a half-time position be used to support general curriculum assignments.

This request was defended by Goldberg, who explained that he does not have time to adequately supervise the reading program.

The request is also related to the administrative squeeze: Asst. Supt. for Curriculum Walter Gleason told the board, "There are a number of things I can't keep up with, and I need some help." Gleason, like other administrators, has taken on extra duties since last year when the positions of assistant superintendent for personnel and director of pupil services where eliminated.

—Should the special education staff at the high school include part-time specialists for intermediate core evaluations and a teacher for students with severe behavioral problems.

Special Education Coordinator Frank Bianco said the system has no program at present for dealing with severe behavioral problems at the high school level. With the addition of such a program, Bianco suggested, the system might be able to retrieve students who are presently being sent out to residential institutions and similar programs out of town.

"Our job is not to send kids to state schools," said board member Jack Noble; "I think Frank is on the right track, we should try to reorient the kids back into the system."

Mrs. Papas questioned the role of the school system as social worker, noting that many of the problems involve environmental factors outside the schools, in particular in homelife.

Taking the problem a step earlier, McCall Principal Joseph Forte said, "The kids in the high school come from the junior high, and the kids in the junior high come from the parents." He said there were children in school "breaking a substantial number of rules, disrupting programs and the education of others." He suggested what the system needed was "preventive maintenance."

Local man pleads guilty to tax evasion

An Arlington real estate broker who lives in Winchester has pleaded guilty to a charge of Federal income tax evasion in U.S. District Court.

Geno Giangrande, 46, of Berkshire rd. who has offices in Arlington, was placed on probation for one year and fined $4000 by Judge Frank Murray, US Atty. Edward F. Harrington said.

Giangrande had been indicted on two counts of income tax evasion for the years 1971 and 1972. He pleaded guilty to the 1972 count.

On March 18 he was indicted by a Federal grand jury and charged with reporting taxable income for 1971 and 1972 of $30,448 with taxes of $6132, instead of taxable income of $86,831 with taxes of $24,577.

After the completion of criminal tax trials, the Internal Revenue Service goes into the civil aspects of such cases to collect taxes, penalties and interest for all the years involved in the charges.

Groux at LWV meeting tonight

Anyone who is interested is invited to the first general meeting of the LWV of Winchester, tonight 7:45 P.M. at the home of Margaretta Thuma, 2 Allen rd., to meet the Town Manager, Thomas J. Groux.

Questions are invited — problems will be aired — wine and cheese offered. Husbands, new members, prospective members, and interested people are especially welcome. For further information, call Elizabeth Weintraub, 15 Madison ave.

Costello may resign

$200,000 in bills held by town comptroller's office

Town Comptroller James J. Costello said he may resign his position in the near future as a result of what he called a difference in "style" between his office and other town departments with regard to the payment of bills.

As of 10 days ago, Costello was holding more than $200,000 in bills because of problems with contracts, purchase orders, and job specifications. Most of the bills are for supplies and services received by the department of public works. Some of these bills have since been paid.

Costello met with the board of selectmen the night of Oct. 12 in executive session. The meeting was called as an extension of the weekly meeting Oct. 11 for "consideration of complaints against a town official."

Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins would not comment on the personalities involved or the subjects discussed at the meeting.

There have been complaints from several sources recently that the town has not been honoring its obligations and paying its bills.

Costello explained that not all of the bills held up in his office are directly related to the problem: bills from various departments come into the office in batches, attached to a master sheet listing all the bills enclosed. If one or more of the bills is not accompanied by complete information, or if the comptroller sees a problem with the related contracts, then the entire list of bills is held up.

According to Costello, this is not the "traditional" procedure. However, Costello began holding up the batches of bills a couple of months ago because of an increase of problems with the bills.

The bills involved include several from the DPW (which spends more money than most departments), the school department, the library, and the police and fire departments.

Normally, bills received in the comptroller's office include such things as a purchase order, receipt, bid award letter, copy of the contract, etc.

Until a couple of months ago, Costello explained, his office would separate the "payable" bills and make up a new batch for them; then the bills with problems would be held until the appropriate information had been received. Costello said he decided to hold up entire batches of bills when the incidence of "incomplete" information began to increase. "There have been more gaps this year than I can remember ever having," said Costello of the situation. "I thought that laying them aside would get things moving," he added.

Costello has been comptroller for the town since the office was set up in 1962. Before that, he was town accountant for 10 years.

One recurring problem has been with contracts. By state law, all town contracts must be on file in the comptroller's office. Often the contracts are not received until the bill itself arrives; sometimes they arrive after the bills, Costello said.

"Contracts executed in May and June didn't arrive until late September," he explained.

He said a DPW contract for catch basin cleaning made last May has yet to be signed by Town Manager Thomas Groux or DPW Director Walter Tonaszuck.

Between June 13 and Aug. 11, Ray's Catch Basin Cleaning Company of Dracut cleaned 1502 catch basins at a cost of $4415.88.

Asked why the contract was never signed for the town, Tonaszuck replied, "I don't know if I can give you a straight answer to that. . . There is a question as to whether or not the contract had to go out and what are the obligations of the town." He added, "We felt the contract wasn't necessary."

When contacted by The Star, the owner of Ray's declined to comment on the situation.

Costello contended that he "cannot make the certification that (the bill) is legal." He said "the town didn't comply with its own specs."

Tonaszuck disagreed. "I don't think we're not living up to the specifications." He added that he has suggested a meeting between the town manager, himself, Costello, and Town Counsel Douglas Randall to work out the problem.

As for the other bills, Costello said, "Not a matter has been held up within the past few months without a valid reason."

Under the state law and the town charter, the comptroller must "examine and approve as not being fraudulent, unlawful or excessive, all bills, drafts and orders. . ." which come through his office. If he challenges any bills, he is required by the law to file a written report to the selectmen and the treasurer.

Costello noted that often the bills are incomplete as a result of an oversight. Rather than write up a report for every such bill, he first seeks out the information directly from the department involved, he said.

The original catch basin cleaning bills were sent down to his office without the necessary information, he recalled, and he sent them back for the appropriate documents.

After the DPW returned the bills with the unsigned contract, Costello said he consulted with Town Counsel Randall.

Randall said Tuesday he "talked informally with the comptroller" and that "the matter hasn't been sent to me for a resolution."

Costello said he did not send a report to the selectmen and the treasurer on the matter. The problem has yet to be resolved, and the bills remain unpaid.

Town Manager Thomas Groux told The Star Wednesday morning that he has asked DPW Director Tonaszuck to sign the contract for the catch basin cleaning performed this summer so that Groux himself may sign the contract for the town.

Groux said he ha consulted with Town Counsel Douglas Randall, who "suggested that since we did ask for (the contract) and (the contractor) did sign it, that the town sign it."

Groux said the contract was not signed last May "because initially I had indicated to Mr. Tonaszuck that I didn't think we needed a contract for that kind of service."

Questions raised

Board, Tonaszuck to look into DPW

Selectmen will be meeting with Walter J. Tonaszuck, director of public works, in two weeks to discuss in public session questions raised by town employees at the two recent DPW forums held specifically to hear their complaints and questions.

Groux listed five broad items which he thought should be looked into with Tonaszuck.

+A method of determining the status of employees who are on duty at the time of a medical emergency. There had been talk at the forum September 20 that employees are docked sick time if they are taken to a hospital for treatment during working hours.

+The question of retroactive pay for members of bargaining units who leave the employ of the town before contract settlements are negotiated. The historical policy of the town has been to deny such an employee benefits resulting from collective bargaining procedures and town meeting funding. The town manager will look into this question in detail with the board to see if it could be considered part of the policy of the town. Town Counsel Douglas A. Randall will also be solicited for advice about including retroactive pay in contracts with individual bargaining units. The town could go either with including it as a general policy or with putting it into individual bargaining unit contracts.

+Statements of harrassment. Groux suggested that discussions about "forced retirement' will get down to case studies dealing with individual complaintants.

+Snow and ice availability. Some DPW employees asked at the forums about having to be on standby basis 24 hours a day over weekends in the winter. Groux said he would take this up directly with Tonaszuck.

+Physical examinations of town employees. In this case, where the town arranges and pays for employee physicals with a doctor of its choice, some employees were questioning the use of their own physician or of a second opinion. Again Groux said he would talk it over with Tonaszuck.

After presenting these five main points, Groux asked the board members for further areas to be explored. Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hankins suggested including discussion about first aid kits. A couple of employees, allergic to insect bites, requested first aid kits be available and Mrs. Hankins suggested that there be one in every vehicle. She further suggested that there be specific antidotes to insect bites where needed.

Richard Wilsack added his points. "We need to understand Wally Tonaszuck's direction regarding contract work," he said. The contracting out of DPW work was another of the sore points to bother some of the employees who spoke at the forum.

Edward O'Connell thought that discussion of this nature would be better undertaken with Tonaszuck present.

In other selectmen matters, Attorney Edward Hicks, in preparation for next week's public hearing on the planning board warrant articles, went before the board to explain the zoning change requested for property around the Star Market at Woburn Plaza.

Under article 18, the land on the northeasterly side of Cambridge street adjacent to the Winchester-Woburn line would be changed from a residential district B (RDB-10) to a general business district.

That parcel of land, owned by Y&M Trust, which Hicks is representing, is the Star Market parking lot which has been in violation of the residential zone requirements for years. "We are just seeking to legitimize what is already going on," Hicks told the board. Apparently the Y&M Trust is seeking to put up a "modest" building on the site.

Because the area is very small (1.625 acres), Hicks said that the building would have to be modest "but one which would make money. He said the Y&M is interested first in putting up a branch bank. That make not pass muster with the state, however, because there is already a bank branch at the Woburn Plaza.

Other choices would be a gift shop, optical shop, restaurant, and general retail store. An added complication, Hicks said, was the setback requirement where this land abutts a conservancy area.

The public hearing is scheduled for Thursday, October 27 at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall auditorium. Also included in the hearing will be proposed changes to the zoning by-laws which would convert 34 Vine st. from conservancy-institutional to general residence and which would revise the apartment house residential district dimensional and other requirements, the so-called RB-20 zoning.

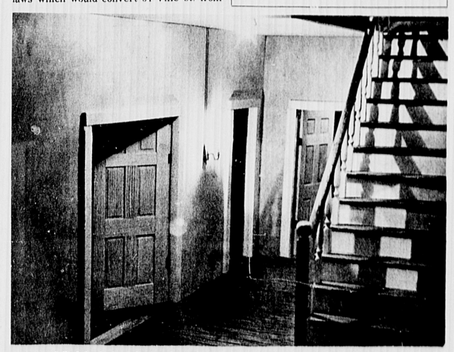

Another important public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday night at the selectmen's office to review the problems in Winchester's recent water crisis. Invited to attend are representatives of the Environmental Quality Engineering department of the state, board of health, department of public works, and board of selectmen.

The point of that hearing, as summed up by Selectman Arthur Dunbar, is "to find out what and who did what and why."

Public hearing Wed. on water

There will be a public hearing Wednesday at 7 at the selectmen's office to review the recent water problem which hit Winchester.

Expected to attend are representatives of the state Environmental Quality Engineering department, the board of health, the department of public works, and the board of selectmen.

A wood-finished, handbuilt house is a rare item these days, what with foam domes, mobile homes, and modular construction. If this front hallway to a recently built Winchester home looks attractive, the price is even more enticing — that is, if you don't need too much room to move. For a more reasonable explanation, see the story inside on page 23. (Photo by Roy Herold)

Police, fire, municipal groups reach arbitration agreement

A group of local citizens recently joined a state-wide drive by municipal officials and other interested parties to change the present binding arbitration law for police and fire employees.

The group began a petition drive here with a letter to The Star two weeks ago. As of last week, they called off the drive, as an agreement had been reached between the public safety and municipal groups.

The compulsory and binding artbitration law would be amended to create a Joint Labor-Management Committee with broad powers over impasse proceedings.

Jurisdiction of Labor-Management Committee

1. The committee will have exclusive jurisdiction to determine if an impasse exists.
2. Oversight responsibility for all collective bargaining negotiations involving municipal police and firefighters is within the committee's jurisdictions.
3. At its discretion, the committee will have jurisdiction in any dispute over the negotiations of the terms of collective bargaining agreements involving municipal police or firefighters.

Composition

1. Twelve members appointed by the Governor, three from nominations made by fire associations, three from police associations, and six municipal officials from nominations made by the Local Government Advisory Committee.
2. Impartial chairman nominated by the committee and appointed by the Governor.

Powers

1. If the committee determines an impasse exists, it can specify the issue or issues to be arbitrated, name the panel of neutral arbitrators from which the arbitrator is selected and in the event parties cannot agree, appoint the neutral arbitrator. The committee can also determine the form of the arbitration, whether issue by issue, last best offer or any other form it feels appropriate.
2. The committee has the power to request all relevant documents.
3. The committee has the power to meet with parties, conduct conferences, etc. to encourage parties to agree.

Voting rights

1. On matters relating solely to firefighters, only representatives of their organizations shall cast votes on the labor side of the committee.
2. On matters relating solely to police, only respresntatives of their organizations shall cast votes on the labor side of the committee.
3. The number of votes of labor and management will always be equal in number.
4. The impartial chairman can cast a deciding vote on any matter relating to a dispute over the terms of a collective bargaining agreement.

Responsibilities

1. In disputes connected with the negotiation of a contract, the committee is authorized to determine whether certain supervisory jobs are within or outside the union.
2. The committee will consider interpretations and further definitions of management rights.

No all-night parking allowed

Beginning around Nov. 1, police will be enforcing all-night parking regulations more strictly. Because of bad weather and the possibility of snow, no on-the-street parking after 6 p.m. will be tolerated by the police department. Vehicles parked overnight on all streets, except private ways, will be ticketed, according to Police Chief John P. McHugh.

No generation gap in 'Royal Family'

Three ladies hold center stage in "The Royal Family" now in rehearsal by the Unitarian Players, representing three generations of a theatrical family as envisioned by George Kaufman and Edna Ferber.

The dowager, Fanny Cavendish, portrayed by Shirley Puffer is an indomitable old lady whose whole world has been the theater. For this production, Shirley must meet the challenge of playing a part far beyond her years. She has the skill to handle the challenge as she has proved in plays varied as "Mary, Mary", and "Invitation To A March."

Her daughter, Julie, is played by Ann Foskett. Julie at the top of her career is beginning to wonder if she has made the right choices. Ann's believability as a reigning theatrical star is enhanced by her many appearances in earlier productions in Winchester and Arlington as well as her film background which includes an appearance in "The Adams Chronicles" recently seen on Channel 2.

Fanny's granddaughter Gwen is played by Christine Dwyer of Woburn who was featured in last year's Unitarian production of "Picnic". Gwen at the start of a promising career must decide whether to give it all up for marriage.

As if these fictional generations were not enough, the butler to "The Royal Family" is portrayed by Joseph Dwyer, Christine's real life father, Joe has been seen earlier in Winchester in "Auntie Mame" as well as the musical "Mame" in Burlington.

Performances will be at Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church, Main street and Mystic Valley parkway on Nov. 4 and 5 at 8:15 PM. Tickets are available at the door with a special rate for senior citizens and students. Advance tickets are available through Elaine Chipman, 2 Goddu ave.

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law establishes that most meetings of public bodies are to be open to the public. This means anyone can attend, and whatever anyone who attends such a meeting says is a matter of public record, whether there are 100 persons in the audience or no other persons at all at the meeting.

Auxiliary firemen have a role of their own to play

Where is the Winchester fire department located? Most people would probably say in the station in the center of town. But up near the North Reservoir, behind the Washington School, another station houses the town's auxiliary fire department.

This little publicized department began as part of a Civil Defense program during World War II. Its purpose was to provide aditional fire protection in case of an air raid, or fires caused by bombing. The early volunteer firemen concocted fire trucks and ambulances out of any available vehicles, such as pickup trucks. When the war ended, the auxiliary fire department was phased out. But a few members remained active by assisting the regular department. Most of the makeshift equipment was scrapped.

The Korean War and fear of nuclear attack in the 1950's brought about the rejuvenation of the auxiliary department. The federal government began a Civil defense program on a national level, and in 1950 the Civil Defense Act was passed by the state. Winchester appointed James W. Blackham their first civil defense director. New members joined the few remaining volunteers to bring the total number of firefighters to about 12 or 15. The crew pooled their cash and bought Engine 6, a small pumper which was used until 1966.

Wilbur Otis, who later became Civil Defense director, was responsible for converting the old North Reservoir pumping house into the auxiliary station in the late 1950's. The emphasis of the department changed from assisting in case of an atomic bomb to helping the regular department in case of natural disasters. At this time the department consisted mainly of older men.

The ages of the men and women of today's auxiliary force range from the 20s to 60s Most of the firefighters are in their early 20s, with 65 being the age of retirement. Their main purpose now is to assist the regular department in major fires that require a larger force.

In the last 10 years the 25 members have begun participating in many public service activities. They provide the public address system for several town sponsored affairs, such as the swim meet. The department is equipped with a lighting truck and a pumper.

John Baldwin has been the official fire chief for six months, but has been in charge as the senior officer for about five years. He has served on the department for 15 years in all. "Most people join because they feel they are doing something for the community," he explained. "It adds a dimension of excitement to your life." The services of the auxiliary force are not available 24 hours a day. The volunteers are active mostly after working hours and during weekends. All members have alerting radios in their homes, but they are not formally obligated to respond to a call. They may respond to box alarms which comprise about 20 per cent of the total fire alarms.

A box alarm is only struck if the fire is suspected or known to be a major one.

There is great diversity among the occupations of the volunteers. Six of the 25 are officially inactive. Three members work for Polaroid, Whip Saltmarsh is the state representative, and Michael Saraco is Winchester's director of public health. The auxiliary department has five officers: a deputy chief, two captains, and two lieutenants. Chief Baldwin says that his duties are mainly administrative and that the other officers are responsible for commanding the crew.

The auxiliary police and fire departments are the only active civil defense forces left in Winchester. At present, there is no civil defense director. The secluded station may get little public notice, but the auxiliary fire department stays busy serving the community every day. Winchester is proud to have two fire departments because of the auxiliary force's important volunteer work.

We feature the lowest prices in the area on the widest variety of lighting fixtures and complete electrical supplies.

There's a new director-teacher at the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery. Jean Mortensen has been named to that position. Here at the sand table she wonders over the creations of Jamie Kidston, Polly Barclay, and Susan Meserve.

Jean Mortensen named director at Unit. Nursery

The Winchester Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School has appointed Jean Mortensen as its new teacher-director. In addition to her over-all responsibility for running the school, she will be teaching the Tues.-Thurs. class for three-year-olds and the Mon.-Wed.-Fri. three-and four-year-old class.

Mrs. Mortensen received her bachelors degree from the College of Wooster and her masters degree from Harvard University from which she graduated with honors. She has been associated with the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School for many years serving as its past president, a substitute teacher and last year as a volunteer teaching assistant.

A resident of Winchester, Mrs. Mortensen has been actively involved in many community organizations including the Winchester Advisory Committee on Special Needs, the Washington School Parents Association, and the Winchester Community Schools Association. Her prior teaching experience includes teaching third grade in Brookline, tutoring in the Cambridge school system, and serving locally as a kindergarten Sunday School teacher.

Mrs. Susan Schultz continues as teacher of the Mon.-Thurs. afternoon class which is primarily for four-year-olds who will enter kindergarten next year. There are openings still available in this class. More information is available from Mrs. Pattymac Hewitt at 729-7584.

Manninghams hosts at conference for Republican governors

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Manningham of 4 Russet ln. have recently returned from Bretton Woods, N.H., where they served as the host couple at the Republican Governor's Conference.

They were chosen to escort Gov. and Mrs. Meldrin Thompson Jr. at the state dinner Oct. 10. The conference hosted 12 governors, many former governors, and some candidates.

The conference was held at the Mt. Washington Hotel Oct. 9-11. The Manninghams are long-time friends of Gov. and Mrs. Thompson.

Forte related that "even parents have been threatened" by some of the students; that fire alarms are being set off; and that there is a good deal of swearing, beating, and shoving around of other students.

A related policy question discussed was whether to start a program at the junior high level similar to the Career-Life Information Program at the high school.

Forte argued strongly for such an alternative program, which he felt should be directed at underachievers.

— Should a full time secretary be added to the special education staff in support of the two core evaluation teams. Bianco commented on the large amount of written documentation necessary in the core evaluation process.

Other policy issues discussed included:

—Whether the electives program at the high school should be cut back or continued as it stands.

—What can be done to correct the physical deficiencies at the high school, such as the leaking and resulting wet floors and water in light fixtures. MacDonald said that construction problems at the high school "have been in litigation long enough." Larocco pointed out that something will probably have to be done about the problems before the matter is ever settled in court.

—Should the board begin to physically modify the high school to prepare for a four year school.

—Should the athletic director's teaching load be reduced from the present three-fifths position. Larocco said the demands on the director, William Colella, are "totally unrealistic" and recommended the teaching load be reduced by at least one-fifth.

—Should the salary for teacher aides be increased. It was noted the rate for aides has remained at $20 for some time.

—Should the reading and writing program at the seventh and eighth grade levels be increased.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

They passed the test

The town's high school age youth proved themselves on Saturday night. Not a single incident of note was reported at the Lincoln School disco dance, to which a grand total of 353 students showed up.

What was perhaps most impressive is that the kids did most of it themselves: they watched the door in half-hour shifts, and when even a scent of trouble came around, they made it clear that trouble was not at all welcome. To top it off, the student union made a clean $150 on the affair to add to their treasury.

Now we know it's possible: the kids in this town can get together, get excited about a project, and make it work. Much credit goes to the recreation department, too, for providing the direction and mechanics for the evening.

We hope both the students and the rec department keep it up over the winter months. A number of other events are already in the works. And who knows — this may even lead to a more permanent arrangement, whereby the kids in this town finally have a place to go and an imaginative supply of things to do. — DKF

31 years of service

The fire department honored an old friend this week at a retirement party for James T. "Jimmy D" Callahan, who retired this year after 31 years with the department.

The party was combined with the annual installation of officers for the firefighters union at the Knights of Columbus Hall Tuesday night.

A whole batch of local dignitaries showed up for the occasion, including Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh and Sen. Samuel Rotondi, along with oficials from the state firefighters union, representatives from departments in Stoneham and Woburn, members of the clergy, and at least a half-dozen retired firemen.

Callahan, 62, drove the ladder truck for most of his tenure on the Winchester force, and the role his personality played on the force was evidenced by the number of folks who turned out to honor him Tuesday night.

We wish him the best of luck for the future, and say thanks for the service he has provided the town.

Communal spooks

Halloween is almost upon us. Some communities have seen fit to abolish the traditional trick or treat antics of the little kids and hold special town-wide parties and festivities instead.

It is not a bad idea. There seems to be a point where the littlest ghosts become more sophisticated. The toothless grins and bashful smiles as shopping bags are opened are replaced at some indeterminate point by shaving cream and soaped windows. The older kids take to smashing pumpkins and strewing toilet paper.

Reasonably harmless, you say? What happens to these youngsters who each year plan their devilment trying to outdo their friends?

The other aspect of Halloween which we can do without is that bizarre and dangerous practice of some persons who distribute goodies laced with drugs or containing razor blades. It is beyond our comprehension how this sickness emerges every Halloween.

We have been very lucky in Winchester. Police tell us that we have been spared the horrors which we read about every year on the day after Halloween. We are concerned to see that we continue to be free of this danger.

There are field days and fairs at various times during the year. There's the Fourth of July activity open to all children in town. There is the Jaycees Haunted House. There are the parades which twice a year bring the town together for a little while. There have been, and sad to say there are not now, Town Days, the epitome of community sharing and spirit.

There should also be a community-run giant Halloween party. Perhaps an organization like the Jaycees could expand the scope of their service to the town's kids to sponsor such a party.

The spontaneous fun is going out of Halloween, except for the very young. It's become a ritual geared toward making the costume companies and the candy manufacturers richer. Parents often have little time for making costumes and kids are no longer content to be gypsies and ghosts.

Scratch your heads a bit and come up with something for everyone in town. Maybe the young people could put together a Halloween celebration for the little ones and then go on to have their own costume party, sponsored by the town and run at little expense to the young people in return for their work with the little kids.

It might work. And it would certainly be safer for our children.

Passed the test

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Last Saturday evening, the Winchester Recreation Department and the student union co-sponsored a disco dance at the Lincoln School. This was a test, as quoted in The Winchester Star last Week, and it seems to me that the students of the high school passed the test with flying colors.

Throughout the evening, the youth of Winchester danced and boogied and clapped their way to a super evening of disco. The most significant factor of the entire evening is that there was no trouble of any kind, and no damage to the school or surrounding areas.

I think that the students of the high school deserve a round of applause and a big pat on the back for the way they handled themselves. I would also like to thank the following student union members who donated their time and effort to make this affair a success:

Craig Bradley, Ken Carlson, Donna Senna, Charlie Larkin, Maureen Berkley, Jack Driscoll, Patty Flaherty, Sue Harris, Jane Traveline, Amy Harris, Libby White, Kate Capcefalo, Laura Fitzgerald, and also to be thanked are the chaperones from the parent-faculty association.

I would also like to give a special thanks to Bob Sousa, Chris Chandler, and Paul Austin for their time and effort. Once again I must congratulate the youth of Winchester for the way they presented themselves Saturday evening. As I said to some of the students Saturday nite, "You have passed the ultimate test"; I guessed we showed 'em, didn't we.

Startling testimony

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A week or so ago, an important Senate subcommittee held day-long hearings on the question of whether the United States should surrender its sovereignty over the Panama Canal. The hearings began at 8 a.m. and continued until late in the afternoon.

A series of impressive witnesses appeared to testify before the subcommittee. They included a former chief of naval operations, the present governor of the Canal Zone, a U.S. federal judge who served in the Canal Zone for a quarter of a century, an attorney who is recognized as a foremost expert on the 1903 treaty which established that the Panama Canal is U.S. property, and others.

The subcommittee's hearings were announced two weeks ahead of time. All of the major news media were informed the hearings would be held.

Yet, almost nothing was published or broadcast about the startling testimony at the hearings. Such news coverage as was given the hearings was buried on the inside pages of the newspapers.

It is this sort of "news judgment" that leads many Americans to believe that our major news media - both newspapers and television - are biased in their presentation of the news.

Interestingly enough, on the very morning of the hearings, these same major news media carried extensive front-page coverage of statements by President Carter and others who want to give away the Panama Canal.

During the day-long testimony by the various witnesses, it was made clear that if the U.S. gives away the Canal, our national defense will be endangered - and our economy as well. Witness after witness agreed that the present government of Panama is being guided by communist advisors.

More over, there was unanimous agreement that the U.S. state department dating back to the Johnson administration has been working, both secretly and openly, to try to by-pass Congress in giving away the Panama Canal.

The state department has engaged in a steady propaganda campaign in favor of the give-away.

Inflation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

With inflation as it is today how can our elderly get by? A good many live on a small social security check. All of our men in government get a large raise now and then, but when the elderly get a five dollar raise, which is seldom, medicare and inflation eat it right up.

This quiet generation just keep quiet and make do. Some are broke the second week of each month and do not know where the money is coming from for shoes and the necessities of life. If you do not think I am right, go into any large grocery store and watch them counting their cash and see what they buy. About food stamps — this is degrading to go into a store and stand in line while someone goes over your food stamps with you. Real petty.

Other countries send their elderly a check each month and no third degree either and also take care of the elderly in a dignified manner. In a country like, for example, Prince Edward Island, when you become 60-65 years of age you are taken care of and go into a hospital when necessary (no charge). You also get your medicine free. Now if a place like P.E.I. can do this, why can't a great country like ours?

Think about this all you nice men who run for office.

Mrs. Sibley here

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Friends of Mrs. Jacqueline Sibley might like to greet her when she visits the Parish of the Epiphany on Friday, October 28. Mrs. Sibley's book, "Remembering Coastal New England," illustrated by her daughter Jennifer, is being offered at the annual fair at that time. Mrs. Sibley will be happy to autograph her book and greet old friends.

Second hand surprise

By The Observer

Barbara Hankins's mouth dropped open several inches the other night when she learned that the Bartlett School, renting the Wyman School building, is planning to operate a thrift shop on the premises.

As of press time, the school had not yet filed for a secondhand dealers license to permit them to sell used clothing and other secondhand articles. Robert Graves, attorney for the school, told The Star that he and Norman Sherman, zoning administrator, would be talking today about possible violations.

Graves assured The Star that "under no circumstances" would the thrift shop be open if there were any violations in either zoning or license requirements.

The show, which runs October 25 through Halloween night, is fun for the kids and for their parents. A special word of caution must, however, go out to all motorists and pedestrians stalking the dark road into town. South Border is a curvy, dangerous road at any time of day. When hundreds of little goblins are out looking for the scariest monster imaginable, the road is even more dangerous.

Please go slowly if you're in a car and cross the street carefully when you're on foot. The Jaycees work hard every year to give us a really good treat. Don't let carelessness play a fatal trick on our loved ones.

A combined meeting of the Mass League of Cities and Towns and the Mass Selectmen's Association is taking place this weekend in Hyannis. Three members of Winchester's board of selectmen are planning to attend — Harry Chefalo, Richard Wilsack and Barbara Hankins.

The Observer is pleased to see such interest in this meeting. The interest is apparently reciprocal. Mrs. Hankins has been asked to serve on a panel discussing human services needs in Massachusetts. Mrs. Hankins is chairman of Winchester's human services study committee and it seems that this town is talking about aspects of human services here which have not been talked about in other cities and towns setting up their own study committees.

In its discussion about dissolution of various committees, recharging or others, and continuance of still others, the board of selectmen decided to dissolve the student government study committee which, in 1973 was charged with coming up with recommendations to the town for setting up a student government day.

Now that there is a student government day, the board will dissolve the committee formed in 1973 and create a new one charged with the actual holding of a student government day each year. Town Manager Thomas J. Groux and Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., have both expressed an interest in working with this kind of group.

From a field of five contenders, the board of selectmen last week made two appointments to fill vacancies, on the conservation commission. Although all five names were placed in nomination, the board chose John M. Looney and George R. Ciampa.

The others who had offered their services to this important commission were Thomas Ward, Lewis A. Shattuck, and Bruce M. Georgian. For once there were more applicants than vacancies to be filled on a town-wide board.

Maybe the interest in public service will carry over when town meeting begins its fall session on November 7.

* * *

The officers of the firefighters union were installed Tuesday night at a dinner at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The occasion also served as a retirement party for James Callahan, who served with the force 31 years.

The committee on names will be looking for someone to help out with the choice of names for streets, municipal buildings, and such public facilities.

Traditionally the committee has been made up of three members, one each from the planning board, board of selectmen, and park commission. With the merging of the parks department into the DPW, there is basically one opening left.

Something interesting is happening, though. The board of selectmen is considering increasing the membership to five and including members from the public sector. The other aspect of this committee is the possibility of including a representative from the school department. Now the school department has the prerogative of naming any school property as it sees fit.

Anyway, it is interesting to speculate on what the committee will finally look like.

Speaking of committees, the selectmen are going to recommend that the following three committees be dissolved by town meeting: Christmas decorations committee, Winter Pond study committee, and the Winchester Aberjona watershed committee. Other committees, like the snow and ice study committee and the capital improvements planning committee, have vacancies to be filled. One vacancy for both of the two has been posted but to date there have been no applicants.

The Winchester Star welcomes letters to the editor on subjects of interest to the citizens of Winchester, written by Winchester residents. Letters should be no longer than 250 words and must be typed. They must also be signed and accompanied by the author's printed name, address, and telephone number, in order that we may verify letters. Names and addresses will be withheld on request.

In the mood...

Call me Darth

By Karen Whittlesey-First

"Call me Darth."

He's six and a half and has been planning his Halloween costume for four months — ever since he saw "Star Wars" in the shingle-covered, weather-beaten movie theatre on Nantucket. If you don't know who Darth Vader is, you have been on an Amazon River exploration or on safari somewhere.

Lord Darth Vader, no one dares to call him Darth, is the force of evil personified in The Struggle which has been the basis of our civilization since the beginning. "Star Wars" carries The Struggle into a galaxy far, far away.

We're done with the catastrophe bit. Our bodies have been shaken, our senses assaulted, our eyes dazzled in an increasingly insane attempt to make us live through the horrors of fire, earthquake, drowning and skyjacking.

And we've pretty well exhausted the animal kingdom, with sharks, bees, rats, and other assorted species attacking us from all sides.

This is a heavy dose of visual and sensual assault. Some of it is real, some purports to be real, all of it is done realistically.

It is time to take a breather now and turn to fantasy and make believe, always bearing in mind, so the producers and authors would have us remember, that today's science fiction is tomorrow's reality.

So we have come to "Star Wars." Oh have we come to "Star Wars." The theme music is in the top of the popular music charts, and the tee shirt and novelty companies are doing a roaring good business. Every where people greet each other with "The Force is with you." R2D2 is your typical household robot and Luke Skywalker is your futuristic boy going through the rites of passage into manhood on the side of Good.

We want to dream again. Realism isn't enough. Or maybe it's too much. Maybe we want to escape the realism of a skyjacking such as last week's terror-filled episode in Somalia. The movies couldn't possibly make that one more frightening than it must have been for the victims strapped into a gasoline-soaked airplane.

So we read with not a few chuckles and a great deal of interest about the man in California (where else?) who has patented a robot with a vocabulary of 250 words, who will walk your dogs, entertain your kids (he has a built-in television set), vacuum your house, and pretty much anything else you program into his computers. An elderly women wrote to the fellow and asked if he couldn't make a robot with a larger vocabulary as she lived alone and needed someone to talk to.

Today's science fiction is rapidly becoming today's reality. The tomorrows are coming so quickly that we don't have half a chance to wonder about the todays.

Thinking about all this for just a few moments, I was brought back to earth by a tug. "Call me Darth," he said again. And that sweet face looked up to me, begging me to let him be the personification of evil for Halloween.

Successful

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On behalf of the Winchester Jaycee-ettes I want to thank all the people who came to our ninth Annual Flea Market. This is our one major fund raiser and enables us to carry on our civic activities throughout the year. Because of their support this year's flea market was our most successful one to date.

We want to also thank the Jaycees, the K of C, the Red Cross, and the police, highway and park departments for their help and cooperation, and all the merchants who allowed us to display our posters.

More than 500 friends, relatives and aquaintances of John "Jake" Horn showed up to join in a testimonial tribute to his public service at the Woburn Armory Oct. 1.

Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. served as master of ceremonies for the evening. Head table guests included, besides Jake Horn and his wife, US Cong. Edward Markey, Sen. Samuel Rotondi, Rep. Saltmarsh and his wife Marcia; Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins and her husband Philip, Rev. John Bishop of the Epiphany Church and his wife Elizabeth, Testimonial Committee Chairman John Hennelly and his wife Ellen, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murphy, and the Rev. William J. Cummings of the Immaculate Conception Church.

A long list of speakers praised Horn for his work with the VFW and Memorial Day activities, his membership and leadership in various organizations, his involvement with youth programs, and his long town meeting membership.

He also recevived numerous awards from every quarter for his past accomplishments. Rep. Markey and Rev. Bishop were among the speakers, with Rev. Bishop delivering the invocation. Rev. Cummings, who delivered a benediction, also spoke with praise for the volunteer activities of the Horns in helping out the Queensmen Drum and Bugle Corps.

Sen. Rotondi presented Horn with a citation from Gov. Michael Dukakis; Rep. Saltmarsh, a citation from the House of Representatives and the Senate; and Cong. Markey, a citation from Congress.

Barbara Hankins presented a citation from the selectmen; Robert Murphy gave him a citation from the State Department of the American Legion; Robert C. O'Brien, representing the State Department of the VFW, offered up a citation gift; Warren Bolivar presented a wristwatch from Post 3719 of the local VFW; Betty Carroll gave him a gift from the VFW Ladies Auxiliary; Gus Baldacci, Sons of Italy Venerable, presented a gift from his organization; and a gift from the Auxiliary Fire Department was presented.

Mrs. Horn received a bouquet of roses from Hennelly as a token for her assistance in many of Jake's activities.

Also received was a cablegram from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. A cablegram from Rev. Herbert K. Driscoll, formerly of the Immaculate Conception Church and Queensmen director, called upon Bernard Boyle, former manager of the Queensmen, to present an inscribed Paul Revere bowl.

Horn's brothers, Creighton and Richard, presented him with a large portrait done by Cartoonist James Dobbins, a Winchester resident. The portrait was signed by friends and neighbors.

An inscribed plaque was presented by Rev. Cummings on behalf of the boys and girls involved with the Queensmen Corps.

Correction: on Lahey Clinic

In last week's op-ed page article on the Lahey Clinic, penned by Winchester doctor James F. McDonough, the contention was made that the Lahey Clinic planners have more than a 200-bed hospital in mind.

This was the basis on which the original certificate of need was granted the Lahey Clinic. The whole controversy over whether or not the clinic should be built arose after the certificate of need was "renewed" in December, 1976. At that time, Lahey's plans had expanded considerably.

Several parties brought suit, questioning the need for the expanded facility. The Lahey people responded that their plans had not really changed all that much.

To illustrate his point about the size of the proposed clinic, Dr. McDonough compared statistics with Winchester Hospital, a "typical 200-bed hospital." The chart in last week's paper showing the statistics, unfortunately, had the numbers backwards. They are reprinted here in correct order.

	Lahey Clinic	Winchester Hospital
Operating rooms	12	4
Cystoscopy rooms	2	1
X-Ray Suites	29	4
Laboratory space	17,000 sq. ft.	1500 sq. ft.

Police deal with break-ins

Police had a quiet week except for several minor breaking and enterings.

On Oct. 11, a gas station on North Main street was entered through a kicked-out door panel. The thieves tried to steal inspection stickers, but none were left in the drawer in which they are usually kept. They took some change.

A house on Washington street was broken into twice in three days. Thursday, the house was broken into but not entered, and on Saturday some record albums were taken.

Thieves entered a doctor's residence on Webster street Friday through an unlocked door. Pills were taken from a second floor bathroom. Silverware and jewelry were stolen from a New Meadows road home on Sunday.

In other police news, a Winchester man learned the hard way that it does not always pay to play the Good Samaritan.

Robert Carey of 253 Swanton st. went out at 8:25 p.m. on Oct. 10 to help a disabled vehicle in front of his house. He pushed the yellow Camaro until the engine started. The car then rolled back and knocked Carey over. The driver of the car beeped his horn and drove away, leaving Carey lying in the road. Carey was treated for knee and shoulder injuries at Winchester Hospital and released.

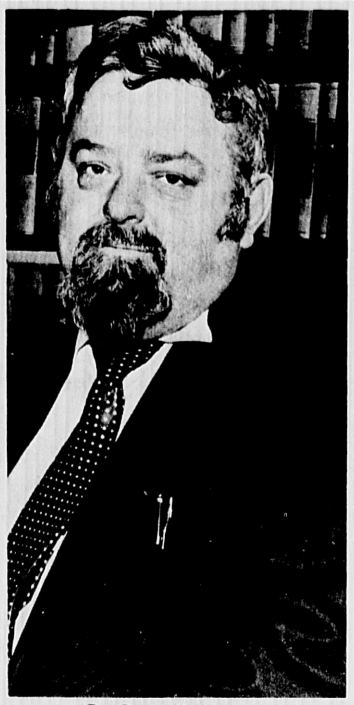

Merchants donate prizes for Friends' Autumn Ball Saturday

Eight local merchants have donated gifts to be awarded at the Winchester Hospital Friends' Autumn Ball Saturday at 9 p.m. at the Winchester Knights of Columbus Hall.

Atlas Liquors of Medford donated a case of wine; Craddock Apothecary, a man's electric, water-resistant calendar watch; KoKo Boodakian & Sons, Inc., an area rug; Myron Berlow, a gift certificate; Chitel's, a gift certificate; Cafe Escadrille in Burlington, a gift certificate; Town & Country, a gift certificate; and the Multiple Listing Realtors, two tickets for a dinner theater show.

Proceeds from the evening, which will feature dance music by Ray Leach, go to purchase equipment for the hospital. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Robert Costello at 729-2288 or Mrs. George Hunt at 729-1377.

Senior Service Line telephone hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Call 729-2111.

Week of October 10-14

The House this week gave initial approval 180-47 to a bill allowing merchants to remain open on the four Sundays between Thanksgiving and Christmas, but rejected an amendment which would allow local cities and towns an option to extend the Sunday openings to other Sundays. Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh, Jr., voted to allow the four Sunday openings and to approve local options for extending the openings to other Sundays. In a similar bill in 1975 Saltmarsh voted against the four Sunday openings.

In other action, the House gave final approval 203-5 to a bill creating agricultural preservation districts to preserve prime agricultural land for farm use only. Saltmarsh favored the state purchasing of development rights on prime agricultural land.

The gay rights bill was defeated in the House 120-101. This bill would have prohibited discrimination on the basis of sexual preference in public jobs. Saltmarsh voted to defeat the bill.

On a compromise bill which would prohibit discrimination against homosexuals or bisexuals in public jobs, excluding police, firemen, corrections officers or emplyoees of the Mental Health Department, Saltmarsh also voted in the negative.

Continuing debate on the public funding of abortions in the Senate found Sen. Sam Rotondi again favoring the the public funding of abortions. The amendment to the supplementary budget would have struck that section from the budget. It was defeated 19-16.

Another amendment to the budget would have allowed abortions in cases of incest or rape or in the case when a mother's life was endangered. Rontondi again voted to allow these abortions.

Psychotherapists received initial approval for not having to disclose communication they have with their patients. Rotondi voted with the 19-16 majority to extend this law of privilege to psychotherapists.

The Senate approved 19-12 an amendment making the school breakfast program optional. Rotondi voted in favor of making the program optional.

In other action, the Senate approved, although Rotondi voted against, an amendment requiring the comptroller to return 40 percent of the state surplus for fiscal 1977 to cities and towns.

A bill was passed to establish the National Guard Educational Assistance Program, requiring tke state to pay full tuition for any guardsmen in good standing who attends any state or community college

CSA sponsoring program Nov. 10 on curriculum

Local parents and interested persons are invited to attend the second of a three part program held by the Community School Association Nov. 10 at 9:15 a.m. at the Parkhurst School Library.

The Directors of Science, English, and math will be present to explain the curriculum in their specific departments. A question and answer period will follow their presentations and will be in keeping with the theme "Curriculum: Strengths and Weaknesses." The program intends to give all department heads an opportunity to speak.

During the first program Mrs. Janice Dolan, director of physical education grades 1-12, spoke of the developmental progress and expectations, focusing on the relationship between exercise and healthy living.

Barbara Holden, director of foreign languages grades 7-12, gave a break-down of languages available, skills required by the foreign languages teachers, and language requirements of some colleges.

Two new programs currently in effect are the cardio-pulmonary resuscitation course and Project Adventure.

Lastly, William O'Connor, director of social studies grade 1-12, commented on the strengths of the existing curriculum and made recommendations towards needs that would re-inforce these strengths.

Weather vanes subject for fall historical mtg.

The fall meeting of the Winchester Historical Society will be held on Thursday evening, October 27, in the Symmes Room of the Unitarian Church. Myrna Kaye will talk about those ornamental but practical forecasters, the New England weather vanes.

Mrs. Kaye, a native of Lexington, is presently giving courses on American decorative arts at the Museum of Fine Arts and Mt. Ida Junior College, and is doing research on 17th and 18th century furniture. She has also written numerous magazine articles on antiques as well as the book "Yankee Weather Vanes." Her lecture here will be illustrated with color slides.

There will be a short business meeting at 7:30 p.m. conducted by the president, Mrs. James Naylor. The speaker will be introduced by the Program Chairman, George Huff. All those interested in our Yankee heritage are invited to attend.

At Epiphany

Glimpse of medieval times at Allhallowtide Fair

Medieval times? You missed them once. Catch a glimpse at the Allhallowtide Fair on October 28 and 29 at the Parish of the Epiphany. There will be a tasting table of medieval recipes, a troubadour and soothsayer.

The booths open at 5:30 p.m. on Friday. The roast beef banquet is at 6 p.m. and those ticket holders will be treated to a processional of musicians with chorus. This music was especially written by Dr. Edna Parks, fair chairman and professor emeritus of music, Wheaton College.

At 8:30 p.m. the play "Abraham & Isaac," one of a series used to teach the bible in the middle ages, will be presented in the church under the direction of Dr. Peter Arnott of Tufts.

Booths reopen at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday and coffee will be served then until 11. New this year is a snack bar luncheon from 12 to 1:30. Meringues, mince pies and maids-of-honor will be served with tea at 3 p.m.

Children's games are planned for both days.

The art gallery will feature two works by Bicknell, a former resident, an engraving of Stuart's George Washington by James Heath; and, many historical etchings, engravings and woodblocks.

The Christmas table has assembled gifts, decorations, wraps, ribbons and tags, and includes John Keller's children's book "Crispin's Fair," and Jacqueline Sibley's "Remembering Coastal New England."

Old and used books, white elephants, dolls, minerals, food, plants cutlery, knitting, sewing, quilts, jewelry — all add up to "The Epiphany's Fair!" The public is welcome.

"Madwoman" curtain up October 28-9

The Winchester High School Curtain and Cue Society is in its final week of rehearsal for "The Madwoman of Chaillot." Jean Giraudoux's two-act comedy will be presented in the high school auditorium October 28 and 29 at 8 p.m.

The cast will be headed by Gina Alfano as Countess Aurelia, the Madwoman of Chaillot; Stephanie Schwartzman as Mme. Constance, Carolyn Neipris as Mlle. Gabrielle and Louise Cabour as Mme. Josephine.

The evil forces in the world will be personified by John Rule as the President, Maurice Eason as the Prospector, Jeffrey Delgado as the Baron and Terry Kirk as the Broker.

Also appearing will be Robert Hallisey as the Rag Picker, Nick Julian as Pierre, Llyzz Hoffman as Irma, Jim Wells as the Sargeant and David Russell as the Sewer Man.

Playing the part of the Waiter will be Greg Plowman with Hugh Mackay as the Little Man, Beth Clower as Therese, Sarah Downs as the Street Singer, Julia Gittleman as the Flower Girl, and Tony Johnson as the Deaf-Mute.

Agnes Reidinger will play the Shoelace Peddler with Joe McIsaac as the Juggler, Mark Bishop as Dr. Jadin, Chris Wilde as the Doorman, Stuart Downs as the Policeman and Christine Andersen as Paulette.

John Rule, George Parker and Mark Bishop will be appearing as Presidents, Maurice Eason and Greg Roehr as Prospecters, Marshall Caggiano, Terry Kirk and Stuart Downs as Press Agents and Maureen Ripley and Gabrielle Caggiano as Ladies.

The stage crew is headed by Kathy Williams and Kurt Phinney assisted by Emily Bloch, Ellen Neipris, Tom Lowell, Patty Hankins, Ken Trageser and Jim Kent. Mrs. Hester Keller is the director for this production with Linda Ciccariello as the technical advisor.

Tickets are now on sale from members of the Curtain and Cue and will also be available at the door on the evenings of the performances. All are invited to attend.

Janice Carrigan in lead role for 'Night Must Fall'

Janice Carrigan, 53 Everett ave., has a lead role in the upcoming production of "Night Must Fall' by Emlyn Williams, directed by Ed Burdekin and being staged by Quannapowitt Players of Reading.

Mrs. Carrigan portrays the part of Olivia, originally created by Angela Baddeley in 1935, who many will recall as the creative and gentle cook in the successful series, Upstairs Downstairs. In addition to her theatrical pursuits Mrs. Carrigan is also president of the Winchester Newcomers Club.

She has performed with several community theaters including the Arlington Friends of the Drama, the Belmont Dramatic Club, Concord Players, Hovey Players for N.E.T.C. at Brandeis, and Theatre Two of Boston.

She resides with her husband Tony, who has been active in community theater for many years, and their daughter Ashley, age 2.

Janice Carrigan

Other cast members include Winchester resident Wendy Klug; Steve White of Boston, Helene Beck of Belmont, and Bill Schaeffer of Lexington. Performance dates are Oct. 21, 22, 28, 29, and Nov. 4 and 5. Show time is 8-15 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

New Cantata group to perform Nov. 12

The New Cantata Singers, a group of singers and instrumentalists, will perform in concert at the Stoneham Junior High School November 12 under the auspices of the Civic Advisory Board of the New England Memorial Hospital.

The group of individually renowned artists will feature baroque, twentieth century classical, English and Irish folk, and spiritual music. Tickets are available from CAB members, the public relations department of the hospital, and at the door.

26 residents earn certificates from CPR course

One class was held at the Winchester Fire Station and the other at the Red Cross Chapter House on Church street. The students who finished the course have been awarded certificates of merit.

Stephen Armstrong was the instructor at the Chapter House. At the fire station it was Captain David Dalton, assisted by Kevin Yore, John Freitas and John Regan who gave the course.

Quit smoking

A four-week "Helping Smokers Quit" clinic will begin Nov. 6 at the Parish of the Epiphany Episcopal Church, 70 Church st, David B. Mortenson, Stop-Smoking program coordinator of the Minuteman Unit of the American Cancer Society, said the smoking public is invited to participate in the program, which will be held on Sundays and Wednesdays during the month of November.

Participants will learn in the first four sessions what type of smokers they are, and why they smoke. During the second series of sessions, smokers will put into actual practice the solutions worked out in the first sessions.

Registration is limited to 20 persons on a first-come, first-served basis. For further information contact the American Cancer Society's Boston Office at 247 Commonwealth ave., Boston, or phone 267-2650, extension 111.

JV loses, 3-0

Field hockey fights for a tie with Lexington, 1-1

By Kelly Gately

Winchester High Girls' Field Hockey team did not lose last week. They didn't win, but they played like a winning team, as they played impressively in a 1-1 tie with the undefeated Lexington team Oct. 12.

The first half belonged to Winchester, as they started off quickly and never lost the momentum. The offense proved strong with good pressure on Lexington goalie Rand. Liz Fuller and Kathleeen Driscoll led the attack.

Lexington had some scattered drives at the Winchester end, but were turned away by some excellent defensive work turned in by fullbacks Sue Flaherty and Barbara Jacobs. The Sachem halfbacks demonstrated their versatitility and aggressiveness by playing both a defensive and offensive game. Kelly Evans, Libby White and Mary-Claire McCarthy were positioned at halfback.

Winchester jumped on top when Liz Fuller placed a low hard drive into the corner to make it 1-0. Forwards Beth Noble, Christine Driscoll and Nancy Dean kept the play in the Lexington end. The first ended at 1-0, but Winchester had a goal called back for offsides. Kathleen Driscoll seemed to have put Winchester up by two but offsides nullified the goal.

The middle of the Winchester goal area was crowded as Lexington had many chances, but were turned away by goalie Nella Barrow. She couldn't hold them off forever though. Wilson finally scored off a rebound in front to tie it up at 1-1.

Neither team was able to score again as each had their chances. Lexington scored again, but it was called back because of a sticks call.

As the game drew to an end, each team tried desperately to get that winning goal. Winchester had one last chance as Kathleen Driscoll broke in alone with less than a minute to go, but was turned away by a good play by Rand. Winchester wanted the win badly, but when the final whistle blew, it was a 1-1 tie.

The usually strong offensive line couldn't generate much as they were shut out by a stronger Lexington team. The Sachem defense led by Mary Russo couldn't hold off their attack as Lexington scored twice in the first half (both goals scored by Degugliano) and once in the second half by Walsh.

The Pop Warner A team suffered a tough loss Sunday to an undefeated Reading team in what was one of the better games of the season. It ended at 6-0.

The field was a sloppy mess, and both teams found the going tough during the second half, which was played in a steady downpour.

Reading scored very early in the first period with their right halfback going off-tackle for 20 yards and the score. The conversion attempt failed.

Winchester's offense, led by some fine running by Adam Hirshman and pass receiving by Chris Wagstrom, had a few scoring opportunities but couldn't get the right breaks.

Winchester had the ball, fourth down and eight yards to go, on Reading's 25 yard line, when a personal foul was called against Reading, but instead of having first down on the 10 yard line, the officials walked the penalty off against Reading and gave them possession of the ball and the ball game.

Winchester's defense continued to be tough, only allowing Reading six points. Reading had averaged 20 points per game in winning their first five games. Winchester has only allowed 34 points to be scored against them in five games, which is not only a tribute to the excellent play of boys such as Jeff Tinkel, Bill MacMillan, Greg Kirk, Ted Guthrie, Steve Costello, and Chris Wagstrom, to name a few, but to the defenseive coach, Jim Covino. In his first season as a coach, he has done a great job with both the offesnive and defensive lines.

Some of the outstanding players of the game were on offense — Chris Wagstrom with six pass receptions on six attempted; Adam Hirshman, Chris Rogers, Joe Donlon; the line of play of Greg Kirk (two fumble recoveries), Don Hoffman, Pat Gill, Dave Fariole and Mark Merritt.

Today's loss brings the season record to two wins and three losses.

Next week's opponent (Sunday) will be the Battle Green Packers of Lexington. Kick-off for the C team is 11; B team 12:30; and the A team 2, with the games being played at Manchester Field.

Band to play in competition for first time

The Winchester High School Marching Band will participate in the Second Annual Marching Band Show presentation sponsored by the Massachusetts Instrumental Conductor's Association (MICA) on Sunday, at Cawley Stadium, University of Lowell. Beginning at 2 p.m., bands from throughout the Commonwealth will present their shows for division rating or trophy awards in sweepstakes.

John F. Beyrent, band director and secrtary of MICA, says that this is the first time the Winchster Marching Band has participated in an activity of this nature and caliber. Nineteen bands, including Belmont, Concord-Carlisle, and Norwood will compete in Class A, B, or C, according to size of school; Winchester will appear in Class C and opt for a division rating of Good, excellent or superior as defined by the Music Educators National Conference.

The band will first be inspected by a chief warrant officer from Fort Devens, who will judge the group on appearance, unformity, and general conduct. Following this procedure, the band, under the leadership of Tom Lowell, drum major, will present its show, which must be 8-10 minutes in length, for judges Mas Culpepper, University of Massachusetts; William Elwell, Portsmouth High School; Alan Gillespie, University of Connnecticut; and David Maker, University of Connecticut. The judges will score on musical performance, marching performance, and general effect to determine the division rating.

Beyrent feels that this event is an excellent edcuational opportunity for the Winchester band. The students will be able to observe other top bands from Massachusetts and learn from them; they will learn improved performance standards, and have the satisfaction of working as a group for a clearly visible goal.

Tickets for the marching show presentation will be available from any band member or can be purchased at Cawley Stadium.

Three locals to compete in Charles Regatta

Several local residents will be competing in the Head of the Charles Regatta to be held Sunday, starting at 10 a.m. and running through the afternoon.

Prof. Hartley Rogers Jr., 19 Lakeview rd., of Tufts University, will race in (40 and over) the veteran's single class. Starting time is 10 a.m.

Robert Thompson, 28 Fells rd. will compete in the master's (30 and over) single class, set to start at 2:35 p.m.

Eddie O'Connell Jr., who at 15 years is the youngest competitor in the regatta, will race with the lightweight single class, starting at 1:55 p.m. O'Connell, of 50 Oneida rd., is the son of Selectman Edward O'Connell.

By Jon Kalman

The Winchester Sachems breezed to an easy 34-13 victory over Lexington Sunday at Winchester's Knowlton Field.

The triumph upped the Sachem's record to 5-0 and moved the team to number five in the state Division I rankings.

Winchester struck for six points with just under two minutes elapsed in the first quarter when, on the second play from scrimmage, Tom Murray broke downfield for 73 yards and a touchdown. The extra point attempt by Brian O'Connor failed and the Sachem's had a 6-0 lead.

O'Connor's kickoff was downed by Lexington's Douglas Spagnolia on the Minutemen 22 yard line, but Lexington soon found themselves trapped by a tough Winchester defense after two unsuccessful running plays and an incomplete pass by quarterback Scott Sidman.

Sophomore Eugene Newborn was called to punt, and booted a high 50 yarder which was bobbled by Sachem Sam Bellino until Anthony Davis downed the ball for Winchester of their own 37 yard line.

Winchester running backs Tom Murray and Sam Bellino banged out a first down, moving the ball just short of midfield, when on the next play an errant handoff was recovered by Sachem Mark O'Neil.

Co-captain and quarterback Don Allard, returning from a shoulder injury which sidelined him from last week's fame, followed the fumble by throwing an interception, picked off by Eugene Newborn, who returned the ball 30 yards before being stopped by Murray on Winchester's 18 yard line.

The Minutemen quickly capitalized on the turnover, as Matt Barred ran 11 yards to the Sachem seven yard line and Jeff Skerry swept right on the next play for six points. The extra point attempt was good, and Lexington led 7-6.

The kickoff by Newborn was received by Sachem Mark O'Neil who returned the ball 27 yards to the Winchester 45 yard line behind the good blocking of the Special team.

The Winchester offense executed extremely well and Davis and Murray carried the ball 50 yards to the Lexington's four yard line, being aided by a 15-yard facemasking penalty against the Minutemen, and Sam Bellino drove over the top for a touchdown.

Allard's pass to tight end O'Connor completed the two point conversion and establish Winchester's 14-7 lead.

Jeff Skerry ran once for one yard where he was stopped by Sachem co-captain Wayne Maggio, but Winchester was assessed a five yard offside penalty on the play. Quarterback Sidman recovered his own fumble on the next play, losing four yards, to end the quarter. The Sachems led 14-7.

The second quarter opened with the Sachem defensive line shutting off Minuteman runners Barrett and Sidman, forcing Newborn to punt. The ball was downed on the Winchester 18 yard line.

Winchester's offense took possession and drove 82 yards for the score, sparked by a 28 yard run by Allard and an 11 yard reception by O'Connor, before Davis plunged into the endzone for the touchdown. The extra point was good for a 21-7 lead.

Lexington's Paul Tavilla received the kickoff on his own 11 yard line where he was tackled by Nick Fitzgerald.

The Minuteman offense stalled as O'Connor shot through the line and dumped Sidman for a loss of two, and Fitzgerald tackled Barret for a three yard loss. Sidman's third down pass was incomplete, forcing Lexington to punt.

The ensuing punt by Newborn was blocked by O'Connor who recovered the ball for the Sachems on Lexington's six yard line.

Davis ran to the two yard line on the next play, only to be set back 15 yards to the 21 yard line after Winchester was called for offensive holding.

Murray regained the lost yardage on a 17 yard run to the four yard line, and Davis followed with a four yard sweep for a touchdown. The extra point was good, and Winchester extended its lead to 28-7.

Ronald Judkins received the kickoff for Lexington on their 25 yard line where he was dropped by Sachem John McPhee.

The Minutemen crossed midfield, but a desperation bomb by Sidman was intercepted by Dave Guarnaccia to end the half.

The Brian O'Connor kickoff to open the second half was fumbled by Doug Spagnolia, but Paul Bates recovered for Lexington on their 21 yard line.

Co-captain John Dellagrote sacked Sidman for a loss of 10, on Lexington's first play of the quarter, but the Minutemen's Jeff Skerry responded two plays later with a 20 yard run up the middle before being tripped up by Dave Guarnaccia.

Barret ran for two yards, being stopped by Gerald DiBlasi, but after two imcomplete passes by Sidman, Lexington's Newborn was forced to punt. The ball landed out of bounds on the Winchester 17 yard line.

The Minutemen failed to regain possession again that quarter as the Sachems drove 83 yards for a touchdown and controlled the ball the rest of the quarter.

The scoring drive, culminated by Anthony Davis's third touchdown of the game, was highlighted by runs by Murray, Davis and Bellino. The extra point attempt failed to end the quarter, and Winchester possessed a commanding 34-7 lead.

The Sachems substituted freely throughout the final quarter as coach Manny Marshall used the opportunity to test out Winchester's second string.

The two teams exchanged punts as neither offense could sustain a drive, though juniors Terry Cordova and David Rubin ran the ball well for the Sachems.

In the final minutes Lexington scored once more on a 77 yard touchdown run by Paul Tavilla. The extra point attempt was no good and the final score was 34-13.

Winchester dog owners are now subject to a 24-hour dog leash law. Fines for first offense are $10; second offense, $15; third offense, $20.

Not everyone had their mind on the game, or the rain, Sunday when the undefeated WHS Sachems went out to Manchester Field to meet, and defeat, the Lexington Minutemen. Looking a little distracted, probably by the cheerleaders, are Tackle Bill Monson (77), Guard John Della Grotte (64), and End Brian O'Connor (89). (Photo by Greg Plowman)

X-country loses to Lexington; Oehm places in Bonne Belle

By George Parker

The Winchester cross-country team suffered a loss last Tuesday to Lexington, 41-20.

Andy Wilsack again came in first, in a time of 16:17, as he sprinted away from Mike Walsh of Lexington in the last quarter of a mile. Unfortunately, Walsh was followed by four more Lexington runners clinching the victory for Lexington.

Jim Wilbur came in behind these runners with the fine time of 17:24, followed by three Lexington runners, George Parker (17:40), two more Lexington harriers, Kevin Gosselin (18:41), and Mark Costello (18:43).

The JV was also soundly defeated, 47-15, as the Lexington runners took the first six places. They were followed by John Baker (19:32), Joe Flynn (19:41), Rob Flynn (19:45), Bruce Perry (L, 19:48), and Jim Costello (20:04).

There was a bright spot, however, as the girls handily defeated their opponents, 23-32, without the assistance of Jan Oehm, their top runner. The girls, who are now undefeated, were led by Sara Fotsch (20:11), Michelle DeMars (20:53), and Kathy Cullen (23:42).

Jan did not compete because she was still recovering from her excellent performance in the Bonne Belle mini-marathon, where she finished fifth out of 2300, only a minute behind the first place finisher, Lynn Jennings.

The boys' varsity also competed in the Catholic Memorial meet last week. This meet, held at Franklin Park last Saturday, gathers about 90 teams to race in their respective divisions.

Out of approximately 250 runners in the division two race, Andy Wilsack finished 27th in a time of 15:58 despite two falls on the wet and muddy course. Jim Wilbur came in second for Winchester, 82nd overall (16:48), followed by George Parker, in 93rd place (16:58), Kevin Gosselin, 112, (17:29), Mike Haukedelan, 138, (18:07), Greg Cummings, 151, (18:44), and Mark Costello, 152, (18:45).

The team's last home meet will be held Tuesday at 4 p.m., across from the Town Hall, against Woburn.

The Wellesley Club held their American Arts Forum Oct. 13 at the Epiphany Church. Guests heard speakers Jonathan Fairbanks and Carol LeBrun Danikian and had a chance to browse among a collection of items for sale from the Museum of Fine Arts. 100 players compete in junior tennis tournament

The 1977 Junior Tennis Tournament has come to a successful conclusion in spite of a few rainy days. Approximately 100 boys and girls displayed very good tennis and fine sportsmanship.

The new champion in the girls 12-and-under division is Christina Elia, who won with a 6-0, 6-4, victory over Allison Shugrue. Christina later combined with her sister Terry in a very classy win over another sister team, Patty and Paula Ricciardelli. Their scores were 7-6, 4-6, 6-4.

The girls 15-and-under division featured a good match, with Kathy Buckley defeating her partner the "Rese" Aylard, 6-1, 6-5. Kathleen and her partner went on to win the doubles with a 6-1, 7-5 victory over Jodi McNamara dnd Debbie Willing.

There were some upsets in the boys 12-and-under division. The third and fourth seeds John Rasa and Paul Sughrue defeated the number one and two seeds, Phillipe Bauman and Glenn Ciotti in the semis. Paul went on to win 6-3, 6-2 in the finals over John. Phillipe and Glenn teamed up to win the doubles in a well-played match over John Rasa and Peter Webber, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

The new champions in the boys 15-and-under is Jim Philliou, who played extremely well all week. Chris Julian gave him a scare in the finals, but Jim prevailed, 7-6, 6-1. Jim and Chris combined to win the doubles over the unseeded team of Ned White and Laslo Von Lazar 6-0, 6-2.

Marlene Rothman, the tournament director thanked all the players, parents and friends who helped to make the event a success.

Appreciation also went out to the Winchester Recreation Department, which provided the trophies, the Winchester Tennis Association for providing new balls, and to Norman Doucette Jr. of the DPW for getting the courts in good shape as fast as he could after the many rainy days.

Soccer tops Melrose, 4-1, beats Stoneham High, 3-2

By Kelly Gately

Winchester High Boys' Soccer team continued to play well in a 4-1 defeat of Melrose Oct. 12. Melrose proved to be no competition as the Sachems handily defeated them for the second time this year.

Winchester jumped out front when George Casey tallied to make it 1-0. They continued to play well and dominated throughout the game as Mulvaney and Casey played well on defense.

Melrose had problems penetrating Winchester's defense as the offense led by Jack Driscoll and Jim Oliver controlled the tempo. George Casey scored again out front to increase the lead to two goals. They weren't through yet though.

Winchester's defense halted all scoring threats with some excellent play. While the defense did their job in the Winchester end, the offense continued to threaten the Melrose goalie. Jim Oliver scored the third Winchester goal on a nice shot and it was 3-0.

Melrose battled back to score one, but that was offset by another Winchester goal. Jack Driscoll collected the last goal to make the final score 4-1.

Winchester also defeated Stoneham 3-2 Oct. 14. Goals were scored by Driscoll, Nadeau and Casey. (See next week's Star for details.)

Soccer Notes: Winchester has gone through most of their season without the services of tri-captain Mark McGoldrick, who underwent a shoulder operation after the first game. He did, however, score the first goal of the season. Jack Driscoll leads the team in goals scored with seven. George Casey has tallied five and Jim Oliver four. Paul Nadeau and Willie Strazullo are tied with two, while Mark McGoldrick, Charlie Mahoney, David McLaughlin and Bob Brosnan each have one. After the Stoneham game, their record stands at six wins, two losses and three ties. The team is coached by Gene Bouley.

WHSR expands to 5-day schedule

WHSR-FM, the Winchester High School student-run radio station, has expanded it's broadcasting week to five days, effective Oct. 17.

The reason for the expansion is that the station has gone from eight to more than 20 licensed members in the past month. In addition, the length of the shows will be cut back from three to two hours.

The station will continue to broadcast educational programming from 2:30-4 p.m. every day. The rest of the schedule is as follows:

Mon. 4-6, Jean Abdella; 6-8, Louis Hodes; 8-10, Ray Kenney;

Tues: 4-6, John Keyes: 6-8, Chris Arnott; 8-10, Steve Johnson;

Wed: 4-6, Charlie Osgood; 6-8, Jim Mueller; 8-10, Brian Levinson;

Thurs: 4-6, Doug McRae: 6-8, Steve Williams; 8-10, Sandy Wright;

Fri: 4-6, Mark Estabrook; 6-8, Jon Haber; 8-10, John Feeney.

Clobber Malden 10-1

Mites beat Burlington 6-4

On Saturday morning the Winchester Mites continued their winning combination, beating the Burlington Mites 6-4 at the Ice Palace.

Billy Coppins, picking up a pass from Petey Regan, opened the scoring early in the first period. Burlington responded four minutes later with their first goal. Winchester's Petey Regan scored his team's second goal, this time Billy Coppins reciprocating with a pass. At the end of the first period Burlington led 3-2.

The second period belonged to Scott Paine with his tying goal at 5:32 — David Butt setting up Scott for the point. One minute later Burlington tied up the game. Scott Paine went to work and scored unassisted, making the score 4-4 at the end of the second period.

The third period saw Scott Paine digging out the puck and feeding Petey Regan for the go-ahead goal at 1:23 of the period. Six minutes later Petey scored his hat trick goal unassisted.

Solid defense by David Butt, Marc Todisco, Ted Dever and Ronnie Settipane kept the Burlington scorers from the net. The Greg Winn line with Sukjong Chung and Derek Sullivan back-checked and forechecked for the last 9:22 of the game. Timmy Day, Matt Quill, and Marc Falzano continue to show improvement and are still trying for their line's first goal.

The Winchester Mites, playing their third game of the season October 8, won over Malden 10-1 at the Burlington Ice Palace in a Middlesex League game.

It was Winchester scoring very early in the first period when Scott Paine dug the puck out of the corner and fed Petey Regan for the first tally. Regan later scored the second goal unassisted. Greg Winn scored the third goal unassisted as he had a breakaway and found the twine.

Billy Coppins, after three seasons of not scoring, broke his drought with his first goal in the second period, assist going to Petey Regan. Some 12 minutes later Coppins was setup by Regan,and Billy scored his second career goal. Greg Winn closed out the second period scoring after taking a pass from Sukjong Chung.

The third period found Winn Continuing his scoring punch when Scott Paine set up Greg for the tally. The eighth goal was a repeat of the sixth when Chung set up Winn for his fourth goal. Regan closed the third period with his third and fourth goals of the game.

Kevin Boyle playing the goal for Winchester was beaten with 3:30 left to play in the game. David Butt, Ted Dever, and Derek Sullivan continue to play excellent defensive hockey. The Timmy Day, Marc Falzano, and Matt Quill line was strengthened with the addition of Ronnie Settipane to defense.

"We'll scare the yell out of you" is the theme for the fourth annual Winchester Jaycees Haunted House, which will be going on at the Girl Scout Cabin off South Border road Oct. 25-31, 6:30-9 p.m., with matinees from 2-4 p.m. Oct. 29-30.

It is unlawful to place or cause to be placed any leaves upon a public way within the Town of Winchester, per general by-laws.

SPEDY

Federal program offering in-school work experience

The in-school phase of the federally sponsored SPEDY work-experience program for economically disadvantaged youth is underway, and there are still openings for eligible applicants.

This program provides a paid work experience for full-time students aged 14 to 21 from familes whose income includes public assistance (welfare, AFDC, etc.) or whose gross income falls within the following guidelines:

No. in Family	Annual Gross Income
1	$2970
2	3930
3	4890
4	5850
6	7770

Jobs are provided through the cooperation of various town departments, e.g. school library, recreation, veterans services, etc., and through private non-profit organizations, e.g. American Red Cross, Winchester Hospital.

Students enrolled in the program will work up to 10 hours per week, and be paid $2.30 an hour until the end of the year and $2.65 an hour after Jan. 1.

A new feature of the program this year is the introduction of a formal career-exploration opportunity. One hour each week will be spent learning about career opportunities.

No special talents are required to participate in the SPEDY program. Interested students who meet the eligibility requirements are encouraged to complete the preliminary application available after school at the Town Hall (Board of Health Office).

Inquiries concerning the SPEDY program can be made by contacting Gene Prior at 729-1104 or 662-6414.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Coss

Elizabeth Sampson becomes bride of Philip Coss Oct. 8

St. Richard's Church in Danvers was the setting for the October 8 wedding of Elizabeth Ann Sampson of Danvers and Philip Stephen Coss of 30 Salem st.

Rev. William Cummings officiated t at the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Sampson and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Coss.

The bride wore a satin organza gown with illusion neckline and tapered sleeves. Appliques of beaded alencon lace and brussels lace enhanced the bodice and sleeves. Her headpiece was a mantilla with matching cap. She carried white roses with baby's breath.

Mrs. Joseph McLaughlin of Peabody was matron of honor for her sister. She and the bridesmaids wore coral jersey knit gowns with empire waist and cape sleeves. Mrs. McLaughlin carried a basket of yellow roses with coral gladiolas and baby's breath. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Coss of Winchester, the groom's sister, Miss Sheila Marley and Miss Robin Arnold, both from Salem, N.H.

Assisting as flower girl was Leah Bonfanti. Patrick Beime was the ring bearer and Jean Gibbons was in charge of the guest book.

Ronald Floyd from Winchester was the groom's best man. Ushers were David Sampson of Danvers, the bride's brother, Timothy Coss of Winchester, the groom's brother, and Joseph McLaughlin, the bride's brother-in-law.

Following a reception at the Town Lyne House in Lynnfield, the couple went on a wedding trip to Quebec City and Montreal. They will be making their home in Winchester where the groom is employed as a heavy equipment operator. He graduated from Winchester High School in 1971. The bride graduated from Danvers High School in 1973 and attended Salem State College and Beverly Hospital School of Certified Laboratory Assistants. She is now employed as a lab technician at Beverly Hospital.

The Starlings in the Winchester Early Birds bowling league are in first place with 16 wins and 6 losees. Team members are Elaine Binding and Joan Kelly.

High individual single game for this week, Rose Bezjian, 166.

High individual three games for this week, Mary Jane Brooks, 462.

High team three games for this week, Pheasants, 434.

High team total for this week, Doves, 1179.

Maria Nicolai, a new bowler, bowled a high string of 159. New bowlers are welcome and should contact Diane Couture, 21 Old Colony rd., Arlington.

Miss Wilkinson, Mr. Baldwin married in Sudbury Sept. 24

Rev. Jeanne Sproat of the Church of the Epiphany officiated at the double-ring wedding ceremony of Sarah Kimball Wilkinson and Harry Heath Baldwin IV Sept. 24 at the Martha Mary Chapel in Sudbury.

The former Miss Wilkinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Barry of Oldham road in Arlington. Mr. Baldwin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heath Baldwin III of Winchester, formerly of Arlington.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father. She wore an empire gown of white cotton eyelet, and her headpiece was a ringlet of white roses. Ske carried a bouquet of white roses.

David Baldwin of Winston-Salem, N.C., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were David DeLuca of Waltham and Wayne Ogden of Lincoln, brother-in-law of the groom.

A reception was held at Longfellow's Wayside Inn in Sudbury. The couple spent their honeymoon in Bermuda.

Mrs. Baldwin graduated from Mount Holyoke College and is associated with Palmer and Dodge of Boston.

Mr. Baldwin is a graduate of Bowdoin College. He works for the General Services Administration and is a veteran of the Vietnam War.

The couple makes their home in Boston.

Winchester Trails will present a slide show and talk entitled, "Roundabout Winchester: A Spring Walk," by Sally Wund Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Winchester Public Library.

The show is open to all without charge.

Sally Wund has devoted most of her time to nature photography since her retirement as an architect. Much of her work focuses on wildflowers.

She has become the official photographer for Winchester Trails, and she has taken the slides which are used in classrooms to prepare children for their nature walks.

Bartlett plans parent-teacher meeting Oct. 27

The Bartlett School, now located at 83 Church st. in the old Wyman School, will have a parent-teachers meeting Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Principal Norine T. Casey will meet the parents and introduce the officers of the Bartlett School Development Fund. Proceeds from the fund, raised last year by a dinner dance, Christmas party and a plant sale, go to buy audio-visual materials, gym equipment, and other supplies for the school.

During the Oct. 27 meeting, plans will be made for other activities to be sponsored for the development fund this year. There will be a classroom tour and visit with teachers and refreshments in the auditorium and art room.

Miss Corinne Webber

Corinne Webber plans marriage to Gary Field

Corinne Lydia Webber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Webber of 33 Irving st., is planning a June wedding to Gary Alan Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Field of Danvers.

Miss Webber, a 1974 graduate of Winchester High School, is employed by Filene's at the Burlington Mall. Her fiance is a 1970 graduate of Danvers High School. He attended Northeastern University and is employed by Microwave Associates in Burlington.

Final October Bloodmobile at local Elks Hall

The last of the four visits of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Winchester this month will take place Saturday at the Elks Hall, 375 Cambridge st. The time is 10 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Co-sponsoring the Bloodmobile activities with the Elks are the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Christopher Columbus Club.

This Bloodmobile is open to the community and any man, woman or young person (18 years of age, 17 with parental permission) will be welcome at the Elks Hall this Saturday, says John Mawn who is in charge for the Elks.

"If you have not yet given this month," said Mr. Mawn, "this is your chance. We are easy to find — just north of Bonnell Motors. Parking is ample. And you will receive a cordial welcome."

It will help those staffing the Bloodmobile visit if the intended donor will place his name on the appointment list by telephoning the Winchester Red Cross Chapter, 729-2300.

Bookmobile at Ambrose School Thurs. & Fri.

The Ambrose School Parents Association is sponsoring a bookmobile today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the school.

The bookmobile offers a selection of children's paperback books, posters, and educational games as well as some books which will interest adults. The public is welcome to attend as buyers or browsers.

Deadline October 28, 1977 Publication Date December 29, 1977

Ruth Ann Maiullari wed to Brantford Aylward Sept. 18

The Crawford Memorial Methodist Church was the setting Sept. 18 for the marriage of Ruth Ann Maiullari, 19 Holland st., to Brantford Aylward Jr., 47 Campbell st., Woburn.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edith E. Maiullari and the late Harold E. Maiullari of Holland street. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Brantford Aylward of 10 Keyes rd., Billerica.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. Richard E. Harding and Rev. Leon S. Hatch. The bride was given away by her uncle, Richard Fiore. The reception was held at the Elks Hall in Woburn.

The bride wore an empire-styled gown of peau-de-soie and satin. It was appliqued on the bodice and sleeves with pearls, and her elbow-length veil was made of nylon. The headpiece was appliqued with pearls and crystals.

She carried white roses and Chinese mums.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Henry H. Faxon III of 19 Holland st. She wore a yellow A-line dress with a cowl neck made of qiana. She carried a fall floral arrangement of mums, roses and baby's breath with a matching bouquet in her hair.

Bridesmaids included Louise Maiullari of 19 Holland st.; Mrs. Doug Cyran of Groveland; Paula, Nancy, and Lucy Maiullari of 19 Holland st.; Denise Lewis of Lynn; and Debby Aylward of Billerica. They all wore A-line qiana dresses in various colors with cowl necks. The flowers they carried, similar to the matron of honor's, matched bouquets worn in their hair.

Richard Benford of Woburn was best man. The ushers were Doug Cyran of Groveland; Henry H. Faxon III of 19 Holland st.; Woody Kislowski of Milford, N.H.; Bruce Lint of Dorchester; Doug and Chris Aylward of Billerica; and Tony Fiore of 29 Forest st.

The groom is a graduate of Billerica High School and Lowell University. He also works for Compugraphic, as an inventory systems manager.

Mr. & Mrs. Brantford Aylward Jr.

Ms. Valerie Marie Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Mayer of Milford, Conn., was married October 15 to Peter Alan Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan J. Simmons of Winchester and Center Sandwich, N.H.

Ms. Cheryl Romano Davis of Milford was matron of honor, Dr. Joanne Gula of Sunderland, was maid of honor, and Miss Beth Simonds of Woodbridge served as bridesmaid.

The wedding gown was made of qiana satin and double embroidered chantilly lace with a spray of pearls on a sweep train. The dress featured a scoop neck, elbow-length bell sleves, a yoked bodice and an A-line skirt. The fingertip-length veil was of three-tired sheer illusion. The bridal bouquet consisted of miniature pink carnations and roses, stephenotis, and baby's breath.

Mr. John Osbonre of Skaneateles, New York, was best man. David Simmons of Washington, D.C., Michael Simmons of Arlington, Philip Simmons and Paul Simmons of Winchester, served as ushers for their brother.

The wedding took place at St. Thomas More Chapel, New Haven, with the Reverend Leonard Kvedas of Derby officiating. A reception followed in the church hall.

Ms. Mayer is a graduate of Southern Connecticut State College, and is currently a decisional counselor at the New Haven Correctional Center.

Mr. Simmons is a doctoral candidate in the department of physiology at Yale University and a graduate of Amherst College. He is also a teacher of the transcendental meditation program.

Following a trip to Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket, the couple will return to New Haven.

24-hour dog law

Winchester dog owners are now subject to a 24-hour dog leash law. Fines for first offenses are $10; second offense, $15; third offense, $20.

The water works

Three systems supply town's water

This is the second in a series of articles about Winchester's water system. The first article, printed in the Oct. 13 edition of The Star, dealt with the history of the system. This one is a general description of the existing system and the cost of maintaining that system.

Winchester's water system is divided into three spearate systems. The geographical boundaries of these three parts roughly follow the edges of the valley through which flows the Aberjona River, and in which lies Winchester Center (see map).

The East High System and the Low (Gravity) System are fed by the three reservoirs located in the Middlesex Fells. These reservoirs have been pumping Winchester's water since 1874, when the northernmost meadows set in the hills of the Fells had been cleared and dammed, and the North Reservoir began to fill. By 1891, the Middle and South Reservoir projects had been completed, and the town had its own, independent source of water.

When growth on the west side of town demanded a new source, a connection was established with the Metropolitan District Commission's (MDC) Turkey Hill standpipe in Arlington.

The East High System, supplied by the North Reservoir, serves an area roughly east of Washington street from the Stoneham line down to Main street, then east of Main street to the Medford line. This is the area affected by the bacterial contamination three weeks ago, and the area to which the boil order issued by the state Sept. 29 applied.

The annual water report, submitted to the selectmen this summer by the town manager, describes the mechanics of the system as follows:

"The East High System is supplied from the North Reservoir by means of a pumping station at the North Reservoir. The water enters the system through the North Gatehouse, which was constructed in 1873.

"The water is pumped into the system and to the North Standpipe, which is located in Hillcrest parkway. This standpipe was constructed in 1898, with a full capacity of 376,000 gallons. When this standpipe is filled, an altitude valve closes, and the water is pumped into the system and into the South Standpipe."

The South Standpipe was the source of the recent contamination; it has since been flushed, refilled, chlorinated, and reflushed. It was moved from its original location on Cranston road to the hill above the South Reservoir in 1934 after area residents voiced their objections to having the facility so close to their homes. Its capacity is 417,000 gallons.

The report continues: "The North Pump is operated by controls at the South Standpipe, and the pump at the south station is set to start automatically when the water level is low in the South Standpipe and more water than can be supplied from the North Pump is required."

So the East High System is supplied by the North Reservoir, via pumps, with pressure supplied by water being pumped into the North and South Standpipes.

The Low Service Area is fed by gravity from the South Reservoir. The area served stretches east of Washington and South Main streets to Cambridge road from the Woburn line to the Medford and Arlington lines.

When more water is required than the South Reservoir can supply, water is fed into the Low Service Area from the North Reservoir.

Both the North and South Reservoirs are served by th Middle Reservoir, which acts as a holding pond. Water is drained into the North or South Reservoirs when the level gets too low.

Feeding into the Middle Reservoir is a line from the MDC water supply at Spot Pond. Originally installed as a precaution against drought, this line now regularly pumps water into the Winchester system.

By contract with the MDC, the town must pay the MDC for one-third of its annual consumption; this arrangement began in 1945. Even if the town does not need all of the MDC water, the excess is pumped into the Middle Reservoir for storage.

The third system is the West High System, which gets its water from the MDC via a standpipe on Turkey Hill in Arlington. The water in this system originates from the MDC's Quabbin and Wachusett Reservoirs in the central part of the state.

The area west of Cambridge street from the Woburn line to the Arlington line is served by Turkey Hill. There is a water treatment station on Ridge street (as there are treatment stations at both the North and South Reservoirs).

The three reservoirs, running roughly north-south, sit in between sets of hills in the Fells. According to the annual report,

"The area of the watershed contains approximately 812 acres, of which 198 are water surface. The watershed is closed to the public. The town owns 445 acres in the watershed, and the balance is on state owned land. The reservoirs were constructed by building dams across valleys, thus making artificial ponds, in which the town has complete flowage rights and control."

As of June 30, the town's water systems included 99.47 miles of water mains and served 6084 customers (i.e. businesses and households, not individuals).

In the year ending June 30, the town consumed 844,122,600 gallons of water, or an average of more than 2.3 million gallons per day. Of this, 364,409,200 gallons came from the supply at the North and South Reservoirs; 479,713,400 was from MDC sources, including Turkey Hill and Spot Pond.

The Low Service Area (the gravity system throughout the central part of the valley) accounted for 52.4 per cent of the consumption; the East High 23.3 per cent; and the West High 24.3 per cent.

Highest daily consumption was on July 21, 1976, when more than six million gallons were used. Lowest consumption was on May 10, 1977, when about 1.7 million gallons were used (May 10 was the day of the freak spring snow storm).

Of the water fed through the system, the annual report records the following uses:

--Water sold to customers: 727,068,150 gallons;

--Town departments: 40,000,000 gallons (estimated);

--Metered flushing (for fires, street sweepers, and other town uses): 15,819,140 gallons (estimated);

--Unaccounted for water (unmetered flushings, fires and leaks): 61,235,310 gallons (estimated).

The original construction of the reservoir system, according to Henry S. Chapman's "History of Winchester" (volume one), cost about $250,000.

Chapman notes that as of 1936, the town had spent a total of $1,100,183.74 on the water system.

Today the system costs nearly half a million dollars annually to operate and update. Expenditures for FY1977 totalled $337,570.03, with receipts totalling $411,819.11 leaving a net profit of $74,249.08.

This year's budget calls for $361,867 in expenses and estimates revenues of $409,723 for a net profit of $47,856. However, the town manager's estimates for 1979-82 show losses each year. The manager has recommended a rate increase of at least eight cents to 50 cents per 100 cubic feet.

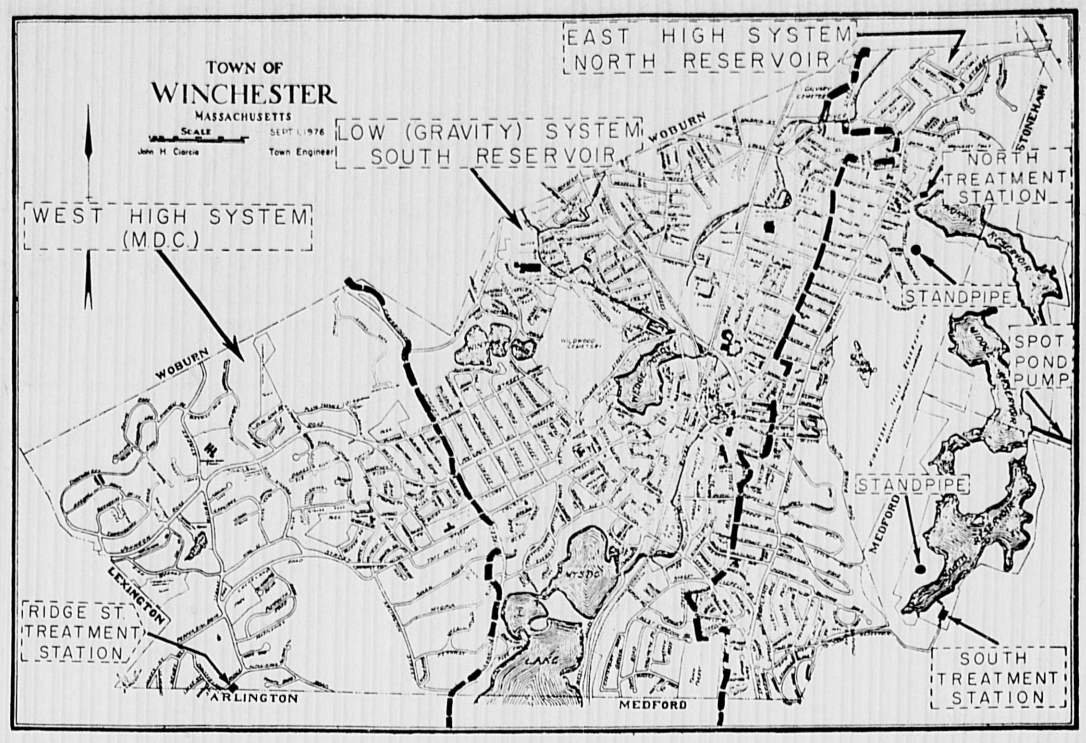

The 1978 budget breaks down as follows:

Expenses: personal services, $170,302; other expenses, $74,560; capital, $1875; MDC water purchased, $115,130. Total: $361,867.

Profit: $47,856. Note: allocations are made for personal services, other expenses and capital; all other figures are estimated.

Still to come: The Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974 and how Winchester's water is treated.

Winchester teachers chat informally at the seventh annual leadership conference sponsored by the Mass. Teachers Association in August at Williams College. Seminars were held in leadership skills for classroom use, teacher evaluation, individualized instruction, political action, and contract management. Seated from left are: Robert Glickman, Lynch Junior High; Kevin Chrusz, Washington School; Bernard J. Silva, WEA president; Stephen Gorrie, Noonan School; and Francis Lane, Lynch.

Employment

October 1977. Work on a project you'll remember in October 1982.

This is what it's like to be an Arthur D. Little secretary. Working with creative people solving problems that often have worldwide impact.

This October, our consultants may be analyzing a possible wheat shortage in a foreign country. Reorganizing a city's public transportation system. Advising a pharmaceutical company on a packaging problem.

Governments and industries all over the world call us. We say hardly anything is none of our business. We make what we're doing our secretaries' business, by solid orientation and the chance to move from project to project.

This is an excellent place to shape your career. Informal atmosphere. Fast pace. Would you fit? Are you more than a skilled secretary? Can you type 65-75 wpm? Have you had secretarial experience? Flexible, personable, used to pressure, responsible — with intellectual curiosity and a desire to be involved?

We should talk. Our excellent benefits include tuition aid, three weeks' vacation, profit sharing, and much more.

Own A Brigham's Franchise

IT'S A GREAT CAREER OPPORTUNITY

Brigham's is seeking highly motivated owner/operators for their ice cream shop* at 61 High Street, Medford and other locations in the Greater Boston area.

If you enjoy hard work, gain satisfaction from serving people and are interested in owning and personally operating a small business, then Brigham's with its quality reputation and fine products may be for you.

For more information regarding the reasonable investment requirement and other program specifics, call or write Jean Kennedy, our Franchising Assistant, Brigham's, 30 Mill Street, Arlington, Mass. 02174, (617) 648-9000.

BRIGHAM'S

SECRETARY

If you have 1-2 years business experience, like math, and have excellent secretarial skills, we'd like you to join our Underwriting Department. You'll be processing policies and insurance orders and issuing certificates for a leading property insurance company specializing in large industrial accounts. You'll have machine transcription only, no shorthand necessary.

We offer:

- Competitive Salary
- 36 1/4 hour week (8:15-4:10)
- Complete fringe benefits
- Modern Cafeteria
- Ample free parking

REALTOR

A BETTER BUY

Sure mortgage interest rates are higher than they were, but so are the market values of homes and land. Please believe me when I say that even at today's inflated prices and interest rates, real estate is a better buy than anything else you can go after with borrowed dollars.

Financing for other purchases often costs twice as much—and these things depreciate while a house usually grows in value. Check the trade-in value of your car when you turn it in for a new one. Also for the past ten years, real estate values have doubled the increase in the Dow Jones average.

In this sense, real estate is the most worthwhile investment you can make, and your best protection against inflation. And don't forget the priceless dividends your family will enjoy as you live in your growing investment.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ANN BLACKHAM & CO., 11 Thompson St., Winchester. Phone 729-1663. We're here to help!

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Middlesex, ss. Third District Court Eastern Middlesex 2532-77

At the Third District Court of Eastern Middlesex, holden at Cambridge, within the County of Middlesex, for civil business on the eighth day of September, 1977 LeBert Brothers Lincoln-Mercury Sales, Inc., Plaintiff vs. Henry Blackshear No. 22532 of 1977.

This is an action to enforce a lien to recover Five Hundred and Two Dollars and Eighty-Seven Cents ($502.87) alleged due to the Plaintiff from the Defendant on the seventeenth day of November 1976, as set forth in the aforementioned complaint of that date.

And it appearing to the Court by the suggestion of the Plaintiff that said Defendant, Henry Blackshear is at address unkown and no personal service of said Complaint has been made upon said Defendant. It is ordered that said Defendant answer said Complaint upon the completion of three successive weeks of publication or within 20 days thereafter and show cause why the prayer in said Plaintiff's Complaint requesting that Plaintiff's lien be established and the Court order said motor vehicle sold to satisfy the Plaintiff's debt, should not be allowed.

By The Court,
Linda M. Steeves
Assistant Clerk
10.6-3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Middlesex, ss. Probate Court

To all persons interested in the estate of William P. McGuire late of Winchester, in said County, deceased.

A petition has been presented to said Court for probate of a certain instrument purporting to be the last will of said deceased by Priscilla R. McGuire of Colebrook in the State of New Hampshire praying that she be appointed executrix thereof without giving a surety on her bond.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Cambridge before ten o'clock in the forenoon on the twenty-fifth day of October 1977, the return day of this citation.

Witness, Edward T. Martin, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of September 1977.

John V. Harvey, Register
10.6-3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Middlesex, ss. Superior Court
L.S. No. 77-4985

To: Arthur A. Daniels and Muriel A. Daniels, both of Winchester, Middlesex County; Cambridgeport Savings Bank of Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex; Sumner H. Woodrow, Esquire of Boston, Suffolk County; The Shawmut County Bank, N.A. of said Cambridge; Muriel A. Daniels as Trustee of Daniels Realty Trust and Malden Trust Company of Malden, Middlesex County, Defendants. And to all persons entitled to the benefits of the Soldier's and Sailor's Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended; Cape Ann Bank and Trust Company, a banking corporation duly organized and doing business under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, of Gloucester, Essex County, claiming to be the present holder of a mortgage covering the premises bounded and described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the building thereon, comprising the lot numbered twenty-six (26) as shown on plan entitled "Pond Estates Winchester, Mass." dated April 14, 1959, by Raymond C. Pressey Inc., Registered Professional Engineers-Registered Land Surveyors, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Book 9459, Page 498, bounded and described as follows:

NORTHWESTERLY AND NORTHERLY by Taft Drive by two courses together measuring one hundred twenty-one and 99-100ths (121.99) feet;

NORTHEASTERLY by Lot 25 as shown on said plan, one hundred sixty-three and 90-100ths (163.90) feet;

SOUTHEASTERLY by lands now or formerly of Avery and of Thompson, as shown on said plan, by two courses together measuring one hundred twenty-one and 8-100ths (121.08) feet; and SOUTHWESTERLY by Lot 27 as shown on said plan, one hundred sixty-eight and 34-100ths (168.34) feet.

Containing 20,475 square feet of land according to said plan, given by Arthur A. Daniels and Muriel A. Daniels, dated March 19, 1976 and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, Book 12949, Page 244, has filed with the said Court a complaint for authority to foreclose said mortgage in the manner following: by entry and possession and exercise of power of sale.

If you are entitled to the benefits of the Soldier's and Sailor's Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended, and you object to such foreclosure, you or your attorney should file a written appearance and answer in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Cambridge on or before the fourteenth day of November, A.D. 1977, or you may be forever barred from claiming that such foreclosure is invalid under said Act.

Witness: Robert M. Bonin, Esquire Chief Justice of said Court this fifth day of October, A.D. 1977

PLANNING BOARD NOTICE OF
REGARDING ZONING BY-LAW AND MAP AMENDMENTS

Notice is hereby given that the Winchester Planning Board will hold a public hearing on THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1977—8:00 P.M. in the Town Hall Auditorium upon the proposal to amend the Zoning By-Law and Map incorporated therein of the Town as follows, or take any action relative thereto:

ARTICLE 17 To see if the Town will voted to amend the Zoning By-Law and the Map incorporated therein by changing the land on the northerly side of Vine Street, and numbered 34 Vine Street, from a Conservancy-Institutional District (SCI-0.50) to a General Residence District (RG-6.5) said land containing approximately 23,476 square feet now presently owned by Coronis Equipment and Real Estate Corporation, formerly the American Legion Quarters.

ARTICLE 18 To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law and the Map incorporated therein by changing the land on the northeasterly side of Cambridge Street, adjacent to the Winchester—Woburn town line now or formerly owned by the Trustees of Y & M Trust (Star Market Complex) from a Residential District B (RDB-10) to a General Business District (GBD 1.0).

ARTICLE 16 To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law by revising the following sections related to the dimensional requirements and other requirements for uses within the Apartment House Residential District B (RB-20) as follows:

Section 6.1 District Regulations
6.21a Maximum Floor Ratio
6.21c Lot Area Requirement per dwelling unit
6.21g New section—Resident Superintendent
7.11a Table of Off-Street Parking Space Requirements
7.13 Design of All Off-Street Parking Facilities
9. Definitions

Information relative to these articles may be obtained at Engineering-Planning Board Office, Town Hall.

By order of the Planning Board this third day of October 1977.

Tufts Arena show Arnott directing

Peter Arnott of 6 Herrick st. is in the director's chair at Tufts University's Arena Theater 68th season. Aristophanes' comedy, "The Congresswomen" is playing now through Saturday.

Arnott, professor of drama at Tufts and an internationally known authority on Greek drama, says that "Aristophanes wrote playes about the evils of his time, evils which were then, as now, caused largely by politicians. 'The Congresswomen' is a play about the women of Athens, who get tired of male domination and decide to take matters into their own hands by establishing a state in which everything is run by women. You have only to change the names in the play and it is as up-to-date as this morning's newspaper -- full of jokes about male chauvinism, corrupt officials and politicians receiving pavola for their services. In fact, it's a version of Norman Lear's 'All that Glitters,' 2000 years before its time."

All performances are at 8:15 p.m. at the Arena Theater, Talbot ave. on Tufts' Medford campus. For information and reservations, call the Arena box office at 623-3880.

Winchester dog owners are now subject to a 24-hour dog leash law. Fines for first offense are $10; second offense, $15; third offense, $20.

Merit Solving Smoker Dilemma.

For years, smokers had to choose between real tobacco flavor or low tar.

Until MERIT.

The result was 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

MERIT and MERIT 100's were packed with this special tobacco. And taste-tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1977

Kings: 8 mg. "tar," 0.5 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Dec.'76
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

The results proved conclusively that 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco does boost taste without the usual increase in tar.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And you can taste it.

Mini-mansion is a major accomplishment

By Karen Polowchena

The charming, 14-room mansion took one and a-half years to build. Some of its features are working doors on hinges, glass windows, a birch interior with contrasting dark-hardwood floors, electrical outlets, dimmer switches for the lighting on each floor, and a cozy, balustered front porch. The new owner will supply her home's finishing touches — paint, shingles, wallpaper, a chimney, and furnishings.

Many people would be delighted to own such elegance for $1,200, the price asked by Robert Thoms for his doll house materpiece.

Thoms said, "I put between $200 and $300 worth of materials into it, and just as many hours!" The mini-mansion which stands about three-feet tall was constructed in the garage of Thoms's parents who live on 20 Maxwell rd. Two months ago the craftsman moved into a house in North Cambridge with six others. Now he does all of his cutting and sanding in Winchester, and constructs and finishes the houses in his cellar shop at 15 Meacham rd., Cambridge.

The tall, 23-year-old blonde showed an interest in architecture as far back as junior high school when he began building model houses. But at that time he and his friends would never refer to his models as doll houses. It wasn't until three years ago when Thoms started building a doll house for his girl friend, who always wanted one as a child, that he started his own business. She never got her house, but she did provide inspriration for Dollplay, the name of his business.

Many of Thoms's orders arrive through the mail from all over the nation. When someone responds to one of his advertisements in doll house and crafts magazines he sends them a Dollplay brochure, which he designed himself. He also does business with local stores.

His first Dollplay house was a gambrel with authentic weathered shingles and windows that opened and closed. These houses retailed for $350 and $400 and each took 60 hours to construct. He sold four to stores in the area. From April to October 1975 he worked on eight houses for the Christmas season and sold five. These early models weighed 50 lbs. each because the plywood was too thick. He now uses thinner plwywood and the windows no longer open. These houses also opened up like a suitcase, but Thoms found that if the wood warped, the two sides would not fit together properly.

In 1976 Dollplay boasted a Victorian doll house, a Southern Colonial, and a general store. Thoms also sold separate components such as windows and doors.

His distinctive doll house line, featuring a Townehouse and Cape are his only models now. Last year he made 32 sales before Christmas. He has already sold 67 this year and hopes to double that amount before the year is out. In his short career, Thoms has sold 112 doll houses in all.

Generally, Thoms works on 10 houses at a time. Neighborhood children help with finishing work. A prospective buyer can purchase a house in either of three forms: a basic unfinished shell, including windows, stairs, and chimney; the whole kit, ready to assemble; and the finished, complete house. Thoms, who usually completes a house within two weeks of the order, says he has trouble keeping them in stock during this time of year. His orders slack off somewhat in February and March.

During slow periods, Thoms works at part-time jobs. He is currently teaching woodworking to children and teens in East Cambridge. The craftsman, who studied early childhood education in school, says he is very fond of children and designs his Dollplay line with them in mind. His mansion and other orders commissioned by adults are collector's items, and not intended for children.

When Thoms collaborated with Roberta Humphrey of Eastham on the design of the mansion he had no idea what a massive project he was getting into. Mrs. Humphrey, who collects miniatures, saw a friend's doll house and wanted one like it. Her friend's husband, who built the house, was reluctant to take on another project. Mrs. Humphrey met Thoms after her friend saw his work at a miniatures class.

Thoms, whose shy manner ineffectively hides his pride in his impressive accomplishment, says that he is handing it over with mixed emotions. "I was going nuts. I would work on it and then have to stop and work on something else. I would like to show it but it's been in the cellar for just too long." Thomas admits that the construction of the four bedrooms, bathroom, livingroom, diningroom, study, storage room, studio, attic, and three hallways was marked with frustration.

"This house contains 100 turned balusters," he said, "I primed, sanded, and painted each one. It took me a full day to do the electrical wiring for each of the three floors." On the day I saw it, the house was still one shutter short.

After the many painstaking hours put into his work, Thomas is anxious to be relieved of the responsibility. Recently his van was broken into. He lost his tape deck and basketball, but his mansion was left intact. He said, "As soon as I deliver this to the Cape I'm going to sell the van."

The patient craftsman smiles boyishly and admits that his tiny creation will probably be one of a kind.

Women and law topic of meeting

For its monthly meeting held October 11 at the home of Mrs. Eileen Foley, 41 Thornberry rd., the Winchester Estates Garden Club heard Attorney Sydelle Pittas discuss the importance of women knowing how laws affect their lives.

Ms. Pittas, a Winchester resident and Harvard Law School graduate, entitled her talk, "How to be a Woman Without A Man." She indicated that three areas of the law were particularly critical to women, namely retirement, property and consumer credit.

Many women, she pointed out, are unaware of matters such as the social security system and pension plans, how they share home ownership with their husbands or how to establish a credit record of their own. She discussed each topic in detail and urged her audience to become more knowledgeable about state and federal laws as they apply to their own situation. She concluded by noting that statutes are undergoing secrutiny by citizens groups for fairness to both sexes.

A brief business meeting followed in which Mrs. Phyllis Daugherty, maintenance chairman, reported on recent pruning of the Winchrest Drive divider.

The meeting adjourned following socializing over coffee and dessert.

Obituaries

Adelaide Craven

Adelaide T. Craven, a resident of 6 Madison ave. West for five years, died October 6 at the Woburn Nursing Home. Mrs. Craven, 88, was formerly of Dorchester and St. Petersburg.

Rev. Arthur L. Reardon of St. Mary's Church officiated at services on October 8. Interment was in Mt. Benedict, West Roxbury.

Born in Mandel, Norway, on October 3, 1889, Mrs. Craven was the daughter of Carl J. and Susanne Christianson Fagercrantz. She was the widow of Martin F. Craven and the mother of the late Mrs. Joseph (Frances A.) Rankin of Pawtucket and M. Robert Craven of Moss Point, Miss.

Surviving their mother are Charles W. Craven of Winchester and John A. Craven of Frisco City, Ala. She also leaves 11 grandchildren, 10 great-granchildren, and five great-great-grandchildren.

The Robert J. Costello Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

Charlotte Nelligan

A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday in Cambridge's St. John the Evangelist Church for Charlotte Louise (Scannell) Nelligan of 23 Rindge ave., Cambridge. Mrs. Nelligan, 86, died Sunday at the Fairlawn Nursing Home in Lexington after a long illness.

She is the mother of Mrs. Richard (Jean) Sheehy and Mrs. T. Philip (Claire) Sullivan, both of Winchester; and of Charlotte Pelissier of Arlington, Va.; Peter Nelligan of Belmont; and the late Maryann Morse of Buffalo, N.Y.

She was the wife of the late Judge Peter J. Nelligan of Cambridge and is survived by 29 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

She was a native of Boston and attended Notre Dame Academy in Roxbury.

Burial was in Cambridge Cemetery. Robert J. Costello Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Christopher Morris

Christopher J. Morris, 53, a Winchester resident for 35 years before moving to Reading 18 years ago, died October 14 at Choate Memorial Hospital.

Born in Winchester, Mr. Morris was educated in the schools here and graduated from Winchester High School and the Malden Business School.

Mr. Morris was employed by the First National Stores for more than 30 years. For the past 16 years he was manager of the First National Store in East Boston. He was employed in the Winchester First National Store and many other stores in that chain.

Mr. Morris was a member of the Winchester Knights of Columbus No. 210 and an honorary member of the Sons of Italy in Winthrop. He was a technician fifth grade and a veteran of the army in World War II.

The husband of Margaret A, (Beaugrand) Morris of Reading, Mr. Morris is survived also by his children, Michael S., Stephen J., Brian C., Paula C., and Anne M. Theriault, all of Reading. He is also survived by two grandchildren, and brothers James of Billerica and Robert of Stoneham, and sisters Margaret Saunders of Woburn and Rose Mary Kelley of Winchester.

Rev. John Morris celebrated the funeral mass in St. Agnes Church in Reading on October 17. Burial was in Forest Glen Cemetery, Reading. Lane Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

Frederick L. Hicks

Frederick Lewis Hicks, 76, died Saturday at Middlesex Memorial Hospital in Middletown, Connecticut. Born in New York City, Mr. Hicks resided in Winchester for 21 years. At the time of his death, he was living at 1 Cloverdale circle, Deep River, Connecticut.

Mr. Hicks was a certified public accountant and the retired treasurer of Vocaline Corporation. He is survived by three sons, Frederick L., of Evansville, Indiana, Edward E., of Winchester, and Robert W., of Lenox. His wife, Mabel S. Hicks, died in 1975.

Funeral services were held at St. Joseph's Church in Chester, Connecticut, Wednesday. Arrangements were made through the Swan Funeral Home.

James Early new Unitarian organist

The Winchester Unitarian Church has engaged a new organist, James A. Early.

Early is also active in the choral ensembles, under the direction of Lorna C. DeVaron, and in the Preparatory and Opera Departments, under the direction of Todd Gordon and Louise Costigan.

A native of Philadelphia, Early began his organ training at The Settlement Music School. He comes from a musical family which performs in the surrounding area. He is on the Dean's List at the Conservatory, is listed in "Who's Who in Philadelphia" and is a member of Phi Theta Kappa (national honors fraternity).

This year Early will be giving his senior recital and, in the coming summer, he will be touring in Israel with the Conservatory Concert Choir, a tour commemorating Israel's thirtieth anniversary.

Ethic and law series at Cong.

Beginning Sunday at 11:30, the 11th Hour adult education sessions at the First Congregational Church will be considering the topic "Ethics and the Law." The first three sessions on successive Sundays will be led by several lawyers within the church family, headed by William J. Speers, Jr. Cooperating with him in the planning are Allen O. Eaton, Stephen A. Moore, and Russell P. Pearl.

There may be some attention to questions of ethical and moral issues facing a lawyer in the practice of his profession, but the major concern will be to stimulate discussion on issues involved in the distinction between legality and morality. Instead of specifying rigid topics to be dealt with, the concern is to elicit questions from those present.

A fourth session on November 13 will consider the topic "Youth and the Law" and will be led by members of the police force and the judiciary in this area. At a fifth session on November 20 David S. Mortensen and the Rev. Donald T. Rowlingson will lead a discussion of the book by Dr. Harold J. Berman, Professor of Law at Harvard Law School, titled The Interaction of Law and Religion.

A parallel series on questions of medical ethics was led by several physicians in the church a year ago.

Soprano featured in first concert of musicale series

The "Musicale Series" at the First Congregational Church will feature Florence Darrah, soprano, as the first of nine musical events planned by the music committee of the church. Miss Darrah's program will include works of Handel, Brahms, Gounod, R. Strauss, G. Faure, and C. Debussy. The recital will take place in the Sanctuary at 5 p.m. on Sunday. A reception is planned for 6 p.m. in the Vinton Room.

Other performances from now until May will be Bach "Magnificat" Alice Wilkinson, pianist; the Winchester Music Society; Young Artists' Organ Recital; Cantata; Bruce Adami, Organist; Festival of Choirs; and Carolyn and John Skelton.

Resident heads United Way drive

A Winchester resident, Peter T. Kelleher, 21 Brookside ave. has been named chairman for the annual in-plant fund drive for the United Way at Badger America in Cambridge.

He has been active in United Way activities, having served as assistant chairman in 1976 and 1977, captain of solicitors during the 1975 campaign, and as a solicitor in 1973 and 1974.

In last year's drive, 44,000 employees of Raytheon's divisions and subsidiaries contributed more than $2 million to the United Way, most of it by payroll deduction.

Poison control

Friday, Oct. 28 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. will be a morning of information about poisons, what they are and what to do an about them. The session will be held at the Central Middlesex YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill rd. in Burlington. Membership is not required and child care is available. Call 272-3181 for information and reservations.

Four Winchester firefighters, armed with air tanks and gas masks, enter the second floor of the Murray-Quill building during the two-alarm fire Sunday afternoon.

Smoky two-alarm fire hits center

Smoke poured out of the windows, doors, and roof of the Murray and Quill building in the center Sunday afternoon as 50 firefighters labored to snuff a two-alarm fire which did more than $100,000 worth of damage to the two-story block.

The cause of the fire is not yet known, although the state fire marshall's office has been investigating since Monday. Sunday's fire was the third in that block since the 1950's.

Arlene's Fashions at 2A Mount Vernon st. was the hardest hit of the shops and offices. The fire started in the basement under that shop, which has been on the site for eight years. The first call to fire headquarters came in at 1:37 when Patty O'Brien, an employee of One or Two Things across the street from the building, saw smoke coming from the basement window of Arlene's. Box 21 was sounded and all apparatus responded.

It was not enough. Two minutes later a second alarm was sounded and companies from Woburn, Medford, Arlington, and Stoneham responded on a mutual aid call.

When firefighters first arrived, heavy smoke was issuing from Arlene's and Nelson's Bakery. The bakery had moved to the corner of Shore road and Mount Vernon street from its Main street location on September 14.

Firefighters entered a back alley off Shore road by breaking a chain on a gate. They found a large fire in the basement when they got in through the bulkhead.

When the second alarm was called at 1:39, engines were placed at Shore road, Mount Vernon street, and Church street. Hoses from these trucks extended into the basement, first, and second floors of the building. Ladder 1 put up a ladder to the second floor for ventilation and to carry the hose lines. Woburn Engine 3 and Arlington Ladder 2 assisted Winchester's firefighters.

The main lines of attack on the fire were from the basement and front entrance to Arlene's. Fire Chief Robert W. McElhinney said that this was a very difficult fire to extinguish. "Because the building is so old and has been renovated so many times, it contains many hidden spaces. We had to use power saws to deal with the many different layers. There were four different ceilings on the first floor," he said.

The crew opened up the floor and walls to find that the blaze was going up the walls to the second floor.

Chief McElhinney called for the Stoneham pump to be put into operation when the fire was discovered in the floor on the second level at 2:45.

To combat this heavily smoky fire, firefighters cut out the floors in the second floor hallway and pulled the ceilings in Nelson's Bakery, Arlene's, and the Christian Science Reading Room. They broke open the walls in the law offices of Murray and Quill, as well as in Arlene's and Nelson's.

Due to the exhausting nature of fighting the fire and the length of time needed at the scene, a fire detail was established. At 6 p.m. the day crew has relieved by oncoming crews.

Firefighter John Dooley and Call Firefighter Bill Farnam were overcome by smoke while fighting the fire. They were treated at the scene by the department's ambulance squad. Firefighters were on duty all Sunday night and remained on the scene for most of Monday.

Although two-thirds of the blaze was contained in the basement, smoke damage affected the whole building to one degree or another.

John Dooley was one of two men treated for smoke inhalation at the scene of Sunday afternoon's two-alarm fire in the center. The smoky blaze caused more than $100,000 damage to the Murray-Quill building.

Ed McKenzie and George Thompson carried out as many racks of clothes as they could from Arlene's Fashions. The two-alarm fire was very smoky, however, and owner George Peters says he lost everything in the fire Sunday afternoon.

Firefighters sign 2-year town contract

Firefighters signed a two-year contract with the town Monday night after nearly a year of negotiations. The contract calls for a seven percent wage increase the first year and six and a half percent the second year.

The other items in the contract will increase vacation time to three weeks after seven years of service and to four weeks after 12 years.

There will be a stipend of $500 for firefighters who are trained emergency technicians. This figure brings them in line with police benefits for EMTs.

A committee will be established to study the entire sick leave payback item with union representatives. The committee will include, in addition to firefighters' representatives, designees from the board of selectmen, personnel board, and finance committee.

Specials within the department will receive a flat fee instead of a percentage. The fees are: Mechanic - $2400; fire alarm supervisor - $2400; lineman - $1200; and fire prevention officer - $1200.

Additional items in the contract streamline the grievance procedure to expedite that process. All references in the contract to personnel policy guide and fire department rules and regulations have been deleted to make the contract the document governing the unit.

The total cost for the first year of the package is estimated at about $60,000. Town meeting will be asked to fund this contract under article 5, but the total amount to be approriated has yet to be determined.

The contract is effective from July 1, 1977 to June 30, 1978 the first year and from July 1, 1978 to June 30, 1979 the second year.

Effect of fire felt by shops

All offices on the second floor of the Murray and Quill building damaged by smoke and fire Sunday, are operating as usual.

Included in these offices are Murray and Quill, Attorneys; Arthur E. Rand, Architect; Wark and Alcock Associates; American Alarm and Communications, Inc.; and Suburban Telephone Answering Service.

The story is different downstairs where the damage was much heavier.

George Peters, owner of Arlene's Fashions, said that he is looking for shop space in the center to use temporarily until he can move back into 2A Mount Vernon st. He has to open by Thanksgiving, he says, in order to "stay above water." Everything in his shop was destroyed and will have to be replaced, he said.

Nelson's Bakery, next door to Arlene's, is planning to re-open tomorrow.

The Christian Science Reading Room, on the other side of Arlene's, has set up temporary quarters in the Christian Science Church, 114 Church st. Hours for the reading room are Monday through Friday, 10 to 3 and Saturdays from 10 to 1. Entrance will be through the parking lot in the rear of the church.

Curtain & Cue to open season this weekend

This Friday and Saturday in the Winchester High School Auditorium at 8 p.m., the WHS Curtain and Cue Society will be presenting as their first production of the year, Jean Giraudoux's two-act comedy "The Madwoman of Chaillot."

Tickets may be purchased at the door on the evenins of the performances. Refreshments will be available during intermission.

Bystanders give aid to crash victim

Robert McNamara, 39, is in fair condition at Winchester Hospital after he sustained injuries when his car hit a telephone pole in front of 760 Main st. Sunday at 11:24 p.m.

McNamara of 14 Dix st., went into convulsions while two police officers were checking him. Aid was administered by two bystanders — an auxiliary firefighter and a registered nurse.

Peter Reid of 7 Gerrard rd. and Jean McDonough of 16 Glenwood ave. collaborated to unblock McNamara's breathing passage. Officers John Alford and James Gallant said that Reid and McDonough's use of an airway device on the man saved valuable time.

The fire department's ambulance took McNamara to Winchester Hospital where he was admitted for internal injuries. He was taken to the operating room and as of Wednesday, he was reported to be in fair condition.

No parking between 1-7 am

The all night parking restriction, which Winchester's police will be enforcing more strictly after Nov. 1, runs from 1-7 a.m.

Because of potential bad weather and snow, no on-the-street parking between 1-7 a.m. will be tolerated by the police department.

Effective Sunday

Costello resigns post as town comptroller

Town Comptroller James J. Costello handed is resignation into the town clerk's office Tuesday afternoon. His resignation is effective Sunday.

Costello would not comment directly on the reasons for his resignation, which apparently came about over differences of opinion within Town Hall as to administrative procedures.

"The only reason (for taking this action) would be that something would be accomplished by it," Costello said.

The board of selectmen met in executive session Oct. 12 with Costello "to discuss complaints against a public official." Costello commented that the reopening for the executive session could more properly have been termed, "complaints against one public official by another public official."

The comptroller indicated that whatever differences exist were aired at that meeting. "We let it all hang out," he said.

When asked about those differences, Town Manager Thomas Groux said, "Whatever those disagreements are, I think it's a matter of working out a new system. There are rough edges to be worked out."

Groux declined to comment on the reasons for Costello's resignation.

Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins said she also had no comment on the reasons for the resignation. "Obviously we would not like to see him leave, there's no question about that," she said.

Commenting on the problems within the administration at Town Hall, Costello said, "To the degree that there's anything of value (in my point of view), it will shake itself out within the structure of the administration.

"I have enough faith in local government and the democratic process to know that it will happen. . . it just isn't happening quick enough for me."

The comptroller had indicated last week that he might resign because of problems he had had in dealing with other town departments. More than $200,000 in bills were being held up in the comptroller's office, some of them becaus+ they were accompanied by incomplete information.

There are indications that many of the bills are now being paid. Groux commented Wednesday morning that, "Right now I have every indication that we're going along pretty well with those."

Board to install four-way stop signs on Wildwood st.

Recognizing the complaints of Wildwood street residents and bowing to their often loudly expressed wishes for some deterrent to speeding traffic on their street, selectmen Monday night voted to put up a four-way stop sign at the Wildwood-Fletcher-Palmer street intersection and another four-way stop at Wildwood and Woodside.

The recommendations of the police department and the town manager in this matter went further. They would have included a flashing overhead light at Wildwood-Woodside and a full set of lights at the Wildwood-Fletcher-Palmer intersection.

The town must ask the state department of public works for permission to install the stop signs and will try them out for 60 days.

Police surveillance of the street will continue, according to Police Chief John P. McHugh, who, along with Safety Officer John W. McKinley, attended the selectmen's meeting Monday night.

In addition to installation of the stop signs, the board also approved formation of a traffic advisory committee to assist them in traffic matters throughout town.

The committee, whose makeup will be decided soon, would receive any proposals for speed zone changes, traffic control signs, stop signs, one-way signs or any other changes in traffic regulations. The advisory committee would be able to review the propsals and report to the board of selectmen.

Another aspect of the report which was received favorably by the board was an Origin and Destination (O&D) study to determine where drivers are coming from and where they are going. According to Officer McKinley's figures, six thousand cars pass over Wildwood street in a 24-hour period.

Officer McKinley would oversee the actual O&D, but temporary help would be required to conduct the survey. He suggested possible CETA help. An O&D has not been conducted in Winchester.

Discussion at the meeting Monday lasted for an hour, with Dr. Paul McCarthy and David Pywell speaking on behalf of the many dozen residents who had attended a public hearing on the matter several weeks ago.

Dr. McCarthy said, "Stop signs are going to eliminate excessive speed." He added that residents would "in no way tolerate flashing lights or full lights in this area."

The board acquiesced to Dr. McCarthy and the group he represented, citing monetary savings to the town as one reason for turning down the traffic lights and retaining stop signs.'

In the recommendation report to the board, Town Manager Thomas J. Groux questioned whether the state would give approval to the stop signs, having already turned down a similar request several years ago. "To recommend such four-way stops would really be an empty gesture to the residents of the area'" he wrote in the report.

Selectman Richard Wilsack took exception to the need for lights. "We have had an opportunity to fine-tune the-recommendations. - Let's go with the four-way stop signs."

Selectman Edward O'Connell agreed. "I share that view. I would rather have two cars at a full stop playing Alphonse and Gaston than to have a driver going 40 miles an hour hitting a pedestrian."

Selectman Harry Chefalo indicated a preference for more police surveillance rather than the stops, but he voted for the signs along with the rest of the board. Selectman Arthur E. Dunbar was not present.

School board talks over girls' sports, school lunches, kindergarten and principals

The school committee went through a dozen policy issues related to the upcoming year's budget at their meeting Monday night.

The board started dealing with policy issues with budgetary impact last week, when they held the first of a series of work "working sessions" on the 1978-79 school budget.

As of yet no firm decisions have been made, nor have any absolute priorities been set. Superintendent William MacDonald has indicated to the committee that he will be prioritizing the issues in the near future and coming back to the board with more specific recommendations.

Issues which drew out the most discussion Monday included the implementation of Chapter 622, which calls for equal educational opportunities for girls and boys (including sports); mandatory lunches in the elementary schools; expansion of the kindergarten program; and returning to one full-time principal for each elementary school.

Concerning equality in school athletics, Athletic Director William Colella told the board, "Absolutely we are adhering to 622, and we're doing it quite well."

Colella noted that in the three years since he took over as director, eight more girls' sports have been added. Colella said his budget proposal for this coming year may include two more girls' sports. However, he said he has not worked out any final proposal yet.

The eight sports added over the past three years are: field hockey, basketball and softball at the two junior high schools and swimming and spring track at the senior high.

With the eight sports, Colella says he has also added considerably to his schedule. One of the budget related issues discussed Monday was reducing the director's teaching load from three to two classes a day. Superintendent MacDonald gave this change "a high priority."

MacDonald said the principals placed a "high priority" on making the elementary lunch program mandatory. He said the move would have little budgetary impact, but he noted that there had been resistance to the proposal in the past.

"I'm not at all convinced that the furor won't start all over again," said the superintendent.

Ambrose principal Principal Robert Forest said the number of students going home for lunch has decresased in recent years. According to Forest, two per cent of the Ambrose students take advantage of the option. However, Vinson-Owen Princial Clare Corcoran said more than 100 of her students go home for lunch.

The principals argued that making the lunch program mandatory would "loosen up" their scheduling, especially for specialists.

MacDonald also gave the proposal to expand the kindergarten program to full day sessions a high priority. He argued that the children coming into the program are capable of handling an expanded program. He noted, however, that the expansion would cost about $75,000 for additional staff.

Support for the change was not unanimous among the administrators. Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum Walter Gleason commented, "That kind of money could buy us some super programs in other areas." Gleason asked the board to consider the cost of the program in light of other needs within the system.

On the issue of one principal for each school building, MacDonald said, "I believe we should have one person in each building who is the principal." He said it was a "very important concept," c[illegible]menting, "It's becoming harder and harder every day to be the principal with all the things we're asking of them." He was referring to the extra administrative duties many of the principals have taken on in the last year.

"I feel very strongly that we should have a principal in every building," added board member Constance Papas. "The principal sets the tone for the building. If the principal is not there, then the school just won't run properly over a long period of time. . . It would be my number one priority," she said.

Other recommendations included the following:

—Reducing Data Processor Arthur Sarno's teaching load from two classes to one class. The administration is in favor of this move, which would give Sarno more room to work on curriculum programs and administrative processing.

—Restoring one clerk-aide for each elementary school (the staff was cut last year). MacDonald said he felt this should not be given a high priority, given the enrollment decline, though he conceded that there is more paperwork to do because of special education and the reduction in central administrative staff.

Board member Catherine Alexander, however, noted that in her touring of elementary schools she had found that "many teachers put a high priority on this."

— Staffing all the primary grades at a 22-1 pupil-teacher ratio. MacDonald said he was "hardpressed to put a high priority on this at this time."

—Staffing elementary libraries with teachers who may otherwise be cut back in part due to declining enrollment. "We have a great potential that we really haven't tapped in the libraries in the town," said Parkhurst Principal Andrew Allen, who argued for having the staff working in the libraries.

MacDonald noted that he had had "very few complaints over the last five or six years over the running of the libraries."

—Continuing to utilize split level classes. MacDonald commented, "Like it or not, split classes, for economic reasons, are here for a while."

The WHS Curtain and Cue Society is putting their first performance of the year on this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium. Flu shots set for seniors and town employees

The board of health is sponsoring its 12th annual influenza immunization clinic for town employees and senior citizens.

The clinic will be held November 2 from 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. in the Town Hall Auditorium.

According to Michael D. Saraco, director of public health, the following town department employees are eligible free of charge: library, fire, police, selectmen, public works, comptroller, town clerk, treasurer, assessors, engineering, public works, town hall, building recreation and council on aging.

Senior citizens who are 65 or over may also get their shots free of charge.

The process used will consist of a single shot. This is all that is necessary for either primary or booster shots.

Any persons who is allergic to eggs should not participate in the clinic.

Attorney to investigate potential curb cut violations in Winchester

The Massachusetts Architectural Barriers Board (ABB) has referred potential violations of the Architectural Barriers Law in Winchester to the state attorney general's office.

A list of potential violations was referred to the attorney general's office in September by Winchester resident Maureen Winn, a member of the ABB board. The list was referred back for consideration by the entire ABB, which voted unanimously Monday to refer the matter to the attorney's office for investigation.

According to Ms. Winn, ABB Chairman Robert Harris came to Winchester to inspect the sites of the various violations cited by Ms. Winn.

The potential violations cited include: the intersection of Skillings and Shore roads; sections of Route 3 from the Arlington line to Pond street; 875 Chardon rd.; 976 Shore rd. (by Purity Supreme); 976 Park st.; and 1076 Main st. (in front of McCormack's Pharmacy).

Dwight Golann of the civil rights division will be handling the case, according to Ms. Winn.

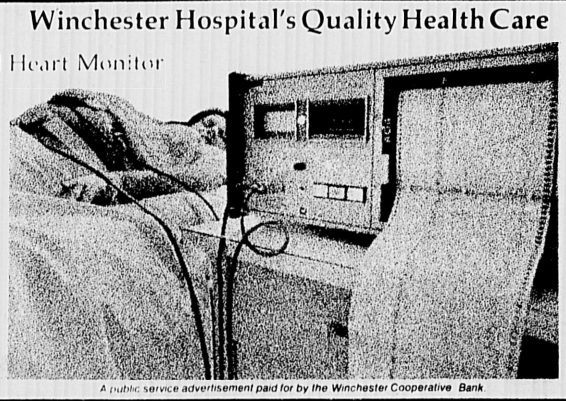

The alleged violations involve locations in the town where sidewalk repairs been made without the installation of curb cuts, which are ramps cut through the curbing to allow easier passage for handicapped persons and the elderly. Under certain conditions, the Architectural Barriers Law requires that these cuts be installed.

It is unlawful to place or cause to be placed any leaves upon a public way within the Town of Winchester, per general by-laws.

School Committee notes

MASC resolutions: Rule 19 Tenure 18-year-olds

The committee took positions on a few of the resolutions being proposed by the Mass. Association of School Committees (MASC) including the controversial Rule 19, which prohibits students from participating in more than one sport per term, in or out of school.

Board Chairman Robert Frank was forced to break a tie when Constance Papas and Jack Noble voted to retain the rule and Catherine Alexander and Heinrick Holland voted against it.

Athletic Director William Colella argued that, for the protection of the students, the rule should be kept. He added that the coaches he had contact with also opposed getting rid of the rule and felt it "should even be more stringent."

Frank said he felt he ought to go along with the administration's recommendation; but he instead was swayed by student Cathy Conley, who argued that the decision should be left to the student and the parents, not the school committee. He voted to change the rule and set the committee vote at 3-2 against Rule 19.

Another MASC resolution would change the tenure system, extending the probationary period from three to five years and implementing a review process whereby a teacher's performance would be re-evaluated every five years.

"By lengthening the period, we allow the school system to make more intelligent judgments on the basis of teacher performance," said Frank .

The board had no objections to stretching the initial period from three to five years. However, Holland opposed the periodic review.

"You're abolishing the tenure system and giving teachers five year contracts," said Holland, who is a professor at Harvard University.

The committee voted 4-1 in favor of the periodic review, with Holland opposed.

A sense-of-the-committee came out in support of another resolution, this one opposed by the MASC as a whole, which would allow the school administration to call student-parent conferences for 18-year-olds. At present, this is not within the administration's power, and this leaves the administrators virtually powerless to suspend the older students.

Jack Noble pointed out that state law, specifically Chapter 766 (special education) makes the schools responsible for children from age 3-21. "I think the state law (under this resolution) should support that."

There is still, however, some question as to the legality of the resolution.

Bike paths

The Bicycle Study Committee approached the school board Monday night about running a couple of bicycle paths across school property.

One path would follow the route of the old Middlesex Canal from the dead end of Sylvester avenue through the woods to the Woburn line. This land is apparently part of the grounds of the Lynch Junior High School.

Student representatives will meet with the school board Tuesday night at 7:30 to go over the final results of a survey of sophomores recently completed by the student council at the high school.

Preliminary results were presented Monday night by the student representatives to the school committee. They indicated the sophomores, by and large, had taken the survey seriously, and they said they had gotten "a lot of useful information" from the exercise.

Reaction to the sophomore orientation held a day before school began at WHS was favorable, according to student representative Conley — most of the survey respondees felt the extra day was worth it. The final results should be available early this coming week.

As for the atmosphere at the high school in general, Ms. Conley offered this comment Monday night: "In general, the attitude of the school, the school spirit is terrific."

WHS Band a winner

The WHS Band came in first in its class in statewide competition last weekend at the Universty of Lowell, student representative Cathy Conley reported to the school committee Monday night.

The marching band also received a divisional rating of "excellent." Though it was the second smallest band at the competition, Ms. Conley said "the spirit of the band is tremendous." Apparently the spirit made up for the small size.

Creative worship service Sunday at Unitarian Church

The Winchester Unitarian Society will present a special creative worship service, "Sun-Where '77", Sunday, as a climax to its series on energy during October. Lay participants will be Bill Spaulding, Frank Barnes, Charles Morgan, Dorothy Roemer and Jean Williams.

Members of a Youth Worship Workshop will present scenes from "Sun-Where '73", a theater piece created by the Winchester Drama Workshop directed by Paulett Taggart. Working with yoga, movement, sensory awareness exercises, theater games, rhythms and improvisations on the theme of energy, the actors have revived the kitchen scene where they become mechanical appliances.

Wildwood, weathervanes are targets

Vandals struck again in Wildwood Cemetery this week as police were kept busy by several instances of theft and vandalism.

Around 8:30 Saturday night, the outside lights at the cemetery office were ripped out and thrown through the window of the superintendent's office.

Two weathervanes were stolen in Winchester this week, including an old bronze horse taken from the department of public works Thursday night. The value of the piece is unknown, according to police.

On Saturday night, a gold-plated weathervane, valued at $300, was taken from a Stowell rd. home.

Police and firefighters responded to a deliberately set fire at the town incinerator. The fire burned through the metal front door, and two typewriters were found to be missing from the building.

At 4:32 p.m. Friday, residents of a Plato Terrace home discovered that cash and a substantial check had been stolen. The house had been entered through an unlocked rear window.

A 1976 Ford owned by a North Reading woman who was visiting Winchester, was stolen Friday. The car which had been involved in an accident was recovered the next day in Watertown by MDC police.

No one's talking

The communication gap down at Town Hall seems to have turned into a communication void.

Town Comptroller James J. Costello has resigned after a lifetime of service to the town, and no one wants to come out and say why.

There are obviously differences of opinion in Town Hall about how the town should conduct its affairs. Those differences came to a head after the comptroller's office started holding up more than $200,000 in bills because some of those bills were coming down to the comptroller's office with incomplete information.

The problem was the focus of an executive session of the board of selectmen Oct. 12. They met then "to discuss complaints against a public official." Little if any news has come out of that meeting, and there is no confirmation as to who was complaining against whom. All we know is Costello was there.

And now he has resigned, apparently to make a point. "The only reason," Costello said of his resigning, "would be that something would be accomplished by it."

What the point is, is anybody's guess. Costello would not comment further on his reasons for quitting. Nor would Town Manager Thomas Groux, nor would Selectmen Chairman Barbara Hankins.

The problem may be more serious than it looks. The comptroller, as an independent public official appointed by the selectmen, serves as a check on the power of the town manager. He checks and authorizes the bills. He can hold them up. But ultimately, his most effective power is through communication with the board of selectmen.

However, that board is unwilling to discuss the problems at Town Hall in public (though there certainly has been discussion of the problems behind closed doors). And, from Costello's point of view at least, they are unwilling to act.

Whether or not they want to talk about it, the selectmen now will have to act. They have to appoint a temporary and eventually a permanent comptroller to take Jim Costello's place.

Obviously there are some problems with the new form of government and the accompanying reorganization of town departments. And it is clear that the various sides in this dispute are having trouble adjusting to each other.

However, the selectmen should keep in mind that no matter how hot the dispute, how public or private the debate, tbe comptroller is meant to be a check on the power of the town manager.

And the selectmen should keep in mind that the appointment of a new comptroller is their responsibility, and the town manager should stay clear of the process. It would obviously be inappropriate for the manager to play a role in selecting an individual who is supposed to serve as a check on his office.—DKF

Everybody pitched in

You can still smell the smoke in the Murray and Quill building at Mount Vernon and Main streets. Upstairs in the offices you walk over large pieces of wood covering the holes the firefighters had to ax in the floor Sunday, but it's business as usual.

Downstairs you see workers in Nelson's Bakery getting ready to re-open tomorrow after Sunday's $100,000 two-alarm fire. The Christian Science Reading Room is open now with temporary quarters in the Church building itself. George Peters is looking for a place to re-open Arlene's Fashions until he can get back into 2A Mount Vernon st.

There was something special about this fire. We've had other smoky blazes in town; we've had other $100,000 fires; we've had other two-alarmers.

What we had this time was a feeling of community — the old Spirit of Winchester coming alive in the shape of people caring enough to pitch in. It was beautiful.

Through the front of Arlene's Fashions firefighters carried racks and racks of clothes. Swanson's real estate across the street opened up to receive the clothes in temporary storage. People who had gathered on the street to watch pitched in and helped carry the clothes.

In back a human chain was set up to help get files out of the upstairs offices of Murray and Quill, attorneys, and the American Alarm and Communications offices. Apparently the files were saved.

Attorney Robert W. Graves opened his office to store the files. Graves was also running up and down the back stairs with boxes of papers and books.

People helped cart away books and magazines from the Christian Science Reading Room and take them to the church for storage.

An off-duty firefighter who had finally gotten home at 8 Sunday morning came back at 1:30 to see if he could help. He could and he did.

Everywhere people helped when they could. When police asked the crowd of a couple of hundred to step back, the crowd did move back.

We were proud of the way the town pulled together.

The essence of it all came from a young woman in the crowd. "This is why I live in Winchester."—KLW-F

Town watch ...

A talk with the senator

By The Observer

Sen. Sam Rotondi will hold the next in a seiies of public forums in Winchester at the public library tonight at seven.

The senator is holding the forums to apprise citizens of current and upcoming legislation and the effects of that legislation. In addition, citizens are invited to express their particular concerns to the senator at that time (or any time for that matter).

He plans to talk about court reform, health care, and the MBTA reorganization. But the discussion is not likely to be limited to those topics.

We urge the public— anyone out there with something on their mind— to get out and be heard, and listen, and participate in this, the bottom line of democratic government.

The public forums will continue in Woburn in November, in Arlington in December, and in Medford in January.

The board of selectmen will be looking for a Variety of people to serve on an advisory audit committee.

The town books have to be audited, a job usually taken on by the state. The state, apparently is in no rush to do it, but it's been a long time since the last audit.

The board of selectmen will be putting together a committee to assist them in finding the right firm to do our books. There is a growing field in municipal auditing but not too many companies have the expertise yet to manage it.

The board wants to be assured that a reputable, thorough firm will come in to do Winchester's books and they think the best way to accomplish that is through reviews and interviews with an advisory board.

The committee of from three to five persons should ideally include a treasurer-collector, a lawyer, a certified public accountant, a banker, and someone in the public sector.

The committee will define the scope of the audit, interview the auditing firms, and make recommendations to the selectmen.

It sounds like a challenging job, but a very important one for the whole town.

The selectmen will be sending out their newsletter to town meeting members next week in preparation for the start of the fall annual town meeting.

In it the board will give their recommendation on the articles which the members will be asked to vote on.

In addition to this information, there have been public hearings on the various articles scheduled last week and this for the edification of the members and the public.

Trouble is, when the center study committee held its public hearing last week to explain the various options it had come up with for the renovation-beautification-revitalization of the center of town, only 17 persons showed up!'

It was enough to make Selectman Edward O'Connell throw up kis hands in despair: "I must question the wisdom and prudence in holding public hearings. It is frustrating and defusing business."

It is indeed.

George Georgopoulos wants to please his customers. That's natural... he took over the pizza shop at Swanton and Washington street and he likes to give the early birds their first cup of cuffee in the morning.

A couple of men asked if he could open a little earlier than his 10 a.m. time and he agreed. So at 6 or so in the morning, the guys would come around, have a cup and get ready for the day ahead. George would start up his ovens, the high school kids would stop by on their way to school, and it looked pretty good.

The trouble is that George Georgopoulos was granted a common victualler's license for operation between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. Some people in the area thought he was stretching the opening hour a little too much and maybe extending the closing time a bit.

Selectmen called him in. What's the story?

I want to serve my customers because they asked for the coffee early. At night it takes me some time to get cleaned up, but when 10 comes I don't cook anymore.

Sounded pretty reasonable to the board and they granted a revised common victualler's license to George. He has to be closed at 10 at night but he can open at 7 — not before — in the morning.

Ah! The American Way!

From the ashes

By Karen Whittlesey-First

George Peters won't give up. By Thanksgiving he'll be in business again, selling clothes in the center of a town he loves to people he cares about.

Peters is the owner of Arlene's Fashions, the shop most heavily damaged in Sunday afternoon's two-alarm fire. The fire, and its accompanying heavy smoke, did more than $100,000 worth of damage to Nelson's Bakery, The Christian Science Reading Room, Arlene's, and offices on the second floor of the building owned and occupied by attorneys Henry Quill and Lawrence M. Murray.

Arlene's was completely wiped out. Nothing left. Clothes Peters can't sell are piled in foul-smelling stacks all over the floor. There are boards where the windows used to be. The ceiling is a memory. The walls are bits of plaster hanging by threads like a spider web trying to cover the large holes which firefighters had to ax.

Peters lives in Milton. Before he got up to the fire Sunday, firefighters and just plain good neighbors carried rack after rack of clothes out of the shop. They set up temporary quarters in Swanson's real estate office across the street to store the clothes for the time being. Even so, the clothes were already smoke damaged and unable to be sold.

Peters lowered his eyes. "The firemen apologized for not saving my clothes," he said. "Can you believe that? They apologized."

"I'm looking for a place in the center where I can open again with new merchandise. I'll have to replace everything — everything. But I won't leave Winchester. The people are too good to me here'" he said softly.

"I just have to open by Thanksgiving or I'll go under," again Peters lowered his gaze.

The Thanksgiving to Christmas holiday can make or break a small business.

"The firemen said they took out the clothes as long as they could then they had to work somewhere else," Peters is touched by the concern of both firefighters and neighbors.

Just walking into the shop and talking for a couple of minutes is enough to make your clothes and your hair smell of the smoke even two days later.

It was the third fire to hit that block of shops and offices in the last 20 years. Peters has had his shop there for the last eight years.

The fire chief said that if the fire had hit in the night, the whole thing might have gone down. It's hard to see through smoke. It's dangerous. Two men were treated for smoke inhalation. Everywhere all afternoon you could hear the warning bell from the air tanks — five minutes of air left.

It's exhausting work and a new crew came on in the evening to replace the fatigued firefighters from Winchester, Woburn, Stoneham, Arlington, and Medford.

It might have been worse in the night. It certainly might have been worse if it had happened on a weekday. But to George Peters it was bad enough.

There's nothing more for him to lose. Now he starts again.

Letters from readers

A great loss

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

For eighteen years while Office Manager and Financial Secretary for the School Department I worked very closely with Jim Costello, Town Comptroller. When bills were bounced back to our office, almost without exception there were very good reasons for his refusal to put them through for payment. Some times we were annoyed, some times embarrassed but always very, very glad to know that there was a watchdog like Jim keeping his eye on our hard-earned tax money. He protected us and the Town from running into difficulty with the law, particularly as it pertains to the awarding of bids, and reminded us of budgetary restrictions.

It was a great relief to have somebody to share the responsibility. A conscientious man, who put in countless hours of overtime, Jim always managed to find time somehow to help with the problems that constantly beset us. His remarkable memory and thorough knowledge of fiscal matters of the Town never failed to amaze me.

Lately we have had many changes in Town government and many new personnel who may not be throughly familiar with procedures yet. It would seem to me that we need Jim's services now more than ever before and that we should take advantage of all his past experience and his superior ability and be grateful we have such a fine Town Comptroller. I am sure that I am not alone in believing that it will be a great loss to the Town of Winchester when Jim Costello retires.

Note of thanks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A note of thanks to our Winchester firemen, policemen and all that assisted them during our unfortunate fire on Sunday, Oct. 23.

Thank you, our clients, for your understanding during the brief period that service was interrupted.

A special thank you to all our telephone secretaries who showed such outstanding concern for all our clients that they were indeed hesitant to leave their switchboards until ordered to do so. Their spirit reflects the dedication our employees continuously display in carrying out their duties as telephone secretaries.

A great success

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The second annual Fall Fiesta Fair of the Winchester Seniors Association was an immense success because of the outstanding teamwork of hundreds of people working together to achieve the desired outcomes.

Not only sniors dedicated time and effort, but more youthful people joined forces in making the day an eventful one.

The Winchester Jaycee-ettes who served some 300 people at the luncheon deserve public acclaim for their unselfish services. The Winchester Appliance repaired several TV sets without charge for the silent auction, thus providing saleable items that netted good monetary returns to add to the total intake of monies at the fiar. This is indicative of the togetherness of people in the town.

Through the courtesy of the Winchester Star, the event was publicized for two-and-a-half months before the actual day of the fair. This service did much to obtain needed help and to spread the news townwide. Without the assistance of the local newspaper, it is doubtful that the day could have terminated with such a high degree of success.

The Peterson Chair Company provided all of the tables for display of items, again demonstrating the generosity of very busy business people. To Mrs. Mary Elliott of the Nook and Cranny Antique Shop, thanks are extended for her advice in appraising and identifying certain selected items for the Silent Auction.

Grateful appreciaton is expressed to the Reverend James J. Haddad for making possible the facilities in which to carry on this important money-raising activity. All in attendance felt the warmth of hospitality extended to the many people who came despite the inclement weather. Mr. John Mangano, the custodian of th Church, worked assiduously to assist in multiple ways.

To all the cooks, waitresses, donors of articles, chairpersons, sales people, sundry committees, and hundreds of buyers, the Winchester Seniors Association salutes each one as it extends gratitude for the united efforts that resulted in a highlight in the annals of the association.

Outstanding success

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

May I take this opportunity to thank each and every person who helped in any way to make our Second Annual Fall Fiesta Fair and Luncheon an outstanding success. It could not have been accomplished without the dedication and cooperation of our loyal Ways and Means Committee and those who worked on the various tables.

In particular I feel obliged to thank Father James Haddad, Pastor of St. Eulalia Church, who allowed us to use the church hall, the women who prepared the delicious food served at the luncheon, those who helped in the kitchen and served the meal, and all who donated articles for sale or for chances.

Once again it was a demonstration of Seniors helping Seniors aided by younger members of our community with civic pride and interest in our new and beautiful Jenks Senior Center. My heartfelt gratitude to all.

J. Raymond Murphy, President

For UNICEF

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As we assemble our supplies of treats to give out to costumed callers who will ring our doorbells next Monday night, let's also set aside some nickles, dimes, and quarters for those children who come to call with UNICEF boxes in hand.

This is the special holiday of the year when children here in Winchester can show their concern for their less fortunate counterparts in the developing countries of the world. It is a unique opportunity for parents to encourage this kind of thoughtfulness and to think about the children growing up without sufficient food health care, or education in other parts of the world.

I recently read a quote by Albert Schweitzer: "I have always held firmly to the thought that each one of us can do a little something to bring some portion of misery to an end." This October's UNICEF day provides an exceptional chance to help a child to not only discover the worth in sharing, but also to assist him in bringing some portion of misery to an end.

I urge everyone in Winchester to support national UNICEF Day.

Mrs. Lewis Thompson

Timing events

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It would be difficult in a busy town like Winchester to avoid all conflicts in the timing of all the meetings of our many clubs and organizations. However, it would be helpful when the yearly schedules or impromptu meetings are set up if these events and dates could be entered in the Engagement Book, kept in the Public Library.

The book was started in the mid 1950's. It is not only a useful device, but a record of our many town activities.

Youth hockey

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Sooner than we think, fall sports will go the way of summer sports and our youth, with energy to burn, will be seeking winter sport outlets. Winchester Youth Hockey, as in previous years, is offering a comprehensive skating and hockey program at the USA Rink for all between the ages of 5 and 16, beginning on Sunday, November 20.

Prior to 1960, skating and hockey was dependent mostly on when the ponds were frozen, and the boys learned mostly in a haphazard fashion on their own. There was a definite need for organized instruction and regulated games — not only for increased enjoyment, but for safety sake.

Several concerned and far-sighted men decided to make good neighborliness a reality and formed Winchester Youth Hockey. Some of these men were fathers, some brothers, and some were just good guys who enjoyed sharing their experiences to help boys grow in the healthy, active atmosphere of sports during the winter months.

The tradition and policy of Winchester Youth Hockey is the same in 1977, and our town is fortunate to have dedicated volunteers offer their time and talents without compensation to our youth and turn the sometimes dreary and long winter months into a happy learning experience.

The traveling teams have been competing in the Middlesex League since September. The clinic is in full swing every Sunday morning, and the popular house program will get underway on November 20 and continue through the winter months until the end of March.

As in previous years, boys will be separated by ability and age so that all will get something out of the program even if they have never skated before. The first sessions will emphasize the instructional and conditioning phase, and in the second section, teams will be formed and games played with continuing instruction.

In answer to many queries, YES, beginners are welcome and an intensive instructional program will continue throughout the season.

For newcomers to Winchester and those who are unfamiliar with the program, the emphasis elways has been, is and will be on fun for the youngsters in a safe, supervised atmosphere.

Applications are available now at the Winchester Sport Shop, USA Rink and Craddocks Pharmacy. Completed applications should be returned as soon as possible. Unlike the other recreational activities in town, tax dollars do not support Youth Hockey in any way, as the public works department does not maintain the rink as it does the tennis courts and the playing fields for the other sports.

Francis X. Murray
Vice-president
Winchester Youth Hockey

Human rights

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

If you think you are not confused by Carter's foreign policies, you haven't tried to explain them.

Angola, Mozambique, and other African nations are being forceably moved under Marxism (communism) that denies "human rights" and bans majority rule, and Carterism supports them and what they are doing.

While in Rhodesia and South Africa they are moving towards more representative government and respect for the "human rights" of all, and Carterism opposes them and what THEY are doing.

Carter would deny the Soviets and Red China nothing for their near total denial of "human rights", but would deny FREE nations much for their relatively minor denial of "human rights."

The only consistency in it all is the support for communist governments and the opposition against anti-communist governments.

Board renews cab licenses; demands improved service

Hackney carriage licenses were renewed for six months Monday, but only to Green Taxi, Bob's Taxi, and Winchester Red Cab. Lane and Town taxi companies have not yet applied to selectmen for their renewals, which are effective November 1.

Before granting the renewals, Selectmen Chairman Barbara S. Hankins asked Richard Terzian, president of the Taxi Owners Association, to explain certain complaints which have come before the board recently. The complaints included inadequate night coverage, unavailability of cabs, and differing fares for similar trips.

Red Galuffo, owner of Red Taxi, was especially cited for not being available to make a medicine pickup in Melrose for the Winchester Hospital. Galuffo said his wife was out and he had to stay home to "babysit the property" on the night the hospital called him. Red Taxi had been the scheduled taxi to provide night coverage that night in a system of rotation worked out by the Taxi Owners Association.

Galuffo added that he referred the call to another company. Apparently, according to Mrs. Hankins, Winchester Hosptital was unable to get a cab that night.

Selectman Edward O'Connell said, "It's no call system at all if you refer a call to someone else."

Regarding varying rates allegedly charged for the same trip, Mrs. Hankins asked Police Chief John P. McHugh if zone maps and rates are available in all cabs for use by consumers on request. The chief answered that Lt. Andrew Crawford "from time to time" stops a cab and checks for that. He said that he has received no complaints about lack of access to maps and rates.

Selectman Richard Wilsack said, "I continue to be disappointed in the effort to work with the taxis in this town."

Before calling for a motion on license renewals, Mrs. Mankins asked Galuffo why he needed four licenses when only two of his cabs are in operation. Galuffo said that he and his wife each need one and that someone has applied to the police department for an operator's license. The fourth one is for a cab under repair.

The police chief did not recall seeing an application for an operator's license to that time.

Another matter involving the cabs is the apparent feud between Bob Pacy of Stoneham, who came into Winchester when James T. Sullivan became a private livery company, and Richard Terzian, owner of Green Taxi.

Terzian said, "We will make up. This is too small a town to have bickering." Pacy's taxi service had been struck from the list of late night rotation as a result of his having been evicted from the Taxi Owners Association. The new rotation schedule released Tuesday includes Bob's Taxi.

Mrs. Hankins issued a stern warning to the owners before a vote was taken. "I am not inclined to renew some licenses come spring unless we have had hardly any complaints."

The licenses were renewed with Green getting two, Pacy two, and Red four. Town and Lane have until next Monday to apply for their renewals.

The following taxi rotation schedule has been set up for late afteroon and night train service:

MAIN

Sunday: Town Taxi 729-5571
Monday: Red Taxi 729-0602
Tuesday: Bob's Taxi 438-3030, 729-0930
Wednesday: Green Taxi 729-3138
Thursday: Green Taxi 729-3138
Friday: Bob's Taxi 438-3030, 729-0930
Saturday: Red Taxi 729-0602

RESERVE

Sunday: Lane 729-2580
Monday: Town 729-5571
Tuesday: Lane 729-2580
Wednesday: Bob's 438-3030, 729-0930
Thursday: Town 729-5571
Friday: Red 729-0602
Saturday: Lane 729-2580

The police department will be notified of any changes in this schedule. The main taxi should be called for service and the reserve taxi as back-up.

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law establishes that most meetings of public bodies are to be open to the public. This means anyone can attend, and whatever anyone who attends such a meeting says is a matter of public record, whether there are 100 persons in the audience or no other persons at all at the meeting.

This was the scene of the two-alarm fire which caused extensive damage to the shops and offices in the Murray-Quill building. Companies from Arlington, Stoneham, Medford, and Woburn responded to the fire Sunday afternoon. Cause of the fire is still unknown.

Local woman on Ikebana workshop

Winchester resident Mrs. Michio Yatsuhashi, past president of the Ikenobo Ikebana Society of Boston, is symposium co-chairman and chairman for the Ikebana demonstrations scheduled in Boston November 10-12.

Master Senei Ikenobo will give a lecture-demonstration of this flower-arranging technique and there will be workshops and exhibitions. The symposium is at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Cambridge, Friday, November 11 from 10 to 4 and Saturday, November 12 from 10 to 2. There is no charge to the public to attend the exhibition. Town to get $4514 more in federal funds

U.S. Rep. Edward J. Markey today announced that the town of Winchester is receiving $4514 in antirecession funds to help pay for town services.

"These funds are made available under the Intergovernmental Antirecession Assistance Act of 1977," Markey explained. "The purpose of the funds," he stated, "is to provide financial assistance to state and local governments during periods of sustained high unemployment."

To help continue basic town services, the quarterly antirecession funds may be spent in a variety of ways, including the payment of salaries and benefits for local government workers or for the purchase of office supplies, Markey explained. However, the funds may not be used for major capital expenditures such as the renovation of buildings.

On a national level, the key factor determining how much money will be allocated for antirecession assistance expenditures is the rate of unemployment across the country. According to Markey, every three months during the federal fiscal year, $125 million in antirecession funding is allocated. Added to this sum is $30 million multiplied by the number of one-tenth percentage points which exceed a national jobless figure of six percent. If the national unemployment rate falls below six percent for a given quarter, no funds are allocated.

On a local level antirecession funding amounts are determined by a formula that weighs the town's current rate of unemployment and the most recent allocation of funds it received under the federal revenue sharing program.

To date, Winchester has received a total of $55,217 under the Antirecession Assistance Program.

Police offer tips for safe trick or treat

John P. McHugh, Chief of Police and John W. McKinley, Safety Officer offer these safety suggestions for Hallow'een trick or treating, this year:

1. After dark, wear light colored clothing and-or reflective items.
2. Walk in single file, on the sidewalk and carry a flashlight.
3. Do not go alone ... Trick or treat in groups for safety.
4. Do not place plastic bags over your head.
5. Very young children should be accompanied by parents and it is suggested that they not wear masks, but rather use mother's make-up, the better to see.
6. Know where you are at all times and if possible, stay in your own neighborhood.
7. Watch out for dogs that might become overly excited at the costumed children.
8. Do not eat ANY treat until you are home and-or Mom or Dad can check it for you.
9. Please be polite, and do not do any destructive tricking. Remember ... Hallow'een is for the fun of everyone.
10. If you get a treat which seems suspicious, remember where you got it.
11. Remember the telephone number used to nofity the police if you need help.
12. Do not engage in horseplay near the streets and watch for cars at all times.
13. Do not go into houses for a treat, let the owner answer the door and offer it to you outside or in the front porch.
15. Only approach houses with outside lights or porch lights on. Stay away from houses in darkness.
16. The Winchester Police Department will be especially alert on Hallow'een in order to make it the safest one ever. The safety officer will be maintaining a 'check your treat' program during the Hallow'een period. If anything of an unusual nature occurs, or if someone receives a strange treat, please call the Winchester Police immediately. The number is 729-1212. If anything seems wrong or out of place, report it to parents and call the Police as soon as possible.

Fire Chief Robert W. McElhinney gives orders to his men and to an Arlington firefighter before they go into the basement of the Murray-Quill building in the center. Two-thirds of the fire was contained in the basement, but the two-alarmer did more than $100,000 damage to several shops and offices.

Kids to collect for UNICEF on Hallow'een

Monday is Halow'een, and that's big news for Winchester children. It is also National UNICEF Day, when local youngsters in Hallow'een costumes will be canvassing door-to-door, collecting not just treats for themselves, but pennies, dimes and dollars for the world's neediest children.

Sandy Thompson, chairperson of this year's UNICEF Day activities in Winchester, emphasizes that we want to do our share in helping the literally millions of children in Asia, Africa and Latin America who so desperately need our support.

Last year children in Winchester collected over $1200.00, and it is hoped that this total can be substantially increased this year to offest the harmful effects of inflation on UNICEF's efforts. Mrs. Thompson points out that "a little still goes a long way with UNICEF," and even child-sized contributions can help a child in need.

A penny can buy a sterile guaze pad for treating a child's wound, eight cents a vial of penicillin, 49 cents a book on first aid for a village teacher or health worker, and $1.00 for clinical thermometers for a health center.

UNICEF is the only international organization devoted exclusively to the welfare of children and is committed to the principle that children are our most precious resources. David Hartman, host of Good Morning America, and this year's National UNICEF Day Chairman, points out that programs for children are the most worthwhile investment we can make in future peace and prosperity. These goals were honored in 1965 when UNICEF received the Nobel Prize for Peace.

Children in Winchester who want to participate in the Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF program can get UNICEF boxes from their church, neighborhood school representative, the junior library, or Sandy Thompson, 48 Samoset rd.

Mystic Valley Mental Health board to meet Wednesday

The Mystic Valley Mental Health and Retardation Area Board will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be in the small cafeteria of the Wilmington High School, Wilmington.

The Area Board, made up of citizens from each of the six communities in the Mystic Valley Area, including Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn is charged with the responsibility for management and overseeing of mental health and mental retardation services provided in the area. During the course ifof the meeting, the Board will solicit questions and concerns from citizens about mental health and mental retardation services in Wilmington and the Mystic Valley Area.

Winchester residents currently serving on the Board, members of which are appointed by the Commissioner of Mental Health, are Mrs. Deborah Cary and Mrs. Katrin Cooper. The Board rotates its meeting place among the towns it serves and allots time at each meeting to hear the questions and concerns of citizens.

LWV to discuss school issues for Newcomers Club

Three members of the League of Women Voters will discuss local school issues at the November meeting of the Winchester Newcomers Club.

Jeanne Duffy will speak on the implementation of Chapter 622, which prohibits sex discrimination in the schools. Sandy Rodgers will talk about plans for middle schools in Winchester. Liz Weintraub will report on a study of vandalism in the schools.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m., Tuesday at the home of Helga Biggs, 69 Bacon st., and all women who have moved into Winchester within the past three years are invited to attend. However, members and guests who plan to be present are asked to notify Mrs. Biggs by noon Tuesday.

Rumpelstiltskin coming to McCall on November 5th

Rumpelstiltskin, the fairy tale which has enchanted children for generations, is coming to life for the children of Winchester Nov. 5.

The Winchester Education Association is sponsoring a visit to town by the Children's Hour Touring Players to McCall Junior High School. The show will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

Over the past 13 years, the Children's Hour, a professional company of adult actors specializing in dramatizing children's classics, has presented more than 1000 performances for the youngsters of New England.

The Winchester performance will be for the benefit of the WEA's contribution to the Winchester Scholarship Fund.

Following the performance, children will have an opportunity to meet and talk with the actors. For more information, contact William O'Connor at the high school or Bernard Silva at McCall.

Sally Wund to show slides of spring in town

Sally Wund, an architect by profession and a photographer by avocation, will present a short program in the library Wednesday at 7:30.

Winchester Trails, for whom Ms. Wund photographs nature subjects for instruction to school children, is offering the slide show of "Spring in Winchester" to present the natural history and beauty of this town to the people who live in it. The public is invited to attend.

Meeting Nov. 6th for divorced and separated persons

Separated and divorced men and women are invited to a meeting Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Mary's Hall, 162 Washington st.

Reverend Denis J. Burns, JCD, head of the Matrimonial Tribunal of the Archdiocese of Boston, will speak on "A Catholic's Status in the Church Following Separation and Divorce — the Annulment Proceeding and Recent Changes in Church Teaching on Marriage." A question-and-answer period will follow.

Other meetings will be planned for the future. Participants are invited to share subjects in which they are particularly interested. Further information may be obtained by calling Sister Marie Mullane, 729-1965.

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the high school, the guidance office will be conducting a mini-college program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

On Wednesday, November 2, the following institutions will be represented: Anna Maria College, Becker Junior College, Brandeis University, Colgate University (New York), Emerson College, Ithaca College (New York), Mass. Bay Colmunity College, Muhlenburg College (Pennsylvania), St. Joseph's College (Maine), Simmons College, Stonehill College, Syracuse University (New York), United States Air Force Recruiter.

On Wednesday, November 9, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend: Drew University (New Jersey), Franklin Institute, Husson College (Maine), Lasell Junior College, Newbury Junior College.

New personnel

Margaret P. Schleicher was elected by the school committee recently to fill a two-fifths English teacher position at the McCall Junior High School, vacated by a resignation.

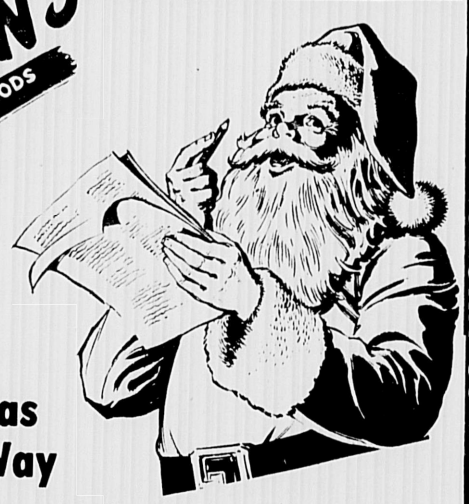

Ms. Schleicher is a 1968 graduate of Winchester High School and earned her BA from UMass-Amherst and MAT from Fitchburg State College. She also has 52 credits toward a PhD from UMass.

The additional position voted for the primary unit at the Ambrose School was filled when the board elected Mrs. Ann L. Kendall to the position, effective Oct. 25. Mrs. Kendall earned her BS at Lowell State College and has three graduate credits at Northeastein University. She subsituted in Winchester for the past two years.

The vote to elect was 4-1, with Jack Noble opposed to the appointment.

Finegan addresses insurance assembly

Richard J. Finegan of 18 Johnson rd. was a key-note speaker at the eighth annual Product Liability Prevention Conference held Aug. 22-24 in Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.

Finegan, vice president and asistant general manager of loss prevention for Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, addressed the conference on the impact of product liability on the insurance industry.

New Jersey Institute of Technology conducted the conference which was co-sponsored by 23 leading professional, technical and trade associations. The three-day forum brought together nearly 500 corporate managers from around the country.

Welfare talk at St. Jerome's

David Deitch, formerly a columnist and economic analyst for the Boston Globe, will speak at St. Jerome's Church on Lake street in Arlington Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. The talk will take place in the meeting room in the lower level of the rectory.

The topic will be, "The State of Welfare," and Deitch will analyze the effects of the economic cutbacks at the state and federal levels.

Starting Oct 31st

Winchester Savings to offer pay-by-phone banking service

The Winchester Savings Bank is one of 18 Massachusetts banks which will begin offering a new service Oct. 31 which may change the way you do your banking: Pay-by-phone.

To be offered by the the Massachusetts Automated Transfer System Inc. (MATS), a consortium of 18 savings banks, the service will enable customers to pay their monthly bills by phone rather than writing and mailing a personal check or paying a visit to the bank.

The formation of MATS represents the first time a group of competitive banks have joined to implement a pay-by-phone service and is the largest project of this nature in the country. Selected parts of the country are currently offering similar telephone payment systems.

Under the system, monthly statements will be issued for customer records, and there are three-levels of security built into the system to insure proper funds transfer, according to John H. Wood, president of MATS.

Wood said a secret number will be issued to the customer, in addition to a special pay-by-phone account number. This insures that no one else can credit or debit his or her a pay-by-phone account, Wood related. In addition, different merchant codes will be assigned to each customer as yet another measure of security.

"The process is extremely simple," said Wood. "The customers call their bank, give their electronic signature, the individual merchant code, and the amount they want to pay. The rest is handled by MATS."

The service will be in operation 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Funds paid to merchants are guaranteed by the bank. In addition, the electronic funds transfer has the capability of being programmed directly into the merchant's accounts receivable computer system.

Telephone Computing Services of Seattle will be providing the computer programs for MATS, while Digital Equipment Corporation of Maynard will supply the computer equipment.

Winslow Towers tenants to hold Christmas fair

The annual Christmas Fair of the Winslow Towers Tenants Association will be held Nov. 5 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. in the community room of Winslow Towers, 4 Winslow st., Arlington Center.

A variety of fresh baked goods including cakes, brownies and cookies along with home-made candies and fudge will be featured Highlighted will be the many crafted afghans, shawls, sweaters and other goods made by the tenants of the elderly housing development throughout the year. Proceeds benefit the Tenants Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Jacobs

Jean Polcari, Ralph Jacobs wed at St. Mary's Sept. 25

Sept. 25 was the wedding day of Jean Marie Polcari of 16 S. Russell st., Boston and Ralph Stone Jacobs of 11 Wolcott rd. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Polcari and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Jacobs attended the 1 p.m. Nuptial Mass at St. Mary's Church.

The reception was held at Montvale Plaza in Stoneham. The couple will live on Beacon Hill in Boston after traveling to Quebec City.

The bride earned a BS in education at Boston State College in Jan. 1976. She is currently attending Boston State for her master's degree. Last year she taught second grade in Florida. Her husband is presently attending Mass. College of Art.

Porter joins Putnam and Co.

Charles A. Porter of 30 Winslow rd. has joined F.L. Putnam and Company as an account consultant.

A graduate of Harvard College and a Marine Corps veteran, Porter is currently on the Winchester Conservation Commission. He had worked with Hornblower and Weeks and Shields, Model, Roland as a registered representative before joining F.L. Putnam.

St. Catherine's setting for Forte-Marino wedding 15th

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Felix R. Forte of 31 Willowdale rd. Her father escorted the birde to the altar. The groom's father, Mr. Vincent Marino of Hanover, attended the wedding.

The bride wore her mother's gown of silk tulle over silk taffeta, appliqued in Belgium with hand-made Duchess lace, a cathedral train, and a matching cap with a fingertip veil. She carried a spray of white butter fly orchids and stephanotis. Susan Fichera of 115 Main st. attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore an opal chiffon halter with sheer buterfly sleeves, decorated with a matching chiffon tie. Her flowers were white orchids with stephanotis and English ivy.

Elaine Vaccaro, Marcia Vaccaro, Kathryn Alfano, all from Winchester, and Barbara Nichols of Melrose, and Katharine Forte of Bedford were bridesmaids. Their gowns were in the same style and color as the maid of honor. They carried lavender orchids with stephanotis and English ivy. The bride's mother was attired in a gown of apricot organza and satin with full long sleeves, a ruffled hem and satin cumberbund.

Mrs. Vincent D. Marino

The bride attended Winchester High School, Boston College, and Katherine Gibbs. She works as a secretary at Compo Industries, Inc. Her husband is a sales administration manager for the same company. He served in the US Navy aboard the U.S.S. John F. Kennedy.

The reception was held at the Colonial Hilton Inn in Wakefield. The couple is now residing in Waltham.

Lee W. Court's paintings on exhibit

The first showing of Lee Winslow Court's Canadian Rockies Series can be seen at The Guild of Boston Artists opening on Tueday and continuing through Nov. 12. The Guild of Boston Artists is located at 162 Newbury Street, Boston and will be open daily except Monday from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Court's work is represented in the New England area in the permanent collections of the Farnsworth Museum, Rockland, Me.; the Harvard Collection, Cambridge; Proctor Academy, N.H.; Abbott Academy, Mass.; The Audubon Collection; and in scores of private collections. Specific assignments as a consulting designer for business and governments resulted in his earning the coveted French Legion of Honor, the Mexican Citation and the Distinguished Service Star from the US Treasury Department.

Court has been recognized as a foremost chronicler of New England winterscape and marine scenes. In recent years his geographic interests were expanded to include on-location paintings of awesome Antarctica's ice and birds. Many of the paintings are a part of the Permanent Collection of the Center for Polar Archives, National Archives, Washington, D.C.

Court is a member of the American Artists Professional League, The Guild of Boston Artist, Academic Artists Association, North Shore Art Association, the Southern Vermont Art Association and is listed in Who's Who in American Art.

Bob Storer is 'Mr. Director' for Players

All families must have fathers and "The Royal Family " now in rehearsal by the Unitarian Players is no exception. In this case, the family has a godfather in the person of the director, Reverend Robert Storer.

Bob is Pastor Emeritus of the Unitarian Church where he was minister for 23 years before his retirement. Actors and backstage workers think of him as " Mr. Director" while local theater patrons have learned to rely on him for prime entertainment.

The cast includes Shirley Puffer, Betty Vallee, Ann Foskett, Marge Labedz, Ken Astill, Al Leach and Paul Berbarian. Another Winchester resident, Richard Ploss makes his first local appearance.

Others in the cast are Christine and Joe Dwyer of Woburn, Jim Vaughan of Waltham, and Neil Gustafson who sets a new distance record for the Players, commuting from East Candia, N.H. for each rehearsal.

Performances will be at Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church, Main street and Mystic Valley parkway on Nov. 3,4, and 5, at 8:15 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door with a reduced rate for senior citizens and students. Reduced rate advanced tickets are available through Elaine Chipman, 2 Goddu avenue.

Rev. Robert Storer

Mrs. Timothy A. Reinsch

Jane Thompson of West Willington, Conn. was married Saturday evening to Timothy Alan Reinsch of Deep River, Conn. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Andrew Thompson, 29 Clark st.

The wedding took place at Crawford Memorial Methodist Church with Rev. Leon S. Hatch Jr. officiating. The church was decorated with baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length Priscilla gown of ivory silk with a sweetheart neckline, empire bodice, and traditional long sleeves. The top of the dress was of chantilly lace and a circular chapel length train banded with accordion pleats, edged in alencon lace, was attached. Her headpiece was a juliet cap and finger-tip veil trimmed with matching lace.

Similarly gowned were bridesmaids Ellen Mary Meagher of 144 Cambridge st. and Louisa Reinsch of Deep River, Conn., the sister of the groom. They carried presentation bouquets of fall flowers.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman T. Reinsch Jr. of Deep River, Conn., was attended by Eugene Kumekawa of Darien as his best man. Ushering were Samuel Adelman of New York City and Clark Wells of Centerbrook, Conn.

The bride's mother wore an aqua chiffon sleevless gown with a removable chiffon cape. The groom's mother wore a rust maracaine v-neck gown, trimmed at the sleeves in matching marabou, and a long coat trimmed in marabou at the neckline.

The bride received a bachelor's degree from Connecticut College and a master's in physical therapy from Stanford University Medical Center. She is employed as a pediatric physical therapist with Easter Seal of Connecticut. Her husband, working toward his MBA at the University of Connecticut, received a bachelor's degree from Connecticut College.

Hist. society trip to shoe district

A Nov. 6 field trip, sponsored by the Winchester Historical Society, will take residents to the Washington street Shoe district in Haverhill which has been accepted by the National Register of Historic Places.

Host and tour leader will be Howard Curtis, member of the public library staff and chairman of the Haverhill Historical Commission. There will be a short lecture with slides, followed by a walking tour of the area.

The field trip group, open to all persons interested in our local history, will meet at 1 p.m. at the archival center. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Harold Gold of 21 Jefferson rd. (729-2547) or with George Huff tonight at the society's meeting on weathervanes at the Unitarian Church.

Rose Mary Misuraca and Thomas Dennis

Miss Misuraca engaged to wed

Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore C. Misuraca announce the engagement of thier daughter Rose Mary to Mr. Thomas L. Dennis son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dennis of Plaistow, N.H.

Miss Misuraca graduated in June from Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School. She is an accounts receiveable analyst for Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., Reading.

Arlene Maggiore of 17 Olde Village dr. exchanged wedding vows with Douglas Hartwell Weeks of 15 Fells rd. on Oct. 8 at St. Mary's Parish. The Reverend Bernard Hoy officiated at the 3 p.m. ceremony.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benedict S. Maggiore, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Norman E. Weeks attended the wedding. Mr. Maggiore gave away his daughter in marriage.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Janet Lang, served as her matron of honor. Mrs. Lang lives on 7 Selfridge rd., Bedford. Her sleeveless gown of brown chiffon was fashioned with a batteau neckline, Bertha collar, empire waistline, A-line skirt, and large flounced hemline. Ivory moire sashes accented the waistline. She carried a single, melon Dior rose.

Ruth Weeks of 2 Hillside ave.; Nancy Maggiore of Medford; Elaine Cipolla of Arlington; and Norma Solberg of Everett were bridesmaids. They were attired similarly to the matron of honor.

Norman E. Weeks, brother of the groom, was the best man. Ushering the guests were Paul J. Maggiore, brother of the bride, of Medford; Stephan Lang, of Bedford; and Joseph Fuca of Arlington.

The wedding reception was held at the Colonnade Hotel in Boston. After honeymooning in Bermuda, the couple plans to reside in Arlington.

Mrs. Douglas H. Weeks

The bride graduated from Winchester High School in 1973. She attended Regis College and graduated from the Forsyth School for Dental Hygienists. She is currently furthering her education at Northeastern University's Continuing Education Program.

The groom graduated from Winchester High School in 1972. He attended Northeastern University and is now attending Boston Architectural Center. He works as an architectural draftsman in Belmont.

Six straight

By Bill Murphy

With only three seconds left in the game, Brian O'Connor kicked his first field goal of the season to give the Winchester Sachems a 21-20 victory over the Belmont Marauders Saturday.

The 21-yard boot climaxed a second half comeback by the Sachems which saw them recover from a 20-6 deficit at the half. The victory, their sixth, keeps them undefeated for the season.

Belmont QB Mark MacIssac had a good day on his own, completing 7-for-13 passes with only one interception, a touchdown and an extra point to his credit.

Belmont opened the game with a long drive for their first touchdown. Straight dive plays to Steven DeMarco and Joseph DeStefano got them rolling.

After being set back by a 15-yard personal foul, QB MacIssac completed his first pass to Christopher Rayen for a 14-yard gain and a Belmont first down. An option play to the left side and a good pitchout to DeMarco brought the Marauders down to the Winchester 39 yard line.

The Belmont attack stalled there, slowed by an offsides penalty and two unsuccessful running plays. But MacIssac showed that Belmont had come to play football by completing a clutch pass to Rayen again, this one for 12 yards.

Then on fourth-and-six, Belmont called time out. MacIssac returned from the sidelines to the huddle after confering with coach Emerson Dickie and brought his team up to the line of scrimmage. The Winchester defensive line, digging in, led a Belmont lineman offsides for another five yard loss. But MacIssac would not be stopped.

He completed his third pass in a row for 17 yards and another first down on the Winchester 17. Then MacIssac kept the ball on an option play and ran over for the TD. He threw the conversion pass to DeMarco to make it 8-0 Belmont.

Winchester came back fighting, starting off with the ball on their own 39 yard line. After two quick bursts up the middle, Anthony Davis broke loose on the right side on an option play for 17 yards. A tackle by Belmont's Brian Donahue was all that kept Davis from going all the way.

Twelve plays later, with the ball on the Belmont three, Sachem Tom Murray went over on a trap play for the first Winchester TD. The extra point conversion failed, leaving the score 8-6, Belmont at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter began with the ball on the Belmont 33 yard line with the Marauders in possession. MacIssac gained 19 yards after a scramble in the backfield, but the Marauders were forced to punt.

The Sachems could do nothing with the ball at this point, and on fourth-and-four, Murray was stopped short and Belmont took over on the Sachems 38. But Belmont stalled here too, with MacIssac missing on fourth-and-three with an incomplete pass to Robert Galvin.

Sachem QB Donny Allard came out throwing, completing one to John McPhee for a 27-yard gain. But the Sachems were called for holding on the next play, and Belmont hung tough and took over on downs.

With the ball on their own 44 yard line, the Marauders started to move again. A mixture of runs and two passes brought the ball all the way to the Winchester two. From there, MacIssac scored the second TD on a keeper with 1:06 left in the first half to stretch the lead to 14-6. The conversion failed.

Once again the Belmont defense stopped Winchester cold, allowing their offense to take over on the Sachem 42 yard line with 26 seconds left in the half.

On third-and-12, with the ball on the Sachem 32 and 10 seconds to go in the half, MacIssac lofted a perfect pass to Galvin for a 32-yard touchdown. Again the extra point failed, leaving the score at the end of the first half Belmont 20, Winchester 6.

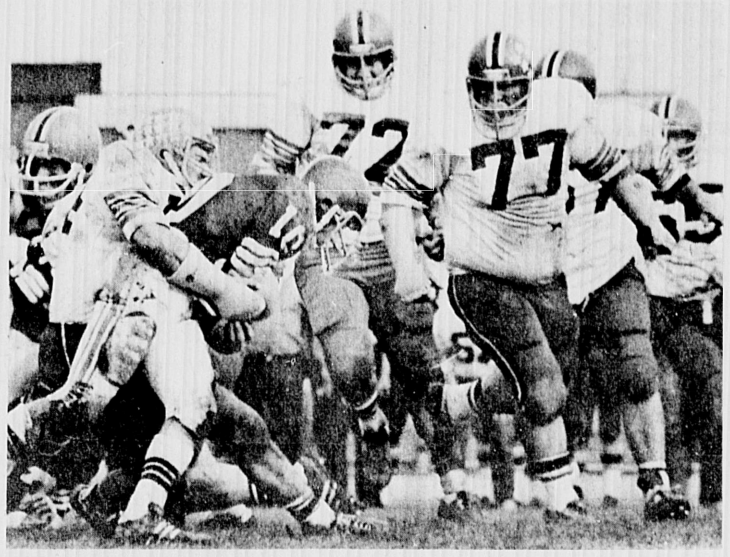

Manny Marshall must have had the right words during halftime, because the Sachems came out for the second half ready to play. Down by 14 points, they needed a quick touchdown to turn the game around, and they started work on it right away.

Starting at the Sachem 34, the first march began. Davis went off the right side for nine yards. Six plays later, Allard pitched to Sammy Bellino for a big 15-yard gain which brought the ball to the Belmont 39 yard line.

On the next play Davis went straight up the middle for 14 more, and it was clear the Winchester line was beginning to open the holes. With the ball resting on Belmont's 15, third down and a foot, Allard kept the ball and broke to his left, going the whole 15 yards for Winchester's second tally. But the extra point failed, leaving the score 20-12, Belmont.

By this time, Winchester's defense also came into the act. With Belmont at third-and-11, Davis intercepted a MacIssac pass and the Sachems had another chance, taking over on their own 41 yard line.

Again the extra point failed, but the Sachems had cut the Belmont lead to 20-18 with 1:25 left in the third quarter.

The Winchester defense toughened up. With Belmont on their own 48 the third quarter ended. As the fourth began, McPhee broke up a MacIssac pass and forced Belmont to punt for the first time.

The Sachems started a time-consuming drive, finally getting a break with 6:23 to go when Belmont was called for offsides on fourth-and-three.

But with fourth-and-two, the Marauder defense rose to the occasion and stopped Davis short of the first down, leaving the ball on the Belmont 23 with 2:53 left.

The Marauders looked as though they would simply run out the clock. The Sachems had to call two time outs to try to slow things down.

With third-and-nine, Marauder DeMarco came up with a big first down on the draw play. The drive was held up, however, and the Belmont team went into punt formation and were called for delay of game.

Then Belmont made the biggest mistake of their season, and the luckiest for the Sachems. The snap from center sailed through punter Kevin Normile's hands. He tried desperately to come up with the loose ball, but to no avail as Winchester players swarmed over him. The ball was downed on the Belmont 11 with three seconds to go in the game.

The change of possession stopped the clock, which allowed Winchester to bring in the field goal team. The snap from Jim Campbell to holder Allard had to be good. Under the pressure, Campbell came through, and O'Connor put the ball through the uprights to give Winchester the 21-20 victory.

The Sachems mobbed O'Connor at midfield in a pile of white jerseys, while the Marauders walked off in disbelief, knowing by all rights they should have won a hard-fought game. But the mistakes and the breaks counted, and Winchester was able to take advantage of them to keep their record undefeated at 6-0.

Belmont Police officers arrested seven youths and charged them with disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly. The youths, five from Winchester and two from Belmont, were released to their parents Saturday and were to be arraigned on the charges Monday.

Chairman, Winchester Board of Health

Are you well-fed but undernourished?

Many people are. Not because they don't eat enough food, but because the food they eat doesn't provide an adequate intake of important nutrients.

Aside from endangering your health, inadequate nutrition can take its toll on your looks, showing up in dull, lifeless hair, weak nails, and a drab complexion.

Through this unique new computer process, we can now analyze exactly what your intake of nutrients is and which ones you may need more of, according to the recommended daily allowance set up by the federal government.

All you do is keep track of what you eat for three days. The computer does the rest. And if you come up short here and there, we can tailor a Nutralon Food Supplement Program to your specific needs.

Beauty and nutrition go hand in hand. Now we can offer you both.

Miss Maggiore, Mr. Weeks exchange vows at St. Mary's

Arlene Maggiore of 17 Olde Village dr. exchanged wedding vows with Douglas Hartwell Weeks of 15 Fells rd. on Oct. 8 at St. Mary's Parish. The Reverend Bernard Hoy officiated at the 3 p.m. ceremony.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benedict S. Maggiore, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Norman E. Weeks attended the wedding. Mr. Maggiore gave away his daughter in marriage.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Janet Lang, served as her matron of honor. Mrs. Lang lives on 7 Selfridge rd., Bedford. Her sleeveless gown of brown chiffon was fashioned with a batteau neckline, Bertha collar, empire waistline, A-line skirt, and large flounced hemline. Ivory moire sashes accented the waistline. She carried a single, melon Dior rose.

Ruth Weeks of 2 Hillside ave.; Nancy Maggiore of Medford; Elaine Cipolla of Arlington; and Norma Solberg of Everett were bridesmaids. They were attired similarly to the matron of honor.

Norman E. Weeks, brother of the groom, was the best man. Ushering the guests were Paul J. Maggiore, brother of the bride, of Medford; Stephan Lang, of Bedford; and Joseph Fuca of Arlington.

The wedding reception was held at the Colonnade Hotel in Boston. After honeymooning in Bermuda, the couple plans to reside in Arlington.

The bride graduated from Winchester High School in 1973. She attended Regis College and graduated from the Forsyth School for Dental Hygienists. She is currently furthering her education at Northeastern University's Continuing Education Program.

The groom graduated from Winchester High School in 1972. He attended Northeastern University and is now attending Boston Architectural Center. He works as an architectural draftsman in Belmont.

Six straight

By Bill Murphy

With only three seconds left in the game, Brian O'Connor kicked his first field goal of the season to give the Winchester Sachems a 21-20 victory over the Belmont Marauders Saturday.

The 21-yard boot climaxed a second half comeback by the Sachems which saw them recover from a 20-6 deficit at the half. The victory, their sixth, keeps them undefeated for the season.

Belmont QB Mark MacIssac had a good day on his own, completing 7-for-13 passes with only one interception, a touchdown and an extra point to his credit.

Belmont opened the game with a long drive for their first touchdown. Straight dive plays to Steven DeMarco and Joseph DeStefano got them rolling.

After being set back by a 15-yard personal foul, QB MacIssac completed his first pass to Christopher Rayen for a 14-yard gain and a Belmont first down. An option play to the left side and a good pitchout to DeMarco brought the Marauders down to the Winchester 39 yard line.

The Belmont attack stalled there, slowed by an offsides penalty and two unsuccessful running plays. But MacIssac showed that Belmont had come to play football by completing a clutch pass to Rayen again, this one for 12 yards.

Then on fourth-and-six, Belmont called time out. MacIssac returned from the sidelines to the huddle after confering with coach Emerson Dickie and brought his team up to the line of scrimmage. The Winchester defensive line, digging in, led a Belmont lineman offsides for another five yard loss. But MacIssac would not be stopped.

He completed his third pass in a row for 17 yards and another first down on the Winchester 17. Then MacIssac kept the ball on an option play and ran over for the TD. He threw the conversion pass to DeMarco to make it 8-0 Belmont.

Winchester came back fighting, starting off with the ball on their own 39 yard line. After two quick bursts up the middle, Anthony Davis broke loose on the right side on an option play for 17 yards. A tackle by Belmont's Brian Donahue was all that kept Davis from going all the way.

Twelve plays later, with the ball on the Belmont three, Sachem Tom Murray went over on a trap play for the first Winchester TD. The extra point conversion failed, leaving the score 8-6, Belmont at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter began with the ball on the Belmont 33 yard line with the Marauders in possession. MacIssac gained 19 yards after a scramble in the backfield, but the Marauders were forced to punt.

The Sachems could do nothing with the ball at this point, and on fourth-and-four, Murray was stopped short and Belmont took over on the Sachems 38. But Belmont stalled here too, with MacIssac missing on fourth-and-three with an incomplete pass to Robert Galvin.

Sachem QB Donny Allard came out throwing, completing one to John McPhee for a 27-yard gain. But the Sachems were called for holding on the next play, and Belmont hung tough and took over on downs.

With the ball on their own 44 yard line, the Marauders started to move again. A mixture of runs and two passes brought the ball all the way to the Winchester two. From there, MacIssac scored the second TD on a keeper with 1:06 left in the first half to stretch the lead to 14-6. The conversion failed.

Once again the Belmont defense stopped Winchester cold, allowing their offense to take over on the Sachem 42 yard line with 26 seconds left in the half.

On third-and-12, with the ball on the Sachem 32 and 10 seconds to go in the half, MacIssac lofted a perfect pass to Galvin for a 32-yard touchdown. Again the extra point failed, leaving the score at the end of the first half Belmont 20, Winchester 6.

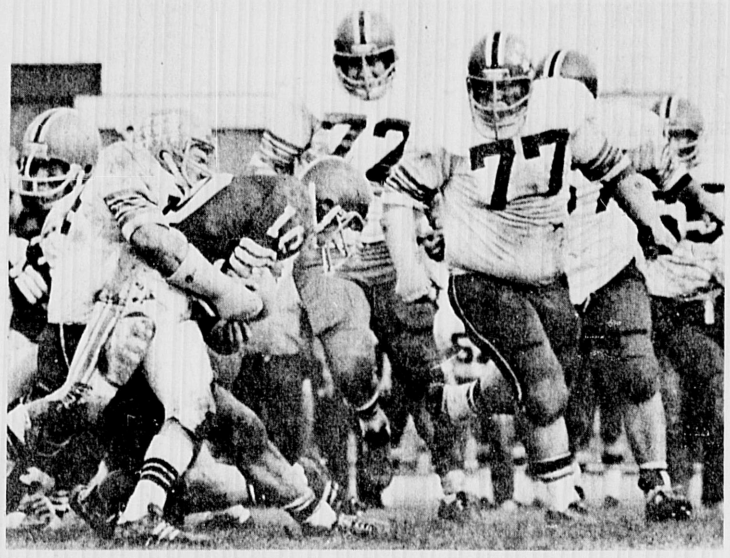

Manny Marshall must have had the right words during halftime, because the Sachems came out for the second half ready to play. Down by 14 points, they needed a quick touchdown to turn the game around, and they started work on it right away.

Starting at the Sachem 34, the first march began. Davis went off the right side for nine yards. Six plays later, Allard pitched to Sammy Bellino for a big 15-yard gain which brought the ball to the Belmont 39 yard line.

On the next play Davis went straight up the middle for 14 more, and it was clear the Winchester line was beginning to open the holes. With the ball resting on Belmont's 15, third down and a foot, Allard kept the ball and broke to his left, going the whole 15 yards for Winchester's second tally. But the extra point failed, leaving the score 20-12, Belmont.

By this time, Winchester's defense also came into the act. With Belmont at third-and-11, Davis intercepted a MacIssac pass and the Sachems had another chance, taking over on their own 41 yard line.

Again the extra point failed, but the Sachems had cut the Belmont lead to 20-18 with 1:25 left in the third quarter.

The Winchester defense toughened up. With Belmont on their own 48 the third quarter ended. As the fourth began, McPhee broke up a MacIssac pass and forced Belmont to punt for the first time.

The Sachems started a time-consuming drive, finally getting a break with 6:23 to go when Belmont was called for offsides on fourth-and-three.

But with fourth-and-two, the Marauder defense rose to the occasion and stopped Davis short of the first down, leaving the ball on the Belmont 23 with 2:53 left.

The Marauders looked as though they would simply run out the clock. The Sachems had to call two time outs to try to slow things down.

With third-and-nine, Marauder DeMarco came up with a big first down on the draw play. The drive was held up, however, and the Belmont team went into punt formation and were called for delay of game.

Then Belmont made the biggest mistake of their season, and the luckiest for the Sachems. The snap from center sailed through punter Kevin Normile's hands. He tried desperately to come up with the loose ball, but to no avail as Winchester players swarmed over him. The ball was downed on the Belmont 11 with three seconds to go in the game.

The change of possession stopped the clock, which allowed Winchester to bring in the field goal team. The snap from Jim Campbell to holder Allard had to be good. Under the pressure, Campbell came through, and O'Connor put the ball through the uprights to give Winchester the 21-20 victory.

The Sachems mobbed O'Connor at midfield in a pile of white jerseys, while the Marauders walked off in disbelief, knowing by all rights they should have won a hard-fought game. But the mistakes and the breaks counted, and Winchester was able to take advantage of them to keep their record undefeated at 6-0.

Miller awarded

Paul Miller of Winchester, a senior at the University of New Hampshire, has been awarded the Jean W. Moreau Lacrosse Scholarship. The award is made annually to a member of the team at UNH.

5 local youths arrested at game

Belmont Police officers arrested seven youths and charged them with disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly. The youths, five from Winchester and two from Belmont, were released to their parents Saturday and were to be arraigned on the charges Monday.

WINCHESTER BOARD OF HEALTH

INFLUENZA IMMUNIZATION CLINIC
Wednesday, November 2, 1977
10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.
TOWN HALL AUDITORIUM

The Board of Health is sponsoring its 12th annual influenza immunization clinic for senior citizens.

Senior citizens who are 65 or over may get their shots free of charge.

The process used will consist of a single shot. This is all that is necessary for either primary or booster shots.

Any person who is allergic to eggs should not participate in the clinic.

N. Bruce Hanes, Ph.D.
Chairman, Winchester Board of Health

Are you well-fed but undernourished?

Many people are. Not because they don't eat enough food, but because the food they eat doesn't provide an adequate intake of important nutrients.

Aside from endangering your health, inadequate nutrition can take its toll on your looks, showing up in dull, lifeless hair, weak nails, and a drab complexion.

Through this unique new computer process, we can now analyze exactly what your intake of nutrients is and which ones you may need more of, according to the recommended daily allowance set up by the federal government.

All you do is keep track of what you eat for three days. The computer does the rest. And if you come up short here and there, we can tailor a Nutralon Food Supplement Program to your specific needs.

Beauty and nutrition go hand in hand. Now we can offer you both.

Winchester's Edward O'Connell Jr. competed in the lightweight singles class at the Head of the Charles Regatta Sunday on the Charles River. Aged 15 and weighing about 110 pounds, he was the youngest and the lightest contestant in the three-mile race. He raced in the novice class last year, at 14 the youngest rower ever to enter the regatta. His father is Selectman Edward O'Connell. (Staff photo)

Dr. Donald J. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Campbell of 16 Chisholm rd., recently left the U.S. Army Dental Corps and has settled in Duxbury as an associate of Dr. Glenn Perry.

Dr. Don Campbell

Dr. Campbell was educated in the Winchester school system, received an AB degree in biology from Boston University and his DMD degree from Tufts University School of Dental Medicine in 1971, with special recognition for excellence in the field of dental anesthesia.

For the past six years Dr. Campbell has served with the US Army Dental Corps in Friedberg, West Germany. He held the rank of major and during the past year was officer in charge of the dental health facility serving the Third Brigade of the Third Armored Division. He maintains his rank in the active reserves with the 338th Medical Detachment at Fort Devens.

While stationed in Germany, he was among the founding members of the European Society of Preventive Dentistry and is a life member. He is also a life member of Delta Sigma Delta Dental Fraternity and a member of the American Dental Association, Massachusetts Dental Society and the South Shore District Dental Society.

Dr. Campbell was preventive dentistry officer for the US Military dependent school in Bad Nauheim and active in community youth programs while in Germany.

Dr. Campbell is married to the former Cornelia O'Rourke of Wakefield. They have two daughters, Alexsandra and Katherine.

JV wins, ties

Field hockey wins one

By Kelly Gately

You knew it was coming, the only question was when.

Their patience was running out, but it wasn't needed as Winchester High Girls' Hockey team got back on the right track, defeating Stoneham in a well fought victory by a score of 1-0.

Led by the strong defensive play of Barbara Jacobs and Kelly Evans, Winchester outplayed Stoneham in an impressive win.

The play varied from end to end in the first half, with each team having scoring threats. Winchester had plenty of chances as they broke in alone many times, but just couldn't seem to put it in.

The game remained scoreless at the end of the first half. Winchester started out quickly in the second half, jumping out front when Christine Driscoll scored on a pass from Kathleen Driscoll making it 1-0.

From then on the Sachems played more defensively, trying to protect that one goal lead. Some excellent defensive play was dispayed by Libby White. Stoneham tried desperately to score that tying goal, but as the final whistle blew, it was Winchester 1, Stoneham 0.

On account of weather and referee problems, they only managed to play one scheduled game this week, but the JV played two, winning 2-1 against Melrose and tying Stoneham 2-2.

With only one referee showing up at the Melrose game, the coach of the Melrose team refused to play, so just the JV game was played.

Winchester took 2-1 victory by scoring in the last 30 seconds. Kathy Heffernan finally put it in after Winchester applied a lot of pressure on goal.

The Sachems broke on top 1-0, when Kathy Heffernan placed a low hard drive into the corner. The half ended at 1-0, but Melrose came back in the second half to tie the game at 1-1. The goal came late in the second half, which might have killed the Sachems' hopes, but they didn't quit, and they battled back and scored the decisive goal with thirty seconds left.

Winchester JV also tied Stoneham in a close one 2-2. The Sachems took the lead when Debbie Bosco scored in the second half after a scoreless first half. Stoneham battled back to tie it though as Whelan scored.

Winchester didn't give up. Once again Debbie Bosco scored on a goal assisted by Tricia Shanley and Anne-Louise Casey. The lead didn't hold up though, as Stoneham scored with five minutes left to end the game in a 2-2 deadlock.

X-country outpaces Belmont, loses close meet to Wakefield

By George Parker

The Winchester cross-country team easily beat Belmont last Tuesday, but then suffered a hard-fought loss to Wakefield, the team's closest competitor.

In the Belmont meet, Andy Wilsack again won, narrowly missing the Belmont course record with a time of 16:14. He was followed by Jan Oehm, in a time of 16:32. Jim Wilbur (16:52) then came in, having sprinted past George Parker (16:56) in the last 200 yards. Kevin Consales (17.34), following two Belmont runners, narrowly beat out Kevin Gosselin (17:35) for seventh place.

The JV also won easily, as John Baker came in first, with a time of 18:19. He was followed by a Belmont harrier, Jim Connolly (18:47), Joe Flynn (18:47), Tom Doocey (19:05), and Michelle DeMars (19:23). There was no girls' meet.

In the most crucial meet of the year for Winchester, they were narrowly beaten by Wakefield, as Andy Wilsack was beaten for only the second time (and as a junior!), by William Solonime (14:18), coming in only thirteen seconds behind Solonime. Wilsack was followed by two Wakefield harriers, George Parker, and Kevin Gosselin, who battled it out to the finish, nearly catching the nearest Wakefield runner. Both Sachem harriers came across in a time of 15:24. Jim Wilbur then came in tied with, but just behind a Wakefield runner, with a time of 15:26. Mike Haukedelan (16:03) then completed the scoring for Winchester, coming in 13th, just five seconds behind the preceding Wakefield runner.

The girls team lost, for the first time, to the Wakefield girls, in an extremely close meet (19-26) — low score wins). Jan Oehm won easily, in a time of 15:29.5. Unfortuntely, she was followed by three Wakefield girls, with Sara Fotsch (17:53) hot on their heels. Sara was followed by Michelle DeMars (18:09), a Wakefield runner, Kathy Cullen (20:15) and Donna Senna (21:30).

The JV also lost, as Wakefield placed the first two runners, with Mark Costello (16:32) only three seconds behind. Mark was followed by two more Wakefield harriers; Joe Flynn (17:00), and Jim Connolly (17:05). These two were also followed by two more Wakefield runers; Tom Doocey (17:25), two more opponents, and Rob Flynn (17:53).

After the last dual meet, against Woburn, the team will compete in the State-Class Meet, Oct. 29 at Franklin Park, the Middlesex League Meet, Nov. 2 at the Woburn Country Club, and the Coaches Invitational Meet, to be held at Franklin Park on Nov. 5.

Record is 7-2-4

Booters nail Stoneham and Watertown, tie Burlington

By Kelly Gately

Winchester High's Boys' Soccer team had a good week as they defeated Stoneham 3-2, crushed Watertown 5-1, and tied Burlington in a frustrating 1-1 game.

In a very close and exciting game against Stoneham Oct. 14, Winchester came out on the winning end of a 3-2 decision. It was a see-saw battle for most of the game.

Winchester broke on top early in the first quarter. Paul Nadeau scored when the ball defelected off the fullback from a pass by Charlie Mahoney. Stoneham came back to tie it at 1-1 when Patrini headed one in on a throw in by Shannon at 10:30 of the first quarter.

The second period remained scoreless as Stoneham was turned away by superlative play by goalie John Waite.

The Sachems started out strong in the third. At 6:58 of the third period, George Casey put Winchester on top again, scoring on a penalty kick to make it 2-1.

The lead held througout the third quarter, but Jack Driscoll gave Winchester some breathing room as he broke down the righ side. He dribbled by the Stoneham defenders and scored unassistedly to increase the lead to two at 3-1.

Soneham threatened late in the game when Powers put one in on a pass from O'Grady at 7:54 in the fourth quarter. Winchester held on to win though as the game ended at 3-2.

After a previous defeat to Watertown earlier in the season by a score of 1-0, Winchester got their revenge as they won the second game in a 5-1 rout Oct. 18.

Winchester took the lead early in the game as an obstruction penalty was given against Watertown. George Casey took the kick and powered one by the goalie to make it 1-0. Winchester continued the pressure in the quarter as Driscoll was dribbling well and a Bubba Sandford shot went just over the net.

The Sachems scored two more in the second quarter, as again George Casey scored on a direct kick about 15 yrds. out. Jack Driscoll got the third Winchester goal after a mix-up in front he put it in to go ahead by three at 3-0.

Watertown got one back in the third quarter as Dominic Patrino looped one just over Waite's reach to put Watertown on the board. The Sachems put Watertown behind by three again soon after when Caey tallied his third goal of the day, scoring off a rebound. Winchester's offense continued to pressure the Watertown goalie as Charlie Mahoney and Robert Horne played well.

Bob Brosnan finished off the scoring at 5-1 when he took a pass from the left side and redirected it in. Willie Strazullo almost made it six as he hit the crossbar on a penalty kick.

Winchester tied a heartbreaker to Burlington Monday as they dominated throughout the game but just couldn't score.

George Casey and Mark Mulvaney held off the Burlington attack for most of the game but they finally got the tying goal when Cabral headed one in just before Waite could get to it from a pass from Hans Jannergren. The score remained at 1-1, though Winchester had their chances. Jack Driscoll almost pulled it off, but his last shot was saved by the goalie just as the whistle blew.

Ingredients For Investment

Housing prices have gone up steeply since the mid 60's for two basic reasons. First, the shortage of new savings made it difficult to finance private housing, and the number of new housing units built each year was far below that what it should have been. Since there is a steady growth in population, this puts pressure on our housing reserves and prices rise.

Second, there have been inflationary increases in the labor and materials costs that go into building a house. In most urban areas, land values continue to go up each year, too. Historically, real estate values have always increased faster than the cost of living. Thus, it is an excellent inflation hedge.

So here are the ready-made ingredients for a good investment. We all need housing of some kind, and according to the experts, the price of housing will continue to go even higher, though perhaps, not as dramatically as in the past few years.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at ANN BLACKHAM & CO., 11 Thompson St., Winchester. Phone 729-1663. We're here to help!

CHOICE WINCHESTER Homesites. The final section of Lantern Park on Winchester's West Side is scheduled for completion this fall. Girard Associates will be offering nine of the finest homesites still remaining in the Town of Winchester. These lots average over one-half acre, are wooded, well-drained and offer a variety of interesting terrains. Most have at least one stone wall, and some abut Town Parkland. All have town sewer, water, and underground and electricity to preserve the natural beauty of the area. In Lantern Park, you will be surrounded by many handsome homes built in the last five years. You will be an easy walk from Vincent Owens School as well as a private swim-tennis club. You are a five minute drive from the country club, down-town shopping, or Boston Commuter trains. Call 861-6725 for a free brochure on Lantern Park and make 1977 the year you make your move up to Winchester. 10.27-11.10

Mites on top of division in Middlesex play

It was the team effort of Scott Paine, Billy Coppins and Petey Regan figuring in all of Winchester's goals. Petey Regan scored early in the first period from a pretty pass play by Billy Coppins and Scott Paine. Regan's second goal was set up by Billy Coppins. With a minute and eight seconds left in the first period Scott Paine scored with an assist going to Regan. Thirty-three seconds later Regan scored his hat trick goal unassisted.

Midway through the second period Billy Coppins passed to Petey Regan for his fourth goal of the game.

Defense of Marc Todisco, Dave Butt, Ted Dever, and Petey Regan kept the Belmont team from scoring as Greg Winn and Sukjong Chung were sent to the penalty box in the third period.

Autumn means leaves falling off the trees, which means raking the yard, which means, for some, a great soft pile to mess around in. Pop Warner A, B shut out Lexington; C team downed

The Winchester Pop warner A team scored early and often in Sunday's game, to down Lexington 39-0 at Knowlton field.

From the opening minutes of the first quarter it was evident that Winchester's team was fired up for this game. Winchester kicked off to Lexington, but the Battle Green Packer offense was unable to do much against a powerful defense which was led by Jeff Tinkel and Greg Kirk who caused a fumble deep in Lexington territory, setting up the first score by halfback Adam Hirshman. The conversion attempt failed.

The second score came on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Joe Donlon to end Chris Wagstrom, who continues to amaze with his excellent pass catching and defesnive play. The conversion attempt was good on a pass from Joe Donlon to end Mark Merritt. Merritt later scored on a 10-yard pass from Donlon, for the third touchdown.

The fourth score was a beautiful run of 60 yards off tackle by running back Steve Costello. Great blocking by Greg Kirk and Dave Fariole helped set up the score. The conversion was made by Chris Wagstrom on an end around play.

At halftime the score was 26-0 in Winchester's favor. Adam Hirshman scored his second TD of the day on a pass from Joe Donlon. The final score of the game was by fullback Chris Rogers on a 15-yard run.

Quarterback Joe Donlon had his best game of the season, completing 12 out of 15 passes and three touchdowns. Excellent line play on offense came from Greg Kirk, Joe Russo, Pat Gill, Don Hoffman, Dave Fariole, and Jim Feeley. Defense play was strong from Bill MacMillan, Jeff Tinkel, Ted Guthrie, Joe Adelsberger, Tom Gibbons, and Brian Guarnotta.

The Pop Warner B team scored its first victory Sunday in a hard-fought battle over Lexington. The team shut out Lexington 7-0.

All season the Sachem defense has kept the Winchesterites in all of their ballgames — with little success however. The offensive line finally got themselves together in the second half and opened some holes for their running backs.

Chuck Allard played an excellent game, picking up a bunch of yards. He brought the Sachems down to the three yard line on a 28-yard run and set up the score by Chris Hoffman on a quarterback keeper.

Chuck carried for the conversion, giving the Winchester defense all the points needed to keep Lexington off the scoreboard.

Defensive standouts in this game were Tim Moffman, Nick Asaro, and Ivan Adler, who had a big interception. Head coach Tony Gilberti's feelings after the game were that the team finally played the kind of football they were capable of but had not been able to put together until Sunday's game.

Although the Pop Warner C team reached the halfway mark in Sunday's game tied at 7 with Lexington, they couldn't come up with the lead, as the Sachems lost 14-7.

Chris Collis scored a touchdown with a 40-yard run and also scored the extra point to make the score 7-7 at halftime. He also contributed to the game with a fumble recovery.

With less than a minute to play, however, Lexington scored on an off tackle play to make the score 14-7.

Players helping the team with fumble recoveries were Shawn Foley, David Dellagrade, Alan Adla, and David Koffman. Billy Harris helped out with an interception.

The C team boys will be traveling to North Rockland, New York, on November 18 to play there. To help defray the cost of expenses, they are planning a tag day this Saturday. Contributions are also being accepted by Joe Menowski, 8 Prince ave.

Smoke detectors are key to home safety

Lt. Robert Walsh of the Winchester Fire Department lectured on smoke alarms at the elementary schools during fire prevention week. October is fire prevention month, and this year's theme is the importance of smoke detectors in the family household.

Her is a list of buying tips suggested by the fire department:

--Do not make a hasty purchase. Think of what your needs are. Get more than one estimate before purchasing.

--Read any contract carefully before you sign; remember you have three days in which you can cancel, provided the contract was entered into at a place other than the seller's place of business.

--Request a test of the units by the seller and-or installer in your presence.

--Request and read carefully the instruction booklet on the device's operation, testing procedure, and maintenance.

--Have knowledge as to the extent of the guarantee and who will service it.

--If unsure as to purchase, seek advice from knowledgeable sources such as, the local fire department, the city building inspector, the city electrical inspector, the Chamber of Commerce, the Better Business Bureau, and the monthly consumer magazines.

Since most fatalities come at night, it is desirable to have not only one detector in the immediate area, but also a detector in each separate bedroom. A slow smoldering fire may gain headway and could involve people in one sleeping area if there is no warning device present. Every unit should be connected or monitored so all will alarm if one does.

All detectors have a "guard area." This is the square or cubic area that one unit will monitor. Although state law calls for one unit per 1200 feet of area, some detectors are rated for 900 feet, others more or less. This is a point to question when you are asked what is needed.

Any cord-connected units should have a strain relief for the cord and plug retaining features. A strain relief unit keeps pressure from pulling the cord out of the detector or wall outlet.

A cord-connected installation is not to be subject to loss of power by a wall switch. A "power on" indicator (flag or light) is necessary in case of unit failure. If units are professionally installed, they should not only be interconnected, but also contain outside alarm devices.

According to Mass. State Law, the alarm sounding device shall not be less than 85 decibles at 10 feet. Other desirable features are that all power requirements (battery) are met for at least one year, including routine testing, and power supplies should run the alarm system for at least four minutes.

Also, all devices are to be installed in a workmanlike manner, and located and mounted so that accidental operation will not be caused by jarring or vibration. All devices are to be mounted so as to be supported independently of their attachment to wires.

After completing the system, the installer is to test each self-restoring device for proper operation in the presence of the householder; and instruct the owner on the operation and maintenance of the system.

The main objective of the smoke detector is time to escape. The reaction should be automatic, for the more time someone takes to leave the area, the less their chance of survival.

Whatever background noise there is will hinder the audible level. Hence, testing should be done with household equipment in full operation. These should include air conditioners, fans, room humidifiers, etc. Outside noises should also be taken into consideration -- traffic, railroad, and industry.

Make your test at the same interval or by manufacturers recommendations. It is a good practice to test weekly on the same day. If your detectors are battery operated, have spare batteries on hand.

The department offered advice on the location of the detectors:

--There should be at least one approved smoke detector on each floor or story, placed at the highest level of said floor. This also includes cellars or basements.

--One approved smoke detector should be located outside of each separate sleeping area. By sleeping area, the department means bedrooms or sleeping rooms. If these are spearated by other functional rooms such as a kitchen or living room, consider them separate areas.

--One approved detector should be located at the bottom of each stairway which has a door at the top.

--No smoke detector should be located in the kitchen or within six feet of a cooking area. Smoke and even invisible gases may set off the alarm. If detectors of some type are needed in the kitchen, heat or rate-of-rise units are useful.

--Detectors shall be ceiling mounted. In mobile homes, mounting on the inside wall is permitted.

--Do not install detectors behind drapes, doors, or any obstruction that will interfere with air flow or the loudness of the alarm.

--Follow all manufacturer recommendations.

Youth soccer is into fall season

The Winchester Youth Soccer group comprised of boys in the seventh and eighth grades has had a very exciting season of soccer thus far.

The weather has wreaked havoc on the scheduling and on the playing field, but they have been able to play most games. The most dramatic thing that occurred on this level is the great improvement in ball control, in learning to play their positions, and in the power of the shots.

Weather permitting, there will be games at Ambrose field both on Saturday morning and on Sunday afternoon this weekend. The Warriors and the Knights are undefeated and will be trying to defend their lead. The teams are very evenly matched and most games are very close, so an upset could happen at any time. The Celtics have scored the most goals.

By Karen Polowchena

The fire box alarm sounds and the 10 Winchester men spring to action.

One is a self-employed landscape gardener, one is a school bus driver, one works for the American Fire Alarm Co., but they all have one job in common these men are the town's call firefighters.

This crew has been a part of the fire department since its existence. ninety-five per cent of Winchester's original force were call firefighters. But right after World War II their numbers dwindled to five or six men. Today the town is still having trouble finding people interested in filling this demanding position.

These men are on call 24 hours a day. If one of them misses an alarm, a fine is deducted from his salary. However, they are permitted to come into the station a day before they wish time off and check out for a given amount of time. The town pays each member $1500 a year.

Call firefighters assist the regular department in all box alarms, which include any major fires requiring a large number of firemen. When the call squad is needed, the fire station sends out a tone alert which is broadcasted over each member's home radio. These men use the same protective gear as the regular firefighhters, and many of them keep their equipment in their cars.

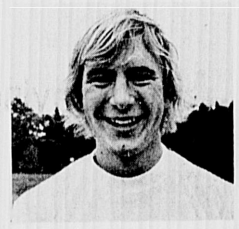

This supplementary force answers about 400 calls a year. They do not attend the fire academy, but go to training sessions offered twice a year by the regular department. The call firefighters are now under the pension system. But they receive no hospital or vacation benefits. They do not have their own officers they work under the officer of the day at the station.

With such little pay and long hours, why do the call firefighters do it?

Some, who wanted to join the regular department, did not get by the civil service exam. Some need the extra income. Some are public service oriented. But according to Chief Robert McElhinney, of the Winchester Fire Department, all of these dedicated, hard-working men are just doing their bit for the community.

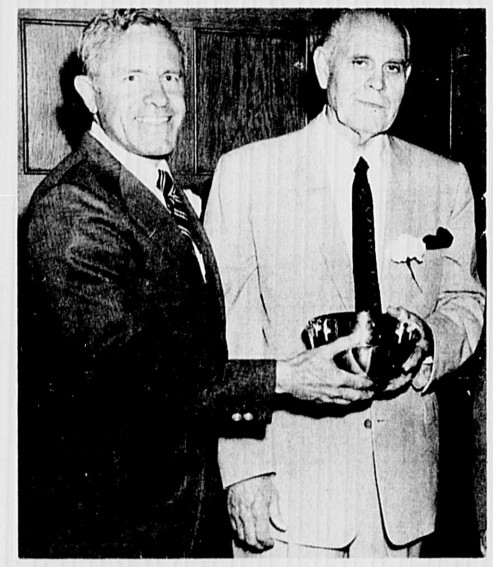

Martini scores three for Union

Union College's soccer team, with a 1-2 record after its first week of action, is looking to Winchester's Pete Martini's performance against Williams as its "best of the week."

Pete Martini

Martini scored three goals against Williams, two of them in the second period as Union came from behind to upset the Ephs, 5-4.

A check for more than $2000 has been presented to Parents' and Children's Service of the Children's Mission, one of Boston's oldest social service agencies, by the Boston Chapter of the Kiwis, the national association of former American Airlines flight attendants. Making presentation to Dr. Malcolm J. Collins of Winchester, executive director of the agency, is Mrs. Carol Smith of Melrose. The check represents the proceeds from a fashion show co-sponsored by the Kiwis and Lord and Taylor; Mrs. Smith was show chairperson.

F. Fontaine back in town

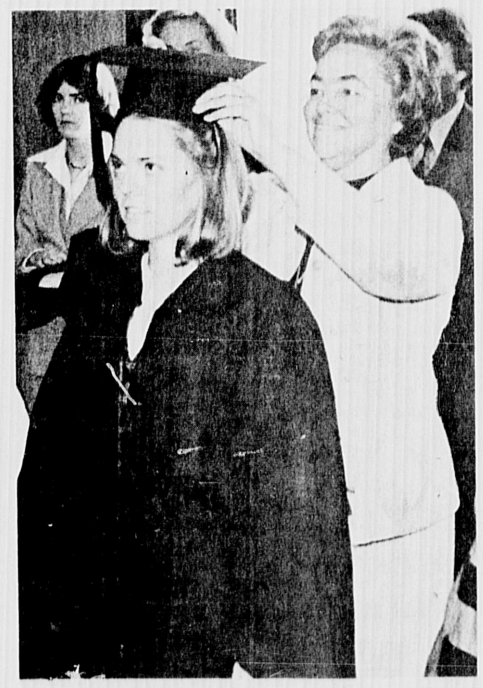

Comedian Frank Fontaine of 407 Highland ave., returned to Boston Tuesday night after being confined to a Columbus, Ohio, hospital since mid-September. The 57-year-old resident, popularly known as Crazy Guggenheim on the Jackie Gleason show, was planning to return to Winchester when he collapsed at the airport.

He was admitted to the Mt. Carmel East Hospital in critical condition. At that time, hospital officials said that the comedian was, "conscious, but not responsive" in the coronary care unit. They reported that he was suffering from an undetermined coronary condition.

Officer John Alexander told the Associated Press, "He was in the process of checking in and going through security," and, "He was observed suffering from chest pains and shortness of breath." First aid was administered by the airport rescue unit when Fontaine was stricken at about 5:30 p.m.

According to John Cirigliano, long-time friend of Fontaine's, the comedian had a pace-maker installed at the hospital and is now, "getting along fine." Cirigliano owns the General Plumbing and Heating Co. in Medford.

Born in Cambridge, Fontaine began his career in the firemen and policemen ball circuits in the area. One of his several appearances in Woburn was at the Towanda Club in the 1940s. Nationally known for his role as a drunk in Joe's Bar, the Winchester resident had many local friends. Besides being a successful comedian Fontaine is the father of 11 children.

Washington report

The costs of bureaucratic overkill

By Rep. Edward Markey

First, the problem.

"Order. (a) During the period Jan. 28, 1977, through Feb. 24, 1977, no handler shall handle any navel oranges grown in District 1 or District 3 which are of a size smaller than 2.20 inches in diameter, which shall be the largest measurement at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit: provided, that not to exceed 5 percent, by count, ..." Etc. Etc.

Now, the cost.

Just in dollars, one estimate is that individuals and businesses today are spending more than $100 billion a year just to fill out and comply with federal forms.

Businesses large and small are required to prepare 114 million forms annually for the bureaucracy, at a cost the Library of Congress has figured at $40 billion. Another $40 billion is psent by firms in carrying out federal regulations, according to one business survey. And the cost in manhours of preparing the nation's individual income tax returns exceeds $21 billion each yar, according to one respected analyst.

This is not to say that the bureaucracy and its works are not often beneficial and sometimes indispensable. But there is certainly ample evidence that the balooning costs and petrifying effects of over-regulation and bureaucratic overkill have gotten way out of hand. Absorbed in matters both weighty and weightless, the paper shufflers accumulate an estimated 4.5 millionm cubic feet of paper every year, much of it sheer duplication of effort.

$100 billion diverted to paperwork is one-twentieth of the value of the nation's total annual output, or gross national product, which for all of 1977 is projected to total $1.97 trillion. The $100 billion diverted to paperwork, if spent instead for new plants and equipment would create almost 3 million permanent jobs in private industry.

Many a small company has folded under the burden of federal paperwork. But no company is immune to its effects. The venerable Rock Island Railroad waited 10 years for government approval of a merger to save the line, but finally went bankrupt just before the approval came through.

Some hope in the effort to combat the rising tide of paperwork has now appeared. By Oct. 3 the final report of the Commission on Federal Paperwork will be sent to President Carter. It will contain 750 recommendations for cutting paperwork that could result in annual savings of $10 billion according to one recent report.

The commission itself has gone even further than this and has concluded that as much as one quarter of the $100 billion pricetag on federal paperwork could be eliminated, without impairing the government's ability to function effectively. Not surprisingly, the commission found the single largest economy could be realized by reducing the paperwork surrounding welfare programs.

The commission, created by Congress in 1975, has no power to enforce its proposals other than "the moral power of a good idea," according to Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre of New Hampshire, co-chairman of the 14-member body drawn from Congress, the executive branch, state and local governments, and the private sector.

In the months ahead the many recommendations of the commission will be carefully reviewed, and I hope we will see measurable results in the future. But red tape will be hard to reduce, even with the best of intentions. Congress routinely chooses paperwork when it sets up, monitors, and evaluates programs, and depends upon universal reporting rather than on-site inspections, audits or other sampling.

One student of this problem, Herbert Kaufman, is a pessimist. In his book on the subject, titled Red Tape, he feels there is little hope in winning the battle against un necessary pa erwork.

Kaufman, who is a political scientist at the Brookings Institution, believes the real cause of government red tape is not official stupidity or bureaucratic perversity. Indeed, he argues that government officials dislike red tape as much as anyone else. The real cause, he says, is the public.

In Kaufman's view, red tape results whenever the government is asked to protect people from each other, as in relations between buyers and sellers or between employers and employees. More red tape in turn arises from the public mistrust of government, and to guard against official abuses. The result of "watchdogs watching watchdogs who watch watchdogs"? Simply more red tape.

So the problem is deeply rooted in our way of life. But it's worth a try, using common sense and flexibility, to cut back the costs of government paperwork to the bare minimum. That's something we could all celebrate.

Bay state roll call

Week of October 17-21

The House this week rejected 208-13 an amendment to a bill regulating open meeting laws. The amendment would have allowed a city or town to reject the use of the open meeting law. Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. was among the majority voting against local option in this case.

The House also rejected a bill allowing Massachusetts stores to be open on Sundays all year round. Saltmarsh voted against the bill, which lost 178-43.

The House refused 120-91 to discourage into the floor for debate, a bill exempting senior citizens over 60 and the handicapped from the meals tax. Saltmarsh voted to discharge the bill onto the floor for debate.

In other votes, the House rejected 148-64 an amendment which would have raised the pay for legislators from $14,664 to $18,482. The vote was on a complete package of raises and cost of living increases. Saltmarsh voted to leave the legislators' salary at $14,664.

The House first approved 113-99 and then defeated 116-88, a bill transferring the supervision of the Division of Marine and Recreational Vehicles from the Executive Office of Environmental Affairs back to the Executive Office of Public Safety. Saltmarsh voted both times to leave supervision under Environmental Affairs.

In the Senate, amendments to a measure requiring insurance policies to be written in a form that can be easily understood were defeated 23-14. Sen. Sam Rotondi joined the majority in voting against the amendments.

He also voted against an amendment to the Senate Ethics Code (which was approved) which would prohibit any senators, or employees of the Senate, from appearing before any agency, authority, board, or commission of the state, except in connection with legislative duties or in connection with a matter which involves a personal family interest, without disclosing the interest. The vote on the amendment was 34-1.

Another amendment to the ethics code was rejected 30-7. This amendment would require members to report all reimbursements for expenses more than $10 instead of the proposed $100. Sen. Rotondi voted for the $100 requirement.

The Senate approved its first code of ethics by a vote of 36-1. Sen. Rotondi voted in favor.

Local woman attending congress in Kansas City

Mrs. Constance Blanchard of Winchester, executive director of the Greater Boston Council of Camp Fire, will be attending the first National Camp Fire Congress in Kansas City, Kansas on October 27.

The congress has been planned for several purposes. It will dedicate the new corporate headquarters for Camp Fire, which this spring moved from New York to Kansas City. Delegates to the congress will also be working on objectives for Camp Fire's next biennium, including a progress report on new day programming, which will then be in its second year of implementation.

Macneill elected to Merchants post

Macneill comes to Merchants with an extensive lending services background. He attended Northeastern University, graduating summa cum laude with a degree in accounting and finance, and has taken advanced courses at the Graduate Institute of Financial Education, the Massachusetts Savings Bank Association, and the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

Home & Garden plays host to club presidents

The Winchester Home and Garden Club designated its meeting Oct. 19 as President's Day, inviting the presidents of the East Middlesex District of Federated Garden Clubs. Members of the Executive Board acted as hostesses for the social hour.

Garden Clubs represented were the Belmont Garden Club, The Garden Club of Concord, Lexington Field & Garden Club, Lincoln Garden Club, The Garden Club of Malden, Melrose Garden Club, Stoneham Garden Club, and The Crystal Garden Club of Wakefield.

A special welcome was given by Mrs. Walter L. Dignam, president of The Winchester Home and Garden Club, to Mrs. Everett Schwarz, director of the East Middlesex District who spoke briefly and brought a message from the president of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts Inc., Mrs. Walter R. Thurston.

After a brief business meeting, a program was presented by Mrs. Robert Lang. Ann, the chairman of the artistic division of the New England Garden & Flower Show. In her "A New Look at Flower Arranging" she showed that beautiful arrangements can emerge from leaves and stems of overgrown plants, vines, driftwood, corn stalks, and even the wheel of an old pulley.

Winchester dog owners are now subject to a 24-hour dog leash law. Fines for first offense are $10; second offense, $15; third offense, $20.

Obituaries

John P. Farrell

John P. Farrell, a longtime former resident of Winchester and a police officer here for five years, died October 19 at Choate Hospital in Woburn.

Born in Winchester, Mr. Farrell graduated from Winchester High School in 1952. He entered the army and saw action in Korea as a private first class.

Five years ago he moved to Waltham where he was employed as traffic manager by Raytheon Company.

Mr. Farrell was the son of the late James E. (Dukes) Farrell, himself a Winchester police officer, and Angelina (Drapeau) Farrell. He was the husband of Phyllis M. (Lindberg) Farrell of Waltham.

Mr. Farrell's memberships included the American Legion, Winchester Lodge of Elks, Christopher Columbus Club and the Loyal Order of Moose.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Farrell leaves a son, John P. and a daughter, Jean A., both of Melrose, a son Richard J. Quirk of Waltham, brothers Edward J., Clarence S., and Richard J., all of Stoneham, and brothers Robert J. of Melrose, Francis T. of Waltham, Dr. Louis R. of Miami, and Joseph of Woburn, and a sister, Mrs. Mary C. Wells of Woburn. He is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

A funeral mass was said on Saturday in St. Mary's Church with Rev. Mark Sheehan celebrating. Committal prayers were said at the graveside at Woodbrook Cemetery in Woburn.

Contributions in Mr. Farrell's memory may be made to the American Heart Association, 112 Cypress st., Brookline. Lane Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

Local members at UCC conference

On October 29 members of the First Congregational Church in Winchester will attend the 1977 Fall Meeting of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ as elected delegates. The Rev. Walter B. Davis will also take part in the day-long session to be held on the campus of the Framingham State College in Framingham.

Local delegates Thomas and Louise Kell, William and Dorothy Burrows, and F. Robert Johnson will be called upon to vote on the Conference operating budget for 1978. Largest Protestant denomination in Massachusetts, UCC members in the Commonwealth largely descend from the Congregationalist tradition. The UCC grants autonomy to local churches and requires their participation in major decisions at Conference and national levels.

Delegates in Framingham on Oct. 29 will also hear an address by Dr. Arthur D. Gray, the new Interim Conference Minister and President.

Eleanor DeCamp

Word was received here of the death October 21 of Mrs. Eleanor (Pinkham) DeCamp in Randolph, N.H.

Mrs. DeCamp, a long-time resident of Winchester, moved to Randolph in 1970. She was born here, the daughter of Austin M. and Ann Marston Pinkham. She graduated from the Brimmer School in Boston.

Surviving relatives are her husband, William P. DeCamp of Randolph Hill, N.H., two daughters, Mrs. Anne Burke of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Lois Mason of Georgetown, four grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Annalee Weir of Winchester, and a brother, Marston Pinkham of Randolph.

Private funeral services were held Sunday at Parker and Holmes Funeral Home. Interment was in Randolph Cemetery.

William Henriques

Funeral services will be held today for William Basil Lloyd Henriques of Winchster who died Sunday in an automobile accident in Kansas. The funeral will take place at All Saints Episcopal Church, Central st., Stoneham at 11 a.m.

Mr. Henriques was the son of Dr. Basil L. Heinriques and Elizabeth (Kirkpatrick) Henriqus of Winchester. He is also survived by a brother, John Lloyd and sister, Elizabeth.

Mr. Henriques graduated from Winchester High School and attended the University of Colorado at Boulder. He was a sales representative for Vintage Motors in Boulder.

Arrangements are being made through John Bryant's Funeral Home, 4 Common st., Stoneham.

In training

Cadet Michael Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derek J. Goodman of 35 Central st., is participating in a United States Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps field training encampment at Dover AFB in Delaware. Cadet Goodman, a 1975 graduate of Winchester High School, is a student at the University of Michigan.
